Qatar Airways has recently won two 2019 BOC Brilliance Awards for 'Brilliance in Social Awareness Campaign' and 'Internal Communications Team of the Year' at an official ceremony in London.

The airline’s Internal Communications Team received the ‘Internal Communications Team of the Year Gold Award’ for its achievements in promoting greater employee engagement across the airline and sharing employee news.

This included raising awareness of the environmental, social and health footprint in line with the Qatar National Vision 2030.

Qatar Airways Group Chief Executive Officer, Mr Akbar Al Baker said, “Our airline prides itself on providing a world-class service to passengers and customers, and it is great to see our efforts recognized by such prestigious awards. We are committed to maintaining high standards of service and creating a positive experience for our passengers. These awards are a testament to the hard work and dedication of our employees.”

Qatar Airways’ Internal Communications Team has also received the special ‘Internal Communications Team of the Year Special Recognition’ award, recognized for its continued efforts in raising awareness about Qatar Airways’ sustainability efforts and its commitment to reducing its environmental footprint in line with the Qatar National Vision 2030.

Al-Kaabi meets PM of Bosnia and Herzegovina

HE the Minister of State for Energy Affairs Saad bin Sherida al-Kaabi met yesterday with Fadil Novalic, the Prime Minister of the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, who is currently in Doha on the sidelines of the 22nd World Petroleum Congress during the meeting covered bilateral relations and co-operation in the field of energy.

Sterling hits 7-month high as election nears

Sterling edged up to a seven-month high against the dollar overnight, cementing recent gains as traders looked towards October 15 – the deadline set by British Prime Minister Boris Johnson for a general election.

This week, the pound was down against the euro and dollar but it has put in a decent performance overall, hitting a seven-month high against the dollar on Thursday.

The pound was down 0.2% at 1.3026 and set to be above a fresh seven-month high of 1.3050. Against the euro, the pound rose 0.3% to 0.9027 on Thursday, with the dollar recovering from recent falls.

Investors have piled up on the pound in recent days that the governing Conservative Party would win a majority in the election, although political uncertainty that has hampered the British economy has not gone away.

The pound gained 0.3% against the dollar on Thursday as traders looked towards October 15 – the deadline set by British Prime Minister Boris Johnson for a general election.

The pound was up 0.3% at 1.3026 and set to be above a fresh seven-month high of 1.3050. Against the euro, the pound rose 0.3% to 0.9027 on Thursday, with the dollar recovering from recent falls.

Al-Kaabi meets PM of Bosnia and Herzegovina

HE the Minister of State for Energy Affairs Saad bin Sherida al-Kaabi met yesterday with Fadil Novalic, the Prime Minister of the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, who is currently in Doha on the sidelines of the 22nd World Petroleum Congress during the meeting covered bilateral relations and co-operation in the field of energy.

Sterling hits 7-month high as election nears

Sterling edged up to a seven-month high against the dollar overnight, cementing recent gains as traders looked towards October 15 – the deadline set by British Prime Minister Boris Johnson for a general election.

This week, the pound was down against the euro and dollar but it has put in a decent performance overall, hitting a seven-month high against the dollar on Thursday.

The pound was down 0.2% at 1.3026 and set to be above a fresh seven-month high of 1.3050. Against the euro, the pound rose 0.3% to 0.9027 on Thursday, with the dollar recovering from recent falls.

Investors have piled up on the pound in recent days that the governing Conservative Party would win a majority in the election, although political uncertainty that has hampered the British economy has not gone away.

The pound gained 0.3% against the dollar on Thursday as traders looked towards October 15 – the deadline set by British Prime Minister Boris Johnson for a general election.

The pound was up 0.3% at 1.3026 and set to be above a fresh seven-month high of 1.3050. Against the euro, the pound rose 0.3% to 0.9027 on Thursday, with the dollar recovering from recent falls.

Al-Kaabi meets PM of Bosnia and Herzegovina

HE the Minister of State for Energy Affairs Saad bin Sherida al-Kaabi met yesterday with Fadil Novalic, the Prime Minister of the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, who is currently in Doha on the sidelines of the 22nd World Petroleum Congress during the meeting covered bilateral relations and co-operation in the field of energy.

