Amir inaugurates Shura Council's 48th ordinary session • Committee headed by PM to finalise preparations for Shura Council elections

Amir highlighted Qatar's steady economic growth, saying Qatar's GDP at current prices grew to the tune of QR27bn in major projects in 2018 by about 15% and non-hydrocarbons investment; bureaucratic procedures for the elections shall include the promulgation of many important laws and legislative instruments. The Amir pointed out that the unjust blockade imposed on Qatar has continued with its legal position, despite the crumbling of all the claims presented to justify it. “We retain Qatar's support; credit for our masses in containing most of its negative impacts is attributable to His Highness the Amir and the public, who realized that renunciation of the intransigence of some countries and within the framework of their charter on four basic mutual respect, common interests, avoidance of dictating a foreign policy, and non-interference in internal affairs.”

H.H. the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani is being accorded an official welcome at the airport and the official ceremony of the 48thordinary session of the Shura Council. His Highness Sheikh Abdullah bin Khalifa Al-Thani and other dignitaries were also present. He was speaking after inaugurating the 48thordinary session of the Shura Council at its premises yesterday. His Highness the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani attended the inauguration ceremony. The Amir's Personal Representative His Highness Sheikh Jassim bin Joaan Al-Thani, His Highness Sheikh Ali bin Al-Thani, His Highness Sheikh Abdullah bin Khalifa Al-Thani, His Highness Sheikh Hamad bin Matar Al Thani, His Highness Sheikh Malik Al Thani and the Prime Minister, HE Sheikh Abdullah bin Nasser bin Khalifa Al-Thani were present. Qatar has highlighted the need for dialogue on four basic principles including our resident brothers. “Our fellow resident brothers who live with us in Qatar are not here as a burden on our country, and this is not a privilege or a mere sense of self-confidence, but the responsibility of citizenship also requires being appreciative of the contributions of those who have worked hard in building this country, and this is not to impose tutelage on us, as well as maintaining the Gulf Co-operation Council (GCC) policies.”

Nissan e.dams team unveils Japan-inspired livery for season six of all-electric street racing championship

Nissan’s Formula E car will don a new, Japan-inspired look as it returns for another season of the electric street racing series to demonstrate the power and performance of the company’s EV technology.

Nissan unveiled the new race car livery today in Yokohama, ahead of season six of the ABB FIA Formula E Championship series. The red, black and white design is inspired by the Japanese kimono garment, a traditional symbol of longevity and good fortune. It will also be featured on the Nissan LEAF NISMO RC, the dual electric–motor performance vehicle based on the Nissan LEAF electric car.

“As we approach the beginning of our second season of Formula E competition, our design team proposed a new look, one that celebrates our Japanese heritage and vibrant technology DNA,” said Alfonso Albaisa, Nissan’s senior vice president for global design. “We used our iconic Nissan racing red, black and white colors layered diagonally in a kimono pattern, which creates a dynamic and powerful impression.”

Nissan invited its nearly 40 in-house designers, working in key markets around the world, to submit concepts for the new design.

Drivers Sébastien Buemi and Oliver Rowland will be back behind the wheel for the Nissan e.dams team. The team entered the championship to showcase its zero-emission vehicle technologies, communicate the company’s Nissan Intelligent Mobility vision, and learn lessons that will be used to develop better road cars for customers.

Highlights of season five included achieving second in championship, six podium finishes (including the last five races), six pole positions (the most for any team), and 16 Super Pole qualifying appearances combined by Buemi and Rowland, making Nissan e.dams the best qualifying team in the championship. The team ended the season with its first ever victory during the final race weekend in New York.

Nissan has developed an updated powertrain for season six, in line with new series regulations. It replaces the dual-electric-motor system that delivered record-setting results for Nissan e.dams in season five.

“The second season is sometimes harder than the first,” said Michael Carrazzo, Nissan’s global motorsports director. “With a major change to a single-motor solution, we had plenty to do in the off-season. We’ll use everything we learned from season five to improve our package, with an even greater emphasis on battery and energy management.”

The Nissan e.dams team hit the track last week at a series pre-season test in Valencia, Spain. The team posted times in the top ten of every session throughout three days of testing.

“Finishing second as a team last year was great,” said Buemi, who is the top all-time record-holder in Formula E with the most pole positions, fastest laps and wins. “This year, the objective is to fight for the championship.”

Rowland, the best-performing Formula E rookie last season with three pole positions and two podium finishes, echoed Buemi’s enthusiasm.

“I really appreciate Nissan taking a bit of a risk with me last year, as I was a rookie and started quite late,” Rowland said. “Luckily, it worked out for all of us, and I can’t wait to get behind the wheel again, pushing forward and improving.”

