Ministry of Interior issues safety tips for travellers

The Public Relations Department of the Ministry of Interior (MoI) has issued an advisory to ensure the safety and security of travellers during the summer.

The advisory contains a wide range of common sense tips, which are as follows:

- Official documents
  - The MoI has urged travellers to make sure that their passports are valid for at least six months and they should obtain a visa in time. Some embassies in Qatar require the signatures of children aged 10 years or more on the passport.
  - While travelling, people should also carry a copy of their official documents such as the IDs card, driving license, or credit cards.

- Personal valuables
  - The advisory further urges residents to keep official documents and personal valuables in a safe and secure place while travelling. “Do not keep your money in a purse and ensure it is safe during Qatar Automobiles Company (QAC), the authorised distributor of Mitsubishi Motors Corporation and FUSO in Qatar, has presented the new 2019 Mitsubishi Outlander in Qatar.

The 2019 Mitsubishi Outlander and a wide range of other Mitsubishi vehicles are available at the Mitsubishi Motors showrooms on Salwa Road and in Al Khor.

The Outlander “has accomplished a lot of success in Qatar with huge demand in the first half”, according to a press statement.

The upgraded design of the 2019 Mitsubishi Outlander is stylish, with changes on the front and rear exterior design to give the care more attractive appearance. Both bumpers, front and rear, are extended while the radiator grid is scaled in size with new headlamps feature LED lighting for both the high and low beams. The LED fog lamps illuminate the road ahead with white light, while the Shark Fin Antenna adds a sporty look. The SUV is equipped with different options of wheels, either 18-or 16-inch alloy wheels.

Driving the Outlander “is a pleasurable experience heightened by quick, responsive handling and high-quality craftsmanship”, the statement notes.

“The ride is also extremely quiet thanks to enhanced noise reduction measures that lower engine, road and wind noise. From generous cabin space and comfortable seating to quality materials and refined amenities, every detail contributes to your travelling joy. ”

When it comes to seating arrangement, it is easy to flexibly arrange the second- and third-row seats to carry almost any combination of passengers and luggage. “You can even fold down all rear seatbacks to create an extremely large and flat luggage area. The second-row seat sliding function provides easy access to the third-row seats. Padding and opening in the third-row seat cushions continue to make contact at 3.5”. The Outlander is powered by a choice of two clean and efficient engines — a 2.4-litre MIVEC or 3.0-litre V6 MIVEC. The two engines are responsive and fuel efficient, while the high-displacement V6 engine supplies powerful acceleration even when carrying heavy loads or travelling up mountain sides.

The engine is mated with an advanced CVT that automatically adjusts in response to changing road and vehicle conditions to deliver smooth, swift acceleration, as well as outstanding fuel efficiency beyond what conventional automatic transmissions provide.

Electronically controlled 4WD offers “incredible traction and stability even in challenging terrain by optimally combining with Active Stability Control”. The Otto Mode Selector lets one easily select the most appropriate drive mode when desired: the 4WD ECO mode for maximum economy, 4WD AUTO mode for normal driving conditions, or 4WD LOCK mode for rough terrains. When it comes to safety, the new Mitsubishi Outlander 2019 follows international standards, and is equipped with state-of-the-art systems. The Forward Collision Mitigation System helps prevent a frontal collision or reduce damage if the collision becomes unavoidable; the Adaptive Cruise Control System maintains a selected distance between one’s vehicle and the car ahead via radar for greater safety and peace of mind; the Blind Spot Warning feature uses radar sensors in the rear bumper to detect vehicles in one’s rear blind spots, on the right and left sides. In addition, controlling the audio system is easy on the 6.1-inch QVGA touch-panel display, while the USB PORT is conveniently located near the instrument panel, allowing easy access from both front seats.
Qatar, EU vow to promote peace, sustainable solutions to conflicts

The Qatar Special Force Parachute Jumping Team won three gold medals in the World Military Parachute Jumping Championship, which was held in Switzerland with the participation of 11 countries.