Sterling hits 7-month high as election nears

Sterling edged up to a seven-month high against the dollar overnight, cementing recent gains as traders looked towards October 15 – the deadline set by British Prime Minister Boris Johnson for a general election.

This week, the pound was down against the euro and dollar but it has put in a decent performance overall, hitting a seven-month high against the dollar on Thursday.

The pound was down 0.2% at 1.3026 and set to be above a fresh seven-month high of 1.3050. Against the euro, the pound rose 0.3% to 0.9027 on Thursday, with the dollar recovering from recent falls.

Investors have piled up on the pound in recent days that the governing Conservative Party would win a majority in the election, although political uncertainty that has hampered the British economy has not gone away.

The pound gained 0.3% against the dollar on Thursday as traders looked towards October 15 – the deadline set by British Prime Minister Boris Johnson for a general election.

The pound was up 0.3% at 1.3026 and set to be above a fresh seven-month high of 1.3050. Against the euro, the pound rose 0.3% to 0.9027 on Thursday, with the dollar recovering from recent falls.
Record blackouts shut S Africa mines as recession risk rises

Bloomberg

Platinum and gold mines in South Africa stopped operations as the country was hit by record levels of rolling blackouts that are crippling key parts of the economy. The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts by Eskom, which continued for a sixth straight day on Tuesday, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.

The rolling blackouts, which come as the country heads into elections on May 11, have a far-reaching and debilitating effect on the economy. The government has been under pressure to tackle load shedding for years. The government announced emergency plans for its infrastructure investments that will start paying off in the next few years. The government’s intentions are clear, but it is unclear how much will be left after paying off the country’s debt.
With hashes and hedges, crypto miners court investors in UK

Bloomberg

Risk consultancies see increased demand from investors in UK

Tuesday, December 11, 2019

The形状 of many images is like young babies, hunched over a keyboard. They are clicking away at keys, struggling to understand the new words that are being typed in front of them. Their hands are steady but their minds are racing, trying to make sense of the information they are processing. As they type, their faces become more furrowed, indicating their concentration. Suddenly, one of them reaches up and pulls on a handle, causing the machine to whir into life. The babies pour forward, their heads down, their fingers flying over the keys.

Business

Risk consultancies see increased demand from investors in UK

---

Image 1: A group of risk consultancies is seen working on a laptop, with one individual standing in front of a computer screen. The setting appears to be an office environment, with various desks and chairs visible in the background.

Image 2: An office interior with desks and chairs, with individuals working on computers. The atmosphere is professional and focused.

Image 3: A meeting room with a table and chairs, where a group of people is discussing a project. The setting is modern and well-lit.

---

Bloomberg

Risk consultancies see increased demand from investors in UK

---

Image 1: A group of risk consultancies is seen working on a laptop, with one individual standing in front of a computer screen. The setting appears to be an office environment, with various desks and chairs visible in the background.

Image 2: An office interior with desks and chairs, with individuals working on computers. The atmosphere is professional and focused.

Image 3: A meeting room with a table and chairs, where a group of people is discussing a project. The setting is modern and well-lit.

---

Bloomberg

Risk consultancies see increased demand from investors in UK

---

Image 1: A group of risk consultancies is seen working on a laptop, with one individual standing in front of a computer screen. The setting appears to be an office environment, with various desks and chairs visible in the background.

Image 2: An office interior with desks and chairs, with individuals working on computers. The atmosphere is professional and focused.

Image 3: A meeting room with a table and chairs, where a group of people is discussing a project. The setting is modern and well-lit.
China's biggest stock listing in years barely gains on debut

Bloomberg

China’s largest stock debut in years failed yesterday with minimal trading sentiment in the world’s second-largest market. China Everbright Land, the property developer spun off from China Everbright Group, started trading in Shanghai yesterday with its stock price spiking 5% at the close, but its rise was fully in line with its offering price. The underwriters in the deal also had to buy and hold a few million shares at the offering price, which could weigh on the stock for some time. The listing, part of a broader plan by China to attract more listings, was dimly lit by uncertainty over the course of trade talks. The deal, which makes the US the largest listing in the world, was also a win for China’s State-owned asset companies, which have been hoping to list more companies in the coming years.

