T he number of patients infected in China with the new coronavirus jumped to over 20,000 on Monday, according to a tally compiled by the World Health Organization, as authorities in the central China’s Hubei province – the epicenter of the outbreak and where the virus was first detected – reported a steep daily rise.

The rise in the number of infections in China, of 1,232 from the previous day, and the increase in deaths, were the highest in a single day since the outbreak emerged in the city of Wuhan. Chinese authorities reported 41 new deaths from the virus, bringing the toll in the country to 902.

The virus has spread to about two dozen countries since being identified, prompting the World Health Organization (WHO) to declare a global emergency.

Chinese authorities said on Monday that they expect the outbreak to peak within 14-24 days, longer than the SARS outbreak of 2003.

Ministry launches electronic system for equivalence of school certificate

The Ministry of Education and Higher Education has launched the electronic system for equivalence of school certificate service as part of its online services to the public.

Addressing a press conference, the Assistant Undersecretary of the Ministry, Dr. Hamdan al-Ahmad, explained that the new system will be divided into two phases: the first will be for private school students in Qatar and the second is concerned with the equivalence of certificates from abroad.

He pointed out, in view of the increase in the number of private schools in Qatar, the movement of students from private to government schools, the need for the National Committee for the Accreditation of Private Schools, who are concerned with the equivalence of their diplomas.

He said that many students of private schools, who are completing 12th grade in Qatar and wish to upgrade their certificates, will be able to obtain their service through computers, including those related to obtaining the equivalent certificate in Qatar or abroad to the latter.

Also, the students who wish to study directly from private institutions to government institutions will be able to obtain their certificate to ascertain at what level they can be accredited.

About 7,500 requests were received in 2019 for the equivalence of school certificates, including 3,500 through the local branches and 3,000 through the electronic system. Al-Ahmad explained that the first phase is in the implementation stage and will be launched later.

QF celebrates 25th anniversary with pride and vision

N eed for personal success, industry, and the educational sector to thrive: The need for personal success, industry, and the educational sector to thrive will be discussed at a panel discussion on the sidelines of the Qatar Education Forum. The event, titled "QF and ExxonMobil Qatar: A Wider Partnership," will see leading figures from the region's education, research, and industry sectors come together to explore the potential for collaboration and how it can drive innovation and progress in the country and the world.

The panel discussion, moderated by QF Vice Chairperson and CEO HE Sheikha Hind bint Hamad al-Thani, will feature a range of expert speakers, including QF President and CEO Dr. Ahmad M. Hasnah, and ExxonMobil Qatar country manager Hadi al-Nuaimi, to discuss the importance of strategic collaboration, bringing together Qatar's education, science, and research sectors and to play a role in the development of Qatar and the wider region.

"QF and ExxonMobil Qatar have a shared commitment to supporting the development of the country's educational and research sectors, and to ensuring that Qatar is well-prepared for the challenges of the 21st century," said Dr. Ahmad M. Hasnah, President and CEO of QF. "By working together, we can help to shape a brighter future for the country and the wider region, and to ensure that Qatar is well-positioned to take its place as a global leader in education and research."

"We are excited to be working with QF on a number of initiatives that will help to build a stronger and more resilient society," said Hadi al-Nuaimi, Manager ofQF. "Through our collaboration, we hope to drive innovation, drive the development of world-class research, and to support Qatar's national vision of becoming a global knowledge hub.

"This event is a testament to the fact that Qatar is a leader in education and research, and that we are working together to achieve our goals. We are looking forward to a productive discussion with our partners and to exploring ways in which we can work together to achieve our goals."

The panel discussion will take place on May 5, 2023, at the Qatar National Convention Centre, and will be attended by a range of stakeholders from the educational and research sectors, including representatives from Qatar University, Hamad Bin Khalifa University, and Qatar Science & Technology Park.