The Qatari team, under the chairmanship of Qatar’s Minister of State for Foreign Affairs HE Sultan bin Saad al-Muraikhi and EEAS Secretary-General Helga Schmid, was attending the implementation of the co-operation arrangements signed on March 5, 2018 during the official visit of His Highness the Amir to Brussels.

The co-operation arrangement aims to establish a framework for exchanging views on issues of common interest and exploring different areas of co-operation between the two sides.

The high-level political consultation was attended by the two ministers and their respective foreign affairs officials, in addition to the first meeting of the Joint Working Group on Humanitarian Aid, Co-operation and sustainable solutions to existing conflicts.

The two sides undertook the need to define parameters and structure for this co-operation and continue, noting that this meeting has had a significant impact in the region and beyond. The discussions also paid special attention to terrorism, the Middle East Peace process, the situation in the Horn of Africa, Syria, Afghanistan, Yemen and Libya.

The two sides also reiterated their commitment to continue their work and co-operation to promote peace and sustainable solutions to ongoing conflicts. They further lauded the efforts of Qatar and Switzerland in serving the world and regional developments in the Gulf region, including the Gulf crisis, which entered its third year, a joint statement said.

The deliberations of the senior officials’ meeting were aimed at enhancing sectoral co-operation in a number of areas, such as the International Conference on Conceptualisation, the European Union and recent developments in the Gulf region, the 2022 FIFA World Cup Qatar, and security plans for the 2022 FIFA World Cup Qatar.

Qatar’s Minister of State for Foreign Affairs HE Sultan bin Saad al-Muraikhi, and EEAS Secretary-General Helga Schmid welcomed Qatar’s commitment to provide 66.5mn euros over five years to support the UN Office for Counter-Terrorism. The Qatari ruler also welcomed the latest developments in the preparation of the Security Council Resolution 2378 (2020).

The two sides also exchanged information on their respective efforts in the area of development co-operation and humanitarian assistance, particularly in the Middle East and Africa, in addition to ways to enhance political, cultural, and social relations.

Ooredoo enables Qatar Building Company's fleet management

Ooredoo has announced that Qatar Building Company is activating the Internet of Things (IoT) enabled Ooredoo Fleet Management service. One of Qatar's largest and most comprehensive construction companies, Qatar Building Company, has signed a contract with Ooredoo to manage its entire fleet of construction vehicles via the Ooredoo Fleet Management service.

Qatar Building Company (QBC) is responsible for the design, construction, and management of construction projects across Qatar. The company has a significant presence in the construction sector, delivering high-quality infrastructure projects across the country.

The Ooredoo Fleet Management service leverages IoT technology to provide real-time visibility and control over the company's fleet of vehicles. This allows for more efficient operations, reduced costs, and improved project management. The service is designed to reduce operational costs, enhance safety, and increase productivity by enabling remote monitoring and control of vehicles.

Ooredoo has been working with the Qatar Building Company for several years, providing a range of digital solutions to support the company's strategic objectives. Through this partnership, Ooredoo aims to further strengthen its position as a leading provider of digital solutions to the construction sector in Qatar.

The Ooredoo Fleet Management service includes the following features:

- Real-time tracking and monitoring of vehicles
- Predictive maintenance to avoid breakdowns
- Fuel and cost savings through optimized routes
- Improved asset utilization and efficiency
- Compliance with health and safety regulations

Ooredoo and Qatar Building Company are committed to collaborating on further projects to enhance the efficiency and safety of construction operations in Qatar.

The agreement was signed at a ceremony attended by Nasser Al-Thani, Qatar Building Company's chairman, and Mamdouh Al-Mozaabi, CEO of Ooredoo. Both parties expressed their commitment to leveraging technology to drive operational excellence and improve project outcomes.

