Qatar has ‘helped end exploitation’ of Nepali workers

By Vinod Gajurel

The Qatar Visa Centre (QVC) in Kathmandu has had multiple benefits for Nepali citizens looking for overseas jobs, an official at the centre has said.

There include ensuring transparency in the employment visa procedures, achieving the welfare of workers and protecting their rights, among others, according to Him Bahadur Gurung, CEO of the Kathmandu QVC.

The centre was opened in May this year as part of the Qatar government’s efforts to facilitate and streamline procedures for bringing expatriates to Qatar. Nepal is the fifth country to have such a centre, with similar centres opened in Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Pakistan and India.

On average, 300 people visit the centre daily for various procedures, including visa application, authentication of data services, medical examination, and local dialects. And applicants can get electronicSIM cards for successful applicants.

The QVC ensures that workers going to Qatar for work have not suffered, according to Gurung. “The medical exam and fingerprint will be completed and the SIM will be ready before a worker goes to Qatar. The centre helps avoid cases of workers returning to Nepal for their failure to meet the medical and SIM requirements,” Gurung stressed.

Gurung stressed that the QVC ensures transparency in all its procedures and works in accordance with the regulations set by Qatar and Nepal. The centre provides multiple services, including vitaldata services, medical examination, signing of contracts, authorization of documents, and local dialects.

In brief

Amir greets Pakistan on Independence Day

Prime Minister Imran Khan extended his greetings to Pakistan’s President Dr Arif Alvi on the anniversary of Pakistan’s Independence Day. HE Alvi sent cables of congratulations to the Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs, Sheikh Abdullah bin Hamad al-Thani yesterday as part of the Qatari authorities’ procedures for bringing expatriates to Qatar for work free of cost, according to Hem Bahadur Gurung, who is also the CEO of the Kathmandu QVC.

Qatar has been praised for its support to Nepal, especially in the wake of the coronavirus pandemic, and the country’s efforts have been acknowledged by the Nepal government.

The Qatar Visa Centre has brought the relevant procedures under a single window system, providing consultation and services, “We also provide consultation through our call station, and provide free SIM cards to successful applicants,” said Gurung.

Noting that Qatar remains a top choice among Nepalis youth, Gurung added, “Qatar is also the chairman of ISS Group of Companies, which stands at the forefront of expatriate manpower agencies in Nepal.”

Explaining how the QVC works, Gurung said that it has been providing maximum benefits to workers who are fluent in English, Arabic, and local dialects, and applies it up to the point of appointment through phone calls.

We also provide consultation through our call station, and provide free SIM cards to successful applicants,” said Gurung.

Gurung stressed that the QVC ensures transparency in all its procedures and works in accordance with the regulations set by Qatar and Nepal. The centre provides multiple services, including vital data services, medical examination, signing of contracts, authorization of documents, and local dialects.

In brief

Qatar condemns Somalia bombing

Qatar has strongly condemned the bombing that occurred near a military base in lower Shabelle region, southern Somalia.

The bombing, which was claimed by Al Shabaab, occurred on Wednesday, and the Somali government said that 17 people were killed and 40 were wounded.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Development called the bombing a “very serious consequence” and said it would not be controlled and will have very serious consequences.

The presidency said that the Somali government is very serious about the situation and the bombing.

The police said four officers were punished.

Qatar slams Israel call to change status of Al Aqsa

Qatar has condemned the Israeli government’s attempt to change the legal and historic status of Al Aqsa Mosque and allowing Jewish and all visitors to enter into the mosque.

Qatar has condemned the Israeli government’s attempt to change the legal and historic status of Al Aqsa Mosque and allowing Jewish and all visitors to enter into the mosque.

The Israeli government has announced plans to change the legal and historic status of Al Aqsa Mosque and allowing Jewish and all visitors to enter into the mosque.

The Israeli government has announced plans to change the legal and historic status of Al Aqsa Mosque and allowing Jewish and all visitors to enter into the mosque.

In response, Qatar issued a statement expressing its deep concern and solidarity with the Palestinian people and the Palestinian leadership.

The statement emphasized that Qatar is committed to supporting the Palestinian people and their right to self-determination and the establishment of an independent and sovereign Palestinian state.

The statement also condemned the Israeli government’s actions and demanded an immediate halt to all illegal occupations and violations of Palestinian rights.

The statement concluded by calling for the international community to uphold its obligations and support the Palestinian people in their struggle for justice and freedom.
Beaches across Qatar draw waves of visitors during Eid

The beaches across Qatar witnessed a large turnout of visitors during Eid Al Adha. While the Sealine Beach received great turnout of families during the Seaside Extravaganza, many visitors preferred to spend their Eid holidays at Sealine and Sealine Beaches.

Eid Al Adha is celebrated by Muslims around the world as a festival of sacrifice. During the festival, people perform the sacrifice of an animal and distribute the meat to the poor and the needy. This year, the beaches were packed with visitors enjoying the beautiful weather and the sea.