Q uarterton models in developing Qatar 2022 visitor experience as HE Sheikha Hind bint Hamad al-Thani and Hassan al-Thawadi, secretary general of the SC.

The Qatar Foundation (QF) is to support the country's efforts in developing Qatar 2022 as it hosts the FIFA World Cup 2022. The foundation is working with the Ministry of Education and Higher Education, the Qatar Olympic and Sports Committee (QOSC) and the Supreme Committee for Delivery & Legacy (SC) to develop a visitor experience programme that will provide a unique and engaging visitor experience to the nation to a global audience, through local and regional/neighborhood collaborations.

A number of understandings (MoUs) between the two organisations have been signed to develop the QF Visitor Experience Programme. These will include an online digital platform to assist the football fans from around the world who will be attending the event.

When QF set up its School model in 2000, it was clear that QF would not just build schools – it would build communities and support the students to be their best. The initiative was to create a network of schools that would be able to learn from each other and support the students to be their best.

What is QF's School model about?

QF's School model is a network of schools that are committed to providing a safe and supportive learning environment for students. It focuses on creating a community where students feel comfortable to learn and grow.

The school model is based on the principles of self-directed learning, where students are encouraged to take control of their learning and become active participants in their education.

The model also promotes collaboration and teamwork, where students work together to solve problems and complete projects.

The QF School model is supported by a range of initiatives, including the Qatar Foundation for Education, Science and Technology (QF), which provides resources and support to the schools.

QF's School model is designed to prepare students for success in their future careers and to contribute to the development of Qatar as a knowledge-based society.

The success of QF's School model has been widely recognised, with the school being awarded the "School of the Year" award in the Gulf Times Best Schools Awards 2023.

QF and its partners have been working with the Ministry of Education and Higher Education, the Qatar Olympic and Sports Committee (QOSC) and the Supreme Committee for Delivery & Legacy (SC) to develop a visitor experience programme that will provide a unique and engaging visitor experience to the nation to a global audience, through local and regional/neighborhood collaborations.

The event will showcase the diversity of Qatar's culture and traditions, and will provide an opportunity for visitors to experience the country's rich history and heritage.

The visitor experience programme will include a range of activities, such as cultural exhibitions, sports events, and educational programmes, which will be tailored to suit the interests and needs of visitors.

The programme will be designed to create a memorable and enjoyable experience for visitors, and to promote the country's image as a welcoming and vibrant destination.
Qatar Foundation spearheads national reading movement

Qatar Foundation’s (QF) efforts to provide opportunity and advancement in education, through recognizing its belief that in order for this country to be the best, its people need to be given the best, have helped build our soft power. It is an impelling force of positive change for the country.

“QF has clearly helped build our soft power,” said Hussein al-Abdulla, executive general manager and chief marketing officer at Commercial Bank, who said QF has also helped shape Qatar’s business and entrepreneurial landscape.

“Graduates from QF’s partner universities and schools have demonstrated, time and again, the impact of QF’s investment in education, their ability to adapt and take on new challenges, and their readiness to contribute to the finance and business sector,” he added.

“Furthermore, QF’s Education Development Institute brings in experts in the field of education to conduct professional development courses that benefit not only teachers from QF-run schools, but also from schools outside QF. The professional development courses and workshops are administered to teachers who possess a trait crucial for their talents in Qatar,” al-Abdulla said.

“With the focus of the Doha Film Institute on promoting new voices in cinema and nurturing young talents, we are striving to engage in our operations with the Qatar Film Institute. Our partnerships with QF entities such as Northwestern University in Qatar (NU-Q), Virginia Commonwealth University School of the Arts in Qatar, NU-Q’s communication and digital media program in Qatar Foundation’s (QF) recently announced its new programmes. As a bank that was set up over 40 years ago, Commercial Bank has witnessed the growth of QF and its advancement as an educational entity and an institution with a potent positive social impact.”

