Qatar reiterates its firm stance on Palestinian issue

The first anniversary of the establishment of the National Centre for Rare Diseases in Qatar was marked by the launch of the new Department of Clinical Genetics, which provides a general framework to construct a patient-friendly and cost-efficient approach to genetic counselling and specialisation in medical genetics and diagnostic services.

In his address HE al-Muraikhi added that Qatar will spare no effort to support the efforts of the Palestinians to achieve their legitimate rights.

HE al-Muraikhi added that the foundations of the solution have already been established by the Arab peace initiative, which provides a general framework for the path that the Palestinian people need to take to achieve their aspirations.

He said that the peace process represents a bridge that connects all the parties involved in the conflict.

Envoy thanks Qatar for expressing confidence in Chinese efforts to tackle coronavirus

China has taken extraordinary and unprecedented measures to contain the spread of the novel coronavirus and limit its spread outside the country through the use of sophisticated equipment and scientific expertise, Chinese ambassador to Qatar Zhou Jian has said.

"After the pneumonia broke out, the Chinese embassy informed the Qatari government of the latest situation and the measures taken by the Chinese government, and maintained close communication and shared information with the Qatari counterparts. The Qatari government has also taken timely and effective measures to prevent the epidemic, which has provided a solid guarantee for the health and safety of the Qatari people," the envoy said while addressing a press conference in Doha yesterday.

He stressed that China and Qatar are "good friends and brothers", saying that "facing the novel coronavirus, our Qatari friends stepped forward and expressed their confidence in China to defeat the epidemic, and offered all necessary assistance".

"China and Qatar are good friends and brothers standing side by side through the novel coronavirus, and Qatar friends stepped forward and expressed their confidence in China to defeat the epidemic, and offered all necessary assistance," the envoy added.

"China's brothers made an historic decision, and further strengthened our confidence and strength to win this battle. We highly appreciate the support from Qatar, and believe Qatar will surely record another success in the history of China-Qatar relations," he noted.

The ambassador continued, "The efficiency of the Chinese citizens and companies in Qatar have gained close attention to the situation back home, and are concerned about the health and life of people in China. They offered their own support to the motherland. Many Chinese companies here and Qatari companies have voluntarily donated medical supplies to China, such as masks."

Ambassador Zhou said that until January 31, China's National Health Commission had registered a total of 11,791 confirmed cases from 31 provinces, 1,795 serious cases, 259 deaths and 243 cases of cured patients. There were 17,988 suspected cases in all.

To effectively deal with the situation, 6,000 medical staff in 29 provinces and cities flew on an emergency flight to Wuhan overnight.

He said, "We have demonstrated to the world China's speed and efficiency. The Huoshenshan Hospital, an emergency specialised hospital, will be completed within four days. The hospital will have 1000 beds and can accommodate 1,000 beds. Hundreds of equipment were sent to the construction site. Some 1,500 workers and 280 sets of machinery are racing against time and disease. If you hand over the work one minute in advance, you can stop the spread of the epidemic one minute in advance. Time is life! Also, within eight days, another similar hospital, the Leishenshan Hospital, will begin construction with an additional 1,600 beds for patients of the novel coronavirus patients."

The two hospitals will begin operations on February 3 and 6 respectively. "In addition, the Chinese government has decided to send chartered flights to take stranded citizens overseas back home, especially those from Hubei, Wuhan. These shifts reflect the Chinese government's responsibility in solving problems for the people," he noted.

Regarding the international cooperation in this regard he said: "We invited World Health Organization (WHO) experts to go to Wuhan for a field visit, and invited the WHO director-general to visit China. President Xi Jinping and State Councillor Wang Yi met with him separately and briefed him on our effective measures for epidemic prevention and control."

Qatar Post leads on tree-planting mission

Qatar Post has supported the mission of Al Shbahana Association, a non-profit organization fighting desertification in Qatar, by planting trees in its headquarters.

The event, titled “Qatar Post for Sustainable Development – Afforestation Campus Qatar”, witnessed a number of Frangipani trees being planted at Qatar Post, which is one of the most common small trees in Qatar, on an ideal plot for the desert environment. Qatar Post officials and volunteers were joined by environmentalists from various organisations as part of the corporate social responsibility programme, a statement noted.

The programme sets out to improve the quality of life in the community where the national postal service operates.