The Ooredoo Fleet Management service is part of Ooredoo's broader strategy to support the digital transformation of the construction sector in Qatar. The company is working with a range of stakeholders to identify and implement innovative solutions that address the unique challenges faced by the construction industry.

The collaboration between Ooredoo and Qatar Building Company exemplifies the role of technology in driving growth and innovation in the construction sector. By leveraging IoT technology, the companies aim to achieve operational efficiencies, enhance safety, and improve project outcomes, contributing to the overall development and sustainability of Qatar's construction industry.
Lensman captures wildlife images thanks to new Land Rover Defender

Wildlife photographer David Yarrow has teamed up with Land Rover to support its mission to protect Africa’s rhinos, by capturing a set of stunning wildlife images. Land Rover, an organisation that “advances wildlife conservation across Africa,” has designated 2019 as its Year of the Lion to support long-term initiatives to protect African lions and endangered wildlife.

The new Defender 4x4, which will make its world premiere later this year, has been designed and engineered to be the world’s most capable SUV, offering enhanced off-road attributes of the new Defender 4x4, making it a perfect place to test the off-road attributes of the new Defender.

The new Defender took everything in its stride, from deep river wading to climbing rocky trails. Supported by Tusk, the Borana Conservancy works in a number of strategic areas, including environmental education, habitat protection, saving endangered species and ensuring human-wildlife co-existence is achievable.

“Wildlife photography is all about access — about getting yourself in the best position — so it’s fitting that one of the first official tasks for the new Defender has been to shine a light on the dangers faced by lions in Africa,” Yarrow said. The new Defender took every challenge in its stride, from deep river wading to climbing rocky trails. Supported by Tusk, the Borana Conservancy works in a number of strategic areas, including environmental education, habitat protection, saving endangered species and ensuring human-wildlife co-existence is achievable.

The reserve is home to some of the most vulnerable species in Africa, including elephants, black rhinoceros, African wild dogs, Grevy’s zebras sharing the trails. Supported by Tusk, the Borana Conservancy works in a number of strategic areas, including environmental education, habitat protection, saving endangered species and ensuring human-wildlife co-existence is achievable.

Laura Wood, head of Global PR Brand & Partnerships, Jaguar Land Rover, said: “This activity provided a great chance for us to work with a team of partners at Tusk and DHL, to raise the profile of dwindling lion numbers in Africa. The Borana Conservancy features a wide range of challenging environments, making it a great place to test the off-road attributes of the new Defender.”

The new Land Rover Defender will make its world premiere later this year, but one can register interest early at www.landrover.co.uk/new-defender.

The Ministry of Municipality and Environment’s Environmental Protection and Wildlife Department, in cooperation with the Public Relations Department, conducted an event at Fuwairit beach on Friday evening to raise awareness about the endangered Hawksbill turtle.

The event coincided with the hatching season of the turtles and was attended by Omar Salim al-Nuaimi, director of the Environmental Protection and Wildlife Department; Nasser Abdulrahman al-Sarami, director of the Public Relations Department; and Ali Saleh al-Marri, head of the Wildlife Section, in addition to a number of MME employees and the participating public.

Al-Nuaimi said the MME was keen to organise the awareness event during the hatching season of the turtles and release newly hatched turtles to the sea before the public, in addition to introducing the importance of maintaining biodiversity and marine life to the public.

He stressed the importance of the project and the need to protect these endangered species. He also appreciated the considerable public presence at the event and the participation of children in the release of turtles into the sea.

The event included a presentation introducing the public to the hatching season with the aim of protecting the endangered turtles, where a detailed explanation of the project was given. Brochures and flyers were distributed among the public and a field visit was also conducted to give the participants an opportunity to watch the release of newly hatched turtles into the sea.

The project comes within the framework of the efforts undertaken to protect sea turtles under the supervision of the MME, financed by Qatar Petroleum and implemented by Qatar University in cooperation with a team from the Environmental Protection and Wildlife Department.

