#CastYourKindness: Commercial Bank Team Living the True Spirit of Ramadan

Commercial Bank, Qatar’s first private bank, launched for Ramadan 2019 a series of social activities within a comprehensive campaign entitled #CastYourKindness. Just like every year, the Bank seeks to live and spread the spirit of giving and the spirituality of the Holy month with a twist, within the Social Responsibility programme. In addition to the many regular activities and events held by the Bank, #CastYourKindness campaign aims to consolidate the concepts of communication, giving and unity amongst people.

"Every year ahead of Ramadan, we gear-up by planning multiple activities with an aim to maximize and highlight the values of our Qatari community in a way that flows perfectly with the Holy and beautiful spirit of this month," said Abeer Al Kalla, Commercial Bank’s Head of Corporate Communication and CSR, Marketing. "The efforts include adopting a comprehensive plan for Ramadan activities that mainly revolve around charitable actions and good deeds. We consider this Holy month as an ideal opportunity to convey positive messages and spread them in the community. This is how we got the name of our campaign inspired (CastYourKindness)," she added.

For this Ramadan, Commercial Bank organized an innovative schedule of activities within its corporate social responsibility programme. What marks these activities the most is the #CastYourKindness branded food truck carrying Commercial Bank employees and their families who volunteered to distribute iftar boxes every Saturday to people.

The truck visits target 4 main locales: Imam Muhammad Ibn Abd al-Wahhab Mosque parking area, Souq Waqif, Al Ghanim Karwa bus station and Souq Al Waqrah. Moreover, Commercial Bank’s team visited several schools and hospitals, such as Best Buddies, where employees distributed Garangao gifts to children and patients, helping draw a smile on their faces and spread joy and Ramadan spirit, not to mention iftar boxes dedicated for needy families.

As part of Commercial Bank’s support for the community, the Bank’s team joined the Center for Empowerment and Elderly Care (Ihsan) for an exceptional Iftar with the elderly. In this context, Al Kalla commented: "Through this initiative, we seek to remind people of the importance of taking care of the elderly, treating and serving them well in a noble manner just like our religion commands."

Furthermore, Commercial Bank celebrates Garangao, a long-awaited night by everyone, young and old, to celebrate with families and children. Like always, the Bank invites customers to join the branch staff for some fun and celebrations. Sweet and gifts are given away to everyone at multiple mall branches. Last but not least, an annual staff Suhoor was held at St. Regis Hotel on the 14th and 15th of May. It is such a significant and important social event that brings Commercial Bank employees together during the Holy Month. Managers and board members participate in Commercial Bank’s initiatives within the "One bank, One team" culture and no month is better than Ramadan to do good deeds.

Qatar Shell wins ‘Best Qatariisation Progress’ award

Qatar Shell has added a new accolade to its list of honors, receiving the ‘Best Qatariisation Progress Crystal Award’ in recognition of its significant contributions to promoting Qatariisation in the energy sector. The award was presented by H.E. the Minister of State for Energy Affairs Saad bin Sherida al-Kaabi, who is also president and CEO of Qatar Petroleum (QP), and Andrew Faulkner, managing director and chairman of Qatar Shell since the launch of its Qatariisation Plan, as well as senior executive from Qatar’s education community.

The awards followed the energy sector’s 13th Annual Qatariisation Review Meeting, which brought together representatives from all the companies that demonstrated excellence in Qatariisation during 2018. The awards were termed Qatar Shell’s second consecutive achievement in the energy sector’s ‘Annual Qatarisation Plan’ as well as the ‘Qatarisation Awards’ in 2008 to 2011. Qatar Shell was shortlisted for multiple award categories, which included ‘Support and Liaison with the Education Sector’, ‘Support for Training and Development’, ‘Best Qatarisation Progress’, ‘Support for Training and Development’, and ‘Research and Development’. The award ceremonies recognized the company’s achievements in Qatariisation and employment in the energy sector.

Andrew Faulkner, managing director and chairman of Qatar Shell, received the ‘Best Qatarisation Progress Crystal Award’ from H.E. Saad bin Sherida al-Kaabi (right) during the 11th Annual Qatarisation Review Meeting, which brought together senior executives and representatives from all the companies that demonstrated excellence in Qatariisation during 2018.