---

Bloomberg

Japan bonds rebound as benchmark yield rise's to 0% spurs demand

Bloomberg

Japan’s benchmark bond yield rebounded from the lowest level in more than a decade after the central bank announced its inflation forecast was now closer to its 2% target. The yield on the 10-year government bond fell to 0.01% from 0.11% the previous day after Bank of Japan Governor Haruhiko Kuroda said in a news conference that the bank’s “current policy stance” remains well placed to achieve its price goals. The 10-year yield may inch several basis points higher even as the policy makers believe inflation is likely to catch up with the government’s 2% target by the end of this decade. The BOJ is due to release its inflation and economic forecasts on Friday, and market participants are bracing for a possible change in the central bank’s language on inflation expectations.

---

Gulf Times

Record in reach for Taiwan share prices heading into poll year

Gulf Times

Analysts say a humming economy will attract investors to Taiwan, which is beefing up its efforts to participate in a global market strategist at JPMorgan Chase & Co’s citizens of a country that is stepping up its fiscal support to counter economic downturns caused by the coronavirus. The BOJ has repeatedly said it will not move until there is a significant improvement in the economy.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.

---

Gold Times

Most Asian markets end down as traders eye tariffs deadlines

Gold Times

Most Asian markets ended lower on Monday as traders eye tariffs deadlines.

---

Gold Times

Record in reach for Taiwan share prices heading into poll year

Gulf Times

Analysts say a humming economy will attract investors to Taiwan, which is beefing up its efforts to participate in a global market strategist at JPMorgan Chase & Co’s citizens of a country that is stepping up its fiscal support to counter economic downturns caused by the coronavirus. The BOJ has repeatedly said it will not move until there is a significant improvement in the economy.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.

---

Gold Times

Most Asian markets end down as traders eye tariffs deadlines

Gold Times

Most Asian markets ended lower on Monday as traders eye tariffs deadlines.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.

---

Gold Times

Most Asian markets end down as traders eye tariffs deadlines

Gold Times

Most Asian markets ended lower on Monday as traders eye tariffs deadlines.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.

---

Gold Times

Most Asian markets end down as traders eye tariffs deadlines

Gold Times

Most Asian markets ended lower on Monday as traders eye tariffs deadlines.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.

---

Gold Times

Most Asian markets end down as traders eye tariffs deadlines

Gold Times

Most Asian markets ended lower on Monday as traders eye tariffs deadlines.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.

---

Gold Times

Most Asian markets end down as traders eye tariffs deadlines

Gold Times

Most Asian markets ended lower on Monday as traders eye tariffs deadlines.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.

---

Gold Times

Most Asian markets end down as traders eye tariffs deadlines

Gold Times

Most Asian markets ended lower on Monday as traders eye tariffs deadlines.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.

---

Gold Times

Most Asian markets end down as traders eye tariffs deadlines

Gold Times

Most Asian markets ended lower on Monday as traders eye tariffs deadlines.

---

Bloomberg

Europe’s biggest listing in years gained 0.1%, while Seoul and Wellington were 0.2% to 26,436.62 points yesterday. The Hang Seng index plunged 80% in eight months. The Taiex doubled in both 1987 and 1990, a milestone that financial markets.
Gold's impressive advance in 2019 – aided by trade war frictions, easier monetary policy and heightened political uncertainty – has been sustained. geopolitical tensions, and a trio of Federal Reserve interest rate cuts propelled the traditional haven to the forefront.

But there are some important factors to consider, including recent remarks he has indicated that he is running for re-election in November. The US presidential vote is scheduled for November 3, and before that there is the possibility of an impeachment hearing. Donald Trump has said many different things on the trade topic, and it will be interesting to see how the market reacts to any statements.

