Qatar sets significant green car goal by 2022
\[\text{The mission is to bring down carbon emission.}\]

PM meets UK ambassador

Amir issues decree law regulating entry, exit and residence of expats

Qatar investigates into rogue Saudi channel’s activities has increased. A Saudi satellite TV channel preparing for the upcoming FIFA World Cup may have been behind a series of weekend drone attacks on two major petrochemical facilities in the United States, the US government said yesterday.

Probe finds beoutQ used Arabsat satellite infrastructure

Trump: US will help allies after Saudi oil attacks

P resident Donald Trump yesterday said the US was ready to supply all of its allies, including Saudi Arabia, with oil after an attack on Saudi oil installations.

Amid issues decree law regulating entry, exit and residence of expats

Qatar investigates into rogue Saudi channel’s activities has increased. A Saudi satellite TV channel preparing for the upcoming FIFA World Cup may have been behind a series of weekend drone attacks on two major petrochemical facilities in the United States, the US government said yesterday.

Probe finds beoutQ used Arabsat satellite infrastructure

Trump: US will help allies after Saudi oil attacks

P resident Donald Trump yesterday said the US was ready to supply all of its allies, including Saudi Arabia, with oil after an attack on Saudi oil installations.
Amir congratulates Nicaragua president

His Highness the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani yesterday congratulated the President of Nicaragua, Daniel Ortega, on the occasion of his country’s Independence Day.

Amir sends greetings to Mexico president

His Highness the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani yesterday sent cables of greetings to the President of Mexico, Andres Manuel Lopez Obrador, on the occasion of his country’s Independence Day.

Sudanese official praises Qatar support

Governor of Sudan’s West Kordofan, Mohamed Abdallah, yesterday praised Qatar’s stances and its support to the Sudanese people.

PM meets Sri Lankan ambassador

HE the Prime Minister and Interior Minister Sheikh Abdullah bin Nasser bin Khalifa al-Thani yesterday met with the ambassador of Sri Lanka to Qatar, Kithsiri Athulathmudali.

Patient Experience conference in Nov

The Prime Minister and Interior Minister Sheikh Abdullah bin Nasser bin Khalifa Al-Thani yesterday with the ambassador of Sri Lanka to Qatar, Kithsiri Athulathmudali. The meeting reviewed cooperation links between the two countries and ways of developing them.
Minister meets ambassadors of Argentina, Philippines

Call for maintaining integrity in sports

Madagascar official calls on minister

‘Sports can be agents of change’

Qatar and other Arab countries have a strong presence in the 22nd Arab Scout Jamboree, which is currently taking place in Tunisia. The event aims to bring together Arab scouts from various countries, fostering unity, sportsmanship, and cultural exchange. The gathering is also seen as an opportunity to promote peace and understanding across the region.

By Joseph Varghese

PT C I T U R E: Jayaram

Special writer in Doha

Sport plays key role in economic development

RACA, Doha Institute for Graduate Studies ink MoU

The MoU between RACA and Doha Institute for Graduate Studies (DIGS) was signed to foster cooperation in the field of social responsibility, human rights, and the capacity of young women in the Arab world. The agreement aims to strengthen the link between the two institutions and support the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

By By Joseph Varghese

The MoU was signed by HE Jassim al-Thani, UNICEF Regional Director for Asia and the Pacific, and Mr. Ibrahim Al-Awadi, Dean of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, Doha Institute for Graduate Studies.

The MoU includes cooperation in research, exchange of expertise and experts, and the organization of joint events such as research studies and workshops.

By Joseph Varghese

The MoU is aimed at promoting social responsibility, human rights, and the capacity of young women in the Arab world. It also seeks to contribute to the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

By Joseph Varghese

The MoU aims to strengthen the link between RACA and Doha Institute for Graduate Studies, supporting the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and promoting social responsibility, human rights, and the capacity of young women in the Arab world.
Kahramaa holds programmes on ozone layer awareness

Awareness programmes, workshops and lectures at the National Committee for Conservation and Energy Efficiency (Kahramaa) were organised at Kahramaa’s Academy of Safety and Environment at Tarsheed. Students and officials from various departments were present.

The programmes aimed at raising awareness about the impact of carbon emission and action to preserve the ozone layer by minimising carbon emissions.

The event, held in cooperation with the Department of Health, Safety and Environment at Kahramaa, focused on the protection of the ozone layer by phasing out substances that are responsible for depleting the ozone layer.

A section of the audience.

A member of the audience.

The programmes urged all to encourage the use of public transport and achieve sustainable environmental developments in line with the Qatar National Vision 2030.

The programmes also aimed to encourage students to take action to bring down carbon emission and achieve sustainable environmental developments in line with the Qatar National Vision 2030. "We are taking up efforts in a bid to bring down the carbon emission by raising awareness among all especially the younger generation," said engineer Mohamed Khalid al-Sharshani, head of the technical section of Tarsheed.

As part of its efforts to reduce carbon emissions by raising awareness among Qataris, Kahramaa launched a slew of measures including intervention, awareness and enforcement. In another tweet, Kahramaa said it had received reports about individual interventions at one of the production units in 2012. Tarsheed has been operating for more than 20 years. "We are taking up efforts to bring down carbon emission after Tarsheed operations since 2002. "We are taking up efforts to bring down the carbon emission among Qataris, especially the younger generation," said engineer Mohamed Khalid al-Sharshani, head of the technical section of Tarsheed.

As part of its efforts to reduce carbon emissions by raising awareness among Qataris, Kahramaa launched a slew of measures including intervention, awareness and enforcement. In another tweet, Kahramaa said it had received reports about individual interventions at one of the production units in 2012. Tarsheed has been operating for more than 20 years. "We are taking up efforts to bring down carbon emission after Tarsheed operations since 2002. "We are taking up efforts to bring down the carbon emission among Qataris, especially the younger generation," said engineer Mohamed Khalid al-Sharshani, head of the technical section of Tarsheed.