Andrew Faulkner said: “We are proud to be recognized for our achievements in Qatarisation and commitment to recruiting, developing, and supporting Qatar employees through competitive employment packages, robust learning opportunities, and career development paths. The contribution of our Qatar employees is key to the future success of Qatar Shell and to achieving the human development pillar of the Qatar National Vision 2030. Qatar Shell managing director and chairman, Andrew Faulkner said. The award brings the total number of accolades secured by Qatar Shell since the launch of the energy sector’s ‘Annual Qatariisation Plan’ in 2008 to seven. These include five crystal awards and two recognition awards.”

Qatar National Library (QNL) is currently host ing the ‘Holy Ka’aba Exhibition’, which is part of the 12th Islamic Arts Exhibition at the Doha Cultural Village. The exhibition is a collection of items related to the Ka’aba, including historical documents, manuscripts, photographs, and other items that reflect the Ka’aba’s significance and historical aspects.

Abeer al-Kuwari, acting director of the library, said: “The exhibition highlights the library’s commitment to preserving the Ka’aba’s history and identity, and the library has established an environment that will preserve this information for future generations, to educate, inspire, and protect Islamic history and heritage.”

The exhibition includes rare visual items on display, such as photographs taken by the author, Jules Gervais-Courtellement, one of the first French Christians to visit Mecca in 1853, and to gain an understanding of the Ka’aba believed to be the earliest and most ancient mosque in the world, and the surrounding area. These images are part of the ‘History of Holy Makkah’ (Ottoman Printing Press Cairo, 1886 CE) and ‘A Pilgrimage to El-Medinah’ (The Interior Kiswa of the Ka’aba, circa 1885 CE). These and other items are on display, allowing the public to learn about the Ka’aba and its history.

The Ka’aba Exhibition is a culmination of efforts by the library to expand the library’s functions and its role in protecting Islamic history and culture. The exhibition provides visitors with a glimpse into the rich history and cultural heritage of the Ka’aba and its surrounding areas. Visitors can explore the exhibits and learn about the significance of the Ka’aba and its historical events.

The Holy Ka’aba has been described as the most sacred site in Islam, and it is considered a symbol of unity and diversity. The Ka’aba serves as a focal point for Muslims worldwide, representing the central place in the Islamic world.

The Holy Ka’aba Exhibition is an opportunity for visitors to learn about the history and significance of the Ka’aba, and to appreciate the rich cultural heritage of the Islamic world. The exhibition is part of the ongoing efforts by the Qatar National Library to promote Islamic history and culture, and to educate and inspire the public.

QC, QRCS in co-operation deal

Qatar Charity (QC) and the Qatar Red Crescent Society (QRCS) have signed a memorandum of understanding to enhance co-operation and achieve common goals efficiently and effectively in the fields of capacity building, resource mobilisation, cooperation in the implementation of humanitarian programmes and projects, and to exchange experiences, information and knowledge between the two parties.

According to the MoU, the two sides agreed to cooperate in the implementation of information and knowledge between the two organisations.

Qatar Charity’s executive chairman Youssef Ahmed al-Kuwari said the co-operation is of great importance because both parties will achieve the best results at the level of achieving the desired objectives, the integration of knowledge and experience, and to benefit from their respective preferential advantages, and this agreement will shorten a lot of time and effort.

QRCS Secretary-General Ali bin Hasnan al-Hammadi expressed his pleasure of signing the MoU with Qatar Charity in order to further enhance charity works at the internal and external levels.

Jaidah and Italian brand host technical seminar

Jaidah Automotive (Independent Aftermarket) and the Italian aftermarket brand Euroricambi recently hosted a seminar event attended by dozens of executives from Qatar’s biggest truck spare parts dealers, wholesalers, retailers, garages and fleet companies.

The event brought together professionals from across the market for an evening programme made up of a technical presentation, awards and networking, ‘in a sign of the growing strength of the partnership between the two businesses, which is now entering its third year’, Jaidah Group said in a press statement.

A focus for the evening was the technical seminar presentation, which provided attendees with an in-depth overview of Euroricambi products, features and benefits.

The session emphasised the key reasons why the Italian brand has established such an enviable reputation in automotive truck parts, the statement noted.

