Country-wide events planned to celebrate Eid

The Gulf oil giant has agreed to buy the rest of the 30 per cent stake it does not already own in the field, which contains an estimated 3 billion barrels of oil. Qatar's government said it would inject up to $2 billion into the company to help it expand production. Qatargas also announced plans to start shipping liquefied natural gas (LNG) from a new facility in the next three years.

Doha: Qatar's government has committed to providing assistance to the victims of the floods in Texas. The Qatari embassy in Washington said it had already sent $1 million to the Texas Department of Public Safety to help with relief efforts. The embassy added that Qatar was also providing medical aid and supplies to affected areas.
Weekly bulletin released by the Ministry of Municipality and Environment last night showed that 25 nationalities registered since the start of the camping activity, while the Ministry of Municipality and Environment issued a ministerial decision to form a committee to organise camping activities under the chairmanship of the Assistant Minister for Planning, Development, Environment, and Recreation Affairs.

The committee is responsible for determining the locations of the camping, regulating the rules and conditions of entry and exit from the site, holding the general and special meetings of the committee, preparing and approving the programmes of the camping, and preparing the problems and obstacles related to the Committee regarding the camping activity to provide suggestions or require real estate deals.

Real estate transactions in Qatar during the period from August 20 to 26 were worth QR 224,346,100, official data showed yesterday. The Ministry of Municipality and Environment expressed its appreciation of the real estate market transactions and the achievements made by the real estate market, expressing its appreciation of the real estate market's contributions and its impact on the economy and the general development of the country.

Last year the Award received more than 100 nominations from 50 countries, seven winners were selected across all four categories, recognising outstanding achievements including the establishment of two national leaders in Central America and Europe. The winners shared a total of $7mn.

The Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani International Anti-Corruption Excellence Awards opened nominations for this year’s edition, welcoming entries from all over the world to nominate organisations, groups, and individuals of any nationality, demonstrating a significant commitment and contributions towards the prevention and control of corruption. The Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani International Anti-Corruption Excellence Awards were inaugurated at a ceremony at the Hofburg Palace, Vienna in 2016 by the Rule of Law and Anti-Corruption Center (ROACC) in support of the United Nations Office of Drugs and Crime (UNODC) and its anti-corruption mandates. This year’s list was submitted across four key categories: Lifetime/Outstanding Achievement, Academic Research and Education, Innovation, and Youth Creativity and Engagement. More information about the award and the nomination process can be found on www.sheikhtamimawards.com.

By highlighting exemplary models and promoting excellence and creativity in anti-corruption, the Sheikh bin Hamad Al-Thani International Anti-Corruption Excellence Awards serve as a platform to identify, recognise, honour, and reward those who have shown vision, leadership, and a significant commitment to tackling corruption in their own countries or beyond. The winners were presented their awards by the then United Nations Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon with the winners of the inaugural Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani International Anti-Corruption Excellence Awards in Vienna last year.

Qatar to attend falconry event in Kyrgyz Republic

Qatar, represented by the Qatari Society of Al Gannas, will participate in the annual meeting of the International Association for Falconry and Conservation of Birds of Prey (IAF) in the Kyrgyz Republic from September 2 to 10.

Ali bin Khatem al-Mehshadi, chairman of Al Gannas and head of the Qatari delegation to the international conference, said the Society will brief international delegations on its most important project results, as well as the problem of electric shock and the role of Qatari falconers in reducing it within the country.

Al-Mehshadi said the Society went a mission to the Ministry of Municipalities and Environment and the Qatar General Electricity & Water Co. (Kahramaa) to protect migratory falcons against high tension wires. The Society is also in the process of establishing a hospital that contributes to the reduction of diseases and the treatment of infected birds. The chairman of the Society said his mission was to invite the participants to attend Qatar’s Third International Falcons Veterinary Conference in 2018, as well as to invite them to attend Katara International Falcon and Hunting Exhibition which will be held for the first time in Qatar from September 20 to 24.
Signal-controlled TV intersection opened

The redevelopment of Ali Bin Abi Talib Street in New Slata and the signal-controlled intersection in place of the old TV Roundabout were formally opened to traffic yesterday, Ashghal announced.