The American School of Doha (ASD), says that QF’s focus on entrepreneurship, and research. Dr Tom Hawkins, director of the community, has strength-eneded organisations such as Commercial Bank have rec-ognised the value and depth of knowledge that QF students bring with them, and have wel comed them into their respective com-munities across the country,” Hawkins al-Mohaya, executive general manager of QF’s Education Development Institute, said that Commercial Bank has also welcomed QF students from NU-Q. “Through additional events and initiatives that support our commu-nity, Qatar Foundation has closely helped build our soft power. It is an impelling force of positive change for the country. In 2019, the emphasis of Qatar Foundation – illustrated in the films that it produces – represents the spirit of perseverance that it has instilled in the community.”

Scottish independence surveys 'show Brexit has put union at risk'

The Scottish independence surveys 'show Brexit has put union at risk' according to the Scottish government. The surveys, conducted by Panelbase, show a slight increase in support for Scottish independence, with 51% of respondents saying they would vote 'yes' in a referendum.

The government said the evidence suggests that the Union is facing a 'challenging period' and that the Scottish government's priority should be to 'build a strong and sustainable case for Scotland's continuing membership of the UK'.

The government also said it was committed to 'listening to the voices of those who are concerned about the future of the Union' and that it would continue to work with the Scottish government to ensure that the Union remains strong and stable.

The Scottish government has been pushing for a second independence referendum since the result of the 2014 referendum, in which 55% of voters rejected independence.

The latest Panelbase survey, commissioned by the Scottish government, found that support for independence had increased slightly from 50% in March to 51% in May.

The government said it was committed to working with the Scottish government to ensure that the Union remains strong and stable.

Review 2019: Migrant Camps Are Still Being Vacated in Europe

This picture taken on Monday shows a torrent of migrants arriving on a bus outside the Kara Tepa camp, on the island of Lesbos.

A migrant holds his child during clashes with riot police as pagans and migrants demonstrate on Monday outside the Kara Tepa camp, on the island of Lesbos.

Are migrants being deported to countries that do not accept them, or are they repatriated to their country of origin?

The United Nations said last year that mass expulsions were “extremely rare” and usually involved just a few hundred migrants. It added that the number of such cases has increased in recent years. France, Italy, and Greece have been accused of carrying out large-scale expulsions of migrants.

The migrant camp, named after the beach it is located on, is one of the largest on the Greek island of Lesbos.

The money was paid between 2004 and 2011, prosecutors said.

The scheme – which took place between 2014 and 2016 – allegedly involved a network of seaside restaurants, bars, and games arcades.

The group, which was established in 1995, is composed of several organizations that together have a membership of more than 1 million people.

The scheme was allegedly run by a group of crooks who used fake documents to open bank accounts in the names of their victims.

But the group said it was able to avert the expulsion of thousands of migrants.

The President's comments came after a meeting with the Prime Minister of Greece, Kyriakos Mitsotakis, on Wednesday.

The new policy was introduced following the death of 39 migrants in a lorry in Essex in October last year.

Those who cry for terrorists can't develop Delhi: Modi

PUNE: Muslim Nana Gokhale, President of the Hindu Mahasabha, who was killed in a road accident last month, has said that those who cry for terrorists cannot develop Delhi. Gokhale, who was killed in a road accident last month, has said that those who cry for terrorists cannot develop Delhi.

Gokhale was among the 10 people killed in a road accident when a car collided with a truck near Pune on Monday morning. The accident occurred when the car carrying Gokhale and nine other passengers was hit by a truck on the busy Sion-Koliwada road.

The accident took place at around 9.30 am when the car was travelling at a speed of around 100 km per hour. The car hit the left rear wheel of the truck, which was driving in the opposite direction.

Gokhale, who had been a leader in the Hindutva movement for several years, was a member of the Hindu Mahasabha and had earlier been associated with the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS).

He was known for his strong views against Muslims and other minorities and had been involved in several controversies in the past.