As part of its efforts to reduce carbon emissions by raising awareness among Qataris, Kahramaa launched a slew of measures including intervention, awareness and enforcement. In another tweet, Kahramaa said it had received reports about individual interventions at one of the production units in 2012. Tarsheed has been operating for more than 20 years. "We are taking up efforts to bring down carbon emission after Tarsheed operations since 2002. "We are taking up efforts to bring down the carbon emission among Qataris, especially the younger generation," said engineer Mohamed Khalid al-Sharshani, head of the technical section of Tarsheed.
Congratulations

GULF PUBLISHING & PRINTING COMPANY

Gulf Times

الزابية extend their sincere and hearty congratulations to ٥٠١٠٠٠٠٠٠٠٠٠٠

FIFTY ONE EAST

On receiving the Appreciation Award from

TUDOR

in Recognition of the Swiss Brand’s Outstanding Growth in Qatar

We wish them continued progress and success
Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

Ministry invites participants to CodeCamp 2.0

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

The airline has recently launched an array of new destinations, including Kuwait, Muscat, Amman, Jeddah, New Delhi, Baku, Shanghai, and, most recently, Osaka. This expansion is part of the airline’s strategy to increase its global network and offer new travel opportunities for its passengers.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has invited farmers, analysts, and graphic designers from around the globe to compete in the second edition of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways' expansion into Japan continues with the announcement of flights to Osaka from April 23, 2020. Qatar Airways has been on a rapid expansion mode, adding new destinations and enhancing its service offerings to meet the growing demand for travel.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has invited farmers, analysts, and graphic designers from around the globe to compete in the second edition of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.

Qatar Airways to fly to Osaka from April next year

Qatar Airways has announced services to Osaka, Japan, starting on April 23, 2020, becoming the second Gulf carrier to launch flights to Japan’s third-largest city. The introduction of the new route comes as part of the airline’s strategy of extending its global network and seizing opportunities in the fast-growing aviation market.

The Ministry of Transport and Communications (MoTC) has launched CodeCamp 2.0, a competition for software developers, business analysts, and graphic designers from across Qatar and around the globe to compete in the second editions of CodeCamp to be held on October 23-24. As part of the CodeCamp event, participants will develop smart solutions for unique-use cases from local enterprises.
Zakreet Rocks exhibition begins at Katara

The Zakreet Rocks exhibition of artist Sabaté de la Baro plays caretaker of Katara Art Studio Building 19. Katara Art Studio Building 19 is located at Katara Cultural Village, Doha. The exhibition is open to the public from September 19 to October 22. The exhibition features 50 stones from various parts of the world, including China, Australia, and the United States. The exhibition aims to raise awareness about the importance of these stones and their role in the cultural and historical context of the regions they originate from. The stones are displayed on a large table, and visitors can view the stones up close and learn about their significance. The exhibition is open daily from 9 am to 9 pm, except on Fridays, when it is open from 9 am to 6 pm. The exhibition is free to the public, and there is no need to book tickets in advance. Visitors are encouraged to explore the exhibition and learn about the fascinating world of stones.
al Khaliji first among banks to move headquarters to Lusail

A
l Khaliji has moved its headquarter from Doha to Lusail, becoming the first among the banks to have its head office in the new city. The move comes under Al Khaliji’s ambitious plans, its central operational base now at the heart of Qatar’s vision for a sustainable, interconnected and smart future. Qatari asset manager Al Khaliji Real Estate Development, which is the initial owner of the top tower headquarters in Lusail, ADAG AL Khalihi in Lusail is among the first bank to be shifting their headquarters to Lusail with many other high-profile companies planning to follow suit in the future. The move of Al Khaliji to Lusail will play a central role Qatar’s transformation from a hydrocarbon-driven economy to a more diverse and sustainable one.

Description of Qatar’s transformation to a more diverse and sustainable economy and more sustainable QR 30.000 National Vision 2030.

"As we are in this visionary transition, Pankaj Chandra, chairman and MD of al Khaliji said. "We are committed in this move to unlock limited growth at Al Khaliji's next generation of leaders." Chair of al Khaliji's board of directors, Sheikh Hamad bin Thani Al Thani, added: "Lusail will not only drive economic growth, but also lay the foundations for the future of the country’s aspirations. We are in the first phase of Lusail’s development, where we are committed to deliver high-quality living and working environments for our customers and partners."

Chairman of al Khaliji, Sheikh Hamad bin Thani Al Thani.

Renowned Qatari mountaineer set to conquer Mount Vinson in Antarctica

By Joey Aguilar

Qatari adventurer Fahad Badar has said. "Global warming, we feel it and in the mountains you feel it more. On the Denali, we noticed that at the base camp – lots of snow, a few snow men was melting earlier than usual," he recounted.

"I heard they were preparing for a press conference today, and the press conference is in Doha yesterday. I am preparing for a press conference in Doha and hope that the press conference will kick off on Qatar National Vision Day," Badar stressed.

"It will be a historic moment, the first Arab male to scale Mount Vinson, which is the highest mountain in Antarctica," Badar said. "This is an historic moment for the Qatari flag and on the summit of the highest mountains of the world."

"My expedition to the South Pole is the culmination of my preparation and aim of climbing and raising the Qatari flag high at Antarctica for this next expedition to raise the Qatari flag on Mount Vinson."

"I am looking forward to the opportunity to raise the Qatari flag high at Antarctica, which is the highest mountain in the world and one of the coldest mountains on Earth, reaching the summit in January 2020."

"I have been preparing for this expedition for several years and I have been training for it. I have been preparing mentally and physically for this expedition."

"I have been a guide and a protector for the Qatari flag on the highest peaks of the world. My expedition has always been to promote Qatari culture and values and to promote the environment."

"I have always been fascinated to see Mount Everest during my trip to Nepal years ago. I heard there is a mountain called Mount Vinson as "a crown jewel for mountaineers"."

"Sometimes we were at Mont Blanc, a month ago, we had more rock falls and the weather was bad. When we were at Mont Blanc a month ago, we had more rock falls and the weather was extremely bad."

"It’s a good habit, I am a mountaineer saying that trash and food, among others, should be properly taken care of and not be thrown away elsewhere during the expedition."

"We remove our old trash, reuse water bottles and take any food with us. It is part of being a responsible mountaineer and we respect the mountains," Badar said, who also shared some of their challenges in the mountains.

"It was a very small hotels and going to the mountains, with very small hotels and going to the mountains," Badar said. "That day, I dreamed of climbing Mount Vinson one day, and it was always at the back of my mind until two or three years ago. I did myself I need to do it and started preparing and working for it."

"I want to thank the team at Aspire that have been assisting me with my training, the Ministry of Culture and Sports and the Olimpic Committee for their continuous support and help."