Season six of Formula E will kick off next month in Saudi Arabia. Fourteen races will be held in 12 cities, with the final double-header round taking place in London. New venues this season include Seoel, Jakarta, and the London circuit, which runs inside the Excel London exhibition center.
AAB community initiative marks Qatar Sustainability Week 2019

Ahmed Abdulghani & Bros Co (AAB), a leading Qatari firm, recently participated in the Asia-Pacific Conference on Accounting, sponsored by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and the Asian-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC), held in Doha. The conference brought together leading experts from Asia, the Middle East, and North Africa to discuss legal innovations and approaches to climate change and policymakers to discuss legal innovations and approaches to climate change.

AAB’s participation in the conference highlighted the company’s commitment to the development of the country’s legal framework and its role in advancing a sustainable economy. The company also expressed its support for the establishment of the Asia-Pacific Conference on Accounting, which has been instrumental in promoting and advancing the field of accounting in the region.

The company’s participation in the conference was an opportunity to share its experiences and ideas with other leading firms and experts from around the world. QNB raises awareness during Qatar Sustainability Week

Qatar National Bank (QNB), the largest financial institution in the Middle East, Asia, and the Arabian Gulf, organized a number of events and initiatives as part of the Qatari Sustainability Week (QSW) 2019 as part of the Group-wide sustainability programme. The campaign of the week, QSW raised awareness among its employees and customers of the importance of greening environmental challenges, and promoted actions to reduce these challenges.

In addition, a presentation on electric and hybrid vehicles and the benefits of sustainable living was delivered via Zoom to QNB’s employees and the bank’s customers, such as the launch of a series of hybrid vehicles in cooperation with Porsche to keep the traffic from Dukhan towards Bani Hajer and Al Shahama under control, and the installation of road signs and has requested the people to follow the road signs to ensure safety.

The main goal of the APMAA annual conference was to bring together distinguished scientists, researchers, and economists from around the world to exchange theories, ideas, and experiences relating to all aspects of management and business accounting.

US formally starts pullout from Paris climate accord

By Susan C. encountered a former drought-stressed worker during a 1992 survey of agricultural conditions in North Dakota. The worker was described as a "distressed" farmer who had recently been fired from his job. The text suggests that the farmer was facing economic difficulties and was struggling to meet his obligations. The situation was likely to have a significant impact on the local community and the economy, as the farmer's loss of income could affect the overall productivity and financial stability of the area. It highlights the importance of understanding the economic challenges faced by farmers and the need to support their well-being in such circumstances.

A Brazilian prosecutor told The Guardian that targets have narrowed to less than a dozen places with greater economic and political risk in the wake of the dam collapse — which killed more than 250 people — that could be used to store mining waste.

The 6.0 magnitude earthquake hit just as tensions were rising in Santiago, rattling buildings and sending people fleeing. A UN human rights mission is conducting an investigation into the unrest.

Schvartsman’s deposition of Alexandre de Aquino Pereira, Vale’s ethics and conduct general manager, was heard in the e-mail episode as evidence that prosecutors who said in their request for a new trial that the e-mail was not a factor in the trial, and that the e-mail incident was inadmissible.

A strong and prolonged shaking hit the city yesterday. No reports of injuries or damage. Losses and casualties were reported in the city of Vila do Conde, north of Rio de Janeiro, where a building collapsed. There were reports of local authorities using helicopters to rescue people trapped under the rubble.

Executives at Portugal’s Galp also confirmed that the auction terms are expected to be released soon. Galp and other companies have implied or outright stated that the auction will be sold off at a discount.

While the company is aggressive about selling its activities in Brazil, it has also been cautious about the risks involved. The government has expressed concerns about the potential impact of the auction on the country’s energy sector and the environment.

Pakistan dismisses US State Department report on terrorism

Interviews

Pakistan has disagreed over a previous US State Department report, saying that it completed its destruction of terrorist groups.

In a statement, the Foreign Office of Pakistan has said that the US report is an attempt to depict Pakistan as a supporter of terrorism. The statement noted that the report is based on false information.

It also highlighted that Pakistan is working towards the elimination of terrorism in the region.

The Foreign Office added: “Pakistan has been a victim of terrorism and has been fighting terrorism for the last two decades. The report is an attempt to portray Pakistan as a supporter of terrorism.”

It was noted that Pakistan has been a victim of terrorism and has been fighting terrorism for the last two decades. The report is an attempt to portray Pakistan as a supporter of terrorism.

A spokesman said that Pakistan has continued to fight against terrorism and has made significant progress.

The report titled “Global Terrorism Index 2021” was released on Wednesday by the US-based National Interest organisation.

The report pointed out that Pakistan has been labelled as a “country of concern” by the US, but the government has taken steps to address the issue.

Leni Robredo has said that the drug war “clearly has been a failure on Duterte’s watch” after she criticised the high death toll his anti-narcotics crackdown had led to mass shootings and police terror.

Police reject that and say the nearly 5,200 people they have killed were armed drug suspects who were killed during a series of crackdowns on traffickers and clients of drug laboratories.