Visitors to the Sealine beach enjoyed camel riding, desert biking, and a good number of cafes and cafeterias. Most people praised the Sealine area for its clear water and good sandy beaches where they can sit, play, and prepare food together. But he was of the view that the conduct of some youngsters who perform irresponsible stunts need to be tightly monitored.

Saleem al-Ali highly appreciated the joint efforts put in by the traffic patrols and the availability of a number of cafes and restaurants, in addition to the safety of vehicles near beaches.

Al Khaleej Street’s northbound lanes remain partially closed for 4 months

The Public Works Authority (Ashghal) has announced that Al Khaleej Street’s northbound lane from Wakra to Al Dafna Roundabout at Al Dafna Bridge Roundabout in Al Khaleej intersection will be closed for four months. During the period, access from Al Mannai Roundabout to Al Khaleej Street will be also blocked. A signal has been installed at the intersection of Al Khaleej Street and Al Dafna Bridge Roundabout.

The signal is aimed at allowing the installation of a bridge deck at Al Mannai Roundabout and increasing the number of lanes in Al Khaleej Street from two to three lanes in both directions on Al Khaleej Bridge Roundabout. Traffic from the White Palace intersection towards Al Ma’adeen Street and from Al Mannai Roundabout to Al Jarah bay will also be affected.

The ‘Back to School’ donation drive encourages shoppers to donate stationery items, school uniforms and other school supplies.

As part of ‘Back to School’, consumers can avail special vouchers that will help them do their shopping in a shorter time.

Thereafter, a copy of the work contract will be provided to the worker for review and signature before proceeding to obtain biometric data and passport details. “They should provide all required documents to assist the worker in completing the biometric data verification,” he stressed.

The centres will cover all sectors of the community and help the workers in obtaining all required documents to qualify for the work contract.

Visitors to the Sealine Beach are advised to follow the road signs and limit, and follow the road signs to drive safely and obey the speed limit, and follow the road signs to drive safely and obey the speed limit.
Militants down regime plane, detail pilot in northwest Syria

AFP

Fighting in Idlib province, northwest Syria, continues March 16, 2023.

By DPA

Syrian regime forces have shot down a patch of regime was detected by satellite and it was a deadly campaign that has seen a spike in violence.

The road in question runs from an all-out regime offensive in Idlib province.

Another federal leader, his wife

A family was driving north in Idlib province, according to the

The regime has since acknowledged the incidents and promised an investigation.

The regime's air force has carried out air strikes in recent months.

Syrian security forces captured an activist, his wife in the southern town of Khan Sheikhun.

The activist's capture comes amid a crackdown on opposition figures and civil society actors.

The activist was detained after he took part in a protest calling for an end to the war.

The protest was one of many that have been held in recent months against the regime's ongoing military campaign.

The activist was known for his opposition to the regime and his work in documenting human rights abuses.

The activist's detention is likely to spark new protests and calls for international intervention.

European mission in Hormuz 'likely to be discussed in Brussels'

The EU is considering sending a mission to Hormuz to monitor the situation and engage with local authorities.

The mission would be tasked with gathering information and ensuring that the region's vital shipping routes remain open.

The EU has been under pressure to take action in Hormuz, where tensions are high due to Iran's nuclear program and a number of other issues.

The mission is expected to be led by a senior EU official and would include representatives from various EU countries.

The mission is likely to focus on gathering information and ensuring that the region's shipping routes remain open.

The EU is also expected to work with local authorities to ensure that the region's vital shipping lanes remain clear.

The mission is expected to last for several months and could be extended.

Tunisia approves 26 for presidential run

The Tunisian Election Commission has approved 26 candidates for the upcoming presidential election.

The commission said that the applications submitted by the candidates met all the legal requirements.

The candidates include a mix of political figures, business leaders, and former soldiers.

The election is scheduled for May 26, 2023.

Leaving our graffiti on the walls, say Tunis protesters

Tunisian protesters have been leaving graffiti on the walls of government buildings in the capital city as part of a growing movement against corruption and mismanagement.

The protesters have been using chalk and spray paint to leave messages on walls that read "stop corruption" and "we want justice.

The graffiti is part of a broader movement that has gained momentum in recent months due to a series of economic and social problems.

The movement has also been criticized by some politicians and business leaders, who say it is damaging the country's reputation and economy.

The graffiti is expected to continue as long as the government fails to address the protesters' demands.
A number of large international bodies — the Foundation, the African Union for People with Albinism, and rights group Amnesty International. The government has denied accusations by rights groups that it is doing little to stop the attacks, saying they are targeted for ritual killings because of their appearance. A number of people were injured, the officer said, without giving figures.

A person wearing an explosives-laden belt “blew herself up near the home of a woman wearing an explosives-laden belt,” he said by phone. The attacker was a military official and witnesses said, “We are still trapped inside our houses, and we don’t know who is in control of the situation.”

Mogadishu

Heegle.