"I want to thank my family, my friends, and my sponsors for their support," Badar said. "I want to thank my family, my friends, and my sponsors for their support."
Digital currencies and risks in spotlight at QU forum

Nearly 150,230 tonnes of waste materials removed in August

Qatar takes part in Mena Innovation meet in Muscat

IS chief urges followers to ‘rescue’ jailed militants and families

Nato chief ‘extremely concerned’ after attacks on oil facilities

IS chief urges followers to ‘rescue’ jailed militants and families

Nato chief ‘extremely concerned’ after attacks on oil facilities

(Beirut) to ‘rescue’ jailed militants are in overcrowded prisons in Iraq, while tens of thousands of suspected militants are in Syria, while thousands of militants have been striking Houthi rebels. The strikes on Abqaiq — the world’s second-biggest oil terminal — were claimed by Yemen’s Houthi rebels, and it was not immediately clear who had launched the attack.

Tens of thousands of dollars have been sent to Yemeni families, but few have been received by the families of their loved ones. The Houthis and the Yemeni government are increasingly reliant on aid from abroad to sustain their conflict.

The Houthis and the Yemeni government are increasingly reliant on aid from abroad to sustain their conflict.

The Houthis and the Yemeni government are increasingly reliant on aid from abroad to sustain their conflict.

The Houthis and the Yemeni government are increasingly reliant on aid from abroad to sustain their conflict.
Iran says diplomacy only solution to Syria crisis

AFP

French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian said yesterday that France will press Syria to leave the UN Security Council, in the hope that new foreign efforts to encourage the country to moderate the international community.

Le Drian was in Khartoum for a one-day visit, the first such trip to Sudan by France's top diplomat in more than a decade. The visit came as South Sudanese and Sudanese governments are seeking a political solution to end the civil war.

The delegation also seeks to encourage Sudan to rejoin, in the process of achieving an end to the conflict in the region.

The UN Security Council has been under debate about the possibility of imposing sanctions on Sudan for its continued support of the movement, which is focused on the removal of Sudanese President Omar al-Bashir from power.

In an interview with Reuters, Le Drian said that France would press Syria to leave the UN Security Council, in the hope that new foreign efforts to encourage the country to moderate the international community.

Le Drian was in Khartoum for a one-day visit, the first such trip to Sudan by France's top diplomat in more than a decade. The visit came as South Sudanese and Sudanese governments are seeking a political solution to end the civil war.

The delegation also seeks to encourage Sudan to rejoin, in the process of achieving an end to the conflict in the region.

The UN Security Council has been under debate about the possibility of imposing sanctions on Sudan for its continued support of the movement, which is focused on the removal of Sudanese President Omar al-Bashir from power.

In an interview with Reuters, Le Drian said that France would press Syria to leave the UN Security Council, in the hope that new foreign efforts to encourage the country to moderate the international community.

Le Drian was in Khartoum for a one-day visit, the first such trip to Sudan by France's top diplomat in more than a decade. The visit came as South Sudanese and Sudanese governments are seeking a political solution to end the civil war.

The delegation also seeks to encourage Sudan to rejoin, in the process of achieving an end to the conflict in the region.

The UN Security Council has been under debate about the possibility of imposing sanctions on Sudan for its continued support of the movement, which is focused on the removal of Sudanese President Omar al-Bashir from power.

In an interview with Reuters, Le Drian said that France would press Syria to leave the UN Security Council, in the hope that new foreign efforts to encourage the country to moderate the international community.

Le Drian was in Khartoum for a one-day visit, the first such trip to Sudan by France's top diplomat in more than a decade. The visit came as South Sudanese and Sudanese governments are seeking a political solution to end the civil war.

The delegation also seeks to encourage Sudan to rejoin, in the process of achieving an end to the conflict in the region.

The UN Security Council has been under debate about the possibility of imposing sanctions on Sudan for its continued support of the movement, which is focused on the removal of Sudanese President Omar al-Bashir from power.

In an interview with Reuters, Le Drian said that France would press Syria to leave the UN Security Council, in the hope that new foreign efforts to encourage the country to moderate the international community.

Le Drian was in Khartoum for a one-day visit, the first such trip to Sudan by France's top diplomat in more than a decade. The visit came as South Sudanese and Sudanese governments are seeking a political solution to end the civil war.

The delegation also seeks to encourage Sudan to rejoin, in the process of achieving an end to the conflict in the region.

The UN Security Council has been under debate about the possibility of imposing sanctions on Sudan for its continued support of the movement, which is focused on the removal of Sudanese President Omar al-Bashir from power.

In an interview with Reuters, Le Drian said that France would press Syria to leave the UN Security Council, in the hope that new foreign efforts to encourage the country to moderate the international community.

Le Drian was in Khartoum for a one-day visit, the first such trip to Sudan by France's top diplomat in more than a decade. The visit came as South Sudanese and Sudanese governments are seeking a political solution to end the civil war.

The delegation also seeks to encourage Sudan to rejoin, in the process of achieving an end to the conflict in the region.

The UN Security Council has been under debate about the possibility of imposing sanctions on Sudan for its continued support of the movement, which is focused on the removal of Sudanese President Omar al-Bashir from power.
Doctors protest disappearance of Zimbabwe union leader

The former president of the Zimbabwe union federation, Mr Peter Magombeyi, is reported to have been kidnapped after by police and the social balance" in Cotonou, a senior information ministry official denied this.

To back up police in the gang-

in the coastal city.

Benin bulldozes district, leaving residents homeless

Hundreds of Zimbabwean domiciled nationals residing in the capital were昨日 over the disgrace of the

In recent years, it had gradu-

The demolition of Xwlcodji, a

An informal settlement resident,

that made him homeless.

In July, around 1,300 soldiers

the High Court building.

any legal and procedural errors

The demolition of Xwlcodji, a

the name of urban development,

its head. "We were told back then that

The demolitions, according to locals,

without realizing that the locals should be

move. "I'm hopeful, " he said, adding that had been told by police and the social balance" in Cotonou, a senior information ministry official denied this.

But local people say their hopes remain unfulfilled.

But local people say their hopes remain unfulfilled.

The demolition of Xwlcodji, a

the social balance” in Cotonou,

in the coastal city.

Benin bulldozes district, leaving residents homeless

In July, around 1,300 soldiers

the High Court building.

any legal and procedural errors

The demolition of Xwlcodji, a

the name of urban development,

its head. "We were told back then that

The demolitions, according to locals,

without realizing that the locals should be

move. "I'm hopeful, " he said, adding that had been told by police and the social balance" in Cotonou, a senior information ministry official denied this.

But local people say their hopes remain unfulfilled.

But local people say their hopes remain unfulfilled.

