Amir concedes with Japan emperor

Prime Minister of Japan Shinzo Abe on the victims of the fire at an

Amir congratulates Japan emperor

He claims he was called “donkey”

Amir seizes tanker ‘smuggling’ oil; US seeks its quick release

The United States demanded Iran immediately releases the vessel and a

In brief

Amir seizes tanker ‘smuggling’ oil; US seeks its quick release

The United States demanded Iran immediately releases the vessel and a

by Rodney Dixon QC said that Ahmad’s “vision

Meanwhile, President Donald

In brief

The United States demanded Iran immediately releases the vessel and a

Amid reports of human rights abuses

In brief

In brief

Amid reports of human rights abuses

In brief

Amid reports of human rights abuses

Amid reports of human rights abuses

Amid reports of human rights abuses

Amid reports of human rights abuses

Amid reports of human rights abuses

Amir seizes tanker ‘smuggling’ oil; US seeks its quick release

The United States demanded Iran immediately releases the vessel and a

Amid reports of human rights abuses

In brief

Amid reports of human rights abuses

In brief

Amid reports of human rights abuses

Amid reports of human rights abuses

Amid reports of human rights abuses
MoI launches Bedar initiative to reach out to communities

In order to reach out to workers in communities in Qatar, the Public Security Department under the Ministry of Interior (MoI) has recently launched the Bedar Community Initiative at the direction of His Excellency Thani bin Jassim Al Thani, Minister of the Interior. The initiative is aimed at co-operating with the Public Works Authority (Ashgahl) to improve the living conditions of workers in the northern region of Qatar. It is intended to improve the awareness and education of workers on security and safety through a number of expertised programmes. It will also ensure worker involvement in the development of society and the preservation of their rights and duties to help them develop their skills.

The outreach programme will make them aware of their rights and duties to help them develop their skills. It will also ensure workers’ involvement in the development of society and the preservation of their rights. The programme through a series of training programmes and awareness workshops. These programmes will raise their awareness of safety, hygiene, traditions and community culture. It will also establish a link between MoI and the Public Works Authority (Ashgahl) to improve the living conditions of workers.

Sheikha Al Anoud Al Thani, head of the Community Relations Department by making the Trainer Programme said that the outreach programme will enable the works for Al Obadliy Interchange. Road users can use Al Madina Street as an alternative route to reach to Nuaja area on E-Rind road. The closure has been announced in order to enable the works for Al Obadliy Interchange.

A delegation from the Iraqi Ministry of Interior recently visited the SC Legacy Pavilion to learn about preparations for the 2022 FIFA World Cup, particularly safety and security measures, the Supreme Committee for Delivery & Legacy tweeted.

The outreach programme will raise their awareness of safety and hygiene, and help them develop their skills.

MoI officials at the launching ceremony of the Bedar initiative.

The trainers have been given training and awareness and are given training and awareness through a number of expertised trainers. These programmes will raise their awareness of safety, hygiene, traditions and community culture. It will also establish a link between MoI and the Public Works Authority (Ashgahl) to improve the living conditions of workers.

Iraqi delegation visits SC Legacy Pavilion

A delegation from the Iraqi Ministry of Interior recently visited the SC Legacy Pavilion to learn about preparations for the 2022 FIFA World Cup, particularly safety and security measures, the Supreme Committee for Delivery & Legacy tweeted.

The outreach programme will raise their awareness of safety and hygiene, and help them develop their skills.

The Public Works Authority (Ashgahl) has announced a three-day closure on one lane in each direction on Al Quds Al Ashraf Street on 4-Ring Road in Thumama and Al-Malikiya Street in Najma Area from Thursday to Saturday in order to enable the works for Al Obadliy Interchange. The closure, which is scheduled to take place on Thursday, will be followed by the closure of Al Quds Al Ashraf Street on 4-Ring Road in Thumama and Al-Malikiya Street in Najma Area.

The closure is scheduled to take place on Thursday, will be followed by the closure of Al Quds Al Ashraf Street on 4-Ring Road in Thumama and Al-Malikiya Street in Najma Area.
REGION/ARAB WORLD

US Congress blocks Saudi arms sales

The US Congress has blocked a $10 billion arms sale from the United States to Saudi Arabia, after a long battle to keep arms sales to the Kingdom at bay. President Joe Biden had earlier approved the sales, but the US Congress put a hold on them. The deal was expected to be signed in the White House, where Biden is expected to be present on the same day. The US Senate passed the block of the arms sales, which was supported by a majority of senators from both parties.

The block is seen as a victory for human rights advocates and critics of the Saudi regime, who have long criticized the kingdom's role in Yemen and the Middle East. The block comes after months of diplomatic efforts by members of Congress, who have accused the Saudi government of violating international law and human rights.

UN calls out Saudi, UAE for not paying Yemen aid pledges

The United Nations has called out Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates (UAE) for not paying their promised financial contributions to Yemen's $13 billion aid appeal.

The UN has raised concerns about the lack of funding for Yemen after Saudi Arabia and the UAE were accused of not paying their promised contributions.

The UN has called on Saudi Arabia and the UAE to honor their commitments to Yemen and to urgently release the $13 billion aid pledged by the UN.

In rare critical stance, Pence urges Saudis to free blogger Badawi

US Vice President Mike Pence yesterday urged Saudi Arabia to free an imprisoned blogger who has been imprisoned since 2012. The United States has raised concerns about the human rights of the blogger, who has been imprisoned for criticising the Saudi government.

Pence called on Saudi Arabia to free Badawi, a Saudi blogger who has been imprisoned since 2012. The United States has raised concerns about the human rights of the blogger, who has been imprisoned for criticising the Saudi government.

The United States has raised concerns about the human rights of the blogger, who has been imprisoned since 2012. The United States has raised concerns about the human rights of the blogger, who has been imprisoned since 2012.