Al-Hajri said, “Through our partnership with Al Shbahana Association, we recognise that an afforestation project will add value to our sites and contribute to the sustainability of the environment and the general wellbeing of the community where the national postal service operates.”

They were welcomed by Abdullah Muhammad Al-dhiji, chief human resources and services officer of Al Shbahana Association.

The event marked Qatar Post’s entry into environmental stewardship as part of its corporate social responsibility programme, a statement noted.

The programme sets out to improve the quality of life in the community where the national postal service operates.

On our own, we might be effective, but only together can we truly make progress, ” Qatar Post is “on a journey to make sustainability a permanent feature of Qatar National Vision 2030”, the statement added.

Last year, it won the First Postal Service Company award at Expo 2018 in Dubai for its efforts in energy conservation and reduction in its carbon footprint. These efforts have paved the way towards making progress.

Qatar Post is “on a journey to make sustainability a permanent feature of Qatar National Vision 2030”, the statement added.

In addition, it is in the only Arab institution under the security and intelligence, and third in the Middle East region, a step up from last year.

This year, for example, QF/UNiversity faculty and administrators, journalists, policy makers, think tank scholars and economists, and doctors participated over the course of three stages in the evaluation of 42 think tanks around the world.

This year, AJCS was ranked first in the Gulf region among a total of 62 think tanks and fourth in the Mena region among a total of 82 think tanks. In addition, it is in the only Arab institution under the security and intelligence, and third in the Middle East region, a step up from last year.

It is still the only Arab think tank among the global think tanks applying the best quality assurance practices to its quality management systems, according to a statement.

According to the 2019 index, which was release on January 26, AJCS was ranked first in the Gulf region among a total of 82 think tanks.

Qatar Charity’s 2019 international partnerships valued at over 60 million riyals

- 11 cooperation agreements with international organizations and UN agencies to implement relief projects in Yemen, Iraq, Malawi, and Bangladesh.

- Al-Rumaihi: Qatar Charity is not only a funding partner but also a strategic implementing partner of numerous UN agencies.

The cooperation and partnership agreements signed during 2019 between Qatar Charity, international humanitarian organizations, and the United Nations agencies amounted to more than 60 million Qatari riyals. The projects funded by Qatar Charity were valued at over 44,259,416 riyals, while the projects implemented by Qatar Charity, which had partnerships with international organizations, were valued at more than 16 million riyals.

This comes within the framework of Qatar Charity’s keenness to build partnerships with international organizations and UN agencies to support humanitarian action and development issues worldwide, especially in areas hit by disaster and crisis.

Cooperation Agreements

- Qatar Charity has signed 11 cooperation agreements with international organizations and United Nations agencies to fund several international projects, including six cooperation agreements with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR).

The agreements came to support the rehabilitation of long-term accommodation centers for internally displaced people (IDP) in Iraq, contribute to providing basic assistance to Rohingya refugees in Bangladesh, help internally displaced returnees families in Yemen, provide drinking water, improve the standards of living of Rohingya refugees in Bangladesh, and extend multi-purpose cash assistance.

The QCRF, a collaborative initiative, is one of the most significant agreements, which was signed in 2018 to co-ordinate and co-operation between Qatar Charity and UNHCR to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of humanitarian action with a view to achieving their common humanitarian goals.

The partnership between UNHCR and Qatar Charity has witnessed the signing of the largest number of agreements, as Qatar Charity has signed 12 cooperation and partnership pacts with UNHCR to finance humanitarian projects for the benefit of the displaced and refugees.

Memberships

It is worth mentioning that Qatar Charity has been in the Sustainable Development Goals, coordinating joint efforts in areas of humanitarian interventions, and sharing experiences to maximize impact.

Saleh Al Hamad Al Mana partners with KidZania

Child-size auto service centre to be set up inside education and entertainment park

Saleh Al Hamad Al Mana Co, the exclusive agent of Nissan in Qatar, and KidZania Doha, the multi-award-winning kids' educational entertainment concept, have signed a partnership agreement to create a realistic, child-size auto service centre inside the city of KidZania Doha.

The signing ceremony was held recently at KidZania, Aspire Park. It brought together Nassim Mourani, general manager - Automotive Group, at Saleh Al Hamad Al Mana Co; Khalid Ali al-Mawlawi, board member of Qatar Entertainment (Tasali); and other senior officials from both companies.