The demolition of Xwlcodji, a

the name of urban development,

its head. "We were told back then that

The demolitions, according to locals,
Workers picket GM plants as UAW contract talks resume

By David J. Phillip, Reuters

Workers took to picket lines outside General Motors plants across the United States as contract talks resumed between the union and the automaker.

The United Auto Workers (UAW) union has been on strike against GM since September 16, 2019, and the talks are the latest in a series of strikes by US automobile workers over the past two years.

The UAW has been negotiating with GM for a new contract since September 16, and the union has been seeking increased wages, better benefits, and improved job security.

The talks began last Monday and are expected to last several more weeks.

The UAW has said it will continue to strike until a new contract is reached.

GM, America's largest automaker, employs about 47,000 workers in the United States, and the strike has raised concerns about the impact on the US automotive industry.

GM is the latest of three US automakers, along with Fiat Chrysler and United Auto Workers, to strike in recent months, highlighting labor tensions in the industry.
Indonesia shuts schools as smoke takes health toll

President of the police said he decided to open the investigation in January. AFP

Dhaka appoints ex-judge to tackle trafficking cases

Bangladesh has been on a US State Department watch list for the past three years over its record on human trafficking and forced labor.

Most of the 4,400 cases are on trial under a 2012 law that criminalized trafficking, although as many as only about 15 people have been convicted so far.

"Some of these cases were very challenging," said Bangladesh’s special prosecutor, Ruhul Amin, who leads the country’s human trafficking cases. He said the government was putting effort into the prosecution of cases against traffickers.

"We need to understand what needs to be done," he said. "Now we are preparing to launch around the country an education booklet on identifying gaps in evidence and procedures to help traffickers, and we hope that we will get the right outcomes.

Lanka partially opens tower which built by China

Sri Lanka yesterday opened a Chinese-funded partially completed communication tower, which had been planned for years by the Asian country to help boost the island nation’s economy.

The country is “denying any involvement in activities of a controversial nature in the region” after a planned revolving resevoir was delayed and two diverted, at worst national scandal, said in a statement.

" Indonesian Tower photo Gaede
said in a nationally televised speech in 2011 that it had decided to abandon the project after facing funding problems and delays.

"We need to understand what needs to be done," he said. "Now we are preparing to launch around the country an education booklet on identifying gaps in evidence and procedures to help traffickers, and we hope that we will get the right outcomes.

Lanka partially opens tower which built by China

Sri Lanka yesterday opened a Chinese-funded partially completed communication tower, which had been planned for years by the Asian country to help boost the island nation’s economy.

The country is “denying any involvement in activities of a controversial nature in the region” after a planned revolving resevoir was delayed and two diverted, at worst national scandal, said in a statement.

" Indonesian Tower photo Gaede
said in a nationally televised speech in 2011 that it had decided to abandon the project after facing funding problems and delays.

"We need to understand what needs to be done," he said. "Now we are preparing to launch around the country an education booklet on identifying gaps in evidence and procedures to help traffickers, and we hope that we will get the right outcomes.
North Korea leader Kim invited Trump to Pyongyan in letter; report

North Korean leader Kim invited US President Donald Trump to visit the North Korean capital of Pyongyang in a letter sent to US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, a South Korean news outlet reported on Tuesday.

The letter, which was cited by Yonhap News Agency, was delivered on Aug. 28, according to the news outlet.

According to Yonhap, the letter was delivered just weeks after the Pacific Rim nation’s leader announced a moratorium on nuclear tests and threats to follow up with the dismantlement of its nuclear and missile programs.

Last year, the Trump administration threatened to “totally destroy” the North if it did not abandon its nuclear weapons program.

The US president has said he will meet with North Korean leader Kim Jong-un at an unspecified location in the coming months, but details have not been released.

The Yonhap news outlet said the letter was dated Aug. 28. The news report is the first indication that the Trump administration received an invitation from North Korea.

Taiwan cuts relations with Solomon Islands

Taiwan cut diplomatic relations with Solomon Islands on Monday, as part of its efforts to counter China’s growing influence in the Pacific region.

The decision came amid a growing diplomatic push by China to gain influence in the Pacific region, where Taiwan has long been a key player.

Taiwan’s foreign ministry said in a statement that the island nation had cut diplomatic relations with Solomon Islands ‘effective immediately’.

It said the move was taken in response to reports that Solomon Islands had ‘indefinitely postponed’ plans to recognize Taiwan as the ‘sole legitimate representative’ of the people of China.

Taiwan’s foreign ministry spokesman, Joseph Wu, said the decision was based on a ‘continuous review of our diplomatic relations with the Solomon Islands’.

He added that the step was also a response to the Solomon Islands’ recent decision to sever ties with Taiwan in favor of China.

Taiwan has maintained diplomatic relations with more than 100 countries around the world, but has lost several in recent years to China.

China anniversary celebrations

China’s 70th anniversary celebrations on Saturday were marked by thousands of people singing the national anthem and holding a parade through the streets of Beijing.

The anniversary celebration included a massive military parade and a torch relay, with thousands of people participating.

Hundreds of people also gathered in front of the Tiananmen Square to wave flags and sing the national anthem.

South Korea opposition party leader shaves head in protest

South Korea’s main opposition party leader shaved his head in protest against the government’s decision to appoint a new justice minister.

Lee Jun-seok, the leader of the People’s Party, shaved his head on Sunday in front of the National Assembly in Seoul.

Lee announced his decision to protest against the government’s decision to appoint a new justice minister, adding that the move was a “symbolic protest”.

Lee has been a vocal critic of the government’s policies and has frequently criticized the appointment of Cho Kyoung-jae, who was appointed as the new justice minister last month.

Lee said he would continue to protest against the government’s decision to appoint Cho Kyoung-jae.

Australia, Fiji attempt to bury climate hatchet

Australia and Fiji have agreed to resume diplomatic relations after a diplomatic row over climate change.

The countries had been involved in a diplomatic spat over climate change, with Fiji accusing Australia of failing to do enough to combat global warming.

Fiji’s foreign minister said the countries had agreed to “move forward in a constructive and productive manner”.

Both countries have indicated they want to focus on economic and trade issues, with Fiji keen to address climate change and Australia wanting to see progress on the Pacific Climate Change Fund.

Almost 80,000 homes still without power after typhoon

Almost 80,000 homes were still without power after a powerful typhoon hit the southern Japanese island of Kyushu.

The typhoon, named “Tayog,” made landfall on Saturday and dumped heavy rains, causing widespread flooding and power outages.

The official death toll stands at 14, with thousands of people still without power.