Sudanese honour fallen protesters

Hundreds of thousands of Sudanese people gathered in the capital Khartoum on Thursday to pay tribute to fallen protesters a year after the military ousted President Omar al-Bashir and ended three decades of dictatorship.

The Sudanese Professionals' Association (SPA), which organized the demonstration, called on the international community to support the protesters and keep up the pressure on the military regime to honor the revolution.

The SPA called on international bodies, particularly the UN and the African Union, to send a team to investigate the crackdown on protesters and begin an investigation into the deadly violence.

The demonstration was held in Khartoum's twin city of Omdurman, where protesters were killed by security forces on June 30 last year.

Syrian rebels say US has deployed ground forces in Idlib campaign

Syrian rebels say US-led forces have deployed ground forces in the Idlib province in northern Syria, where US troops have been operating in recent months.

The US-led coalition has been operating in northern Syria to support local forces in the fight against the Islamic State group. The US-led forces have been operating in the region since the beginning of the crisis in 2011.

The US forces have been operating in Idlib province since last year, when the US-led coalition launched an offensive against the Islamic State group in the region. The US forces have been operating in the region since the beginning of the crisis in 2011.

Israel says US troops have moved into Idlib

The US has deployed troops in Idlib, Syria, in a move that could have serious implications for the region.

The US deployment comes after the Trump administration announced that it would withdraw from the United Nations Security Council, which has been a key ally of the US in its efforts to prevent the spread of terrorism in the Middle East.

The US deployment is seen as a move to bolster the US military presence in the region and to counter the growing influence of Russia and Iran.

Israel says US military will be sent to Idlib

The US has deployed US military in Idlib, Syria, to counter the growing influence of Russia and Iran.

The US deployment comes after the Trump administration announced that it would withdraw from the United Nations Security Council, which has been a key ally of the US in its efforts to prevent the spread of terrorism in the Middle East.

The US deployment is seen as a move to bolster the US military presence in the region and to counter the growing influence of Russia and Iran.

Israel says US military will be sent to Idlib

The US has deployed US military in Idlib, Syria, to counter the growing influence of Russia and Iran.

The US deployment comes after the Trump administration announced that it would withdraw from the United Nations Security Council, which has been a key ally of the US in its efforts to prevent the spread of terrorism in the Middle East.

The US deployment is seen as a move to bolster the US military presence in the region and to counter the growing influence of Russia and Iran.
Military deploys to quell Cape Town gang crime

By Amy Gibbings, AFP

The number of soldiers deployed has not been revealed.

The deployment marks a further escalation in violence across Cape Town, where gang warfare and turf battles have long been a feature of life.

The number of gang-related killings has risen sharply in recent months, with more than 2,000 people said to have been killed in gang violence in Cape Town alone since the start of the year.

The deployment comes after a series of violent clashes between rival gangs in the city, with reports of shots fired and bodies found in the streets.

The government has faced criticism for its failure to curb the violence, with some calling for the use of the armed forces to help bring peace to the troubled city.

Cape Town, with its picturesque beaches and vibrant culture, is one of South Africa's most popular tourist destinations.

But the city has been blighted by crime, with a high rate of murder, gang violence, and associated drug-related activity.

The deployment of military forces is expected to be temporary, with the aim of stabilizing the situation and allowing the police to continue their efforts to suppress gang activity.
Global body on religious freedom to be set up: Pompeo

Secretary of State Mike Pompeo yesterday said the US would launch a new “International Religious Freedom Service” to campaign for religious freedom internationally. Religious freedom has been “an auxiliary of America’s national security” for decades, Pompeo told the ministerial-level meeting. “Freedom of thought is a prerequisite for freedom of speech,” he said. “Freedom of conscience is a prerequisite for freedom of worship.”

President Donald Trump yesterday denounced Arab leaders for sack attacks on the US, saying they were “telling people to kill you.” He also praised the US “great relationship” with Israel.

The three-day gathering at the UN, where UN experts and activists are assessing the impact of democratic backsliding, concluded yesterday.

Pompeo expressed concern about China’s human rights abuses in Xinjiang, where UN experts and activists have reported irregularities.

Alfredo Castelo

Police officers ‘to be fired over Facebook posts’

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

Cohen hush-money payments released

A court in the state of Idaho yesterday sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

The court sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

Donald TrumpInfoSec

“Bring like-minded representatives of all the other religions, ‘religious freedom’ is welcomed. It will provide a space for the believers, or not to believe, whatever it is that they choose.”

Religious freedom has been an auxiliary of America’s national security for decades. Pompeo told the ministerial-level meeting. “Freedom of thought is a prerequisite for freedom of speech,” he said. “Freedom of conscience is a prerequisite for freedom of worship.”

President Donald Trump yesterday denounced Arab leaders for sack attacks on the US, saying they were “telling people to kill you.” He also praised the US “great relationship” with Israel.

The three-day gathering at the UN, where UN experts and activists are assessing the impact of democratic backsliding, concluded yesterday.

Pompeo expressed concern about China’s human rights abuses in Xinjiang, where UN experts and activists have reported irregularities.

Alfredo Castelo

Police officers ‘to be fired over Facebook posts’

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

Cohen hush-money payments released

A court in the state of Idaho yesterday sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

The court sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

Donald TrumpInfoSec

“Bring like-minded representatives of all the other religions, ‘religious freedom’ is welcomed. It will provide a space for the believers, or not to believe, whatever it is that they choose.”

Religious freedom has been an auxiliary of America’s national security for decades. Pompeo told the ministerial-level meeting. “Freedom of thought is a prerequisite for freedom of speech,” he said. “Freedom of conscience is a prerequisite for freedom of worship.”

President Donald Trump yesterday denounced Arab leaders for sack attacks on the US, saying they were “telling people to kill you.” He also praised the US “great relationship” with Israel.

The three-day gathering at the UN, where UN experts and activists are assessing the impact of democratic backsliding, concluded yesterday.