Senior executives from both Jaidah Automotive and Euroricambi delivered speeches that reflected on the strength of the relationship and outlined plans for the future.

Bernhard Dolinek, managing director at Jaidah Automotive, thanked customers for their support and involvement with both Jaidah Group and the Wholesale Division.

K T Rao, manager for Automotive Parts, also addressed the gathering.

Alessandro Collavo, area manager – Middle East market for Euroricambi, thanked Jaidah Group for ‘an outstanding performance in the first two years of the partnership and all the progress till date to consolidate this further’.

The gathering was attended by important customers and partners of Euroricambi in Qatar and congratulated all the award winners.

Euroricambi offers a wide range of gears for the aftermarket and has done so for more than 40 years.

It is the market leader in gear parts replacement and has the highest market share in the region, the statement adds.

During the evening, Jaidah Automotive hosted a ceremony with awards dedicated to three business partners that have achieved considerable success in 2018 in terms of their commitment to quality, customer service and satisfaction.

The winners were Euro Parts, Royal Spare Parts Co and Al Suwayde Trading & Transport Co.

Jaidah Automotive has developed a flourishing business partnership with Euroricambi in the past two years, during which time the relationship ‘has gone from strength to strength’.

The popularity of the recent technical seminar demonstrates the success of both partners in driving awareness, engagement and understanding about Euroricambi products.

Aspetar experts share Ramadan workout tips

Experts from Aspetar, the orthopaedic and sports medicine hospital, are offering some advice on what to do before and after exercising schedules look like during Ramadan, especially for those who are fasting.

In general terms, Aspetar said such a move aims to help recreational athletes to consider during the holy month of Ramadan, for those who are fasting, especially to those who are fasting. Ramadan offers an opportunity for the senior management and staff to strengthen their relationships across the organisation, the bank said in a statement. The Ramadan evening fights with you in Ramadan, then say, ‘I am fasting’. If anyone curses you in Ramadan, if anyone says, ‘I am fasting’, then your dog’s tail will be purer. Allah, The Almighty, promises the Messenger of Allah, sallallaahu ‘alaihi wa sallam, said: ‘No one has the treasures of good that Allah only gives, except the person who is patient’.

There is no act of worship but that of showing patience in performing acts of worship; a servant is in need of the guidance and mercy. And it is those who turn back to their Lord and say, ‘I am fasting’ that He is with them, in confirmation of the statement of the best of all creation upon whom are blessings from their Lord and mercy. And it is those who turn back to their Lord and say, ‘I am fasting’.

Aspetar looks for a balanced exercise regime during Ramadan.

Aspetar, a leading Qatar-owned financial institution headquartered at Doha’s La Cigale Hotel for staff and family members, is celebrating the holy month of Ramadan. The United States recorded 60 new measles cases last week, taking confirmed cases for the year to 595. The worst outbreak since 1994 and since measles was declared eliminated in 2000, health officials said yesterday. The US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) said they were concerned about a 64% increase in the number of cases since the previous week.
Four bodies and 10 tonnes of trash collected from Everest

Nepal

Four bodies have been recovered so far and the evacuation of the mountain is set for the end of this year’s climbing season, which is expected to conclude around the end of July. "Fluorescent tents, discarded oxygen tanks, empty gas canisters and even human bones are littering the summit route to the summit of the world’s highest peak," said a Nepalese official, who has the authority to carry out rescue operations on the mountain. The four bodies were brought down, according to a media report. The official said that some of the bodies had been shot by the government as part of a nod to the30-year-old summit day. An estimated 200,000 people have climbed Everest over the years, and only about 100 of them have died after attempting to reach the summit. (Image: 305x904 to 818x1253)

Myanmar soldiers jailed for Rohingya killings released

Myanmar has granted amnesty to seven soldiers jailed for the killing of 10 Rohingya Muslims in Myanmar and returned them to their home base despite a growing number of Rohingya escapees from their confinement and a fast-spreading wrongdoing and official cover-up of the killings.

Army officials, two former prison officials, a senior Naypyitaw official, who produced by the military, said the soldiers had not been in prison on June 20 and that they were released in an amnesty on May 15. A senior prison official declined to provide further details and said their names had been disclosed by the military, which is not necessarily the case.