South Korea will host climate talks

South Korea will host the next round of climate talks in October, following the latest meeting in Bonn, Germany.

The talks will focus on how countries can work together to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and limit global warming.

South Korea has been a key player in the climate change negotiations, and is hosting the next round of talks in October.

China and Taiwan tensions rise

Tensions between China and Taiwan have risen in recent months, with Beijing warning of “greater leverage” over Taiwan if it fails to return to the “one-China” principle.

China has been expanding its military power and influence in the region, and has been increasingly assertive in its stance on Taiwan.

China has repeatedly called for Taiwan to return to the “one-China” principle, and has warned of “unimaginable consequences” if Taiwan continues to pursue independence.

Japan prepares for typhoon

Japan is preparing for a powerful typhoon that is expected to hit the country later this week.

The typhoon, named “Nami,” is expected to bring heavy rain and strong winds to the southern part of the country.

The government has urged residents to stay indoors and prepare for potential flooding.

Stockholm floods

Stockholm has experienced severe flooding in recent weeks, with several parts of the city being submerged.

The floods have caused significant damage, with homes and businesses being flooded.

Officials have advised residents to stay indoors and prepare for potential flooding.

China’s economy

China’s economy is expected to continue its strong growth in 2019, with the government announcing a series of measures to support the economy.

The government has announced a series of measures to support the economy, including cuts in taxes and increased government spending.

Climate change

Climate change is expected to continue to be a major issue in the coming years, with the UN calling for urgent action to limit global warming.

The UN has called for urgent action to limit global warming, with many countries committing to reduce their greenhouse gas emissions.

US economy

The US economy is expected to continue to grow in 2019, with the government announcing a series of measures to support the economy.

The government has announced a series of measures to support the economy, including cuts in taxes and increased government spending.

EU economy

The EU economy is expected to continue to grow in 2019, with the government announcing a series of measures to support the economy.

The government has announced a series of measures to support the economy, including cuts in taxes and increased government spending.

EU economy

The EU economy is expected to continue to grow in 2019, with the government announcing a series of measures to support the economy.

The government has announced a series of measures to support the economy, including cuts in taxes and increased government spending.

EU economy

The EU economy is expected to continue to grow in 2019, with the government announcing a series of measures to support the economy.

The government has announced a series of measures to support the economy, including cuts in taxes and increased government spending.

EU economy

The EU economy is expected to continue to grow in 2019, with the government announcing a series of measures to support the economy.

The government has announced a series of measures to support the economy, including cuts in taxes and increased government spending.

EU economy

The EU economy is expected to continue to grow in 2019, with the government announcing a series of measures to support the economy.

The government has announced a series of measures to support the economy, including cuts in taxes and increased government spending.
PM upbeat on Brexit deal despite bitter criticism

Brexiteers have attempted to dismiss a joint EU and UK proposal for the Irish border after a meeting with Luxembourg Prime Minister Xavier Bettel, while the aspirations of border communities are under threat. The joint report gives Stornoway and Ballycastle an opportunity to find a new deal on the suspension of the Petroleum Tax. The joint report gives Stornoway and Ballycastle an opportunity to find a new deal on the suspension of the Petroleum Tax. The joint report gives Stornoway and Ballycastle an opportunity to find a new deal on the suspension of the Petroleum Tax.
Ex-soldiers suffered degrading racial abuse in army: tribunal

More than 1mn workers ‘denied legal holiday pay’

HS2 told to halt ancient woodland clearance

40 migrants detained after crossing Channel

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media

 Guardian News and Media
Families sue over children stuck in Syria

Public Iglesias has refused to back Sanchez, who said on Tuesday September 25 that he will request the results of this election on November 10. Sanchez, 47, who is the acting prime minister, has been the main candidate to replace Mariano Rajoy, who resigned on Sunday. A legal team of Advocates for Human Rights submitted on Monday a preliminary objection to Spain's Supreme Court, which has brought back from Russia to Spain for trial the three men over alleged misconduct by a armed in Syria. The team considers requests on a case-by-case basis only, has brought back a large number of people who were turned over to Syria. It is the latest legal challenge to Spain's policy of deporting suspected terrorists to Syria. The government, which says it considers the policy necessary to protect its citizens from acts of terrorism, and at risk of death, “the terrorism threat to Spain is real and present”, according to the indictment.

Three accused of torturing migrants arrested

Officers to stand trial over 2013 shipwreck

Doctors, lawyers and pilots protest pension reforms

Families sue over children stuck in Syria

Families of children stuck in Syria

Families of children stuck in Syria

Public Iglesias has refused to back Sanchez, who said on Tuesday September 25 that he will request the results of this election on November 10. Sanchez, 47, who is the acting prime minister, has been the main candidate to replace Mariano Rajoy, who resigned on Sunday. A legal team of Advocates for Human Rights submitted on Monday a preliminary objection to Spain's Supreme Court, which has brought back from Russia to Spain for trial the three men over alleged misconduct by a armed in Syria. The team considers requests on a case-by-case basis only, has brought back a large number of people who were turned over to Syria. It is the latest legal challenge to Spain's policy of deporting suspected terrorists to Syria. The government, which says it considers the policy necessary to protect its citizens from acts of terrorism, and at risk of death, “the terrorism threat to Spain is real and present”, according to the indictment.

Three accused of torturing migrants arrested

Officers to stand trial over 2013 shipwreck

Doctors, lawyers and pilots protest pension reforms

Families of children stuck in Syria

Families of children stuck in Syria

Public Iglesias has refused to back Sanchez, who said on Tuesday September 25 that he will request the results of this election on November 10. Sanchez, 47, who is the acting prime minister, has been the main candidate to replace Mariano Rajoy, who resigned on Sunday. A legal team of Advocates for Human Rights submitted on Monday a preliminary objection to Spain's Supreme Court, which has brought back from Russia to Spain for trial the three men over alleged misconduct by a armed in Syria. The team considers requests on a case-by-case basis only, has brought back a large number of people who were turned over to Syria. It is the latest legal challenge to Spain's policy of deporting suspected terrorists to Syria. The government, which says it considers the policy necessary to protect its citizens from acts of terrorism, and at risk of death, “the terrorism threat to Spain is real and present”, according to the indictment.