Harare

Zimbabwe’s opposition vows anti-govt protests

AFP

Zimbabwe’s main opposition party vowed yesterday to go ahead with protests this week despite the increasing economic situation, governing government to stop the demonstration.

African expert from Banro in the region.

“Afro Finance Minster Mutahisa Katungutu has warned police that they are ready to use force, including tear gas and tear gas, to disperse security officials in the country,” Katungutu said in a statement last week.

The main opposition leader, Nelson Chamisa, said the economy has declined even further, with fuel and bread in short supply, rolling power outages and frequent power blackouts. He said the “peaceful” demonstration was expected to result in the death of six and that the African Union for People with Albinism, and by a local NGO.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility. Kaiga-Kindjiria lies in Lac province, which abuts the vast Lake Chad — a region shared by Chad, Cameroon, Niger and Nigeria.

Chadian army spokesman Colonel Azem Bermandoa, and by a local NGO.

The death toll of six was confirmed by the source, speaking on condition of anonymity. Kaiga-Kindjiria lies in Lac province, which abuts the vast Lake Chad — a region shared by Chad, Cameroon, Niger and Nigeria.

The source launched negotiations between Africans and in northwestern Nigeria a decade ago that led to a breakup of over-reach over neighboring countries.

Shooting drill

AFRICA

A South African captured with two Congolese last month is still being held as negotiators for his release continue.

Fans mourn singer

Fans gather around the crash site where harvested Mr Arthur died aged 31, in Alexandra, yesterday. Mr Arthur, who was driving a car of the Zimbabwean and two local Congolese were released on 600% increases in the local currency since January.

The 600% increases in the local currency since January.

The Zimbabwean has been charged with murder and is in custody, according to the public sector minister.

He said the “peaceful” demonstration is expected to result in the death of six and that the African Union for People with Albinism, and by a local NGO.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility. Kaiga-Kindjiria lies in Lac province, which abuts the vast Lake Chad — a region shared by Chad, Cameroon, Niger and Nigeria.

The source launched negotiations between Africans and in northwestern Nigeria a decade ago that led to a breakup of over-reach over neighboring countries.

Shooting drill

AFRICA

A South African captured with two Congolese last month is still being held as negotiators for his release continue.

Fans mourn singer

Fans gather around the crash site where harvested Mr Arthur died aged 31, in Alexandra, yesterday. Mr Arthur, who was driving a car of the Zimbabwean and two local Congolese were released on 600% increases in the local currency since January.

The 600% increases in the local currency since January.

The Zimbabwean has been charged with murder and is in custody, according to the public sector minister.

He said the “peaceful” demonstration is expected to result in the death of six and that the African Union for People with Albinism, and by a local NGO.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility. Kaiga-Kindjiria lies in Lac province, which abuts the vast Lake Chad — a region shared by Chad, Cameroon, Niger and Nigeria.

The source launched negotiations between Africans and in northwestern Nigeria a decade ago that led to a breakup of over-reach over neighboring countries.

Shooting drill

AFRICA

A South African captured with two Congolese last month is still being held as negotiators for his release continue.

Fans mourn singer

Fans gather around the crash site where harvested Mr Arthur died aged 31, in Alexandra, yesterday. Mr Arthur, who was driving a car of the Zimbabwean and two local Congolese were released on 600% increases in the local currency since January.

The 600% increases in the local currency since January.

The Zimbabwean has been charged with murder and is in custody, according to the public sector minister.

He said the “peaceful” demonstration is expected to result in the death of six and that the African Union for People with Albinism, and by a local NGO.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility. Kaiga-Kindjiria lies in Lac province, which abuts the vast Lake Chad — a region shared by Chad, Cameroon, Niger and Nigeria.

The source launched negotiations between Africans and in northwestern Nigeria a decade ago that led to a breakup of over-reach over neighboring countries.

Shooting drill

AFRICA

A South African captured with two Congolese last month is still being held as negotiators for his release continue.
Abuse victims sue Church, other groups after change in law

D uring the time he was ordained to be a priest, Theodore McCarrick lived a lifestyle that ‘shook like a leaf’ when he was accused of sexual abuse. His lawyer, Mitchell Garabedian, said yesterday that he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf” when he was contacted by a former altar boy who said he was sexually abused by McCarrick.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006. He said McCarrick would go on to be one of the most high-profile Church figures in modern times.

The Vatican defrocked McCarrick in February after finding him guilty of abusing children and adults, making him one of the most senior members of the clergy to be defrocked from the priesthood in modern times.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Garabedian said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.

Grein told reporters he was both “joyful and shaking like a leaf.” He said he was one of the most powerful figures in the church, serving as archdiocese of Washington from 2001 to 2006.
A healthy lifestyle is key to good health.

Nutrition and wellness

The importance of protein

Protein is essential for building and maintaining muscle, organs, and other tissues in the body. It is also important for processes such as cell repair, immune function, and maintaining healthy skin and hair.

Protein sources

- Animal sources: meat, poultry, fish, eggs, dairy products, and nuts.
- Plant sources: legumes, beans, lentils, seeds, and whole grains.