The $24bn BlackRock portfolio manager, for example, thinks stocks will outshine bullion. He predicts a 5% to 8% gain in gold next year, which would be a breakthrough, bringing the metal closer to its $1,900 to $2,000 level.

But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.

Inflation will also be a factor, as will the impact of geopolitical tensions. But should there be economic weakness in 2020, he says, gold will shine. If economic growth slows, central banks will likely resume lowering rates, boosting non-interest performance, and when we go into a recession, he predicts that global central banks will be even more aggressive.
Stock markets nervous as US tariff deadline nears

K ey stock markets were soft yest erday and the dollar firmed as an optimistic and downbeat — are slight gain. Paris’ CAC 40 closed 0.2% up at 4,422.82, followed weakness on Wall Street. the impact of the trade war between Trump still has not scrapped planned tariffs. The current rate of confidence among German f inancial technologies — the CAC 40 hit the highest level in over six months and was up by €5.0 on the day. Germany’s benchmark Bund yield rose up to 1.17% for a three-point rise in the morning. Tobin 10-year bond yields, which fell on Monday, were flat on the day at 1.17%. China’s benchmark Shanghai Composite index was higher by 0.1%. New Year in China showed through slight gain. Tokyo’s Nikkei fell 0.09%. Trade-sensitive metals were down by 0.4%. Investors were also keeping an eye on the US Federal Reserve. The Fed is expected to leave interest rates unchanged at 2%. Wall Street reopened on Monday after New Year’s Day. Analysts say investors will be watch ing for signs of if US economic growth.

“With what you have seen since the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth quarter was this two tables were reading. And now this work you can see two new pieces coming back to the market,” said M ike O’Leary, head of equity strategy at BNP Paribas.

Tokyo’s Nikkei fell 0.09%. Trade-sensitive metals were down by 0.4%. Investors were also keeping an eye on the US Federal Reserve. The Fed is expected to leave interest rates unchanged at 2%. Wall Street reopened on Monday after New Year’s Day. Analysts say investors will be watching for signs of if US economic growth.

“What you have seen since the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth quarter was these two tables were reading. And now this work you can see two new pieces coming back to the market,” said Mike O’Leary, head of equity strategy at BNP Paribas.

Tokyo’s Nikkei fell 0.09%. Trade-sensitive metals were down by 0.4%. Investors were also keeping an eye on the US Federal Reserve. The Fed is expected to leave interest rates unchanged at 2%. Wall Street reopened on Monday after New Year’s Day. Analysts say investors will be watching for signs of if US economic growth.

“What you have seen since the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth quarter was these two tables were reading. And now this work you can see two new pieces coming back to the market,” said Mike O’Leary, head of equity strategy at BNP Paribas.

Tokyo’s Nikkei fell 0.09%. Trade-sensitive metals were down by 0.4%. Investors were also keeping an eye on the US Federal Reserve. The Fed is expected to leave interest rates unchanged at 2%. Wall Street reopened on Monday after New Year’s Day. Analysts say investors will be watching for signs of if US economic growth.

“What you have seen since the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth quarter was these two tables were reading. And now this work you can see two new pieces coming back to the market,” said Mike O’Leary, head of equity strategy at BNP Paribas.
Bloomberg

Russia giant ready to join oil, gas exploration in Pakistan

Russia’s giant Rosneft is ready to join oil and gas exploration in Pakistan, a senior official who was part of a meeting of the two countries in Islamabad on December 11. The Russian State Geological Holding ROSGEO and Pakistan's Offshore Gas Pipeline Company Gazprom from Russian side and Pakistan State Oil Gas Exploration Company Gazprom from Russian side signed an agreement to explore oil and gas in the country.

The Russian side also reiterated their intent of joining the World Trade Organisation (WTO) at the earliest, as the US is seeking to impose them with tariffs on steel and aluminium. The US administration has put a limit on the steel and aluminium imports from multiple nations.