Pompeo expressed concern about China’s human rights abuses in Xinjiang, where UN experts and activists have reported irregularities.

Alfredo Castelo

Police officers ‘to be fired over Facebook posts’

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

Cohen hush-money payments released

A court in the state of Idaho yesterday sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

The court sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

Donald TrumpInfoSec

“Bring like-minded representatives of all the other religions, ‘religious freedom’ is welcomed. It will provide a space for the believers, or not to believe, whatever it is that they choose.”

Religious freedom has been an auxiliary of America’s national security for decades. Pompeo told the ministerial-level meeting. “Freedom of thought is a prerequisite for freedom of speech,” he said. “Freedom of conscience is a prerequisite for freedom of worship.”

President Donald Trump yesterday denounced Arab leaders for sack attacks on the US, saying they were “telling people to kill you.” He also praised the US “great relationship” with Israel.

The three-day gathering at the UN, where UN experts and activists are assessing the impact of democratic backsliding, concluded yesterday.

Pompeo expressed concern about China’s human rights abuses in Xinjiang, where UN experts and activists have reported irregularities.

Alfredo Castelo

Police officers ‘to be fired over Facebook posts’

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

Cohen hush-money payments released

A court in the state of Idaho yesterday sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

The court sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

Donald TrumpInfoSec

“Bring like-minded representatives of all the other religions, ‘religious freedom’ is welcomed. It will provide a space for the believers, or not to believe, whatever it is that they choose.”

Religious freedom has been an auxiliary of America’s national security for decades. Pompeo told the ministerial-level meeting. “Freedom of thought is a prerequisite for freedom of speech,” he said. “Freedom of conscience is a prerequisite for freedom of worship.”

President Donald Trump yesterday denounced Arab leaders for sack attacks on the US, saying they were “telling people to kill you.” He also praised the US “great relationship” with Israel.

The three-day gathering at the UN, where UN experts and activists are assessing the impact of democratic backsliding, concluded yesterday.

Pompeo expressed concern about China’s human rights abuses in Xinjiang, where UN experts and activists have reported irregularities.

Alfredo Castelo

Police officers ‘to be fired over Facebook posts’

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

Cohen hush-money payments released

A court in the state of Idaho yesterday sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

The court sentenced Kevin Spacey to 30 years in jail for sexual assault.

Donald TrumpInfoSec

“Bring like-minded representatives of all the other religions, ‘religious freedom’ is welcomed. It will provide a space for the believers, or not to believe, whatever it is that they choose.”

Religious freedom has been an auxiliary of America’s national security for decades. Pompeo told the ministerial-level meeting. “Freedom of thought is a prerequisite for freedom of speech,” he said. “Freedom of conscience is a prerequisite for freedom of worship.”

President Donald Trump yesterday denounced Arab leaders for sack attacks on the US, saying they were “telling people to kill you.” He also praised the US “great relationship” with Israel.

The three-day gathering at the UN, where UN experts and activists are assessing the impact of democratic backsliding, concluded yesterday.

Pompeo expressed concern about China’s human rights abuses in Xinjiang, where UN experts and activists have reported irregularities.

Alfredo Castelo

Police officers ‘to be fired over Facebook posts’

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.

The Philadelphia police department is expected to begin the process of firing officers who made offensive Facebook posts regarding George Floyd, a black man who died while in police custody.
Bangladeshis: wait for those injured in Libya attack

By National Karen, Reuters

S in a month, feigned illness — a common method found useful by migrant workers who seek to avoid deportation and return home after being injured by an accident — was used by a Bangladeshi man to avoid being repatriated from his shelter, but it is unclear when he will happen, the government and other parties.

The 2015 report co-authored by environmentalists and other projects.

The actual figures are likely to be higher since there is no comprehensive data on hit-and-run traffic accidents — common in Cambodia — where the crown will chase down an offending driver who attempts to escape.

The actual figures are likely to be higher since there is no comprehensive data on hit-and-run traffic accidents — common in Cambodia — where the crown will chase down an offending driver who attempts to escape.

Schoolboy dies after violent blazing riot

A high school student hailed into a car by a group of nine men, Including a government official, police said, raising alarm across the country, officials said.

The actual figures are likely to be higher since there is no comprehensive data on hit-and-run traffic accidents — common in Cambodia — where the crown will chase down an offending driver who attempts to escape.

The actual figures are likely to be higher since there is no comprehensive data on hit-and-run traffic accidents — common in Cambodia — where the crown will chase down an offending driver who attempts to escape.

Deadly mob justice thrives in Cambodia: UN report

As Southeast Asia grapples with massive plastic pollution, a Cambodian cafe is making its own contribution to promote sustainability. A small wicker furniture on the outskirts of Phnom Penh is turning waste plastic bags into baskets and plastic cups, with the help of local plastic investigators.

The cafe is the brainchild of Vandy, a 32-year-old former hotel manager. "We consider it to be a chronic social disease," said Chin Malin, secretary of the Cambodia's Ministry of Culture and Arts, at a press conference last week.

"This sends a message to other shop owners and villagers that the community can be kept clean by recycling waste," Vandy said.

Cambodia has a large plastic waste industry, with the country producing an estimated 600,000 tonnes of plastic waste each year. The cafe hopes to collect and generate revenue from the waste plastic.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.

"We believe that plastic is a problem," said Vandy.

"We want to show that plastic can be reused in a positive way, and we are trying to do that with our coffee and plastic cups.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.

"We believe that plastic is a problem," said Vandy.

"We want to show that plastic can be reused in a positive way, and we are trying to do that with our coffee and plastic cups.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.

"We believe that plastic is a problem," said Vandy.

"We want to show that plastic can be reused in a positive way, and we are trying to do that with our coffee and plastic cups.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.

"We believe that plastic is a problem," said Vandy.

"We want to show that plastic can be reused in a positive way, and we are trying to do that with our coffee and plastic cups.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.