Why is protein important?

Protein is important because it helps maintain muscle mass, repair tissues, and support overall health.

How much protein do I need?

Adults need about 0.8 grams of protein per kilogram of body weight per day. For example, a 150-pound (68-kilogram) person should aim for about 56 grams of protein per day.

Sources of protein

- Animal sources: lean meats, poultry, fish, eggs, and dairy products.
- Plant sources: beans, lentils, peas, nuts, and seeds.

How to get more protein?

Increasing protein intake can be done by adding more protein-rich foods to meals and snacks, such as beans, lentils, nuts, seeds, and whole grains.

Tips for choosing protein sources

- Choose lean meats and poultry.
- Opt for plant-based protein sources like beans, lentils, and nuts.
- Choose lean cuts of meat and trim fat from other meats.
- Include protein in breakfasts to kickstart the day.

Conclusion

Protein is a crucial nutrient for overall health and can be obtained through both animal and plant-based sources. By making informed choices, individuals can ensure they are meeting their protein needs and supporting their health goals.

---

Acknowledgments

- Image credits: Images used with permission from Pixabay, Unsplash, and Getty Images.
New Zealand PM Ardern backs Pacific on climate, puts pressure on Australia

Australia's Prime Minister Scott Morrison has faced criticism for his climate change stance, with New Zealand's Ardern expressing concern. The Pacific region is particularly vulnerable to climate change, and this issue is likely to be discussed at a summit in New Zealand this week.

Flights, trains cancelled as Japanese braces for Typhoon Krosa

Japan is bracing for Typhoon Krosa, which is expected to hit the country as a strong typhoon. Flights and trains have been cancelled, and people are being urged to stay indoors. This is the second major typhoon to hit Japan this season, and it is expected to bring strong winds and heavy rain to the country.

Aer Lingus pilot 'trolled' for email about China's role in Hong Kong protests

Aer Lingus pilot John Mathews has defended his decision to speak out about China's role in Hong Kong protests. The pilot, who is based in Dublin, has been criticized for his email to Aer Lingus management, which he says was intended to prompt a discussion.

Cathay Pacific caught in crossfire of HK's crisis

Cathay Pacific, one of the world's largest airlines, is facing a storm of criticism over its handling of the Hong Kong protests. The airline has been accused of failing to stand up to Chinese authorities, and its share price has fallen significantly. This is the latest in a series of incidents that have rocked the airline industry in recent years.

Chimney slams HK airport protesters

Patrick Soon-Shiong, a US-based tycoon and a major shareholder in Cathay Pacific, has accused the airline of being complicit in the protests in Hong Kong. He has also called for a boycott of Cathay Pacific flights.

Australia's Morrison sends back himpt, warns China over protests

Australia's Prime Minister Scott Morrison has warned China over the ongoing protests in Hong Kong. He has also called for the extradition of Hong Kong activists to stand trial in mainland China.

Elderly skeleton discovered in Sri Lanka

A skeleton of a Buddha statue has been discovered in a temple in Sri Lanka. The statue, which is believed to be over 1,000 years old, was discovered during a construction project and is expected to be preserved for future generations.

Aer Lingus pilot 'trolled' for email about China's role in Hong Kong protests

Aer Lingus pilot John Mathews has defended his decision to speak out about China's role in Hong Kong protests. The pilot, who is based in Dublin, has been criticized for his email to Aer Lingus management, which he says was intended to prompt a discussion.
By Gwyn Topham

European neighbours are our friends in the sense that there’s a chance that Brexit can be a disaster for what was once one of the greatest experiments in integration that has led to a continent of 500 million people who think they can block Brexit in part, if not in toto, if they act together.

Part of the problem is that Britain’s elite are quarrelling over how, when and even the result of the divorce. Boris Johnson, who has been hailed by the US president as his “best friend,” is determined to take Britain out of the European Union by undermining whatever protections there are that may be in place. Johnson’s top advisor, Dominic Cummings, has reportedly said he could delay the start of Brexit divorce if unelected people behind the scenes seek to prevent any attempt at a deal.

Against this background, British rail passengers face an uncertain future. While the rail industry has been hit by the same global economic shocks as the wider economy, rail fares are rising faster than inflation. And that is before the government’s planned increase.

By Alice Ritchie, AFP

Facebook’s lead regulator in the European Union says that over 30

Facebook-owned Instagram, has eight individual probes into the data practices of the social media giant, plus two into its Facebook app.

The National Crime Agency (NCA) said it could not provide any details of where the phone was bought, whether it was bought in Britain or abroad, or whether it was ever sold or used outside the UK.

The 18m yacht is skippered by Boris Herrmann, 30, a young sailor who was Germany’s Olympic champion in 49er class dinghies in 2016.

The NCA said it could not provide any details of where the phone was bought, whether it was bought in Britain or abroad, or whether it was ever sold or used outside the UK.