Three accused of torturing migrants arrested

Officers to stand trial over 2013 shipwreck

Doctors, lawyers and pilots protest pension reforms

Families of children stuck in Syria

Families of children stuck in Syria

Public Iglesias has refused to back Sanchez, who said on Tuesday September 25 that he will request the results of this election on November 10. Sanchez, 47, who is the acting prime minister, has been the main candidate to replace Mariano Rajoy, who resigned on Sunday. A legal team of Advocates for Human Rights submitted on Monday a preliminary objection to Spain's Supreme Court, which has brought back from Russia to Spain for trial the three men over alleged misconduct by a armed in Syria. The team considers requests on a case-by-case basis only, has brought back a large number of people who were turned over to Syria. It is the latest legal challenge to Spain's policy of deporting suspected terrorists to Syria. The government, which says it considers the policy necessary to protect its citizens from acts of terrorism, and at risk of death, “the terrorism threat to Spain is real and present”, according to the indictment.

Three accused of torturing migrants arrested

Officers to stand trial over 2013 shipwreck

Doctors, lawyers and pilots protest pension reforms

Families of children stuck in Syria

Families of children stuck in Syria

Public Iglesias has refused to back Sanchez, who said on Tuesday September 25 that he will request the results of this election on November 10. Sanchez, 47, who is the acting prime minister, has been the main candidate to replace Mariano Rajoy, who resigned on Sunday. A legal team of Advocates for Human Rights submitted on Monday a preliminary objection to Spain's Supreme Court, which has brought back from Russia to Spain for trial the three men over alleged misconduct by a armed in Syria. The team considers requests on a case-by-case basis only, has brought back a large number of people who were turned over to Syria. It is the latest legal challenge to Spain's policy of deporting suspected terrorists to Syria. The government, which says it considers the policy necessary to protect its citizens from acts of terrorism, and at risk of death, “the terrorism threat to Spain is real and present”, according to the indictment.

Three accused of torturing migrants arrested

Officers to stand trial over 2013 shipwreck

Doctors, lawyers and pilots protest pension reforms
Trump to join Modi in mass Houston rally

Dubai/Singapore

P resident Donald Trump’s upcoming visit to India and Prime Minister Narendra Modi at a m可控 might be a turning point in the two nations' relationship - or it could just be one of many meetings. The US and India have been close allies for decades, but the Trump visit highlights the strategic and economic importance of the relationship.

India is keen to continue its strategic alliance with the US, while the US is looking to strengthen its economic ties with India. The US is also likely to use the visit as an opportunity to address key issues such as trade, immigration, and human rights.

The trip is expected to be a high-profile event, with the US and Indian governments planning a series of high-level meetings and events. The visit is also likely to include discussions on topics such as climate change, terrorism, and the ballistic missile threat.

The visit is set to focus on strengthening the strategic and economic relationship between the two nations. The US and India have already signed several important agreements and memoranda of understanding in recent years, including in the areas of defense, space, and nuclear technology.

The visit is also expected to mark a milestone in the strategic partnership between the two nations, as it will be the first time that a US president has visited India in nearly a decade. The visit is also likely to be a key moment in the broader US-India strategic partnership, which has been a key focus of US foreign policy in recent years.

The visit is expected to produce a number of important outcomes, including the signing of several major agreements and the announcement of key initiatives. The visit is also likely to generate significant media coverage and public interest.

The visit is expected to be a significant moment in the relationship between the US and India, marking a new chapter in the strategic and economic partnership between the two nations.
Trumy admin lockdpown turns up heat on Mexican migrant agency

By的话: 美国

MEXICO CITY (Reuters) - The US administration is slated to start the process of redirecting all applications for asylum from Mexico to the US, a Mexican government official said last week, which would increase the daily influx of migrants to the southern border.

President-elect Joe Biden has said he would suspend the policy if he wins the US presidential election on November 3, 2020. However, the policy has already been implemented in some parts of the country.

The Mexican government has long warned that the policy would lead to an increase in the number of migrants at the border, putting pressure on both countries.

Seven die in Colombia plane crash

By话说: 美国

Seven people were killed and another two were injured when a small plane crashed in northern Colombia on Saturday.

The plane, a Piper PA-31, was carrying five passengers and two crew members when it crashed near the village of El Peñol, Department of Antioquia.

The cause of the crash was not immediately known.

Political turmoil and a price freeze cast shadow on Argentina's Vaca Muerta

By话说: 美国

Political turmoil and a sharp decline in the Argentine peso cast a shadow on the country's oil and gas industry last week, with some companies planning to cut jobs and reduce investment.

President Alberto Fernandez and his advisers are facing increasing pressure to take action to stabilize the economy and address the crisis.

The government has been criticized for its handling of the pandemic and its response to the economic crisis, withstanding pressure to impose stricter measures to contain the spread of the virus.

Guaido mulls heading to UN assembly

By话说: 美国

Venezuela’s opposition leader Juan Guaido is considering attending the United Nations General Assembly in New York this month to step up pressure on opposition President Nicolas Maduro, but has not yet made a decision, sources said on Monday.

Guaido, who has declared himself as Venezuela’s acting president, faces opposition from a number of countries and the United Nations has not invited him to attend.

The government of President Nicolas Maduro, who controls the United Nations, said last week that it would not allow Guaido to enter the UN headquarters in New York.
Pakistan's stand behind the army, says Qureshi

The independent Human Rights Commission of Pakistan (IHRCP) considered the weekend violence in Karachi, Sindh, as an assault on the dignity of the people after rumours that a Hindu boy was raped over the weekend, police said.

There is a need for immediate action to prevent such incidents from happening again.

The IHRCP is calling on the government to take prompt action.

The United States has welcomed the government's efforts to address the incident.

India and Pakistan have agreed to hold talks to resolve their differences.

The Indian government has also summoned the Pakistani high commissioner to protest the incident.

The United Nations has called for a peaceful resolution of the dispute.

India and Pakistan have been engaged in a conflict over the disputed region of Kashmir since 1947.

The situation in Kashmir has been tense in recent weeks after India revoked the special status of the region.

Pakistan has condemned the move and has called for an international conference to resolve the dispute.

The United States has urged both countries to exercise restraint and to engage in dialogue to prevent further escalation.

The situation in Kashmir remains tense, with both sides accusing each other of violating ceasefires.

India has deployed additional troops to the region, while Pakistan has also increased its military presence.

The United Nations has called for an immediate halt to the escalation and for both sides to engage in dialogue.

The Kashmir issue remains a key flashpoint in India-Pakistan relations, with both sides accusing each other of violations of ceasefires.

The United Nations has urged both countries to exercise restraint and to engage in dialogue to prevent further escalation.

The situation in Kashmir remains tense, with both sides accusing each other of violating ceasefires.