Prosecutors charge that the president’s press secretary, Harry Roque, has repeatedly denied that the government has killed drug suspects.

The president nominated a prominent labour lawyer, Rhea Magno-Carpio, as the new ombudsman, and said an approval rate of more than 80% was “incredulous.”

Police chief General Oscar Albayalde said that the government had killed drug suspects and the president was not party to any extrajudicial killings.

The government is actively monitoring the situation in Africa, where there are concerns about the possible threat of a terrorist attack.

On October 9, the Philippine National Police’s Criminal Investigation and Detection Group (CIDG) arrested two Filipinos who were allegedly the husband and wife of a suspected terror cell leader who attacked a military camp in Indanon town on Jolo Island on September 8.

The husband and wife were allegedly involved in an operation that killed 17 soldiers and wounded 25 others.

The couple was believed to be from Africa, while the third suspect was a local resident in Mindanao.

Meanwhile, Jimenez appealed to the military to proceed with their investigation of the bombings.

The Philippine President Rodrigo Duterte has named lawyer and anti-corruption activist Rhea Magno-Carpio as the new Ombudsman to replace her appointee, who has become embroiled in a housing scandal.

The Ombudsman’s Office says it will investigate allegations of corruption against its officials and contractors related to the construction of public housing projects.

The government is also investigating reports that Davao City’s mayor, who is a possible candidate for next year’s presidential election, ordered the city’s police force to fire upon civilians.

The Philippines is one of the countries with the highest rates of extrajudicial killings and disappearances, according to Human Rights Watch.

India should address structural issues to enhance economy

After India’s growth slowed to 5% in the three months to June from a year earlier, due to a quartely expansion seen in the past few years, multilateral institutions, the Reserve Bank and foreign analysts have harked to downgrade growth estimates for Asia’s third-largest economy.

The World Bank slashed its growth forecast for India to 6% for the current fiscal from its April projection of 7.5%, citing a broad-based and severe cyclical slowdown. Growth is expected to gradually recover to 6.9% in 2020-21 and 7.2% the following year, the Washington-based bank said in a report last month.

Most economists believe last month’s 2019-20 growth forecast for India to 5.8% from 6.2% earlier, saying the economy is experiencing a pronounced slowdown partly due to long-lasting factors. The rating agency’s projection is the most pessimistic so far.

The takeaway for policymakers is that optimism is in short supply. Fitch Ratings, India’s growth could slip to 5.5% in the current financial year, falling below the Reserve Bank of India’s already pared-down forecast of 6%, Fitch has cautioned.

India’s economy, buoyed by 7.8% in August, its worst show in 31 months, signalling a further deepening of the economic downturn. The dominant services industry contracted in September, with the index measuring activity in the sector dropping sharply to 48.7 in September, its worst show in 81 months, signalling a further deepening of the economic downturn. The dominant services industry contracted in September, with the index measuring activity in the sector dropping sharply to 48.7 in September, its worst show in 81 months, signalling a further deepening of the economic downturn.

The Service Sector Activity Index, a survey of private sector companies, sank to its lowest in 31 months, according to an IHS Markit survey. The contraction in September, with the index measuring activity in the sector dropping sharply to 48.7 in September, its worst show in 81 months, signalling a further deepening of the economic downturn.

Most experts agree that the current slowdown is partly due to decisive action.

India’s growth forecast for 2019-20 was revised to 5.8% from 6.2% earlier, down for an 11th consecutive month, according to a data released by the government.

India’s economy, buoyed by 7.8% in August, its worst show in 31 months, signalling a further deepening of the economic downturn. The dominant services industry contracted in September, with the index measuring activity in the sector dropping sharply to 48.7 in September, its worst show in 81 months, signalling a further deepening of the economic downturn.

Most of these measures, however, are focused on improving the long-term potential of the economy, rather than providing a short-term boost.

Longer term, however, India’s economic performance is seen as having one of the highest growth rates in the world of any large emerging market. If India wants to make its pledge to turn the country into a $5tn economy by 2024, India needs to address the structural issues and continue to enhance the depth of its financial markets through sustained reforms to facilitate access.

The Qatar Petroleum has continued to implement the development programme as planned during the blockade, which has been supported by the international community of the Gulf region, that necessitates the strategic importance of our geographical and strategic position.

The responsibilities of citizenship include responsibilities that aim to achieve peaceful coexistence, protect peace and stability, fight poverty and all forms of terrorism and its consequences. Those responsibilities are interwoven, and we cannot achieve stability and peace in our country unless we develop the capabilities of our citizens and our institutions.

Significant steps have been taken, such as adopting many laws that are related to litigation procedures to provide speedy and easy procedures for litigants. But we have not implemented and adopted them. This is a process that includes a number of judges and members of the public prosecution and has expanded the approach across the territory.

The responsibilities of citizenship are evident, whether on the local or international levels. We have participated in all regional and international forums.