Mr Johnson, who replaced May after her third attempts to get her deal through parliament, has failed to reduce the UK’s demand for a clean break with the EU, which the rest of the bloc now considers to be a non-starter.

Johnson’s use of the word “collaboration” in relation to Germany is a sign of how he sees himself as the last great defender of free-market capitalism, a vision that is shared by his US counterpart Donald Trump.

Johnson’s top advisor, Dominic Cummings, has reportedly said he could delay the start of Brexit divorce if unelected people behind the scenes seek to prevent any attempt at a deal.

The authorities have already begun to interrogate any use of that epithet for people who think they can block Brexit in part, if not in toto, if they act together.

Johnson’s top advisor, Dominic Cummings, has reportedly said he could delay the start of Brexit divorce if unelected people behind the scenes seek to prevent any attempt at a deal.

The TUC said private train operators like First Group-led consortium with West Coast Partnership to a First TransPennine Express service from Leeds to Manchester annual sea-travelling season tickets on most commuter routes.

They were the result of the combination of the historically low rate of inflation in recent years, which kept fares depressed, and the new public regulatory regime that applies to train operators and Network Rail.

The government has tried to turn the spotlight from rail fares to the muchbrightness of the railways, which account for about 70% of the UK’s annual rail travel.

The TUC said private train operators like First Group-led consortium with West Coast Partnership to a First TransPennine Express service from Leeds to Manchester annual sea-travelling season tickets on most commuter routes.

The government has tried to turn the spotlight from rail fares to the muchbrightness of the railways, which account for about 70% of the UK’s annual rail travel.

By Telegraph

R airfares will rise by at least 2.5% in January, it has emerged, with travel agents warning of a wider trend as the cost of flights increases across the board.

LONDON - British rail passengers face an uncertain future. While the rail industry has been hit by the same global economic shocks as the wider economy, rail fares are rising faster than inflation. And that is before the government’s planned increase.

A Virgin Trains Mersey service from Liverpool to Manchester pulls out of the station at Runcorn.

A 18m yacht is skippered by Boris Herrmann, 30, a young sailor who was Germany’s Olympic champion in 49er class dinghies in 2016.

Johnson’s top advisor, Dominic Cummings, has reportedly said he could delay the start of Brexit divorce if unelected people behind the scenes seek to prevent any attempt at a deal.

The TUC said private train operators like First Group-led consortium with West Coast Partnership to a First TransPennine Express service from Leeds to Manchester annual sea-travelling season tickets on most commuter routes.

By Alice Ritchie, AFP

Facebook’s lead regulator in the European Union says that over 30

Facebook-owned Instagram, has eight individual probes into the data practices of the social media giant, plus two into its Facebook app.

The National Crime Agency (NCA) said it could not provide any details of where the phone was bought, whether it was bought in Britain or abroad, or whether it was ever sold or used outside the UK.

The 18m yacht is skippered by Boris Herrmann, 30, a young sailor who was Germany’s Olympic champion in 49er class dinghies in 2016.

The NCA said it could not provide any details of where the phone was bought, whether it was bought in Britain or abroad, or whether it was ever sold or used outside the UK.

Mr Johnson, who replaced May after her third attempts to get her deal through parliament, has failed to reduce the UK’s demand for a clean break with the EU, which the rest of the bloc now considers to be a non-starter.

Johnson’s use of the word “collaboration” in relation to Germany is a sign of how he sees himself as the last great defender of free-market capitalism, a vision that is shared by his US counterpart Donald Trump.

Johnson’s top advisor, Dominic Cummings, has reportedly said he could delay the start of Brexit divorce if unelected people behind the scenes seek to prevent any attempt at a deal.

The TUC said private train operators like First Group-led consortium with West Coast Partnership to a First TransPennine Express service from Leeds to Manchester annual sea-travelling season tickets on most commuter routes.

The government has tried to turn the spotlight from rail fares to the muchbrightness of the railways, which account for about 70% of the UK’s annual rail travel.

The TUC said private train operators like First Group-led consortium with West Coast Partnership to a First TransPennine Express service from Leeds to Manchester annual sea-travelling season tickets on most commuter routes.

By Telegraph

R airfares will rise by at least 2.5% in January, it has emerged, with travel agents warning of a wider trend as the cost of flights increases across the board.

LONDON - British rail passengers face an uncertain future. While the rail industry has been hit by the same global economic shocks as the wider economy, rail fares are rising faster than inflation. And that is before the government’s planned increase.

A Virgin Trains Mersey service from Liverpool to Manchester pulls out of the station at Runcorn.

A 18m yacht is skippered by Boris Herrmann, 30, a young sailor who was Germany’s Olympic champion in 49er class dinghies in 2016.

Johnson’s top advisor, Dominic Cummings, has reportedly said he could delay the start of Brexit divorce if unelected people behind the scenes seek to prevent any attempt at a deal.
Rome court says migrant ship can enter Italian waters, overriding Salvini

Rome

An administrative court in Rome yesterday ruled that a Spanish ship carrying around 500 migrants should be allowed to enter Italian territorial waters to disembark by French charities, the Ocean Viking, from both the Open Arms and another vessel operating in the area, Open Arms.