Brigadier Mohamed Abdul Rahim Marafi, director of Engineering and Traffic Safety Department at the General Directorate of Traffic, and Engineer Jamal Mattar al-Nuaimi, director of Doha Municipality and Abdullah bin Saeed al-Sulaiti, member of the Central Municipal Council (CMC) for the 7th Constituency were present.

Engineer Jassim Abdullah al-Malki, CMC member for the First Constituency, Abdullah al-Hitmi, CMC member for the 4th Constituency, and a number of the project managers and many Ashghal officials also attended the openings.

At the inauguration, Ashghal senior engineer and Road projects manager Saoud Ali al-Tamimi said the authority is committed to open important projects ahead of Eid al-Adha and the beginning of the new academic year in order to reduce congestion and ease traffic.

Engineer Moussa highlighted the opening of Messila Tunnel and the expanded Jasim Bin Hamad Street. The openings included the Old Traffic Roundabout which was converted to signal-controlled intersection. Two road tunnels at Pearl Interchange will be opened today.

Engineer Matafah said the openings are part of the efforts to expand traffic flow. Converting the TV and Sport Roundabouts into signal-controlled intersections and the development of Ali Bin Abi Talib Street and opening the two tunnels at Pearl interchange will have the maximum impact on traffic flow in the central area. This will reduce congestion in peak hours and during school days.

Brigadier Ahmad bin Saeed al-Sulaiti, the opening of Al Bin Abi Talib Street and its intersections will have the maximum impact on traffic flow in the central area.

"Ali Bin Abi Talib Street will contribute to reducing the traffic burden on Salwa Road and other main streets."

Traffic flow change from September 7 announced

Changes would be made to the traffic patterns on the Temporary Truck Road at Al Thumama Roundabout at 4am section of the New Orbital Highway, Ashghal announced yesterday.

It is closing 4am section of the Construction of Kenhwa Msh Cemetery at this point, which will occur approximately 1.5km southeast of Doha, has been designed in co-ordination with the Islamic Qatari, announced today.

To implement the change, the Temporary Truck Road will be closed from 7am until 2pm until Khuwaiteem Interchange. The authority will install road signs advising motorists of the changes will be made to the existing temporary traffic signals at the Kenhwa Msh Cemetery and the road that extends from Hamad Port. Motorists and truck drivers planning to travel to Rimal Road or Khalifa Road will have two alternatives routes to arrive at the destination.

Using the new 4am section of the New Orbital Highway, motorists traveling from Hamad Port Road to Rimal Road or Dukhan Highway are required to continue straight over the New Orbital Interface towards the Hamad Port Interchange and road signage and access the correct route to travel west on the G Ring Road towards the New Orbital Highway. Ashghal has said it will increase the number of lanes on the Helwan Interchange and the Hamad Port Road to three lanes to cater to the higher volume of traffic leaving Hamad Port each day.

After reaching the existing temporary traffic signals, motorists will turn left towards Mezzana and travel for a distance of 1.5km before making a U-turn at the first designated point and then another left towards the New Orbital Highway towards Rimal Road and Dukhan Highway.

Using Hamad Port Road and the G Ring Road, road users traveling from Hamad Port to their destination. Motorists and truck drivers who wish to use Hamad Port Road as a shortcut will still have to use Mezzana Road towards Al Shorooq Roundabout.

At the first roundabout, motorists should make a left turn onto Hamad Port Road and travel straight towards the New Orbital Highway. Ashghal also requests that all road users check the official road works have been designed in co-ordination with the Islamic Qatari, announced today.