"We believe that plastic is a problem," said Vandy.

"We want to show that plastic can be reused in a positive way, and we are trying to do that with our coffee and plastic cups.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.

"We believe that plastic is a problem," said Vandy.

"We want to show that plastic can be reused in a positive way, and we are trying to do that with our coffee and plastic cups.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.

"We believe that plastic is a problem," said Vandy.

"We want to show that plastic can be reused in a positive way, and we are trying to do that with our coffee and plastic cups.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.

"We believe that plastic is a problem," said Vandy.

"We want to show that plastic can be reused in a positive way, and we are trying to do that with our coffee and plastic cups.

The cafe has a coffee shop and a restaurant, with the signboard reading: "Plastics to coffee, plastic cups to baskets.

The cafe is an oasis of sustainability in a country where plastic waste is a major problem. With over 150 plastic cups, the cafe is fighting against the idea that plastic waste is a problem.
Philippines issues new ‘war on drugs’ killing data

The government of the Philippines has released new data on police killings, with the minister for justice confirming that the number of deaths had been underestimated. The new data, which covers a period from January 1, 2016, to May 31, 2018, shows that more than 6,700 people were killed in police operations, according to the Justice Department. This figure is significantly higher than the previous official count of more than 6,300 deaths in police operations, which was released by the government in May 2018.

Southeast Asia’s meth gangs make $6bn a year:

Southeast Asia’s methamphetamine gangs have made $6bn a year, according to a recent study. This is despite the region’s efforts to tackle the problem, with law enforcement agencies across the region making significant efforts to disrupt the supply chain. The study found that the region’s methamphetamine market is dominated by a small number of large and powerful criminal networks, with a few key players controlling a significant portion of the trade. The study also highlighted the role of online marketplaces in facilitating the trade, as well as the growing use of drone technology by criminal networks to transport drugs across borders.

Arson attack on Japanese animation studio kills 33

A fire broke out at a Japanese animation studio in Kyoto, Japan, on Wednesday, killing at least 33 people and injuring dozens more. The studio, Kyoto Animation, was known for its high-quality animation and had produced popular series such as “Boku no Hero Academia” and “K-On!” The cause of the fire is still under investigation, but it appears to have been caused by a group of people who had been working at the studio. The fire broke out around midday, and emergency services were called to the scene immediately. The cause of the fire is still under investigation, but it appears to have been caused by a group of people who had been working at the studio.
Johnson’s kipper claim is a total red herring, says Brussels

The European Commission has rebuffed British Prime Minister Boris Johnson’s claim that British-made kippers could not be sold in the EU after Brexit.

Johnson has recently claimed that British-made kippers, which are traditionally smoked and salted herring, would not meet EU standards if Britain leaves the EU without a deal.

However, a commission spokesperson said, “There are EU rules to protect the health of consumers, which apply regardless of whether the fish is caught in British waters or elsewhere. These rules are based on the need to ensure that fish is ‘safe’ and ‘fit for human consumption’ and that it is not contaminated with substances that may be harmful to health. These rules also apply to fish caught in UK waters after Brexit.”

The commission spokesperson added, “We have been working closely with the UK government to ensure that the rules on fish are respected after Brexit and we will continue to do so in order to protect public health.”

Corbyn likely to face no-trust vote

Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn is expected to face a vote of no-confidence in his leadership this week, after a string of political setbacks for his party.

The vote comes after a series of defeats in local and national elections, and following the publication of a report by the independent Halifax Foundation for Social Justice, which found that Labour was losing support among its traditional working-class base.

Corbyn is expected to face a vote of no-confidence in the Labour party leadership, with a series of motions passed by the party’s annual conference last month. The vote is expected to be held on Tuesday, with the result announced later in the day.

The motion, which has been signed by over 100 Labour MPs and peers, calls on the party to “re-examine its strategy and policies” and to “rebuild its relationship with the working class.”

The vote is the latest in a series of challenges to Corbyn’s leadership, which has been under pressure since the 2019 general election, when Labour lost its overall majority in Parliament for the first time in decades.

The party’s performance at the polls has been attributed to a range of factors, including its handling of the Brexit crisis, its perceived left-wing policies, and its perceived lack of progress on a range of key issues, such as housing, education, and the NHS.

However, the party has also faced criticism from within its own ranks, with a number of Labour MPs and peers calling for a change of leadership.

The vote comes at a time of political uncertainty in the UK, with the country facing a range of challenges, including the ongoing Brexit negotiations, the coronavirus pandemic, and the ongoing debate over the future of the NHS.
Incoming EU chief says nobody gains from hard Brexit

An incoming EU chief has said that nobody gains from a hard Brexit, saying the premiums paid for "no deal" could have been used to help the most vulnerable.

Teresa Ribera, a Spanish politician who will become the EU’s Commissioner for the Economy, said premiums paid for the possibility of a no-deal Brexit could be redistributed to poorer nations.

"The premiums paid for no deal could have been used to help the poorest countries, to help the most vulnerable in the EU," she said. "We should think about how to redistribute these premiums and see whether they would have been better spent on supporting the vulnerable, especially the poor and the most vulnerable people."
Four die in sopping in Kancheepuram temple

Tragedy struck as crowded Kancheepuram temple in Tamil Nadu's Kancheepuram yesterday. Four people drowned in the temple pond as they were taking a holy dip in the temple pond during a religious event. The bodies were retrieved by the local authorities and the families were informed.

New bid to launch moon rocket on Monday

India will make a new bid to launch a lunar mission to the moon on Monday, after a successful test flight of its rocket last month. The mission, called the Chandrayaan-2, is set to launch on July 15 and is expected to take about a month to reach the moon. The mission will carry a rover to the moon's surface and will also explore the moon's subsurface regolith, or unconsolidated material on the lunar surface.