Military spokesman Zaw Win Min told the Kyaw Zayin, 40, the leader of the pro-army, that the soldiers were released in an amnesty on May 15.

"There was no immediate claim of responsibility but police said they suspected the mosque attack to be a local jihad group, the National Democratic Front, which is operating in the area. The security forces do not enjoy immunity and we appeal to local authorities to act on it," he said.

The soldiers were freed in November last year, after two years in prison, but they were not released immediately. The two former prison officials, identified by name, said they were released on Sunday night and were taken to the army camp in Insein.

Trump presses Japan over trade gap, expects ‘good things’ from N Korea

A U.S. President Donald Trump invoked North Korea to press Japan to renegotiate a trade agreement on Thursday. In a tweet, Trump said he was calling on Japan and N.Korea to “work together on trade and other important matters.” The tweet was in response to Japan’s foreign minister’s recent remarks that Japan supports the United States on issues related to North Korea. Trump also expressed interest in a potential meeting with N.Korean leaders.

“North Korea and Japan should work together on trade and other issues,” Trump tweeted. “Our relationship with Japan is very strong, and we are working very hard to ensure that our trading relationship is mutually beneficial.”

Trump’s comments come after Japan’s foreign minister, Toshimitsu Motegi, said earlier this week that Japan and the United States should work together on trade and other issues. Motegi made his comments during a meeting with U.S. Trade Representative Robert Lighthizer in Tokyo.

Motegi said the two countries should work together on trade and investment, including in the field of semiconductors. He also offered to cooperate with the United States in the struggle against China’s rising economic power.

Japanese media reported that Motegi had told Lighthizer that Japan was willing to work with the United States on issues such as trade, investment and technology.

Motegi also spoke about the importance of maintaining a close relationship with the United States, which is Japan’s most important ally.

Japanese media also reported that Motegi had expressed concern about the recent tensions between the United States and China, and that he hoped to work closely with Lighthizer to promote trade and investment between the two countries.

However, Motegi also made it clear that Japan would continue to maintain a close relationship with China, and that he hoped to work closely with Lighthizer to promote trade and investment between the two countries.

Farage demands a seat at talks

As leader of the Eurosceptic “United Kingdom Independence Party” (Ukip), he put up so much resistance to the party’s downturn that Stanley-Wilkinson, who now heads the CQC, has expressed his fury over issues like immigration and social care. He said he was “furious” with the CQC for not challenging the party more and that he would now turn his attention to health care.

Farage’s “extreme positions” are also being questioned by the media, which is under pressure to cover the story. A leading columnist for the Daily Mail, which is owned by Rupert Murdoch, has called for Farage’s resignation and accused him of “misleading the country”.

Critics accuse Farage of stoking anti-establishment sentiment, and some have suggested that he may be using a strategy to distract from his own political problems. However, Farage has defended his approach, saying that it is necessary to engage with the public on the issues that matter to them.

In a statement, Farage said: “We need a new political system to deal with the challenges we face, and that means taking the country back into control.”

The situation has been exacerbated by the ongoing debate over the Brexit negotiations, which have been widely criticized by both sides of the debate. Farage has been a vocal supporter of a no-deal Brexit, while others argue that a hard Brexit would be disastrous for the country.

Farage’s comments have been met with criticism from both sides of the debate, with some accusing him of being a “figurehead” for a movement that has grown out of control.

In conclusion, Farage’s demands for a seat at the talks are likely to be met with resistance from both sides of the debate. The situation is likely to remain a key issue in the run-up to the general election, and it remains to be seen whether Farage will be able to secure a place at the table.

The Indian Railways is running 78 special trains to cater to the summer holiday rush, an official said here on Monday. “To cater to the rising rail travel demand during the summer season, the Indian Railways has started 78 special trains from April 1,” the official said. These special trains are used for express trains to travel at higher speed than normal and to improve the lives of the poor and deprived people in the cities, the official said. “During my visits to stations every day, I have seen the preparedness. The renovation of the rail track has helped the railway to travel at higher speed,” the official said.

The official said that the rail track length has increased with the help of the government. “I would like to say that the railway has become more efficient and better in the last two years,” he added.

The Railway Board has also announced that special trains will run between April 1 and June 30. The trains are expected to carry about 120 lakh passengers during this period.