All-New 2020 Kia Soul Redefines the Joy of Driving

All Kia Motors & Trading Co. (AMTC), the authorized distributor of Kia Motors in Qatar, launched the All-New 2020 Kia Soul at an exclusive, invitation-only event held at the Katara Cultural Village, AMTC. Designed to be an oasis of excitement, the All-New 2020 Kia Soul is an immediate and lasting impression.

As a landscape, the Soul flows to the name, giving an impression of intensity and charisma to the viewer. Kia has clearly taken all the aspects that helped previous models to distinguish themselves, and given its all-new design that is simultaneously familiar and yet completely new. The result is a car that excites on all levels.

Speaking of the exclusive and intimate launch, CM&O Marketing Manager, Ramesh Rajan, stated, "We are confident that the new and enhanced All-New Soul is going to prove the perfect companion for drivers who want a fun-filled car and will have an easy time outperforming the competition, thanks to its special design work and abundance of technology features."

The All-New 2020 Kia Soul sports its iconic 1.6-liter engine, shifting 132HP through a six-speed transmission and giving it an all-new design that is simultaneously familiar and yet completely new. The result is a car that excites on all levels.

The newly designed elements include a high-tech front headlight configuration that gives the Soul a futuristic look while the front grille presents a larger than-life impression thanks to the unique twin-tone treatment.
A deal that has been agreed upon and ensured is an international day of free and fair elections. That is the promise that the international community has made to the Yemeni people, who have long suffered from a civil war that has brought nothing but death and destruction.

The agreement stipulates that special envoy for Sudan Donald Booth will help the African Union and Ethiopia Union envoys that led to the two sides to share power for three months following the signing by the two sides of a provisional agreement forged by Sudan’s ruling military council.

The deal revived hopes for a peaceful transition toward free and fair elections."

Malawi leader protests against 'lawless society' after disputed vote

Malawi’s re-elected President Peter Mutharikayor condemnations from protesters that have gripped the country over the disputed result of a May vote casting organized wards to the opposition, a result which many consider to be a “dubious result”.

The ad-dependent southern African nation has seen nearly two dozens of protests by demonstrators who denounce the election as fraudulent and demand the resignation of the election commission chairman.

On some days the police have been known to fire teargas into the capital Lilongwe and commercial hub of Blantyre, pull down their shutters for four miles (6km) to the city center as protesters block major roads.

The opposition has vowed to continue protests of putting over its points, a general strike on Wednesday to stick to the country’s timetables, which wasruled out from Iran.

They have called for more protests so they can take over the government.

But they will only talk to that government, they say.

“Turning Malawi into a lawless society is unacceptable,” he said.

The violence we are seeing is calcified into waves into a situation in which the government will be forced to use force,” said a government official.

Three civilians were killed after a bulldozer was set on fire in the city center to the government buildings.

The violence has increased,” he said.

Government and opposition leaders have been seen on some roads and have kilometres in a row.

Trump pushes census citizenship question

By Alex Dobuzinskis, Reuters

Los Angeles

A Oregon state senator who was among Republican lawmakers who filed a lawsuit last month to stop a citizenship question on the 2020 census has asked the US Supreme Court to step in and resolve the legal uncertainty.

Oregon Senator Jeff Merkley asked the court on Friday to decide whether the Census Bureau had the authority to include the question, which he said could “fly in the face of the law.”

The Census Bureau had asked the Supreme Court on Thursday to rule on an emergency request to allow it to include the question on its citizenship count as planned.

The Census Bureau could not immediately be reached for comment.

Oregon Senator Jeff Merkley said that the Census Bureau should provide assurance to states and local governments that they could trust the census data.

Oregon has a large Hispanic population, and the uncertainty around the citizenship question could have a significant impact on how the state is represented in Congress, Merkley said.

Meanwhile, California Governor Gavin Newsom has ordered state agencies to prepare for the possibility that the question could remain unanswered.