Actor Ajaz Khan arrested for objectionable posts

Actor Ajaz Khan has been arrested by Mumbai police for posting objectionable posts on social media. The investigation was carried out in connection with the case of allegedly obscene posts and images shared on social media. The police have confiscated the actor's mobile phone and computer for further investigation.

IT attaches property of Mayawati's brother, wife

The Income Tax department has attached the properties of Mayawati’s brother and his wife, who are allegedly involved in tax evasion. The properties include land and buildings worth several crores.

Govt sends notice to TikTok and Helo

The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting has issued notices to TikTok and Helo, two popular social media apps, over alleged violation of rules. The notices demand an explanation within 15 days.

BJP protests in Kolkata

BJP workers stage a demonstration against West Bengal government in Kolkata yesterday. (Photo: IANS)

Dosa King’ guilty of murder dies at hospital

Dosa King, a popular restaurant chain in Kolkata, was convicted in a 2004 murder case and was sentenced to life imprisonment. The restaurant was known for its traditional south Indian food, which became a symbol of protest against the Modi government.

People

Dawood's nephew held by Mumbai Police at airport

A 27-year-old man, identified as Dawood Ibrahim's nephew, was arrested at Mumbai airport after he was spotted at the airport by police. It is believed that the man was attempting to flee the country.

Kanpur

A Kanpur-based brewing company has been fined Rs50,000 for violating the excise rules.

India's space chiefs call off Chandrayaan-2 launch

India's space chiefs have called off the planned launch of Chandrayaan-2, the country's lunar mission, due to technical issues.

Mamata Banerjee’s government in West Bengal

The West Bengal government has introduced a new police Bill that has been criticized by opposition parties.
Asylum seekers anxiously cross into US as new policy kicks in

Asylum seekers

Border: Ciudad Juarez

A new Trump administration policy designed to deter Central American migrants from traveling to the US will go into effect Monday, according to a US official who said it was linked to the US withdrawal from the United Nations’ refugee agency.

The policy, known as the “safe third country” rule, attempts to prevent migrants from entering the US by allowing them to seek asylum in a country that has less stringent asylum standards.

The policy will apply to migrants who pass through Mexico on their way to the US, and it could lead to a significant decrease in asylum claims at ports of entry.

US officials said the policy would take effect immediately, but the official said it was not yet clear when the policy would be implemented.

A group of migrants, mostly from African countries, were to request an appointment with US immigration authorities outside El Chaparral port of entry in Tijuana, Baja California state, Mexico.

---

Macaws offer feathered ‘therapy’ to suffering Venezuelans

Mexico

Mexico has told the US it is no longer willing to accept migrants who are seeking asylum in the US.

The policy, known as the “safe third country” rule, attempts to prevent migrants from entering the US by allowing them to seek asylum in a country that has less stringent asylum standards.

The policy will apply to migrants who pass through Mexico on their way to the US, and it could lead to a significant decrease in asylum claims at ports of entry.

US officials said the policy would take effect immediately, but the official said it was not yet clear when the policy would be implemented.

A group of migrants, mostly from African countries, were to request an appointment with US immigration authorities outside El Chaparral port of entry in Tijuana, Baja California state, Mexico.

---

Morales vexes in Argentina

Argentina

Morales vexes in Argentina

Brazilians government vows to oppose new policy

Brazil

The Brazilian government has vowed to oppose a new US policy that would limit the ability of migrants to seek asylum in the US.

The policy, known as the “safe third country” rule, attempts to prevent migrants from entering the US by allowing them to seek asylum in a country that has less stringent asylum standards.

The policy will apply to migrants who pass through Mexico on their way to the US, and it could lead to a significant decrease in asylum claims at ports of entry.

US officials said the policy would take effect immediately, but the official said it was not yet clear when the policy would be implemented.

A group of migrants, mostly from African countries, were to request an appointment with US immigration authorities outside El Chaparral port of entry in Tijuana, Baja California state, Mexico.

---

Asylum seekers cross into US as new policy kicks in

Asylum seekers are initially processed at the border. The US asylum system is designed to protect refugees from persecution in their home countries.

The policy, known as the “safe third country” rule, attempts to prevent migrants from entering the US by allowing them to seek asylum in a country that has less stringent asylum standards.

The policy will apply to migrants who pass through Mexico on their way to the US, and it could lead to a significant decrease in asylum claims at ports of entry.

US officials said the policy would take effect immediately, but the official said it was not yet clear when the policy would be implemented.

A group of migrants, mostly from African countries, were to request an appointment with US immigration authorities outside El Chaparral port of entry in Tijuana, Baja California state, Mexico.

---

Asylum seekers cross into US as new policy kicks in

Asylum seekers are initially processed at the border. The US asylum system is designed to protect refugees from persecution in their home countries.

The policy, known as the “safe third country” rule, attempts to prevent migrants from entering the US by allowing them to seek asylum in a country that has less stringent asylum standards.

The policy will apply to migrants who pass through Mexico on their way to the US, and it could lead to a significant decrease in asylum claims at ports of entry.

US officials said the policy would take effect immediately, but the official said it was not yet clear when the policy would be implemented.

A group of migrants, mostly from African countries, were to request an appointment with US immigration authorities outside El Chaparral port of entry in Tijuana, Baja California state, Mexico.

---

Asylum seekers cross into US as new policy kicks in

Asylum seekers are initially processed at the border. The US asylum system is designed to protect refugees from persecution in their home countries.

The policy, known as the “safe third country” rule, attempts to prevent migrants from entering the US by allowing them to seek asylum in a country that has less stringent asylum standards.

The policy will apply to migrants who pass through Mexico on their way to the US, and it could lead to a significant decrease in asylum claims at ports of entry.

US officials said the policy would take effect immediately, but the official said it was not yet clear when the policy would be implemented.

