Vaccines for kids between 5-11 likely in November: Fauci

Vaccines for kids between the ages of 5 and 11 will likely be available by the end of November, US infectious disease expert Anthony Fauci said today, predicting a timeline that could see many kids getting fully vaccinated within the next few months.

\[\text{If all goes well, we plan to open up registration for kids five and younger. Once that happens, the vaccine will be available for children from 5 to 11 within the next week or two of November.} \]

Fauci said in an interview with ABC's "This Week.

US Food and Drug Administration officials are reviewing the Pfizer/BioNTech application seeking authorization of its 3-dose vaccine for younger children, with a panel of outside advisors scheduled to vote on October 26. The FDA typically follows the advice of its outside advisors before making a final decision.

Read the full story

FACTORIE

SPORT | Page 1

Football: FIFA Arab Cup last-minute ticket sales from today

QATAR

Children are taught Qatari culture, values

Private schools and kindergartens to carry out various activities in implementation of education ministry's "My Values Draw My Identity" project

The Ministry of Education and Higher Education through the Private Education Affairs Sector has launched a project to enhance the national identity and Qatari culture in private schools and kindergartens under the slogan "My Values Draw My Identity" in academic year 2022-2023.

Assistant Under-secretary for Private Education Affairs Sector Abdulla Al-Shamaa said that the implementation of the project comes within the ministry's strategic plan for 2022-2023 in the area of promoting values and identity. The project aims to increase the programme's and activities that enhance Qatari values, national pride, respect for peoples and cultures in all stages of private education, as well as to raise the level of awareness and interest among student parents about the values and heritage of Qatari society.

Al-Shamaa indicated that private schools and kindergartens were invited to participate in various activities and programmes in this project, stressing that the project places the activities within an integrated educational framework.

He pointed out that the last academic year and the previous two years have witnessed students and pupils in private schools and kindergartens carrying out various activities, initiatives, and workshops that promote Qatari culture and the values.

Director of the Private Education Affairs Sector Khalid Al-Maadeed said that the project's activities are a continuation of the ministry's continuous actions and efforts to promote Qatari culture and values.

The programme comes in line with the ministry's programme on developing partnerships among students, focusing on the Arabic language and the adherence to Arabic values, and preserving the values of Qatari society.

He also underlined that the project aims to enhance the national identity through educational activities among the educational community, and itself by serious means to build role models who are proud of their identity, values and culture.

Values Draw My Identity' project targets students, teachers, school leadership, parents and pupils, and is based on strengthening the spirit of belonging and loyalty to the country, as well as the respect for the values of Qatari society.

Children are taught Qatari culture, values
• Private schools and kindergartens to carry out various activities in implementation of education ministry’s ‘My Values Draw My Identity’ project

children of education ministry’s ‘My Values Draw My Identity’ project

Qatar Olympic Committee wins NOC Breakthrough Award

The Qatar Olympic Committee (QOC) was bestowed the National Olympic Committee Breakthrough Award by the Association of National Olympic Committees (ANOC) yesterday. QOC President HE Sheikh Joaan bin Hamad Al-Thani received the award at the ANOC Awards 2021 held on the sidelines of the 2nd ANOC General Assembly in Crete, Greece.

The NOC Breakthrough Award is presented to the NOC who were the best performing NOC in the 2020 Olympic gold medal, 2021 gold medal, 2022 gold medal and 2024 gold medal events.

Al-Thani received the award on behalf of Qatar’s Olympic, Paralympic and Special Olympics teams.

PM meets Turkish minister of culture

Kahramaa makes big progress in installing smart meter systems

The General Directorate of Electricity and Water Corporation (Kahramaa) has launched a project that aims to complete the installation of smart meter systems in all electricity consumers in the country. The project is a qualitative leap in the use of the digital transformation in line with the objectives of Qatar National Vision 2030.

The project’s strategic plan aims at enhancing the use of the Internet of Things (IoT) technologies in co-operation with Vodafone, as well as realising the digital transformation and smart grid. This will be achieved by installing 600,000 smart meters powered by the Internet of Things (IoT) technology, in co-operation with Vodafone, in line with the objectives of Qatar National Vision 2030.

Qatar National Vision 2030 is an important and advanced step in the various projects that have been initiated to transform the energy sector and the communication system for electricity consumers in the country. The project is a qualitative leap in the use of the digital transformation in line with the objectives of Qatar National Vision 2030.

The project’s strategic plan aims at enhancing the use of the Internet of Things (IoT) technologies in co-operation with Vodafone, as well as realising the digital transformation and smart grid. This will be achieved by installing 600,000 smart meters powered by the Internet of Things (IoT) technology, in co-operation with Vodafone, in line with the objectives of Qatar National Vision 2030.

The Ministry of Education and Higher Education through the Private Education Affairs Sector has launched a project to enhance the national identity and Qatari culture in private schools and kindergartens under the slogan “My Values Draw My Identity” in academic year 2022-2023.

Assistant Under-secretary for Private Education Affairs Sector Abdulla Al-Shamaa said that the implementation of the project comes within the ministry’s strategic plan for 2022-2023 in the area of promoting values and identity.

He pointed out that the last academic year and the previous two years have witnessed students and pupils in private schools and kindergartens carrying out various activities, initiatives, and workshops that promote Qatari culture and values.