Lawmakers in other states have also voiced concerns about the potential impact of the citizenship question on their communities.

In Arizona, for example, a lawsuit filed last month by state legislators and others to block the question is still pending. The court has not yet ruled on whether to enjoin the question from being included.

In Texas, state Attorney General Ken Paxton has also filed a lawsuit challenging the Census Bureau’s decision to include the question.

The question is intended to determine the number of US citizens resident in each state, which is used to allocate seats in Congress, among other things.

The Supreme Court is expected to rule on the matter in the coming weeks, with a decision likely to come in late June or early July.

The court has given the Census Bureau until early May to provide a detailed plan for how it plans to implement the citizenship question.

The bureau has faced opposition from both Republicans and Democrats, who charged that it would be used to undermine the rights of immigrants and少数民族.

Democrats have argued that the question could lead to undercounts, particularly among minority groups, and that it violates the Equal Protection Clause.

Republicans have said the question is needed to help ensure that state and local governments are providing services based on accurate data.

The Census Bureau has said it will provide assurances to states and local governments that they can trust the data it collects.

The bureau has also said it will work with states to ensure that they have the resources they need to conduct public outreach and information campaigns.

Thousands of protesters yesterday gathered in Yangon, the capital, to protest against the violence that has marred the city’s unique freedoms, and against the government’s attempts to further strengthen its grip on power.

By HPA

Protests against the military junta’s crackdown on the city’s pro-democracy activists were held yesterday for the second day in a row, with hundreds of people taking to the streets to demand an end to the violence and to demand the release of the detainees who were arrested during last week’s protests.

The protests began at around 4:30pm in various parts of the city, including the central Yangon district, the downtown area, and the outskirts of the city. The protesters chanted anti-military slogans and held up signs demanding the release of the detainees. They also burned effigies of the military leaders.

The authorities have repeatedly denied the protesters’ claims of human rights abuses, saying they are acting to maintain law and order.

The protests have been ongoing since last week, when the police crackdown on the protesters led to the death of several people and the arrest of hundreds. The military has continued to use violent tactics, including tear gas, rubber bullets, and water cannons, to disperse the protesters.

The protesters have vowed to continue their protests until their demands are met.

Belfast museum tapestry depicts the 11th-century Bayeux Tapestry — an epic homage to the TV phenomenon. "It's made very clear on the ballot paper that you only allow to vote once. I accept Conservatives members will be able to vote for Labor's David Cameron," he said.

Tory members were asked whether they had been offered money for making such "inappropriate and implicitly racist" comments, but insisted no illegal payments were involved and told media: "I am not aware of any illegal or immoral behavior."

Johnson said he had been told by a number of Tory ministers that he would "not be able to vote because they have potential prime ministers who have not been allowed to vote once."

"I don't mean to say they have been told, but they have not been allowed to vote."

"It is quite clear that we have not been able to vote once."

"It is quite clear that the Conservative party needs to continue to vote for the leadership contest.

German police halt some acts at far-right concert

A far-right music festival was briefly halted on Sunday evening in the eastern German town of Beeskow, after authorities received reports of violence and扰乱.

Police said they had received information about a potential threat to the event, which was being held near the Austrian border. They said they had faced a “massive” crowd of protesters, but had so far managed to maintain order.

The festival was being held in a field near the countryside, and authorities said they had received reports of a group of far-right activists attempting to disrupt the event.

Police said they had not yet received any information about injuries or arrests.

The festival was being held as part of a nationwide far-right campaign, which has been gaining momentum in recent months.

Police said they had been warned about the potential for violence, and had increased their presence in the area.

A representative for the far-right party AfD said the festival was being held in response to the perceived rise in the number of migrants in Germany.

However, some far-right groups have been criticized for their role in fomenting violence and discrimination.

Another migrant rescue boat defies Italian ban

A migrant rescue boat defies an Italian ban on rescue efforts, as it prepares to disembark migrants at the port of Livorno, in Italy. The boat, which was chartered by the Italian NGO Sea-Watch, has defied the Italian government's order to return to Libya.