A group of migrants, mostly from African countries, were to request an appointment with US immigration authorities outside El Chaparral port of entry in Tijuana, Baja California state, Mexico.
Pakistan’s anti-corruption agency arrests ex-PM Abbasi

Anti-corruption agency arrests ex-PM Abbasi

According to sources, Abbasi’s home in Islamabad was raided on Friday morning around 10am. He was arrested after a massive police operation. A huge police contingent surrounded his residence and ten minutes later Abbasi was arrested. According to sources, the raid was carried out by the Combined Operations Special Branch (COSB).

---

Nurses in Sindhi clash with police

A total of 12 nurses were arrested on Friday afternoon when they confronted police during a clash in Sukkur.

---

Alert issued about floods in Sindh

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---
The call of the Prophet

W hen Prophet (pbuh) stood on the pinnacle of Mount Arafat and called out, “There is no god but Allah, and Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah,” Allah has prescribed upon you, O Muslims, that you should all offer this call. Religiously, Allah prescribed upon his Prophet (pbuh) a spiritual caliphate and a temporal caliphate. Allah honored the Prophet (pbuh) in such a way that Allah would command him to call to righteousness. “Hajj is the fifth pillar of Islam. Allah (swt) said: “Our Lord! Grant me from among my servants such a one as would admonish himself for not being moved or affected when house is destroyed, when wealth is perished, on the day when the graces of the earth and the graces of the heavens will be brought together, there will be no power to resist the justly victorious. For you... what will you do when you are brought back to the Lord of the worlds?... What will you do when the final judgment comes?... But when you are brought before your Lord, say: ‘My Lord! My Lord! Exalted be You, for You have relieved me of all my occasions of sin. May my Lord accept my repentance and receive my plea, for You are the most generous of the creators. And may my Lord accept my repentance and receive my plea, for You are the most generous of the creators.” Otherwise, whatever sins, the past and anything you may sin in the future, will be forgiven and forgiven, and Allah has accepted your repentance and your plea.”

Not glorifying the Words of Allah: Many people today glorify the words of Allah. They say that those words were inspired. They say that those words were revelations. They say that those words were words of Allah. Those words are not glorified by Prophet (pbuh). The Prophet (pbuh) said: “Allah has glorified his words when the Messenger came demanding him to apply his Sunnah, to follow the Messenger, to order the believers to follow the Messenger, and to adorn the name of the Prophet (pbuh) with the title of Messenger of Allah.”

In the Islamic history books it was recorded that when the Prophet (pbuh) was on the road from Mecca to Medina, a group of people from Medina came asking for my father after the ‘Asr prayer, and the Prophet (pbuh) granted them permission to go to a restaurant, he would have no problem in answering them. When one aspect of this topic is neglecting forbidden things, then another aspect of this topic is not obeying the obligations. The Prophet (pbuh) said: “Humma Labbayk, I seek refuge with You in the Messenger of Allah. I seek refuge with You in the Messenger of Allah from what my Lord will send me.”

If one of us receives any wealth, he must give one-third of it to his family and one-third of it to the community. Those who had before them were stingier with their time than us, the Salaf, would spend multiples of this. An important role in comforting and consoling Im-
Iceland tries to bring back trees razed by Vikings

Before being colonized by the Vikings, Iceland was lush with forests and the barrenness is everything to the nation and in now it is still struggling to reclaim the island.

The country's first inhabitants, the Norse, were used to living in Europe, indeed, forests included are seen, or their trees are young, that people often joke that those lost in the west were quickly to be found here.

However, it wasn't always that way.

When settlers saw a Viking settlement of Norway and compared the uninhabited North Atlantic island at the end of the ninth century, forests, made up of birch and fir, covered less than a quarter of the island. Within a century, the settlers had cut down 97% of the original forests to serve as building material for homes and to make way for grazing pastures.

In Hafnarsandur, a 6,000-hectare area of basalt and black sand uninhabited North Atlantic island at the end of the ninth century, authorities have tasked the Icelandic Forest Service with turning the lunar landscape into a forest.

“It is one of the worst examples of soil erosion in Iceland on land,” said Stéfinn Oskarsson, the service’s head of strategy.

“The problem with birches, according to Adalsteinn Sigurgeirsson, the forest service’s head of strategy. “We are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said.

The lack of trees means there isn’t any vegetation to protect the soil and to reduce the water and to stone water, leading to extensive desertification owing to the country’s far northern location.

Restricted to trees in the 1940s and especially the 1950s, forests have helped the rocky landscape regain some of the greenery and efforts are made to make the island the country is considered the least forested in Europe; indeed, forests of the island.

Since 2015, between three and four million trees have been planted in Iceland, the equivalent of about 1,000 hectares.

The problem with birches, according to Adalsteinn Sigurgeirsson, the forest service’s head of strategy. “We are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said.

Paradoxically, climate change is also giving tree growth a boost.

It identifies trees’ carbon uptake as one of the country’s ways of becoming carbon-neutral by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU’s first carbon-neutral country.

“Originally, they come from Alaska but now we have 30, 40, 50 species of North putki,” a Finnish designed through an international tender.

“W e are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said. "Holmfridur Geirsdottir, a 56-year-old deputy director of the forest service, said Hreinn Oskarsson, the service’s head of strategy.

Some lamentations from Van der Leyen’s own centre-right party appear to have dissipated her at the last minute, perhaps piggybacking on her promise of a greener and more cohesive Europe that was designed by way of overcoming the challenges of Brexit and the rise of far-right and far-left eurosceptic

Making up for the lack of centrist support in the European Parliament, Von der Leyen’s own centre-right party appear to have deserted her at the last minute, including the Socialists and democrats and the Greens, which include continuing work towards a Eurozone budget and cohesion and ensuring big tech companies contribute to carbon neutrality by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU's first carbon-neutral country.

The problem with birches, according to Adalsteinn Sigurgeirsson, the forest service’s head of strategy. “We are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said.

The fact that the EU is biased.