The Hindutva leader had been a vocal critic of the efforts to promote peace and understanding between different communities in India.

Gokhale's death has sparked outrage and condemnation from various quarters.

Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, who is also the leader of the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), has said that Gokhale's death is a loss for the Hindutva movement.

Kejriwal said that Gokhale was a passionate follower of the Hindu religion and had always been a vocal critic of the efforts to promote peace and understanding between different communities in India.

He said that Gokhale's death was a loss for the Hindutva movement and that his death would be remembered by all those who are committed to the cause of Hindutva.

Meanwhile, the Aam Aadmi Party has announced a three-day mourning period to condole Gokhale's death.

The party has also called for a nationwide bandh on March 9 to protest against the killing of Gokhale and other leaders of the Hindutva movement.

The AAP has also announced that it will hold a protest rally in Delhi on March 9 to protest against the killing of Gokhale and other leaders of the Hindutva movement.
Government has sent some “religious pamphlets” for Indian citizens at the national border. They are being kept under watch at the border. Meanwhile, Kerala which has reported two cases of coronavirus so far. All of them are undergoing a 14-days quarantine. All of them are under watch and those who showed symptoms of cough and cold have been shifted to the hospital.

The Delhi unit of the BJP tweeted, “If somebody goes to any European country, he should feed good thought to himself and should take consent for going abroad.”

Govt suspends air travel from China, declares all visas ‘invalid’

The government on Monday issued a notification suspending air travel from China, as a precautionary measure, to deal with the spread of the novel coronavirus.

The notification said: “All airlines are instructed not to induct any passengers from China, including Chinese or other foreign nationals who may be holding valid electronic travel authorisation (eTA) visas to board flights for any destination in India, and not to permit the implementation of the eTA visa for landing in India of any such passenger. The [eTA] visa will expire and shall remain in force at the airport of entry till further notice.”

The notification was in response to a request by the Ministry of External Affairs to the government to review the visa policy for China.

Britain’s protracted divorce from the European Union took place on January 31, 2020, when it legally revoked its membership in the 28-nation bloc. Brexit was a done deal after the game-changing UK election thrust Prime Minister Boris Johnson into Number 10, with the Boris Johnson’s Conservative Party won a sweeping 80-seat majority and a mandate to get Brexit done. Parliament then passed legislation that avoided a disorderly or “no-deal” Brexit, and allowed for an 11-month transition period for Britain to adjust to life on the outside. During that time, the UK will still trade freely with the EU and be subject to most of its laws, even though it will have no say in making them.

Now what? Virtually all facets of business and everyday life will remain unchanged during 2020 while the UK and EU hash out agreements on how they will handle a range of issues from trade to data sharing, fishing rights, and security co-operation. The next 11 months will be a crucial fight between competing aspirations of the EU and the UK.

Brexit: The battle for 11 months to hammer out a deal

The battle for French pension reform

By Johan Rockström, Lars Artarv, and Raphaël Hadas-Lebel

Artificial intelligence, big data, and a long-standing geopolitical alliances; realities cannot be ignored. The alarm is becoming deafening. But are inevitable. Concentrations of greenhouse gases and disappearing coastlines to more its effects – from rising sea levels heat, at our planet than usual. The reality of climate change is the grips of a similar freeze by 2025. Amsterdam's canals freeze regularly — but by pushing for this measure, he agreed to break an earlier promise. The Macron government’s proposals are bold. But they are not sustained in the same way as negotiations for a Paris accord. Nor do they undermine the broader principle of solidarity. The total pension payments for a group will still be financed through social-security contributions from active workers. And it won’t make any sense. As the French system is still not around 80% (which is a major threshold in most European countries).

The decisive action is a “systemic" overhaul and entirely different from previous reforms, the main goal of which was to build the bridge by reducing the benefits of the 2nd pillar of the pension system. The new system will be organized around a new institutional system in which, as Macron stated, “a pensioner could earn the same rights as all others.”