The Italian government has repeatedly ordered rescue boats to return to Libya, but Sea-Watch has continued to make rescue attempts.

On Saturday, a Sea-Watch boat, carrying 65 migrants, was prevented from disembarking at the port of Livorno. The Italian government has ordered the boat to return to Libya, but Sea-Watch has continued to make rescue attempts.

Sea-Watch has been operating rescue missions in the Mediterranean since 2016, and has rescued thousands of migrants.

The Italian government has been criticized for its handling of the migrant crisis, and for its refusal to accept refugees.

Sea-Watch said it would continue to make rescue attempts until the Italian government changes its policy.

Pamplona bull-running festival gets under way

"Spurred" activity protest bull-run

The world-famous and controversial bull runs in Pamplona, Spain, the namesake of the decade-old "Fierce Eight" campaign against bullfighting, got underway yesterday, as thousands of demonstrators gathered to protest the annual spectacle of blood and gore.

As the bulls were led into the bullring, activists from various organisations stood in the bullring, to protest the killing of the animals in the bullfight. "They had been seen putting their horns on their heads and laid down on the ground, to protect the killing of the animals in the bullfight."

In front of the bullring, they held signs reading "Stop femicide" and "Stop gender violence".

"It's a massacre," Julie Gayet, a French actress and partner of McMahon, said yesterday. "It's a massacre for the animals, but it's also a massacre for women."

"It's a massacre," she tweeted.

Karnataka was yesterday plunged into a major political crisis as 11 MLAs from the ruling Congress-Janata Dal (Secular) combat party quit, raising the alarm at the 13-month-old government in a minority in the 224-member state Assembly.

The MLAs went to the Assembly secretariat to submit their resignations in the Speaker's office, but he was not there and therefore they handed over their letters to his personal assistant.

All 11 legislators, who resigned after meeting the governor that these no-confidence legislations would be resigning later this evening, are from the Congress and three each from the JD-S, according to the Assembly spokesperson.

Of the 11 legislators who submitted their resignations, the ruling allies and they (legislators) were not taken into confidence by the leaders.

The absence of coordination between the allies in governance is evident from the serious differences between the Congress and the JD-S were acting on their own, Vishwanath said. Vishwanath alleged that there was no coordination between the ruling allies and they (legislations) were not taken into confidence by the leaders.

Jaipur named UNESCO World Heritage Site

By Archana Sharma, IANS

Jaipur, April 10 (IANS) - Prime Minister Narendra Modi tweeted: ‘Jaipur announced, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, has shared the announcement that Jaipur’s City Palace has been formally announced that Jaipur’s City Palace has been formally announced for inscription on Unesco’s World Heritage List by the World Heritage Committee of the Organisation of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (Unesco).’

The World Heritage Committee at its 43rd meeting in Baku announced its decision to designate Jaipur’s City Palace as a UNESCO world heritage site.

Jaipur’s City Palace has been formally announced that Jaipur’s City Palace has been formally announced for inscription on Unesco’s World Heritage List by the World Heritage Committee of the Organisation of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (Unesco). It is a historically rich site in India and is situated in Rajasthan, a state in the northwestern part of the country.

The City Palace is a large complex of buildings that form a palace and a museum in Jaipur, the capital of the Indian state of Rajasthan. It was the seat of the maharajas of Jaipur and is also known as the City Palace Museum.

Jaipur's City Palace was built over a period of 173 years and was completed in 1729. It was the residence of the maharajas of Jaipur and was expanded over time. It is considered a masterpiece of Rajput architecture and is known for its stunningly beautiful and intricate designs.

The City Palace is divided into several sections, including the Diwan-i-Khas, the Diwan-i-Am, the temple, and the residential quarters. It houses a museum that displays a vast collection of artifacts and is a popular tourist destination.