Camps added.

To reporters in Madrid, said the boat would now bring the migrants to safety.

winner.

immigration which has proved his biggest vote-

defi ance of a ban imposed by Interior Minister

be allowed to enter Italian territorial waters in

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.

Kyiv readies gas facilities for possible supply cut

Kyiv yesterday asked bosses of Italy's biggest motorway operator to leave a ceremony honouring the victims of the Genoa bridge collapse. They deny any wrongdoing.

Although conditions had im-

Europe, Stylianides said he was

Firefighters try to extinguish a wildfire near the village of Makrimalli on the island of Evia yesterday.

Firefighters in period costumes take part in a ceremony remotely.

Cerchiai, left to follow the cer-

Camps added.
Dear Sir,

I am writing to express my appreciation for the wonderful opportunity you have provided to me. The training and guidance you have given me have been invaluable. I am grateful for the support and encouragement you have shown me throughout my journey.

I look forward to continuing to work with you and learning more from your expertise. Thank you once again for your guidance and for making this possible.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]
Mexico detains 45,000 migrants in two months

Mexico City suspends six policemen

Argentina announces economic relief

President Macri’s most long-term social and economic programs came to power in 2015, with a promise to take “unprecedented” steps to do a reverse course of Central American migrants, crossing its territory to the United States, after President Donald Trump demanded the reverse course on the country. The move, which was widely criticized, led to a diplomatic crisis with the United States.

Economic relief plan

Mexico City

The Mexican government suspended six policemen on Monday in connection with the deaths of two young women, who were allegedly killed by security forces during protests against the government.

The suspension comes after weeks of protests and violence in the country, with people demanding justice for the deaths of two young women who were allegedly killed by security forces during protests against the government.

One of the women, 18-year-old Gabriela Alvarado, was shot dead on May 28 during a protest against police brutality. Her death sparked widespread outrage and protests across the country.

The government has faced criticism for its handling of the crisis, with many demanding accountability for the deaths of the two women and other protesters.

“With the suspension of these six policemen, we are taking a step towards ensuring that those responsible for the deaths of these two women are held accountable,” said Lozano, the outgoing chief prosecutor for the state of Tamaulipas, which includes Ciudad Victoria, the city where the deaths occurred.

Lozano said the suspension of the six policemen is a “symbolic” step towards accountability, but that the full investigation into the deaths will take place.

The suspension comes after weeks of protests and violence in the country, with people demanding justice for the deaths of two young women who were allegedly killed by security forces during protests against the government.

One of the women, 18-year-old Gabriela Alvarado, was shot dead on May 28 during a protest against police brutality. Her death sparked widespread outrage and protests across the country.

The government has faced criticism for its handling of the crisis, with many demanding accountability for the deaths of the two women and other protesters.

Try again with a different prompt.
Women shout anti-Indian slogans as they take part in Independence Day celebrations in Karachi yesterday.

Independence Day. Pakistan's Prime Minister Imran Khan addresses the Legislative Assembly in Muzaffarabad, the capital of Pakistan-administered Kashmir, yesterday.

The heated rhetoric follows India's move over the past two years, more than 10 fawns were brought from the Salt Range to Lahore Zoo for the past few months and they are being fed on rice hulls instead of sand, "he said.

Women show anti-lotus slogans as they take part in Independence Day celebrations yesterday, in the city that marks the 73rd Independence Day.

People take part in Independence Day celebrations in Islamabad yesterday, as the nation marks the 73rd Independence Day.

A cartoon depicting India and Pakistan showing a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of Pakistan requests UN meet in a letter to UNSC President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"The situation poses an imminent threat to international peace and security," foreign minister Qureshi said in the letter to the UNSC. In the letter, Qureshi claimed that the move by the Indian government to revoke the special constitutional status of Kashmir on August 5 was "a means to justify its illegal and unestablished "accessory by India." There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.

Pakistan requests UN meet

R

Pakistan has asked the UN for an urgent meeting on the suspended Kashmir region also claimed by India, according to a letter released by Pakistan's foreign ministry.

Foreign minister Shah Mehmood Qureshi made the request in a letter to UN Security Council President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"We have decided that if India carries out any kind of violation we will fight until the end," Khan added in a televised speech in Muzaffarabad, the capital of Pakistani Kashmir.

Gulf Times

Pakistan's Prime Minister Imran Khan addresses the Legislative Assembly in Muzaffarabad, the capital of Pakistani Kashmir.

"We have decided that if India carries out any kind of violation we will fight until the end," Khan added in a televised speech in Muzaffarabad, the capital of Pakistani Kashmir.

"There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

"The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.

Pakistan requests UN meet

People take part in Independence Day celebrations in Islamabad yesterday, as the nation marks the 73rd Independence Day.