Commenting on the partnership, Hisham Saleh al-Mana, chairman and managing director of Saleh Al Hamad Al Mana Co, said: “We are delighted to be contributing to the development of Qatar’s youth by providing education and entertainment that stimulate ambition and inspiration. Together with KidZania Doha, we are enabling young minds to explore their automotive dreams through a fun and interactive environment.

“Our role is to give future leaders the best foundation to learn and grow, providing them with knowledge, real-life skills and the opportunity to translate their ideas into reality. The collaboration between Saleh Al Hamad Al Mana Co (Nissan) and KidZania Doha aims to educate children about being an auto specialist and experience a real-life career activity through a fun, hands-on experience,” al-Mana added.

Mourani said: “At KidZania, we seek to encourage and stimulate the early development of children through playful learning and the use of imagination and creativity towards their future paths. We completely align our efforts with Qatar National Vision 2030 to help boost human, educational, social and economic development in the State of Qatar.”

KidZania is a unique education and entertainment park, with its own economy and currency, designed to provide a holistic experience to support physical and mental development among children and help improve their self-esteem and confidence, the statement adds.

Fromage Restaurant, owned by Ali Aburu Investment and Development, has reopened after a three-year break with a special menu to serve the residents of the Al-Ain area. The restaurant has been closed due to the conflict in the area.

"I'm here to see my neighbour, bid farewell to Saraqeb's homes have been destroyed, and vegetable stalls are bare, showing the final trip to pick up their belongings," said Hani Taleb, general manager of Fromage Restaurant, owned by Ali Aburu Investment and Development.

"It's the civilians who are paying the price," said Taleb. "This neighbourhood where I spent six months in jail after anti-Assad protests erupted in Syria in 2011. "This conflict has ripped apart Syrian society, causing people to be separated, taken children from their mothers and wives and their brothers apart, and the war has been going on for years," he added.

The United Kingdom urged all parties to the conflict in Libya to commit to a lasting ceasefire and to ensure that all support for and international support for the country is maintained and strengthened.

France is set to ban single-use plastics from 2022, with a raft of measures and fines to eradicate plastic waste. Among the changes is a total ban on single-use plastic bags, for instance, which are said to have killed hundreds of marine animals and birds. Other plans include a ban on plastic cutlery, straws, cotton buds, and plastic packaging for many food products. In a draft law tabled in September, the government also proposed a ban on single-use plastic items used in restaurants. France’s plan for a plastic-free future has been welcomed by environmentalists, who say the country is leading the way in tackling plastic pollution.

EU’s poorer nations ask to keep their aid money

The EU’s poorer nations are asking the bloc to keep their aid money as they struggle to cope with the economic shock of the pandemic. The European Union’s poorer nations have launched a push to keep their aid money, which has dropped by 15% and 10% for Spain and Portugal respectively, as they grapple with the effects of the coronavirus pandemic. The countries have written to the EU Commission, calling for “equitable and flexible” aid packages to be created to help them deal with the pandemic and its aftermath.

Better late than never? Euro crosses new eurozone border

Eurozone countries are meeting in Berlin to discuss the future of the eurozone, as the bloc faces a range of challenges. The eurozone, which consists of 19 countries that use the euro as their currency, faces a number of challenges, including the coronavirus pandemic, high unemployment, and rising debt levels. The eurozone’s leaders will discuss how to deal with these challenges, as well as the future of the eurozone and its member states.

Spain in Briton's hands

Spanish companies are buying up British businesses as the country prepares to leave the EU. The British government has announced that it will sell off a number of its assets, including a number of banks and utilities, as part of its preparations to leave the EU. This has given Spanish companies the opportunity to acquire these assets, which are expected to fetch a high price. The Spanish government has been quick to seize the opportunity, and has already bought up a number of British businesses.

EU-US trade talks start

The EU and US are set to start trade talks as they seek to reach a deal on a new free trade agreement. The two sides have been working towards a trade deal for some time, and the talks are seen as a key test of their ability to negotiate with each other. The trade talks are expected to focus on issues such as agriculture, services, and digital services.

Brexit: the UK faces a new frontier

Brexit is coming to an end, but the UK faces a new frontier as it prepares to leave the EU. The UK has been a member of the European Union since 1973, and has been one of its most important members. The country has long been a key player in the bloc, and has helped to shape its policies. The UK is now set to leave the EU, and is looking to forge new relationships with other countries. The country is expected to face a number of challenges as it makes the transition.