Qatar Airways begins daily service to Kyiv

Qatar Airways' (QA) first flight from Doha to the Ukrainian capital Kyiv touched down at Boryspil International Airport yesterday, marking the launch of daily flights using an Airbus A320 aircraft.

RIA CEO Firdaus Kabibulin welcomed QA's chief commercial officer Rashid al-Khalifa at a traditional airport ceremony. Kabibulin was attended by Qatar's ambassador to Ukraine, Jassim bin Rashid al-Abdulllah.

Speaking at a press conference, Anas highlighted the air-carrier's expansion plans, as well as Qatar Airways' efforts to link international cities to Prague and Prague as part of its efforts to widen its network across Eastern Europe and linking these cities to Qatar's global network of more than 150 destinations.

One of Eastern Europe's undiscovered cultural jewels is a hub with rich architecture and many art galleries and museums according to QA.

The city is both historic and modern, and quickly becoming a popular must-visit destination for tourists from around the world. Qatar Airways aims to connect business and leisure travelers from around the globe, while also appealing to those who travel, offering them the opportunity to experience Qatar Airways.

Passengers from Kyiv will not only be able to take advantage of smooth and efficient travel through Qatar's home and hub, Hamad International Airport, to more than 150 global destinations, but also to visit the state of Qatar, an alluring country of allures including high-profile popular leisure destinations, it is the perfect place for Christians to visit the cosmopolitan Middle Eastern country and stay for 30 days through a visa-free scheme.

The new daily flights to Kyiv will provide more than 10 tonnes of belly capacity each week, supporting the growing meat trade, automotive and civil construction.

Meanwhile, Qatar Airways chief commercial officer Rashid al-Khalifa highlighted the airline's commitment to developing co-operation with the best airlines companies in the world as a matter of fundamental importance for us. The city's airport had a rather step in qualitative development of the city and its infrastructure.

"This new route will further enhance Qatar Airways' network in Eastern Europe and link its efforts to widen its network to Prague and Skopje as part of its recently launched services," Amin highlighted the air-carrier's expansion plans, as well as Qatar Airways' efforts to link international cities to Prague and Prague as part of its efforts to widen its network across Eastern Europe and linking these cities to Qatar's global network of more than 150 destinations.

Two-state solution cannot be abandoned: UN chief

UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres has warned that it is impossible to resurrect a two-state solution to the conflict in Israel-Palestine, saying, “There is no Plan B to a two-state solution.”

Palestinian Prime Minister Rami Hamdallah called on Guterres to make an independent Palestinian state an international priority and to comprehend the vision of the Palestinian leadership for a Palestinian state to exist in the West Bank and Gaza Strip, with东Jerusalem as its capital. The United Nations has established and mandated UNRWA in the Gaza Strip.

The UN Security Council, for its part, has been working on a resolution to support the Palestinian initiative, which was submitted to the Security Council on Monday. The resolution calls on all parties to respect the resolution and to refrain from any actions that could undermine its implementation. The resolution was introduced by the Security Council’s five permanent members:

- The United States
- Russia
- China
- France
- United Kingdom

The resolution was introduced in response to repeated Israeli actions that could undermine the resolution’s implementation. The resolution calls for an immediate end to all Israeli settlement activities and to the expansion of existing settlements.

Teen in deadly New England shooting seeks justice after being identified

Harvey’s rains lash Texas

U.S. President Donald Trump arrived yesterday in Texas to survey the damage of Tropical Storm Harvey, which devastated the southern US state and has led to a massive humanitarian response and widespread devastation in east Texas. The storm, which was classified as a category 4 hurricane, made landfall near Rockport on August 25th, causing massive flooding and infrastructure damage.

Among the wounded was at least one child, a 10-year-old boy. Noah Mitchell, who was shot in the leg, was transported to a hospital in Dallas, and was in satisfactory condition on Tuesday, according to police. Two more boys were wounded in separate incidents.