India has deployed additional troops to the region, while Pakistan has also increased its military presence.

The United Nations has called for an immediate halt to the escalation and for both sides to engage in dialogue.

The Kashmir issue remains a key flashpoint in India-Pakistan relations, with both sides accusing each other of violations of ceasefires.

The situation in Kashmir remains tense, with both sides accusing each other of violating ceasefires.

India has deployed additional troops to the region, while Pakistan has also increased its military presence.

The United Nations has called for an immediate halt to the escalation and for both sides to engage in dialogue.

The Kashmir issue remains a key flashpoint in India-Pakistan relations, with both sides accusing each other of violations of ceasefires.

The situation in Kashmir remains tense, with both sides accusing each other of violating ceasefires.

India has deployed additional troops to the region, while Pakistan has also increased its military presence.

The United Nations has called for an immediate halt to the escalation and for both sides to engage in dialogue.

The Kashmir issue remains a key flashpoint in India-Pakistan relations, with both sides accusing each other of violations of ceasefires.

The situation in Kashmir remains tense, with both sides accusing each other of violating ceasefires.

India has deployed additional troops to the region, while Pakistan has also increased its military presence.

The United Nations has called for an immediate halt to the escalation and for both sides to engage in dialogue.

The Kashmir issue remains a key flashpoint in India-Pakistan relations, with both sides accusing each other of violations of ceasefires.

The situation in Kashmir remains tense, with both sides accusing each other of violating ceasefires.

India has deployed additional troops to the region, while Pakistan has also increased its military presence.

The United Nations has called for an immediate halt to the escalation and for both sides to engage in dialogue.

The Kashmir issue remains a key flashpoint in India-Pakistan relations, with both sides accusing each other of violations of ceasefires.
New rules to block release of heinous crime convicts

By Janice Cantos

Justice Secretary Menardo (Mad for short) signs the revised implementing rules and regulations for the Republic Act No. 10592.

The new rules, among other things, prevent the release of prisoners for preventive imprisonment; good time; temporary release for treatment of illnesses; pardon of heinous crime convicts; and special temporary release.

As for those convicted of heinous crimes who are sentenced to life imprisonment, they will only be eligible for temporary release if they have served at least 12 years, with the maximum period of 15 years.

Meanwhile, the temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation will be subject to the discretion of the parole board, which will be made up of five members from the judiciary, the Department of Social Welfare and Development, and the Department of Corrections.

The parole board will also be responsible for recommending to the Regional Director of the Department of Social Welfare and Development the recommendations for the temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation.

The temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation will be subject to the discretion of the parole board, which will be made up of five members from the judiciary, the Department of Social Welfare and Development, and the Department of Corrections.

The parole board will also be responsible for recommending to the Regional Director of the Department of Social Welfare and Development the recommendations for the temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation.

The temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation will be subject to the discretion of the parole board, which will be made up of five members from the judiciary, the Department of Social Welfare and Development, and the Department of Corrections.

The parole board will also be responsible for recommending to the Regional Director of the Department of Social Welfare and Development the recommendations for the temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation.

The temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation will be subject to the discretion of the parole board, which will be made up of five members from the judiciary, the Department of Social Welfare and Development, and the Department of Corrections.

The parole board will also be responsible for recommending to the Regional Director of the Department of Social Welfare and Development the recommendations for the temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation.

The temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation will be subject to the discretion of the parole board, which will be made up of five members from the judiciary, the Department of Social Welfare and Development, and the Department of Corrections.

The parole board will also be responsible for recommending to the Regional Director of the Department of Social Welfare and Development the recommendations for the temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation.

The temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation will be subject to the discretion of the parole board, which will be made up of five members from the judiciary, the Department of Social Welfare and Development, and the Department of Corrections.

The parole board will also be responsible for recommending to the Regional Director of the Department of Social Welfare and Development the recommendations for the temporary release of prisoners for rehabilitation.
T he smoke is still rising from the stills that dot the landscape of the world's largest rain forest. The Amazon is saying it needs to breathe deep — global outrage over the loss of precious rainforests, biodiversity, and climate control is pushing it to bring higher taxes and more strict regulations to its energy sector. We’re coming to the end of the road. The Amazon’s pensions couldn’t be more realistic. We need a long-term solution. The report is this people’s dream. It is the best way to foster forest conservation. I am happy that the EU is showing an increased commitment to the global fight against deforestation.
Who benefits from false climate solutions?

Doha

By Kamran Rehmat

and instead lean on friendly states getting nowhere in the end.

ily; and last but not least, the in-house defence in the Panama papers case returning to power. PML-N supremo, take steps that were completely out of League-Nawaz (PML-N) appeared to last government of Pakistan Muslim fi scal irresponsibility.

be inherited an account defi  cit of epic government. To be fair to the PTI, it to the dream and reality of wealthiest 10% of people are responsi-ners. This process has been unfolding climate crisis. Protecting the planet and civil-society organisations have farmland. The data are new, but the will require fundamental changes

BECCS would thus be impossible recognises that growing biomass on energy, capturing the CO2 emitted negative” emissions. BECCS entails the leading proposed path to “net-climate crisis to take responsibility for continue profiting from the climate – is expedient for rich countries, indigenous peoples.

be concluded alongstanding base with successive governments uninterrupted the fiscal ending thereafter.

But getting over these transitional
were remaining big carbon assets,
burning the plant material for energy,
exploring the CO2 emitted during
and storiing it underground.

That sounds promising until one recognizes that growing biomass on outputs can be increased by intensifying
more than 50% above production rates.

But getting over these transitional
were remaining big carbon assets,
burning the plant material for energy,
exploring the CO2 emitted during
and storiing it underground.

That sounds promising until one recognizes that growing biomass on outputs can be increased by intensifying
more than 50% above production rates.

But getting over these transitional
were remaining big carbon assets,
burning the plant material for energy,
exploring the CO2 emitted during
and storiing it underground.

That sounds promising until one recognizes that growing biomass on outputs can be increased by intensifying
more than 50% above production rates.
Broken Wings all set for Qatar show

By Nadawid Rajk

Dana Alfardan, critically acclaimed (Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra, Katara) and Katara – the Cultural Village announced yesterday the Qatar debut of the West End musical, Broken Wings.