324 Indians evacuated from Wuhan land in Delhi

The Indian nationals who were stranded in Wuhan due to the coronavirus outbreak were flown out of the Chinese city in a special evacuation flight operated by the Indian government. The flight landed at the Indira Gandhi International Airport in New Delhi on February 2, 2020.

The passengers were immediately taken to a quarantine facility, where they would undergo a 14-day quarantine period to ensure their safety.

Moon mission will facilitate evacuation, says ex-ISRO chief

Gagan Mohan, the former chief of the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO), has said that a Moon mission could facilitate the evacuation of Indians stranded in Wuhan, China. He suggested that a robotic mission to the Moon could carry the evacuees to safety, as it would be able to land on the lunar surface and transport them to a safe location.

"The Moon mission will be able to land on the lunar surface and transport the evacuees to safety," Mohan said. "This will not only save the lives of the stranded Indians but also demonstrate India's capability to conduct a successful lunar mission."

Pakistani women serving in Congo mission awarded UN medal

A Pakistani female peacekeeper, deployed with the United Nations Organization Stabilization Mission in the Democratic Republic of Congo (MONUSCO) has been awarded a UN medal at a ceremony on Sunday, February 3 in Kinshasa.

The ceremony was attended by the United Nations Under-Secretary-General for Peace Operations, Rear Admiral, Dr. Ali Ahmadi, and United Nations Police Commissioner, General, Dr. Albert Gvensa.

The Pakistani female peacekeeper is the first Pakistani female to be awarded a UN medal. She was awarded the UN medal for the successful completion of her duties in Kinshasa and for her contribution towards peace and stability in the country.

Ms. Shahida Mirza, who has been serving in Congo as a police officer, was lauded by the United Nations Under-Secretary-General for Peace Operations, Rear Admiral, Dr. Ali Ahmadi, for her exceptional performance and dedication.

Ms. Mirza, who is a police officer from the Pakistan Police, has been serving in Congo as a peacekeeper since June last year.

She has been involved in various tasks, including monitoring the security situation, conducting training, and advising local authorities on matters related to security.

Ms. Mirza has been highly praised for her professionalism and dedication to the mission, and her contribution towards maintaining peace and stability in Congo.

She has been awarded the UN medal in recognition of her outstanding performance and dedication to the mission.

Mirza from Sunday banned. We will start carrying out tests at all airports to detect the coronavirus.

He also reiterated that Pakistan has been working closely with the World Health Organization (WHO) to ensure that no cases of the virus are detected in the country.

He said that Pakistan is implementing strict measures to prevent the spread of the virus, including quarantine and isolation measures for anyone who has been in contact with someone who has tested positive.

The Pakistans have been working closely with the WHO and other international organizations to ensure that the virus does not spread within the country.

In a tweet on Friday, she said that 7 million poor women will be given a Rs2,000 monthly stipend under the programme.

In a statement in the National Assembly, she said that the programme is a step towards making women economically-independent.

The Minister for Women Affairs, Rashida Bibi, also said that the programme will provide a basic income for poor women and help them to become financially independent.

Ms. Bibi said that the programme will be implemented in all parts of Pakistan, and that the government is committed to ensuring that women have equal opportunities to access education and employment.

The programme will provide a basic income of Rs2,000 per month to women who are below the poverty line.

The government has also announced plans to introduce a second phase of the programme, which will provide additional support to women in the form of skill development and vocational training.

Ms. Bibi said that the programme will be implemented in collaboration with the private sector, and that the government is committed to ensuring that women have access to the necessary support to help them become economically-independent.

The programme will be implemented through a combination of government and private sector initiatives, and will be supported by international donors.

Ms. Bibi said that the programme will be a key component of the government’s strategy to reduce poverty and promote economic growth.

The programme will be implemented in phases, with the first phase focusing on women in urban areas, and the second phase targeting women in rural areas.

Farewell to the EU: epic opportunity or a grave mistake?

With the United Kingdom finally leaving the European Union after three years of negotiations, Friday, stage has been set for 11 months of potentially fraught talks that will determine whether the two sides can agree to a deal by the end of the year.

At the EU headquarters in Brussels, the British flag was lowered to half-mast. However, as a transition period keeps the United Kingdom as a member in all but name until January 1, 2020, it may be getting smaller as an inward-looking island.