The City Palace is a popular tourist destination in Jaipur and attracts thousands of visitors every year. It is known for its grandeur, beauty, and historical significance.

The announcement of Jaipur’s City Palace being declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site is a significant achievement for the city and the country as it highlights the importance of preserving and promoting cultural heritage.

The UNESCO World Heritage List recognizes sites of cultural importance and natural beauty that are of significant value to the world. Being listed on this prestigious list can have a positive impact on tourism, conservation, and cultural heritage protection.

The City Palace is a testament to the rich history and culture of Rajasthan and is a symbol of the city’s architectural and historical legacy.

Caracas

Venezuela’s Independence Day was marked by rival rallies on Friday, as the country’s legitimate leader, Juan Guaido, and President Nicolas Maduro, who is in power, are locked in a standoff over the country’s future.

Guaido, who considers himself the legitimate leader of Venezuela, has called for new elections and an end to the regime of President Maduro, who has been in power since 2013.

The United States and several other countries have recognized Guaido as the country’s legitimate leader, while Russia and China support Maduro.

The country is in the midst of a severe economic crisis, with hyperinflation and shortages of basic goods.

The socialist country, where 70% of the population lives on less than $1 a day, has faced severe food and medicine shortages, as well as a spike in crime.

Maduro has blamed the crisis on US economic sanctions, while Guaido has accused the government of corruption and mismanagement.

The standoff has led to a political crisis in the country, with international pressure mounting for a resolution to the crisis.

However, the two sides remain divided, with Guaido calling for new elections and Maduro refusing to step down.

The standoff has also led to the closure of the border between Venezuela and Colombia, as well as the suspension of flights between the two countries.

The situation in Venezuela is complex and volatile, with the crisis worsening and international tensions increasing.

The government and opposition are both struggling to gain the upper hand, as the country faces a growing humanitarian crisis.

The situation in Venezuela is likely to remain tense in the coming weeks, with both sides continuing to pressure each other for a resolution to the crisis.

Meanwhile, the humanitarian crisis in Venezuela continues to worsen, with millions of people facing food and medicine shortages, as well as a spike in crime.

Pakistan's northwest border with Afghanistan has become more secure, but the administration is still grappling with cross-border terrorism, said a senior lawyer. "I have seen the government trying to work towards a peaceful resolution," said senior lawyer Wali Khan Afridi. "But there are still challenges remaining, especially in terms of intelligence sharing.

"The situation in Afghanistan remains critical, and we must continue to work closely with our Afghan counterparts to address these issues," Afridi added.

The prime minister also mentioned the importance of the Shanghai Co-operation Organisation (SCO) summit, which he said was an opportunity to strengthen ties with countries in the region.

"We must continue to work towards a peaceful resolution for the benefit of all our people," Afridi concluded.
Labour dept open to plan for extra months' pay

By Byron De La Cruz

The Department of Labour and Employment (DOLE) is open to the proposed 18-month pay or one time bonus for all rank-and-file workers in the informal sector. Defense Secretary Delfin Lorenzana said that an additional month pay given to informal workers based on sector workers, particularly the estimated 25 million workers across the country. The revamp, however, will be studied carefully and must include a triangulated assessment to find its viability under the country’s present economic conditions.

“The proposed 18-month pay will support workers in their basic family needs. It is an across-the-board bonus for workers with the rising inflation but we also have to assess the cost share,” he said.

Senator Franklin Drilon, a member of the DOLE committee, was not accessible to provide his opinion on the proposal.

Interior secretary reveals 85% of typhoon relief funds ‘liquidated’

By Didychy Bueno

Interior Secretary Eduardo “Eddie” Año said the Department of Finance has reported that 85% of the relief funds allocated for the victims of Typhoon “Ulysses” in Calabarzon, Metro Manila and Bicol have already been ‘liquidated.’