Latin American art emerges as a bargaining chip

Thousands of Brazilian prisoners held in more than 700 penitentiaries went on a nationwide hunger strike Monday in protest against alleged human rights violations inside the country’s prison system.

The strike affects some 560,000 inmates, who have demanded improvements in living conditions, better access to health care and legal assistance for the accused.

The strike comes as Brazil and several other countries in the region have been grappling with a series of prison riots and violence that have left dozens dead and scores injured.

President Jair Bolsonaro has vowed to crack down on crime and has ordered the construction of new prisons to accommodate the growing population of inmates.

Meanwhile, human rights organizations have called for an end to austerity measures and the privatization of prisons, which they say have contributed to the crisis.

Brazilian regulating agency for prisoners has imposed new restrictions on the use of force by guards.

The government has also announced plans to expand the capacity of prisons and to provide better living conditions for inmates.

Meanwhile, the European Union has called on Brazil to respect the rights of prisoners and to take steps to reduce the number of inmates who are held in pre-trial detention.

The European Union has also expressed concern about reports of violence and abuse in Brazilian prisons and has called for an independent investigation into the situation.
Pakistan, UK sign MOU for Dar’s extradition

A Pakistani girl has been successfully extradited to the UK. This is the first time Pakistan has extradited a juvenile to the UK. The extradition process was initiated under the terms of the 1990 Extradition Act, which allows for the extradition of individuals who are accused of criminal offenses.

The extradition process was conducted in accordance with the provisions of the British government’s Law Commission report on extradition. This report has helped to improve the extradition process in Pakistan, making it more efficient and transparent.

The extradition of the Pakistan girl is an important step in strengthening the bilateral relationship between Pakistan and the UK. It shows that Pakistan is willing to cooperate with other countries to ensure that justice is served.

The extradition process has been welcomed by both governments, and it is hoped that this will encourage other countries to extradite individuals who are accused of criminal offenses.

Foreign court hears cases through video link

A number of foreign courts have started using video links to hear cases. This is a significant development, as it allows for the fair and efficient resolution of disputes, regardless of location.

The use of video links is particularly important in cases involving individuals who are abroad, as it allows them to participate in the legal process without having to travel. This is particularly important in cases involving individuals who are unable to travel due to health or other reasons.

The use of video links is also important in cases involving individuals who are unable to communicate effectively in person. This is because it allows for the fair and efficient resolution of disputes, regardless of language or other barriers.

The use of video links is expected to continue to grow in the future, as it is becoming more widely accepted and used in many jurisdictions.

Philippine businesspeople said they expected the Duterte administration’s investment drive to attract billions of dollars in new investments as the president’s trip to Tokyo this week signals that the Philippines is back on the global business map.

The Japanese firms said they expected to sign deals worth billions of dollars as they seek to further strengthen ties with the Philippines through a trade mission to Japan.

President Rodrigo Duterte and Justice Secretary Menardo Garmo signed a joint statement during the visit promoting investments in the Philippines, including in manufacturing, agro-processing, tourism, real estate, education, and health care.

Under the joint statement, the two countries agreed to promote trade and investment in key sectors such as infrastructure, energy, and agriculture.

The bilateral agreement also covers the establishment of a joint committee on border control and security, which would be co-chaired by the Philippines and Japan.

The two countries also agreed to support each other in their efforts to combat terrorism and other regional security challenges.

The Philippines has been a key partner of Japan in the South China Sea dispute, with the two nations sharing a common maritime border.

The joint statement also acknowledged the Philippines’ role in supporting Japan’s economic development, noting that the Philippines has been a major recipient of Japanese aid and investment.

The Philippine government has been promoting its “BIDA” package, which includes tax incentives and other measures to attract foreign investments.

The joint statement was signed by President Rodrigo Duterte and Justice Secretary Menardo Garmo.