As a sovereign nation, the UK has failed to agree on their future relationship. The EU will not make unilateral steps to hasten any talks, and the UK will not be able to choose its partners with a holiday flight, and will still enjoy free data-transmission on their mobile phones.

All that will change on December 31, if the UK and Europe fail to agree on their future relationship. If they can't, they will default to conducting business on World Trade Organisation terms - meaning import and export tariffs and border checks will be imposed where none exist now. Whether the United Kingdom can agree to a deal by the end of the year depends on how quickly and how much progress is made in the negotiations.

The terms - meaning import and export tariffs and border checks will be imposed where none exist now, as the UK and Europe fail to agree on their future relationship. Death of a sports dad superstar

By Logan Jones

W hen Kobe Bryant died on Sunday morning, the world woke to news that a giant had fallen. The shock of Kobe’s death has had many chapters yet to be told. The connector that binds the world wept.

The simultaneous death of Bryant and Manchester United’s Depay, however, meant that the headlines focused almost entirely on him. The world of basketball and soccer mourned the passing of these two stars.

Bryant, the 18-time NBA All-Star and five-time Olympic gold medalist, died in a helicopter crash in Calabasas, California, on Sunday morning. He was 41 years old. The cause of death was a tragic accident, and the world mourned the loss of one of its greatest athletes.

Depay, 27, who had been a regular starter for Manchester United, died in a car accident in Derbyshire, England. He was set to make his debut for the Netherlands national team later this month.

The world of sports was in mourning as it paid tribute to these two icons. Bryant was revered for his skill and dedication to the game, while Depay was known for his talent and potential.

The world of sports lost two of its brightest lights simultaneously, and the world mourned the loss of these two stars. Bryant and Depay were both loved by fans around the world, and their deaths have left a void that will be hard to fill.

Qatari traditions continue to fly high as Marmi Falconry Festival fetes winners

HE His Highness Sheikh Jassem bin Hamad al-Thani, the Personal Representative of His Highness the Amir, yesterday attended the award ceremony of Al Mazayen competition for falcons that brought the curtain down on the 11th Marmi Falconry Festival. The festival was held for one month from January 1 until February 1.

The finale was attended by a number of Sheikhs and ministers, heads of diplomatic missions accredited to the state, the board of directors of Al Gannass Association and a large number of falconers from Qatar and from the Gulf Co-operation Council countries and guests of the festival.

HE Sheikh Joaan bin Hamad al-Thani, the sponsor of the festival, crowned the winners of the competition, which had more than 60 participants. The first place went to Sheikh Ahmed bin Abdulaziz bin Saoud al-Thani.

The organising committee also held the draw for the public for the Lexus car, with Abdullah Mousaid from the audience winning the wheels.

Head of the competition’s organising committee Abdullah Hamad al-Mahshadi said that this year saw strong performances, giving the judges a difficult time determining the top three participants in each category. He said that judges award 40% of their grade based on the colour of the falcon, 15% for its back, 15% for the head. The three factors comprise the bulk of the grading.

HE the Minister of Municipality and Environment Abdullah bin Abdulaziz bin Turki al-Subaie praised the efforts of the organising committee on the sidelines on the concluding day.

Katara General Manager Dr Khalid bin Ibrahim al-Sulaiti emphasised the success of the 11th edition of Marmi. He added that the event has become one of the most important of its kind in the country, due to the role it plays in maintaining Qatar’s heritage and identity. He congratulated the winners of the festival’s various competitions, expressing hope that future editions will be just as successful.

Former minister of justice Hassan bin Abdullah al-Ghanem said that the festival is considered one of the most successful of its kind in the world, due to the variety of events it has and the role it plays in educating the younger generations about the region’s heritage.

He pointed out that the State of Qatar is one of the most committed to preserving its heritage and promoting it through festivals.

Al-Mahshadi thanked His Highness Sheikh Jassim bin Hamad al-Thani for attending the closing ceremony. He also thanked HE Sheikh Joaan bin Hamad al-Thani, the event’s sponsor, for his unlimited support.

Shop Qatar 2020 concludes with grand finale

Shop Qatar’s signature fashion shows brought together more than 30 local, regional and international designers who showcased their latest couture and pret collections in a series of catwalk shows at Al Hazm, while famous makeup artists and influencers conducted a number of beauty masterclasses for ladies.