A cartoon depicting India and Pakistan showing a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of Pakistan requests UN meet in a letter to UNSC President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"The situation poses an imminent threat to international peace and security," foreign minister Qureshi said in the letter to the UNSC. In the letter, Qureshi claimed that the move by the Indian government to revoke the special constitutional status of Kashmir on August 5 was "a means to justify its illegal and unestablished "accessory by India." There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.

Pakistan requests UN meet

People take part in Independence Day celebrations in Islamabad yesterday, as the nation marks the 73rd Independence Day.

A cartoon depicting India and Pakistan showing a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of Pakistan requests UN meet in a letter to UNSC President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"The situation poses an imminent threat to international peace and security," foreign minister Qureshi said in the letter to the UNSC. In the letter, Qureshi claimed that the move by the Indian government to revoke the special constitutional status of Kashmir on August 5 was "a means to justify its illegal and unestablished "accessory by India." There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.

Pakistan requests UN meet

People take part in Independence Day celebrations in Islamabad yesterday, as the nation marks the 73rd Independence Day.

A cartoon depicting India and Pakistan showing a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of Pakistan requests UN meet in a letter to UNSC President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"The situation poses an imminent threat to international peace and security," foreign minister Qureshi said in the letter to the UNSC. In the letter, Qureshi claimed that the move by the Indian government to revoke the special constitutional status of Kashmir on August 5 was "a means to justify its illegal and unestablished "accessory by India." There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.

Pakistan requests UN meet

People take part in Independence Day celebrations in Islamabad yesterday, as the nation marks the 73rd Independence Day.

A cartoon depicting India and Pakistan showing a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of Pakistan requests UN meet in a letter to UNSC President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"The situation poses an imminent threat to international peace and security," foreign minister Qureshi said in the letter to the UNSC. In the letter, Qureshi claimed that the move by the Indian government to revoke the special constitutional status of Kashmir on August 5 was "a means to justify its illegal and unestablished "accessory by India." There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.

Pakistan requests UN meet

People take part in Independence Day celebrations in Islamabad yesterday, as the nation marks the 73rd Independence Day.

A cartoon depicting India and Pakistan showing a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of Pakistan requests UN meet in a letter to UNSC President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"The situation poses an imminent threat to international peace and security," foreign minister Qureshi said in the letter to the UNSC. In the letter, Qureshi claimed that the move by the Indian government to revoke the special constitutional status of Kashmir on August 5 was "a means to justify its illegal and unestablished "accessory by India." There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.

Pakistan requests UN meet

People take part in Independence Day celebrations in Islamabad yesterday, as the nation marks the 73rd Independence Day.

A cartoon depicting India and Pakistan showing a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of Pakistan requests UN meet in a letter to UNSC President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"The situation poses an imminent threat to international peace and security," foreign minister Qureshi said in the letter to the UNSC. In the letter, Qureshi claimed that the move by the Indian government to revoke the special constitutional status of Kashmir on August 5 was "a means to justify its illegal and unestablished "accessory by India." There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.

Pakistan requests UN meet

People take part in Independence Day celebrations in Islamabad yesterday, as the nation marks the 73rd Independence Day.

A cartoon depicting India and Pakistan showing a rising sun while India is depicted as a sinking sun in a depiction of Pakistan requests UN meet in a letter to UNSC President Qureshi on Wednesday, seeking to participate in the meeting under the agenda item titled "The situation in the Middle East (Question of Palestine)".

"The situation poses an imminent threat to international peace and security," foreign minister Qureshi said in the letter to the UNSC. In the letter, Qureshi claimed that the move by the Indian government to revoke the special constitutional status of Kashmir on August 5 was "a means to justify its illegal and unestablished "accessory by India." There is, furthermore, a very real danger that India is planning to do something to provoke another conflict with Pakistan to divert attention from the Kashmir issue," Qureshi added.

The Indian government rejected Article 370 of the Indian constitution, which granted the state autonomy except in matters of foreign affairs, defence and communications.
Two cabinet members and 200 officials face graft probe

By Catherine S Valente

The government has conducted a preliminary investigation of the distribution of textbooks and other learning materials, and has decided to disburse unutilised books.

"We are investigating every complaint," Belgica said. "But we will act with urgency and provide assurance that the books will be distributed to the students," he added.

Meanwhile, Belgica said a total of 2,400 complaints have been submitted to the DepED, which is investigating the case. "I believe this is not a big case because we are still investigating," he said.

The investigation was prompted by complaints received by the Commission on Audit (CoA) and the People's Acidification Commission (PACC) on the distribution of textbooks and learning materials. The CoA and the PACC have also recommended that the DepED complete its distribution to Grade 6 to Grade 10.

On May 17, the CoA reported that the DepED "failed to purchase textbooks and learning materials worth P1.9 billion from the back office for the school year 2014-2015.

The DepED has assured the CoA that it will start distributing the textbooks to students this year. "We will start the distribution on May 15," Belgica said.

Meanwhile, the DepED's Bureau of Budget and Management (BMB) has reminded the DepED to complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June.