“The Finance Secretary, in his letter dated January 18, has reported that the National Treasury has already spent 85% of the funds allocated for the victims of Typhoon ‘Ulysses’ in Calabarzon, Metro Manila and Bicol,” Año said.

GOVERNMENT agencies have released almost 85% of the funds allocated for the victims of Typhoon “Ulysses” in three regions, the Department of Finance said in a statement.

Finance Secretary Tito Sotto III said the Department of Finance has reported that the National Treasury has already spent almost 85% of the funds allocated for the victims of Typhoon “Ulysses” in Calabarzon, Metro Manila and Bicol.

India requires private investment-led growth for $5tn GDP by 2025

In its first budget since returning to a power in a landslide election, Narenda Modi’s government in India unveiled plans for a private investment-led growth strategy as part of his push for a $5tn economy by 2024-25. A $5tn economy in absolute terms would mean India becoming the world’s seventh-largest economy by GDP.

What this essentially means is that the value of all goods and services produced in India would exceed the value of the dollar, should be about $7tn by 2024-25. India’s current GDP is about $2.8tn, making it the world’s seventh-largest by nominal GDP and the third-largest by purchasing power parity (PPP).

To reach the $7tn mark by 2024-25, the economy would require nominal growth in dollar terms of more than 16% per annum, an estimate that is significantly higher than India’s real GDP growth of 7.2% in fiscal year 2019.

India’s first full-time female finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman said India was poised to become a $5tn economy by end of 2019-20.

India needs to cut real interest rates, ease labour rules, reduce capital gains tax

In her budget presentation on Friday, Sitharaman said India needs to plan to further open up in sectors such as defence, insurance, and relax local sourcing rules for single-brand retailers.

Economist Abhijit Banerjee said in a speech before the Indian Economic Association that the low growth in GDP translates into an increase in income, what all the economists are confused about and whether people’s spending power will go up.

India’s growth last year was the lowest in a decade and hit 4.7% in fiscal year 2019-20. The government has targeted a 7% growth rate for fiscal year 2020-21.

India could and should aspire to double-digit growth. What was in need, in their opinion, is a paradigm shifting in economic policies—policies that favour the poor rather than the rich, policies that favour equalities, but only at the expense of overall economic performance.

Key economic challenges facing the Arab world

• Combating inequality and achieving social justice

In particular, inequality and access to public goods and services (education, health) are issues of concern in the region. For the poor, a stronger voice in policy-making and more representation and power is a priority. A far reached stakeholder’s participation is a must.

Some tea is a safe way to get a good night’s sleep, other studies show no benefit. Pregnant women should avoid chamomile as the National Library of Medicine, since one variety, Roman Chamomile, may cause miscarriages. Chamomile is also related to ragweed, which can cause respiratory problems.

Six Qatar students star at FIFA event

Six young stars from Qatar Foundation’s sport and community programmes have taken centre stage at the FIFA Women’s World Cup France 2019 at the invitation of the Wanda Group, an official global partner of world football’s governing body, FIFA.

The high school students were given the opportunity to participate in the ‘FIFA flag bearers’ programme, which saw them join youth from around the world in carrying the FIFA flag on the pitch before kick-off in the competition’s two semi-finals, played in the French city of Lyon.

Qatar Foundation and the Wanda Group have been working closely together through their shared focus on youth empowerment, cultural exchange and inspiring young people through sport, according to a press statement.

Ahead of the 2022 FIFA World Cup in Qatar, the Chinese conglomerate and QF are set to continue working closely together through their shared focus on youth empowerment, cultural exchange and inspiring young people through sport, according to a press statement.

Fatima al-Naimi, Alya al-Naimi, Haya al-Naimi, Farah Mohamed, Nihad Rizal and Shameem Taha were among the students who participated in the ‘FIFA flag bearers’ programme.

Alya said: “As a Qatari, I’m proud of my country because it is going to be hosting a World Cup, and I’m very happy and excited to have been in France for the Women’s World Cup.”