It should be noted that the US has imposed trade tariffs on the steel and aluminium imports from China, India, Brazil, and Mexico. In order to avoid such tariffs, the two countries have to agree to a voluntary form of trade surveillance. Under the system, the US would conduct a review of steel and aluminium imports from a country and if found to be violating WTO rules, it would impose tariffs on steel and aluminium imports from that country.

China and Russia have already signed a joint programme of ROSGEO JSC and Pakistan State Geological Holding ROSGEO, which is aimed at exploring oil and gas in Pakistan.

The joint programme of the two nations aims to explore oil and gas in Pakistan's offshore fields, which are located in the Arabian Sea. The offshore fields are expected to yield large amounts of oil and gas, which will boost the country's economy.

Both the sides support the interest of the World Trade Organisation in settling cross-border trade disputes. The Chinese side confirmed its support for the World Trade Organisation in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

The EU is due as soon as this week to make a final decision on whether to impose tariffs on steel and aluminium imports from China and Russia. The European Union's backup plan for settling international trade disputes as US President Donald Trump's administration gets closer to setting the World Trade Organisation's role in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

As the US seeks to impose tariffs on steel and aluminium imports from multiple nations, the EU is seeking to avoid such tariffs by agreeing to a voluntary form of trade surveillance. Under the system, the EU would conduct a review of steel and aluminium imports from a country and if found to be violating WTO rules, it would impose tariffs on steel and aluminium imports from that country.

There has been an increase in the number of countries that are seeking to avoid such tariffs by agreeing to a voluntary form of trade surveillance. The US is seeking to impose tariffs on steel and aluminium imports from China, India, Brazil, and Mexico. In order to avoid such tariffs, the two countries have to agree to a voluntary form of trade surveillance. Under the system, the US would conduct a review of steel and aluminium imports from a country and if found to be violating WTO rules, it would impose tariffs on steel and aluminium imports from that country.

The EU is due as soon as this week to make a final decision on whether to impose tariffs on steel and aluminium imports from China and Russia. The European Union's backup plan for settling international trade disputes as US President Donald Trump's administration gets closer to setting the World Trade Organisation's role in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

Inflation in Pakistan touches highest point in 15 years

Finance Minister Hammad Azhar announced on Wednesday that the inflation rate in Pakistan has increased to 12.17%, the highest point in the last 15 years. The inflation rate in Pakistan was 7.5% in October, 8.0% in November, and 9.3% in December 2018.

The inflation rate in Pakistan has been increasing for the past few months, mainly due to the rise in food prices. According to the Pakistan Bureau of Statistics, the inflation rate in Pakistan has increased by 0.8% in the last five years.

The central bank of Pakistan, the State Bank of Pakistan, has increased the key interest rate to 12.25% in December, which has been a concern for the government. The government has been trying to control inflation by increasing the interest rate, which has led to a decrease in the demand for loanable funds.

The government has been trying to control inflation by increasing the interest rate, which has led to a decrease in the demand for loanable funds. The central bank of Pakistan, the State Bank of Pakistan, has increased the key interest rate to 12.25% in December, which has been a concern for the government.

The government has been trying to control inflation by increasing the interest rate, which has led to a decrease in the demand for loanable funds. The central bank of Pakistan, the State Bank of Pakistan, has increased the key interest rate to 12.25% in December, which has been a concern for the government.

China may back EU’s trade dispute ‘tartar’ within WTO: Bloomberg

China may back EU’s trade dispute ‘tartar’ within the World Trade Organisation (WTO), said sources. The European Union’s backup plan for settling international trade disputes as US President Donald Trump’s administration gets closer to setting the World Trade Organisation’s role in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

China is seeking to increase its role in refereeing cross-border trade disputes as US President Donald Trump’s administration gets closer to setting the World Trade Organisation’s role in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

The US administration has put a limit on the steel and aluminium imports from multiple nations, which has led to a rise in the steel and aluminium import prices. In order to avoid such tariffs, the two countries have to agree to a voluntary form of trade surveillance. Under the system, the US would conduct a review of steel and aluminium imports from a country and if found to be violating WTO rules, it would impose tariffs on steel and aluminium imports from that country.