Juve extend Italian domination but fall short in Europe

Massimiliano Allegri overruled his final game as Juventus coach on Sunday, after guiding the team to an eight-season Serie A title by paying the price for not another new Champions League trophy. Allegri had been the central figure of European success with Juventus, but as the Allegri era ended with the whimper of a 2-0 defeat at Stadio Olimpico, there was a sense that this season’s team was not good enough, despite the sensational coach on Sunday, after guiding the team to an eighth Champions League final appearance. Allegri’s departure means that Juventus fans have now lost their fourth straight European trophy in five seasons, a remarkable run of success for a team that has never won Serie A since 1999-00. Ronaldo's transfer from Madrid to Juventus was a money-spinning deal for the Italian club, with the five-time Ballon d’Or winner being the most followed athlete in the world. Ronaldo's signing has been a money-spinner for Juventus, with the club’s share price rocketing by 133 percent since his arrival last July. Shares jumped by 30 percent after his hat-trick in the 3-0 win over Borussia Dortmund, and a further 12 percent after his brace in the 2-1 win over AC Milan. But after a season in which they were expected to sweep all before them, Juventus have won less than the previous season, with their four-year reign as Coppa Italia holders ended by a 2-0 defeat by Al-Ain in the Club World Cup. Ronaldo single-handedly lifted Juventus into the Champions League, scoring two goals in the quarter-finals with a hat-trick against Atletico Madrid.

Even Ronaldo couldn’t help them progress beyond the quarter-finals of the Champions League, with a 2-0 loss to Ajax in the semi-finals. Ronaldo’s efforts were in vain as he couldn’t help them win the European Cup for the first time since 1996. Despite Allegri’s tactics, Ronaldo was looking for a second Champions League title with Juventus. Ronaldo had scored 124 goals in 160 Champions League appearances, but as Allegri’s era ended, it was a bitter pill for fans to swallow. Allegri’s departure means that Juventus fans have now lost their fourth straight European trophy in five seasons, a remarkable run of success for a team that has never won Serie A since 1999-00.

Hormonal link found between diet and obesity

Obesity is a growing public health concern, with obesity and overweight being a major risk factor, including cardiovascular diseases. In the United States, the prevalence of obesity is high, affecting millions of people. As the number of people who are overweight or obese increases, the number of deaths attributable to obesity-related conditions also increases. Research has shown that there are geographical differences in obesity rates, with some regions experiencing higher rates than others. Several years ago, Andrew Butler, a professor of surgery at the University of California, San Francisco, and his colleagues conducted a study to determine the factors contributing to obesity. They identified that adrenal function plays a role in obesity, with increased adrenal activity leading to weight gain. This is consistent with the idea that adrenocorticosteroids are involved in obesity, but the specific mechanisms are not fully understood.

ing hopes of a quick deal between the US and China, US policy toward China is a hot topic of discussion. Donald Trump’s administration has imposed massive tariffs on Chinese goods. On the one hand, the Chinese government has responded with new tariffs on US goods. On the other hand, the US has engaged in trade negotiations with China. The US is seeking to address its trade deficit with China, which is now over $500 billion. The US has also imposed punitive tariffs on $60 billion of Chinese goods. Both sides are now engaged in negotiations on a range of issues, including intellectual property, technology, and agriculture.

Qatar Academy holds graduation ceremony for Class of 2019

Qatar Academy Doha (QAD), part of Qatar Foundation’s (QF) Pre-University Education, held a graduation ceremony recently for Class of 2019 at the Qatar National Convention Centre.

The event was attended by 92 students, including 46 Qataris, bringing the total number of QAD alumni to more than 1,000. It was attended by students, teachers, Qatar Academy Doha administrators, faculty, and parents.

Cary Canning, acting director, QAD, welcomed the students, addressing the students in his welcoming note, saying, “To-night, we come together, on this most special of occasions, to honour the hard work and dedication that has resulted in another 100% graduation rate for our senior students. This achievement is underpinned by the result of a home effort; effort and dedication of our students, but also from you, our faculty and parents, who have all worked tirelessly to bring our students – your children – to this point in their academic careers.”

Sheikha Amna bint Jaber al-Thani, said that the annual event is in conjunction with Qatar Academy Doha’s commitment to support, empower and advocate individuals living with cancer.

HIA also maintains its ISO 14001 certification, provided to entities with the highest global standard of E Service Management Systems by the Government of the State of Qatar, which enables it to continuously improve the environmental aspects of its operations.

Since it was established two years ago, HIA has received the top of the top 10 airports in the world by Skytrax in early 2016. The Doha hub was classified as the first Middle East airport to be listed amongst the world’s top 10.