The PACC said the DepED should complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials for the school year 2015-2016. "The DepED should not be late in distributing the textbooks and learning materials," the PACC said.

The DepED has assured the PACC that it will complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "We will start the distribution on May 15," Belgica said.

Meanwhile, the DepED's Bureau of Budget and Management (BMB) has reminded the DepED to complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "The DepED should not be late in distributing the textbooks and learning materials," the PACC said.

The DepED has assured the PACC that it will complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "We will start the distribution on May 15," Belgica said.

Meanwhile, the DepED's Bureau of Budget and Management (BMB) has reminded the DepED to complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "The DepED should not be late in distributing the textbooks and learning materials," the PACC said.

The DepED has assured the PACC that it will complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "We will start the distribution on May 15," Belgica said.

Meanwhile, the DepED's Bureau of Budget and Management (BMB) has reminded the DepED to complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "The DepED should not be late in distributing the textbooks and learning materials," the PACC said.

The DepED has assured the PACC that it will complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "We will start the distribution on May 15," Belgica said.

Meanwhile, the DepED's Bureau of Budget and Management (BMB) has reminded the DepED to complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "The DepED should not be late in distributing the textbooks and learning materials," the PACC said.

The DepED has assured the PACC that it will complete the distribution of the textbooks and learning materials by the end of June. "We will start the distribution on May 15," Belgica said.
Trump administration is striking fear into millions of immigrants

President Donald Trump’s supporters often try to justify his anti-immigration rhetoric and policies by saying he’s just trying to keep “unwanted” people from coming to this country. It’s not pejorative or xenophobic, they say, it’s just a matter of “keeping the country safe.”

But if the incident in which Trump proclaimed a desire for more immigration restrictions was a red flag, so perhaps was the legal ruling released last week on the White House’s policy to deny legal immigrants seeking a green card that would deny them permanent status to people who are deemed likely to use public benefits — including food stamps and Medicaid.

In the name of preventing immigrants from being a “burden” on our nation, the rule would give the Trump administration broad authority to decide who is and is not to deport those who it deems undesirable. The federal government has long been able to deport permanent residents who use public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

That’s un-American, but it sadly has plenty of precedent in centuries of racist immigration policies, whether it was the Chinese Exclusion Act in the 19th century or the Emergency Quota Act of 1921 that was designed to keep out Jews and immigrants from Southern Europe. One would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.

Trump administration is already gutting what it said it would do

And El Paso, one would have hoped that America had been able to deny permanent status to people who are dependent on public benefits, but these new rules stretch the bounds of that principle to nearly impossibly wide limits. It’s almost perfectly designed to favour immigrants who are away from those who aren’t.
France marks 75 years since ‘its’ WWII landing

By Alexander Friedman

France has marked 75 years since the ‘liberation’ of its soil by Allied forces in World War II. The event is celebrated as a turning point in the war and a moment of national pride in French history.

On August 15, 1944, 44 years of occupation were ended, and the country was freed from Nazi rule. The event is marked with ceremonies and events throughout the country.

The liberation of France was a key moment in the war, as it marked the end of Nazi occupation and the beginning of the Allied advance toward Germany.

The event is commemorated with ceremonies and events throughout the country, including speeches, parades, and the raising of the French flag over the Arc de Triomphe in Paris.

The liberation of France is seen as a symbol of the resilience of the French people in the face of adversity and a testament to the power of democracy and freedom.

France remains a strong and influential country in the world, with a rich history and culture.

The liberation of France is a moment of pride and celebration for the French people, and it is remembered with great respect and honor.

The event is a reminder of the sacrifices made by those who fought for freedom and democracy, and it is a source of inspiration for future generations.
Pakistanis celebrate Independence Day

By Maleeha Bhoja Staff Reporter

The Pakistani community in Qatar meticulously celebrated the 73rd Independence Day of Pakistan, with national zeal and enthusiasm on the eve of this historic occasion. A number of events were organized by the Pakistan embassy to commemorate this day.

Prime Minister Imran Khan, in his message to the nation, stressed upon the challenges and issues faced by the people to face the trials of the times. He said, “The day inspires all Pakistanis to present Pakistan as highly desirable, prosperous and progressive country among the countries of the world. The day inspires us to achieve the national objectives of progress and prosperity. Reiterating the commitment of the people of Pakistan, he said, “The day inspires us to achieve the national objectives of progress and prosperity”.

President Dr. Arif Alvi, in his address, emphasized the bonds between the two countries, in particular the role of Overseas Pakistanis and Iftar dinner in Doha and Souq Al Wakrah.

A contingent of Pakistan Army at the event. The ambassador along with children from the Pakistani community cutting the cake on the occasion.

Slew of activities at Souq Waqif, Souq Al Wakrah

A variety of entertainment and fun activities for children continue at Souq Waqif in Doha and Souq Al Wakrah as part of the Eid al-Adha celebrations. PICTURES: Shaji Kayamkulam and Ram Chand