The 28 member-states are divided on how to handle refugees, on committing the bloc. "It's good to have ambition but we need to be able to deliver," said one senior EU diplomat.

The new Commission to treat all EU states fairly, it's not clear at all that we would be extremely difficult." Policy gaffes will reflect further damage on the EU, which has been faulted for failing to make a decision on the European Central Bank’s interest rate strategy, among other things, its decision to leave sanctions against positive economic and social change and the rule of law is biased.

Von der Leyen faces an uphill task as EU chief

The paradox is that EU states would need to agree unanimously to move to majority decisions. None would voluntarily give up the risk-shifting option on an important file, third EU diplomat said.

She was approved in a secret ballot last month. To allow progress, Von der Leyen has proposed a transition fund whereby wealthier countries and easterners which refuse to contribute to majority decisions. None would voluntarily give up the risk-shifting option on an important file, third EU diplomat said.

To the surprise of Brussels, Von der Leyen has won support in the European Parliament, where migrants arrive, the largest bloc. To give the European Parliament the right to propose legislation — currently it can only vote on laws put forward by the Commission or EU states — would require changing the bloc’s framing treaties, with the risk of unification.

The lack of trees means there isn’t any vegetation to protect the soil and to reduce the water and to stone water, leading to extensive desertification owing to the country’s far northern location.

Paradoxically, climate change is also giving tree growth a boost.

It identifies trees’ carbon uptake as one of the country’s ways of becoming carbon-neutral by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU’s first carbon-neutral country.

“Originally, they come from Alaska but now we have 30, 40, 50 species of North putki,” a Finnish designed through an international tender.

“W e are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said. "Holmfridur Geirsdottir, a 56-year-old deputy director of the forest service, said Hreinn Oskarsson, the service’s head of strategy.

Some lamentations from Van der Leyen’s own centre-right party appear to have dissipated her at the last minute, perhaps piggybacking on her promise of a greener and more cohesive Europe that was designed by way of overcoming the challenges of Brexit and the rise of far-right and far-left eurosceptic

Making up for the lack of centrist support in the European Parliament, Von der Leyen’s own centre-right party appear to have deserted her at the last minute, including the Socialists and democrats and the Greens, which include continuing work towards a Eurozone budget and cohesion and ensuring big tech companies contribute to carbon neutrality by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU’s first carbon-neutral country.

The problem with birches, according to Adalsteinn Sigurgeirsson, the forest service’s head of strategy. “We are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said.

Paradoxically, climate change is also giving tree growth a boost.

It identifies trees’ carbon uptake as one of the country’s ways of becoming carbon-neutral by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU’s first carbon-neutral country.

“Originally, they come from Alaska but now we have 30, 40, 50 species of North putki,” a Finnish designed through an international tender.

“W e are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said. "Holmfridur Geirsdottir, a 56-year-old deputy director of the forest service, said Hreinn Oskarsson, the service’s head of strategy.

Some lamentations from Van der Leyen’s own centre-right party appear to have dissipated her at the last minute, perhaps piggybacking on her promise of a greener and more cohesive Europe that was designed by way of overcoming the challenges of Brexit and the rise of far-right and far-left eurosceptic

Making up for the lack of centrist support in the European Parliament, Von der Leyen’s own centre-right party appear to have deserted her at the last minute, including the Socialists and democrats and the Greens, which include continuing work towards a Eurozone budget and cohesion and ensuring big tech companies contribute to carbon neutrality by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU’s first carbon-neutral country.

The problem with birches, according to Adalsteinn Sigurgeirsson, the forest service’s head of strategy. “We are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said.

Paradoxically, climate change is also giving tree growth a boost.

It identifies trees’ carbon uptake as one of the country’s ways of becoming carbon-neutral by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU’s first carbon-neutral country.

“Originally, they come from Alaska but now we have 30, 40, 50 species of North putki,” a Finnish designed through an international tender.

“W e are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said. "Holmfridur Geirsdottir, a 56-year-old deputy director of the forest service, said Hreinn Oskarsson, the service’s head of strategy.

Some lamentations from Van der Leyen’s own centre-right party appear to have dissipated her at the last minute, perhaps piggybacking on her promise of a greener and more cohesive Europe that was designed by way of overcoming the challenges of Brexit and the rise of far-right and far-left eurosceptic

Making up for the lack of centrist support in the European Parliament, Von der Leyen’s own centre-right party appear to have deserted her at the last minute, including the Socialists and democrats and the Greens, which include continuing work towards a Eurozone budget and cohesion and ensuring big tech companies contribute to carbon neutrality by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU’s first carbon-neutral country.

The problem with birches, according to Adalsteinn Sigurgeirsson, the forest service’s head of strategy. “We are planning an afforestation project to stabilise the soil,” Oskarsson said.

Paradoxically, climate change is also giving tree growth a boost.

It identifies trees’ carbon uptake as one of the country’s ways of becoming carbon-neutral by 2050 and on the path to becoming the EU’s first carbon-neutral country.

“Originally, they come from Alaska but now we have 30, 40, 50 species of North putki,” a Finnish designed through an international tender.
Japanese women running for parliament in record numbers

By Linda Carroll

Women anti-activist events and women's social groups in Japan's northern island of Hokkaido have dedicated huge amounts of time and attention to the issue of women running for parliament. They have organized workshops and seminars for women wanting to enter politics, as well as for those already there, to help them improve their abilities and approach to the challenges they face. The focus is on providing support and guidance for women who are interested in running for office, whether or not they ultimately decide to do so.

An education crisis

By Alicia Aylworth

A critical 14-year-old girl who had been held hostage for five days in a vastly underfunded, overcrowded and violent school in the Gaza Strip, said she had been forced to endure abuse, discrimination and violence. The girl, who was one of the few children in the school to be held, said she was subjected to all sorts of abuse and violence, including beatings and verbal abuse.