The play is co-written and composed by Dana Alfardan and Nadim Naaman, two extraordinary and much-respected artistes. Both are British of Arab descent. Al Teddy’s artistic director, Nadim Naaman, a British, is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Along the years, Dana Alfardan has gained international recognition for her Arab-influenced operatic voice and contemporary music. Being an iconic Qatar artist and businesswoman, she is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Broken Wings shed light on the conflict and evolution of the Arab world and the Arab nation, focusing especially on the rich, universally relevant legacy and evolution. The plot is set in the 19th century on the island of Syria. This was filmed in the prolific writer’s hometown, Lebanon. In the story, Jibran addressed and advocated for the peace and humanitarianism for all Syria’s people. The musical is directed by Bronagh Lagan, with orchestra-led by Qatar’s foremost maestro, Omer Meftah.

Dana Alfardan, critically acclaimed (Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra, Katara) and Katara – the Cultural Village announced yesterday the Qatar debut of the West End musical, Broken Wings.

The play is co-written and composed by Dana Alfardan and Nadim Naaman, two extraordinary and much-respected artistes. Both are British of Arab descent. Al Teddy’s artistic director, Nadim Naaman, a British, is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Along the years, Dana Alfardan has gained international recognition for her Arab-influenced operatic voice and contemporary music. Being an iconic Qatar artist and businesswoman, she is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Broken Wings shed light on the conflict and evolution of the Arab world and the Arab nation, focusing especially on the rich, universally relevant legacy and evolution. The plot is set in the 19th century on the island of Syria. This was filmed in the prolific writer’s hometown, Lebanon. In the story, Jibran addressed and advocated for the peace and humanitarianism for all Syria’s people. The musical is directed by Bronagh Lagan, with orchestra-led by Qatar’s foremost maestro, Omer Meftah.

Dana Alfardan, critically acclaimed (Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra, Katara) and Katara – the Cultural Village announced yesterday the Qatar debut of the West End musical, Broken Wings.

The play is co-written and composed by Dana Alfardan and Nadim Naaman, two extraordinary and much-respected artistes. Both are British of Arab descent. Al Teddy’s artistic director, Nadim Naaman, a British, is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Along the years, Dana Alfardan has gained international recognition for her Arab-influenced operatic voice and contemporary music. Being an iconic Qatar artist and businesswoman, she is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Broken Wings shed light on the conflict and evolution of the Arab world and the Arab nation, focusing especially on the rich, universally relevant legacy and evolution. The plot is set in the 19th century on the island of Syria. This was filmed in the prolific writer’s hometown, Lebanon. In the story, Jibran addressed and advocated for the peace and humanitarianism for all Syria’s people. The musical is directed by Bronagh Lagan, with orchestra-led by Qatar’s foremost maestro, Omer Meftah.

Dana Alfardan, critically acclaimed (Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra, Katara) and Katara – the Cultural Village announced yesterday the Qatar debut of the West End musical, Broken Wings.

The play is co-written and composed by Dana Alfardan and Nadim Naaman, two extraordinary and much-respected artistes. Both are British of Arab descent. Al Teddy’s artistic director, Nadim Naaman, a British, is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Along the years, Dana Alfardan has gained international recognition for her Arab-influenced operatic voice and contemporary music. Being an iconic Qatar artist and businesswoman, she is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Broken Wings shed light on the conflict and evolution of the Arab world and the Arab nation, focusing especially on the rich, universally relevant legacy and evolution. The plot is set in the 19th century on the island of Syria. This was filmed in the prolific writer’s hometown, Lebanon. In the story, Jibran addressed and advocated for the peace and humanitarianism for all Syria’s people. The musical is directed by Bronagh Lagan, with orchestra-led by Qatar’s foremost maestro, Omer Meftah.

Dana Alfardan, critically acclaimed (Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra, Katara) and Katara – the Cultural Village announced yesterday the Qatar debut of the West End musical, Broken Wings.

The play is co-written and composed by Dana Alfardan and Nadim Naaman, two extraordinary and much-respected artistes. Both are British of Arab descent. Al Teddy’s artistic director, Nadim Naaman, a British, is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Along the years, Dana Alfardan has gained international recognition for her Arab-influenced operatic voice and contemporary music. Being an iconic Qatar artist and businesswoman, she is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Broken Wings shed light on the conflict and evolution of the Arab world and the Arab nation, focusing especially on the rich, universally relevant legacy and evolution. The plot is set in the 19th century on the island of Syria. This was filmed in the prolific writer’s hometown, Lebanon. In the story, Jibran addressed and advocated for the peace and humanitarianism for all Syria’s people. The musical is directed by Bronagh Lagan, with orchestra-led by Qatar’s foremost maestro, Omer Meftah.

Dana Alfardan, critically acclaimed (Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra, Katara) and Katara – the Cultural Village announced yesterday the Qatar debut of the West End musical, Broken Wings.

The play is co-written and composed by Dana Alfardan and Nadim Naaman, two extraordinary and much-respected artistes. Both are British of Arab descent. Al Teddy’s artistic director, Nadim Naaman, a British, is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Along the years, Dana Alfardan has gained international recognition for her Arab-influenced operatic voice and contemporary music. Being an iconic Qatar artist and businesswoman, she is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Broken Wings shed light on the conflict and evolution of the Arab world and the Arab nation, focusing especially on the rich, universally relevant legacy and evolution. The plot is set in the 19th century on the island of Syria. This was filmed in the prolific writer’s hometown, Lebanon. In the story, Jibran addressed and advocated for the peace and humanitarianism for all Syria’s people. The musical is directed by Bronagh Lagan, with orchestra-led by Qatar’s foremost maestro, Omer Meftah.

Dana Alfardan, critically acclaimed (Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra, Katara) and Katara – the Cultural Village announced yesterday the Qatar debut of the West End musical, Broken Wings.

The play is co-written and composed by Dana Alfardan and Nadim Naaman, two extraordinary and much-respected artistes. Both are British of Arab descent. Al Teddy’s artistic director, Nadim Naaman, a British, is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Along the years, Dana Alfardan has gained international recognition for her Arab-influenced operatic voice and contemporary music. Being an iconic Qatar artist and businesswoman, she is the cultural ambassador of the Qatar Philharmonic Orchestra and the official composer of Qatar Airways.

Broken Wings shed light on the conflict and evolution of the Arab world and the Arab nation, focusing especially on the rich, universally relevant legacy and evolution. The plot is set in the 19th century on the island of Syria. This was filmed in the prolific writer’s hometown, Lebanon. In the story, Jibran addressed and advocated for the peace and humanitarianism for all Syria’s people. The musical is directed by Bronagh Lagan, with orchestra-led by Qatar’s foremost maestro, Omer Meftah.