Fayad Al-Khatib’s assessment of the medical system in Qatar

Fayad Al-Khatib’s assessment of the medical system in Qatar is available in the market rather than what we have. Patients arriving at AMNM benefit from the best medical care. "AMNM is located in an 11,000sq m area, with all the best technologies available around the world. We have a great team of doctors, nurses and medical staff," Al-Khatib said.

"We're doing well in the field of health, and we have a great system in the medical sector," Al-Khatib said. "We have a great team of doctors, nurses and medical staff," Al-Khatib said.

He pointed out that supporting private institutions was important, "because it brings new opportunities to the national economy," he said.

"We're trying to expand our services and increase our capacity, and we have great plans for the future," Al-Khatib said.

Italian frigate arriving in Doha for 4-day stopover

Frigate ITS Margottini will call at Doha, the Italian embassy announced yesterday.

Before the sixth stop of the Italian mission’s campaign in the Gulf, Al-Khatib has issued a call for the protection of people and the environment, and has asked for the protection of the Italian Navy and its equipment.

"I'm sure that when we talk to the Italian Navy, they will be part of this, if we organize well, we will have a great team of medical personnel," Al-Khatib said after a thorough assessment of Qatar’s medical sector.

AMMN, which was established in 2013, is positioned as a leader in Qatar’s medical sector.

"The Italian Navy will be present in the region, and we have great plans for the future," Al-Khatib said.

Mental healthcare services ‘continuing to expand’

Dr Rajeev Kumar, senior consultant psychiatrist and deputy director of Qatar Foundation’s (HMC) Psychiatry and Mental Health Department, has said in a statement recently. “As part of ongoing efforts to strengthen our mental health services within Qatar’s regional mental health centres, Qatar’s Ministry of Public Health and HMC have expanded our mental health services within all PHCCs in Qatar. We have provided mental healthcare services to adults, aged 18 or older.”

Dr Rajeev Kumar

“Those of us who work in the mental health system are in line with the Qatar National Mental Health Strategy, which aims to increase the number of staff with mental health expertise. This year as part of efforts to improve mental healthcare services, Qatar Foundation’s (HMC) Psychiatry and Mental Health Department has opened new mental health services within Qatar PHCC’s. The outlook for 2020 promises a positive response from patients who need it by providing a patient-centric approach within our clinic. We have received an extremely positive response from patients, with a satisfaction rate of about 85%,” said Dr Bahnaalab, who leads the primary group of psychiatry services and mental healthcare in Qatar, delivering a comprehensive mental healthcare service for individuals with anxiety, depression and stress-related challenges.

Dr Bahnaalab

“Qatar currently operates mental health clinics, however, the US-based global leader in psychiatry care has also completed the first phase of its Centre in Qatar (C4Q) Centre. With 40 specialists, the new facility will be open for public use in the near future and will serve as a primary care clinic designed to support the primary care system in Qatar. We are proud to be part of this exciting new development, which will make mental healthcare more accessible and affordable,” said Dr Naimi, deputy chief of quality and safety. “The Centre will provide patients with moderate to severe mental health needs, suitable for patients with moderate to severe mental illness, a number of new specialised mental health services will soon open in a number of Qatar’s mental health facilities, including Hamad Medical Corporation’s (HMC) Primary Health Care Centres across Qatar.”

Dr Naimi

“At the inception of the Compassionate Care programme, the need for effective care was obvious, and the global learning community decided to focus on something that you can easily share with other patients. Our compassion is our commitment to providing the best possible care for patients in this region,” said Dr Bani-Murad, director of Qatar Foundation’s (HMC) Psychiatry and Mental Health Department.

Dr Bani-Murad

“QAOC has a strategy to improve mental health services through the implementation of innovative ideas. We have made efforts to facilitate easier access to specialist mental health services. In the future, ‘QF will open up to a number of PHCCs in Qatar, providing mental healthcare services to adults, aged 18 or older.’”

REGION/ARAB WORLD

Three Xuân Minh Duy, 30, was shot dead by a bullet fired from a rifle. The SDF said this was the last remaining Isis holdout in the northern Syrian town of Baghouz. Isis had surrendered in the eponymous town in late March.

The US-led coalition in Syria said that some 100 other troops had been killed and wounded in Baghouz since March 8.

In its final counterattack, Isis was trying to hold off the SDF to the west of the town of Baghouz, which they were being driven out of.

The SDF said on Saturday that it had taken control of the town of Baghouz, the last neighborhood in the hand of Isis in Syria.

The SDF has been fighting Isis for more than a year, after Isis took control of it in 2014.

The SDF, supported by US-led coalition forces, has been battling Isis since the start of the last week.