Both sides supported the interest of the World Trade Organisation in settling cross-border trade disputes. The Chinese side confirmed its support for the World Trade Organisation in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

China is seeking to increase its role in refereeing cross-border trade disputes as US President Donald Trump’s administration gets closer to setting the World Trade Organisation’s role in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

The government has been trying to control inflation by increasing the interest rate, which has led to a decrease in the demand for loanable funds. The central bank of Pakistan, the State Bank of Pakistan, has increased the key interest rate to 12.25% in December, which has been a concern for the government.

The inflation rate in Pakistan has increased to 12.17%, the highest point in the last 15 years. The inflation rate in Pakistan was 7.5% in October, 8.0% in November, and 9.3% in December 2018. The inflation rate in Pakistan has been increasing for the past few months, mainly due to the rise in food prices. According to the Pakistan Bureau of Statistics, the inflation rate in Pakistan has increased by 0.8% in the last five years.

China is seeking to increase its role in refereeing cross-border trade disputes as US President Donald Trump’s administration gets closer to setting the World Trade Organisation’s role in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

Both sides supported the interest of the World Trade Organisation in settling cross-border trade disputes. The Chinese side confirmed its support for the World Trade Organisation in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

Both sides supported the interest of the World Trade Organisation in settling cross-border trade disputes. The Chinese side confirmed its support for the World Trade Organisation in resolving cross-border trade disputes.

The government has been trying to control inflation by increasing the interest rate, which has led to a decrease in the demand for loanable funds. The central bank of Pakistan, the State Bank of Pakistan, has increased the key interest rate to 12.25% in December, which has been a concern for the government.

The inflation rate in Pakistan has increased to 12.17%, the highest point in the last 15 years. The inflation rate in Pakistan was 7.5% in October, 8.0% in November, and 9.3% in December 2018.
Deutsche Bank leans on traders again as rate headwinds mount

Bloomberg

Germany edges out Norway as Europe’s biggest e-car market

Bloomberg

Deutsche Bank vows to avoid capital raise as ECs cut buffer

Bloomberg

Just Eat rejects improved Prosus bid, sticks with Takeaway

Bloomberg

Swedish energy deal collapses amid clash over nuclear power

Gulf Times

BUSINESS

Bloomberg

January 31, 2023

Germany has pulled ahead of Norway as sales of electric cars passed the 20% of the new-vehicle market mark for the first time. Norway has traditionally been Europe’s top market for electric cars, but sales there have slowed in recent years, while in Germany, the country with the biggest car market in the EU, sales of electric cars have surged – driven in part by generous government incentives.

Analysts at Liberum said that the Norwegian market is regarded as a bellwether for the European market, with Norway’s relatively small car market allowing its government to implement more aggressive policies than those that apply in larger EU countries.

Germany has been third. The second, and until now, Norway of electrified cars. The US is the government scaled back the nuclear plants. What’s more, the US is the world’s biggest supplier of electric cars to Europe. The European Union is debating how to reform its own nuclear energy market.

Mattes, head of the country’s road enforcement, said in a message to Bloomberg.

The lender’s common equity tier 1 (CET1) level at 12.5% or higher is considered to avoid a repeat of misconduct charges that eroded its financial strength and reputation alike.

The German economy minister said that the government will support the efforts of the European Commission to create a European energy market, but added that it is important that the market is not dominated by a few large players.

For all the talk of a major battle between the two countries, Germany and Norway have been preparing for a major battle for years.

The German government has plans to phase out nuclear power by 2038 and to increase the use of renewable energy sources. Norway, on the other hand, has been a leader in the development of wind and solar power.

The battle for the region’s biggest e-car market is heating up, with Norway emerging as an early regional leader on an annual basis. Germany and Norway have been preparing for a major battle for years, but the outcome is far from certain.

Germany, with its large car industry and the European Union’s support for the development of electric vehicles, is a major player in the global market for electric cars.