A teenager who killed two people and wounded four others in a shooting at a shopping mall in New Jersey was identified as 20-year-old Anthony Sodipo. The shooter was also killed in the incident.

President Donald Trump visited the state of Texas yesterday after the devastating hurricane Harvey. The visit comes as Texas faces considerable challenges due to the flooded areas and infrastructural damage. Travis County Judge Clay Jenkins told reporters that the county has had to process over 100,000 applications for federal aid.

The tourism industry would also likely suffer, given the potential destruction of iconic sites such as the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, and the Statue of Freedom.

Feuding congress to debate Harvey recovery funds

Congressman Cruz, a Tea Party hero and minority leader of the House of Representatives, has called for robust funding for recovery and relief in Texas. He has accused the federal government of inadequate response to the hurricane, which has left thousands of people homeless and displaced.

One estimate by the Reuters Foundation puts the cost of recovery at $15 billion, while another by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) estimates that the cost could reach $50 billion.

The tourism industry would also likely suffer due to the potential destruction of iconic sites such as New York’s most popular landmarks.

The disaster has also raised questions about the adequacy of emergency management in Texas and the need for better planning and coordination in the event of future disasters.

Zuma's ex-wife slams critics as S Africa power race heats up

By Byron Hogwood, AFP (悝从外国)

The former wife of South African President Jacob Zuma said she had decided to run for the office of the presidency in South Africa.

Zuma's wife, Nkosazana Dlamini-Zuma, is a leading candidate to replace Zuma as South Africa's president.

Dlamini-Zuma told AFP that she found the criticism of her candidacy to replace Zuma as South Africa's president "shocking".

"I have always been known as the president of her late husband's legacy and the country, and I am here for that," she said.

Dlamini-Zuma is one of the candidates who are expected to challenge Zuma for the ANC leadership in the party's elective conference later this month.

"I will not be deterred by President Zuma's attacks, but I will fight for change and progress." Dlamini-Zuma said.

Britain seeks to rein in boardroom pay

By Steven Morris

British companies will have to publish executive pay packages for the first time under proposals to be announced by the head of the UK's main corporate regulator.

Companies will have to publish the ratio between the chief executive’s pay and others, and compare their total pay to that of what FTSE 100 shareholding employees earn, in a bid to clamp down on soaring executive pay.

Companies will also be required to publish the extent to which their boardroom pay is tied to executive targets.

Leader of AfD loses immunity

DFR

The trial has been cleared for a leading member of the Alternative for Germany (AfD) party to lose his parliamentary immunity after he was slapped with charges earlier this year.

There were no objections to the measure by any of the regional parliament in the south-western state of Baden-Württemberg, where Frank Petry, parliamentary opposition leader, is a member.

The public prosecutor in the state capital of Düsseldorf was seeking the immunity ban for Frank Petry, who is a former Bundestag member.

The allegations concern a regional election candidate, Armini Castlino, who was later imprisoned.

He alleged that this was because he had run as a candidate for the party.

Investigations into Haßloch's deputy will begin in March, Petry said today.

Petry would not comment yesterday, saying that everything that has already been said.

He has previously insisted that his party always supports and cooperates in the state's judicial and investigatory bodies, and that he can only speak about the case in general.

The case dates back to the last election in the baden-wurttemberg's capital city, which took place in December 2015.

Petry's party would garner 7.9% of the votes according to the latest opinion poll by Morgen qualified for the baden-wurttemberg's list.

The votes, which are due to be held in May, would have only been enough to secure them a single seat in the board of the local parliament.

The party has been criticized for its support for a campaign to abolish the death penalty and protect the rights of the far-right group called the Reichsbuerger, which its members believe is responsible for the recent rise in right-wing extremism in the country.

The party ended with guests from various countries.

Activists climb ancient trees to stop a stop to Polish logging

B RUSSELS

A ctivists climbed ancient trees to stop a stop to Polish logging operations authorized by the EU, which has been accused of being too lenient in its environmental policies.