Somali militant siege ends, at least 29 civilians dead

Al Shabaab leaders have announced the end of a week-long siege on a key newspaper after officials accused it of falsely reporting currency exchange rates. The siege was imposed on the daily newspaper following a decision to impose a week-long closure on the property.

Al Shabaab said it had repulsed three government agencies which attempted to break the siege earlier this week. The group claimed it had killed 26 militiamen in the film operation.

“Al Shabaab has suffered actual financial damage that has been supported by a number of our men who have picked this up. The attack is seeking to remove money paid to him on the basis of his misrepresentations,” Al Shabaab said in a statement.

“Al Shabaab has been forced to suspend non-essential work in the centres at the time,” the INEC said in a statement.

“Necessary steps will be taken to recover the money entirely owed to him. These include ex-cigarettes, oversights and all other matters,” the INEC said.

The rotten odour of dead bodies is a common sight in the compound’s facilities and vehicles. The group has been blame for the deaths of civilians and government officials during the siege.

At least 25 people have been killed in a recent attack by Al Shabaab against the newspaper, which jointly placed at 260 the number of people killed during the polls, according to a statement.

Eight of the dead were members of the apostate government, while 17 were members of opposition supporters.

Al Shabaab has also carried out attacks in neighboring countries, contributing to the African Union deployment inside Somalia, the European Union and the United Nations.

The group has been fighting against the Somali government since 2011.

DR Congo faces fresh Ebola after attacks

Health authorities in DR Congo have warned yesterday of a “serious” new Ebola outbreak after a medical worker was attacked. An agency official told The Citizen that the epidemic has been declared by UN agencies in the eastern Democratic Republic of Congo.

Undersecretary of State for health, Patrick Dugu, told reporters that the attack was carried out by Al Shebaab which is the most dangerous group in the region.

Al Shebaab, which is behind a series of attacks in the region, last week carried out an air strike that killed 26 militants in the same area.

The group has been fighting against the Somali government since 2011.

The attack was carried out in the same area that was targeted by a US air strike in September.

Al Shebaab said it had repulsed a government force that had been attempting to clear the group from the building.

The group has been blamed for the deaths of civilians and government officials during the siege.

Bangladesh told the UN he had a "unilateral主义" day that it will no longer agree to take in refugees from Myanmar.

Forrest Secretary Shafiqul Islam said in a council meeting that the claim the crisis over the repatriation of hundreds of thousands of Rohingyas sheltering in his country had gone from "bad to worse" and urged the council to take "decisive" action.

"Bangladesh is being pushed to become a safe haven for the Rohingyas," the minister said.

Islam added that the Rohingyas were being brought to camps in Bangladesh after they were driven out of Myanmar's northern Rakhine state last year by a military campaign that in 2017 the United Nations had described as a "premeditated attack on civilians within clear ethnic cleansing."

He said that to interpret the council that Bangladesh would not accept more monks from the Rohingya, which the United Nations said in August had agreed to accept more monks from the Rohingyas, agreed to take back some of the refugees, but the United Nations said that the safety of the Rohingyas was a condition for their return. "Bangladesh, putting the needs of the Rohingyas as a priority, has been responsible in opposing empathy to a xenophobic anti-population movement," he said.

He spoke of a "huge physical violence" and psychological harm to the Rohingyas and expressed concern that "it takes time and patience as well as courage to build trust and confidence among different communities in Rakhine."

"The security situation remains tense although the steps taken by the authorities have been given "manifold" help to keep the return of the Rohingyas." The Myanmar "authoritarianHaunted the simple people trying to stop and appeal for populous."

In December, Britain called a draft resolution that would have forced Myanmar to halt all fighting and ethnic cleansing in Rakhine, which has been held by the United Nations Security Council for the last two weeks, said to keep the resolution in Rakhine, and made clear that "the military must be involved in the addressing the refugee crisis." "The party to the two Myanmar-Thai agreements was taken up by the United Nations Security Council, and said in line with the "center of a war for the refugees in the Bay of Bengal, in Bangladesh, and Myanmar.

N Korea, US vow to keep talking after summit collapse

NORTH KOREA

North Korea’s Kim Jong-un and US President Donald Trump surprised the world last week with a breakthrough meeting in Vietnam, but both countries were left with no agreement. But their refusal to walk away from the table indicates the two sides are committed to finding a solution to their decades-old conflict.

The UN Security Council imposed new sanctions on North Korea in 2017 for its nuclear and ballistic missile tests, in a effort to force negotiations with Pyongyang. But the sanctions had failed to bring any meaningful progress, and the two sides remained divided on key issues such as the denuclearisation of the Korean peninsula. Kim began a two-day official visit to Pyongyang on March 25, and it is expected that he will return to Vietnam for a meeting with Trump in May.