Just Eat has said it is in talks with Bloomberg to acquire Takeaway, which is based on a compelling strategy: it acquires the business of online food delivery at a low price and then leverages the network effect to grow its business.

A customer checks the website of Just Eat in London. Just Eat’s deal with Takeaway is based on a compelling strategy: it acquires the business of online food delivery at a low price and then leverages the network effect to grow its business.

Deutsche Bank’s lower capital buffer is a decline in the ECB’s so-called Pillar 2 requirement, which is meant to ensure that banks have enough capital to absorb losses from potential future shocks. The requirement has been reduced in recent years, and Deutsche Bank has been working to reduce its capital buffer to avoid a capital raise.

The bank’s stock price has fallen 25.3% since the start of the year, but it has been able to avoid a capital raise so far. Deutsche Bank has been trying to reduce its capital buffer through a variety of means, including selling assets and reducing its exposure to risky loans.

Deutsche Bank, which is one of the world’s biggest banks, is facing a number of challenges. The bank has been hit by a series of scandals in recent years, and it has been working to strengthen its capital base.

The bank’s stock price has fallen 25.3% since the start of the year, but it has been able to avoid a capital raise so far. Deutsche Bank has been trying to reduce its capital buffer through a variety of means, including selling assets and reducing its exposure to risky loans.

Deutsche Bank, which is one of the world’s biggest banks, is facing a number of challenges. The bank has been hit by a series of scandals in recent years, and it has been working to strengthen its capital base.

The bank’s stock price has fallen 25.3% since the start of the year, but it has been able to avoid a capital raise so far. Deutsche Bank has been trying to reduce its capital buffer through a variety of means, including selling assets and reducing its exposure to risky loans.

Deutsche Bank, which is one of the world’s biggest banks, is facing a number of challenges. The bank has been hit by a series of scandals in recent years, and it has been working to strengthen its capital base.
Islamic wealth management has yet to unlock growth potential

A Gulf Times Exclusive

Islamic wealth management has yet to unlock growth potential.

Islamic wealth management products and solutions, according to the GFMA, are mainly offered through waqf foundations or unit trusts. At present, Islamic wealth management offers are limited to Shariah-compliant asset protection, asset management, and investment funds, but also towards other areas such as insurance, asset protection, as well as the deployment of multi-currency options for construction, a better collaboration of asset protection, as well as the deployment of multi-currency options for construction, a better collaboration of asset protection, as well as the deployment of multi-currency options for construction, a better collaboration of

Bedaya holds third edition of ‘Foundation Programme’ to start a business

Gulf Times Exclusive

The Bedaya Centre for Entrepreneurship and Career Development (Bedaya), a joint initiative by Qatar Development Bank and silatech, recently held a series of workshops at the 3rd Conclave of Islamic Finance — Views from the Islamic Financial Community, held recently in Doha in co-operation with the Indian Embassy in Qatar.

The event was inaugurated by EP Jayarajan, Kerala’s Commerce and Industry director Hamad al-Marri’ and Qatar Financial Centre vice president Dr Damodar Avanoor, former president, Keralaroots, which was set up to ensure the welfare of non-resident Keralities and to serve as a single kiosk for all related information.

CV Rappai, Norka Roots director as well as Group CEO of Video Home/Jumbo Electronics, gave a keynote address by KBF vice president Al-Attiyah Foundation has signed an agreement with Qatar Development Bank and Qatar Energy, extending the Foundation’s membership renewal and membership of the Foundation on LinkedIn @qatarfoundation or by following Al-Attiyah Foundation’s website at www.alattiyahfoundation.org or by following the Foundation on social media and visiting the Foundation’s Facebook page.

The latest energy and sustainable development policy and news can be viewed on the Al-Attiyah Foundation’s website at www.alattiyahfoundation.org or by following the Foundation on social media and visiting the Foundation’s Facebook page.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

Bedaya’s 3rd Conclave, held recently in Doha in co-operation with the Indian Embassy in Qatar.

The event was attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.

The event was also attended by KBF general secretary Mohamed Althaf and Teyseer Motors deputy GM Dr Mohamed Altheaf.