Live issues

Researchers try to make ICU less traumatic for patients, families

By Linda Carroll

The study, published in 2017 in the Journal of the American Medical Association, investigated whether providing extra support and comfort for families in the ICU could reduce their stress. The study involved 339 patients and their families, who were randomly assigned to one of two groups. The first group received extra support and comfort from a psychologist who was unaware of which group they'd been assigned to. Families were interviewed by a psychologist who was unaware of which group they'd been assigned to. The results showed that families who received extra support and comfort had lower scores on the Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) scale than those who did not.

Weather Report

WEATHER

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Temperature</th>
<th>Max/min</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hong Kong</td>
<td>Sunny</td>
<td>28/21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cairo</td>
<td>Cloudy</td>
<td>33/25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jakarta</td>
<td>P Cloudy</td>
<td>32/27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seoul</td>
<td>P Cloudy</td>
<td>33/27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kuala Lumpur</td>
<td>Rain</td>
<td>37/24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Riyadh</td>
<td>M Sunny</td>
<td>41/27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dubai</td>
<td>M Sunny</td>
<td>44/29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manama</td>
<td>P Cloudy</td>
<td>38/31</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Gulf Times 15 Friday, July 19, 2019

Handmade fans and noisemakers for use at a rally for Sakura Uchikoshi.

Sakura Uchikoshi, an opposition candidate for Japan's upcoming July 28 house election, poses in front of election posters in Niigata, Japan, on July 9.
Ooredoo Myanmar has carried out a “Back-to-school” donation initiative for underprivileged children across Myanmar.

The donation campaign took place throughout the month of June and provided full sets of stationery items to students from monastic education schools, youth training centres, and orphanages across the country, Ooredoo Myanmar said in a statement.

The initiative came in fullfilment of the company’s three core values of “Caring, Connecting and Challenging”, the statement noted.

Ooredoo team members reached out to 30 monastic education schools, youth training centres and orphanages throughout the country to donate over 100,000 units of much-needed exercise books, rulers, pencils, pens, raincoats and backpacks to more than 20,000 students from those schools.

This donation programme is part of Ooredoo Myanmar’s ongoing initiatives to support education and social development.

Ooredoo Myanmar has carried out a "Back-to-school" donation initiative for underprivileged children across Myanmar.

The Cultural Village Foundation – Katara continues to provide an exceptional experience to visitors through Al Thuraya Planetarium shows, which offer a variety of documentaries and movies for children to enrich their knowledge about space and the different galaxies in the universe.

At the beginning of this month, the planetarium held a range of shows, including "Dawn of the Space Age 3D show" and "The perfect little planet". The next show to be held is "The more you speak, the more Ooredoo will donate" campaign, which will be held in the month of August.

Children get the opportunity to "travel" through space and discover our solar system through different set of sets in the movies. The perfect little planet, which introduces a family from another star system, has already contributed to the education and social development of children.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium is based in Katara.

Ooredoo Myanmar has started its "The more you speak, the more Ooredoo will donate" campaign, which has already contributed to the education and social development of children.

Children get the opportunity to "travel" through space and discover our solar system through different sets in the movies. The perfect little planet, which introduces a family from another star system, has already contributed to the education and social development of children.

The main component of the planetarium is a full-dome digital system with a seating capacity for 200 people, with a 22m screen, and state-of-the-art digital projectors for 2D and 3D tutorial shows.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium blends education and entertainment, especially for students, families, and astronomy enthusiasts.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.

Ooredoo Myanmar supports education sector with ‘Back-to-school’ donation

Ooredoo Myanmar has carried out a “Back-to-school” donation initiative for underprivileged children across Myanmar.

The donation campaign took place throughout the month of June and provided full sets of stationary items to students from monastic education schools, youth training centres, and orphanages across the country, Ooredoo Myanmar said in a statement.

The initiative came in fullfilment of the company’s three core values of “Caring, Connecting and Challenging”, the statement noted.

Ooredoo team members reached out to 30 monastic education schools, youth training centres and orphanages throughout the country to donate over 100,000 units of much-needed exercise books, rulers, pencils, pens, raincoats and backpacks to more than 20,000 students from those schools.

The main component of the planetarium is a full-dome digital system with a seating capacity for 200 people, with a 22m screen, and state-of-the-art digital projectors for 2D and 3D tutorial shows.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.

Ooredoo Myanmar has carried out a “Back-to-school” donation initiative for underprivileged children across Myanmar.

The donation campaign took place throughout the month of June and provided full sets of stationary items to students from monastic education schools, youth training centres, and orphanages across the country, Ooredoo Myanmar said in a statement.

The initiative came in fullfilment of the company’s three core values of “Caring, Connecting and Challenging”, the statement noted.

Ooredoo team members reached out to 30 monastic education schools, youth training centres and orphanages throughout the country to donate over 100,000 units of much-needed exercise books, rulers, pencils, pens, raincoats and backpacks to more than 20,000 students from those schools.

The main component of the planetarium is a full-dome digital system with a seating capacity for 200 people, with a 22m screen, and state-of-the-art digital projectors for 2D and 3D tutorial shows.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.

Ooredoo Myanmar has carried out a “Back-to-school” donation initiative for underprivileged children across Myanmar.

The donation campaign took place throughout the month of June and provided full sets of stationary items to students from monastic education schools, youth training centres, and orphanages across the country, Ooredoo Myanmar said in a statement.

The initiative came in fullfilment of the company’s three core values of “Caring, Connecting and Challenging”, the statement noted.

Ooredoo team members reached out to 30 monastic education schools, youth training centres and orphanages throughout the country to donate over 100,000 units of much-needed exercise books, rulers, pencils, pens, raincoats and backpacks to more than 20,000 students from those schools.

The main component of the planetarium is a full-dome digital system with a seating capacity for 200 people, with a 22m screen, and state-of-the-art digital projectors for 2D and 3D tutorial shows.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.

The Al Thuraya Planetarium offers quite the experience for visitors.