The meeting in Hanoi was highly symbolic, as it marked the first time that North Korea and the US had met face-to-face since the end of the Korean War in 1953. But despite the progress made, there was still much work to be done to achieve a lasting peace on the peninsula.

Bougainville vote on independence delayed

The independence referendum on Bougainville has been delayed until 2024, following a decision by the Bougainville Independent Referendum Commission and the Papua New Guinea government.

The referendum, which was scheduled for this year, was postponed due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. The new date for the referendum has not yet been announced.

The independence referendum was held in 2019, with a majority of voters in favor of independence. However, the result was challenged by the Papua New Guinea government, which has been holding extensive talks with the Bougainville government to try to reach a resolution to the long-standing conflict.

Prosecutors have called for a further prosecution of the former mayor of Nanterre, in the western suburbs of Paris, for tweeting pictures of atrocities committed by the Islamic State group, judicial sources said yesterday. Turmeric, which holds anti-inflammatory properties and is used in a variety of dishes, sold in India due to higher output and lower prices. In 2018, prices of turmeric plummeted nearly 24% since the beginning of 2017 due to oversupply and tough competition, farmers are now selling turmeric in India at the lowest price in nearly 24 years. Turmeric prices have plunged sharply in recent years, with the average price of turmeric in India falling to about $2 per kilogram in 2018 from $12 per kilogram in 2016. Farmers are now selling turmeric at a price below the cost of production, leading to significant losses for many farmers.

Venezuela boat migrants float in Curacao asylum limbo

An independent country of 3.6 million people with the Kingdoms of the Netherlands, Curacao is home to 4,600 un- documented Venezuelans, according to the local government. Curacao's Attorney General said he had been threatened by the Maduro government and Human Rights Ministry, which criticized the Curacao authorities over their treatment of Venezuelan migrants. It accused them of deporting mi- grants who must have a right to stay because they have not introduced a system for processing cases. The announcement by Prime Minister Khan to release the Indian pilot on Wednesday has given hope to the region and there was no other way to call off a full-blown nuclear war and only desired peace in the region,” Malik said.

He said Pakistan did not want war and only peace, adding that it would be fully comply with the resolution of United Nations General Assembly to return prisoners of war (POW) till armed conflict continues.

He said as Pakistan had already showed statesmanship by releasing the Indian pilot, it was the best time to release the Indian pilot. “I hope that some breaches between India and Pakistan would be resolved soon,” he said.

General (Ret) Javed Malik, a former Pakistan Army Chief, said this was a great decision of Prime Minister Khan to release the Indian pilot. He was sup- ported in his view by most political parties including the PPP, PTI, MQM and PML-N.

The PPP leader said the decision taken during the talks. “It was taken during the talks. We cannot undo this decision anymore,” he said.

He said Pakistan did not want to go to war and the country was only seeking peace in the region.

The minister’s speech during the joint sitting, the PPP leader said, was of the view that Pakistan should have been delayed a little.

Philippine health officials are planning to roll out a dengue vaccine after the pharmaceutical company Sanofi announced plans to distribute it in the country. The vaccine, called Dengvaxia, was introduced in the Philippines last month after being approved by the European Medicines Agency. However, the vaccine is not expected to be available to the general public until 2019. In a statement, Sanofi said that the vaccine has the potential to reduce the number of dengue cases by up to 60%. The company also announced that it has received approval for Dengvaxia in more than 50 countries, including the United States, Canada, and several European countries. The vaccine is expected to be available in the Philippines in the coming months.

The social solution to automation

By Nicholas Agar

According to a 2016 commentary in the New York Times, “the entire economy has doubled from 20% to 40%.” This exponential growth in applications for machine learning is but one example of a phenomenon that is transforming every aspect of our lives. This approach would not only solve many of the problems posed by the digital economy, but also provide a social service merely by asking how your day is going. That simple question, even if motivated by compliance with workplace rules, would have no meaning coming from a machine.

The social-Nature connection is in the name of the social-simulated-automation. Consider astronauts. A focus on efficiency would require us to phase out human activities, the involvement of a machine in earlier times can instead perform the jobs at hand. Consider the future of work is not to study the latest Facebook and Twitter cannot reduce loneliness, because they are designed to serve up a biased stream of pages and threads to generate engagement. The future of work is to study the creative potential and social needs that go unmet today. The future of work is not to study the latest algorithms already rule the digital economy, by our company. Is the company able to undertake summoning to the judges assigned to consider the case? And so on.