The activists, who were supported by the rising nationalist and anti-establishment party in Poland, are seeking to prevent the logging of ancient forest in the country, which is home to some of the most important biodiversity in Europe.

They have been taking part in a series of protests in recent weeks, as the EU continues to push for greater protection of the forests.

The EU has been criticized for its failure to take strong action against the logging, which has been controversial in recent years.

Meanwhile, the activists are pushing for greater protection of the forests, which are seen as a vital resource for the country.

The activists have been supported by a number of organizations, including the World Wildlife Fund and the International Union for Conservation of Nature.

While all nine judges traded invective speeches in the course of the day, it was Justice Khehar who hit out at the government’s refusal to accept the idea that the state would act only on orders of the apex court. He was joined by Justice Kurian Joseph in raising questions about the role of the state in the execution of court orders. Justice Khehar’s speech, he said, was “intrinsic part” of the right to life and personal liberty.

Pakistan and China yesterday pledged closer co-operation on Afghan developments, as President Donald Trump’s visit to Pakistan continues.

Meeting with Beijing’s special envoy to Afghanistan, Pakistan’s foreign secretary Haider Masood said both countries were committed to promoting the Afghan peace process and ending terrorism in the region.

The visit is seen as an attempt to balance Pakistan’s relations with US and China, who are both vying for influence in the region.

Pakistan and China have been working together to ensure stability in Afghanistan, with both countries providing economic and military assistance.

Rashid Bilal, a meteorologist and acting foreign minister, said today’s meeting was a part of the ongoing efforts to improve bilateral relations.

The meeting was held in the context of Pakistan’s efforts to ensure a peaceful transition in Afghanistan.

Pakistan has been under pressure to improve its relations with the US, which has been critical of Pakistan’s role in the Afghan conflict.

The visit is also seen as an opportunity for Pakistan to promote its economic agenda, particularly in the areas of infrastructure and energy.

The meeting comes as Pakistan is facing economic challenges, with the country in need of international support to help overcome its debt and debt crisis.

The meeting was also an opportunity for Pakistan to promote its efforts to address terrorism and improve its security situation.

The visit is part of a broader strategy by Pakistan to improve its relations with China, which has been a key supporter of Pakistan in the past.

Pakistan has been working closely with China in the past to address issues such as terrorism, border security, and economic cooperation.

Australia offers to train Philippine troops in 15 fight

Australia offered to train Philippine troops in a bid to help the nation tackle the rising number of terror groups operating inside the country, said a spokesman for Australia’s Department of Defence.

“Even if we can see that they really works for the Filipinos,” said a government official.

This confirms my information that it would be something that the Philippines can have a regional security mechanism to help the country in this regard,” the official added.

Australia’s Department of Defence has today announced a plan to provide additional support to Philippine military forces fighting against the Maute group in Mindanao.

The offer comes as Philippine forces continue to face resistance from the Maute group, which has been active in the southern region of the country.

The offer will include training for Philippine troops in areas such as counter-terrorism, intelligence gathering, and communication.

Dementia dramatically increases family expenses

By Carolyn Criit

The average lifetime cost of care after a diagnosis of dementia is projected to increase from $225,000 to $321,780 by 2050, according to the Alzheimer's Association. That means the cost could exceed $1 trillion by 2050, according to the association.

The cost of care is $84,000 higher for non-Hispanic white families than for non-Hispanic black families and $88,000 higher for Asianidental and Hispanic families compared to non-Hispanic white families. The cost of care for people with dementia is higher for those with lower education levels, lower income levels, and lower health status. The cost of care is also higher for those who are married, have a college degree, and have health insurance.

The cost of care varies by state, with the highest costs in California, New York, and New Jersey, and the lowest costs in South Dakota, Wyoming, and Utah. The cost of care is also higher for families with a higher median household income, with the highest costs in the West and the lowest costs in the Midwest.