Director of the Private Education Affairs Sector Khalid Al-Maadeed said that the project’s activities are a continuation of the ministry’s continuous actions and efforts to promote Qatari culture and values.

The programme comes in line with the ministry’s programme on developing partnerships among students, focusing on the Arabic language and the adherence to Arabic values, and preserving the values of Qatari society.

He also underlined that the project aims to enhance the national identity through educational activities among the educational community, and itself by serious means to build role models who are proud of their identity, values and culture.

Values Draw My Identity’ project targets students, teachers, school leadership, parents and pupils, and is based on strengthening the spirit of belonging and loyalty to the country, as well as the respect for the values of Qatari society.

The programme comes in line with the ministry’s programme on developing partnerships among students, focusing on the Arabic language and the adherence to Arabic values, and preserving the values of Qatari society.

He also underlined that the project aims to enhance the national identity through educational activities among the educational community, and itself by serious means to build role models who are proud of their identity, values and culture.

Values Draw My Identity’ project targets students, teachers, school leadership, parents and pupils, and is based on strengthening the spirit of belonging and loyalty to the country, as well as the respect for the values of Qatari society.

The programme comes in line with the ministry’s programme on developing partnerships among students, focusing on the Arabic language and the adherence to Arabic values, and preserving the values of Qatari society.

He also underlined that the project aims to enhance the national identity through educational activities among the educational community, and itself by serious means to build role models who are proud of their identity, values and culture.

Values Draw My Identity’ project targets students, teachers, school leadership, parents and pupils, and is based on strengthening the spirit of belonging and loyalty to the country, as well as the respect for the values of Qatari society.

The programme comes in line with the ministry’s programme on developing partnerships among students, focusing on the Arabic language and the adherence to Arabic values, and preserving the values of Qatari society.

He also underlined that the project aims to enhance the national identity through educational activities among the educational community, and itself by serious means to build role models who are proud of their identity, values and culture.

Values Draw My Identity’ project targets students, teachers, school leadership, parents and pupils, and is based on strengthening the spirit of belonging and loyalty to the country, as well as the respect for the values of Qatari society.

The programme comes in line with the ministry’s programme on developing partnerships among students, focusing on the Arabic language and the adherence to Arabic values, and preserving the values of Qatari society.

He also underlined that the project aims to enhance the national identity through educational activities among the educational community, and itself by serious means to build role models who are proud of their identity, values and culture.

Values Draw My Identity’ project targets students, teachers, school leadership, parents and pupils, and is based on strengthening the spirit of belonging and loyalty to the country, as well as the respect for the values of Qatari society.

The programme comes in line with the ministry’s programme on developing partnerships among students, focusing on the Arabic language and the adherence to Arabic values, and preserving the values of Qatari society.

He also underlined that the project aims to enhance the national identity through educational activities among the educational community, and itself by serious means to build role models who are proud of their identity, values and culture.

Values Draw My Identity’ project targets students, teachers, school leadership, parents and pupils, and is based on strengthening the spirit of belonging and loyalty to the country, as well as the respect for the values of Qatari society.
ONL receives book donation from Turkey

By Joseph Vogtneus

HE Dr Hamad bin Abdulaziz al-Kawari with the Turkish delegation and QNL officials.

Our National Library (ONL) received a book donation from the Turkish delegation yesterday at the invitation of the Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, HE Dr Hamad bin Abdulaziz al-Kawari, Minister of Culture and Tourism.

The delegation included M. Mustafa Goksu, ambassador of Turkey to Qatar, Nese Cildik, director-general; Gokhan Yazgi, adviser to the minister; Selim Terzi, adviser to the minister; Buse Dikmen, deputy director, and Batuhan Mumcu, chief of mission.

Other members of the Turkish delegation included Dilek Gunes, deputy director-general, and Miroslav Sabol, assistant director-general.

HE Dr Hamad bin Abdulaziz al-Kawari said: "Turkey is an important country culturally. The minister has received book collections from embassies of several countries.

‘‘The library is an important stop for other libraries around the world for collaboration and our agreement signing will be followed by a visit to the Turkish Library.’’

The Turkish minister highlighted the historical and cultural value through the establishment of these events and collaborations.”

Al-Muraikhi meets Egyptian envoy

HE the Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Khalid Al-Muraikhi meets with his Egyptian counterpart.

The meeting, they reviewed the existing relations between the two countries and aspects of cooperation in various sectors.

It is also a result of the efforts made by Mada Centre, which is engaging in consultative and audit sessions with the participation of people with disabilities to ensure improved digital access to all digital platforms affiliated to QCB.

Al-Mansouri highly valued the joint cooperation between Mada Centre and QCB in carrying out the accreditation of ATMs for various banks to facilitate access for people with disabilities and the elderly.

The launch of the new version of the ‘‘Qatari Currency Guide’’ application was also discussed, which contributes to a qualitative leap in the lives of people with visual impairments and the elderly, for banking transactions.

Paraguay Speaker meets Qatari diplomat

Paraguay’s Speaker of Parliament and President of Congress Oscar Mario Abdo Benitez met yesterday with the visiting Turkish Minister of Culture and Tourism Mehmet Nuri Ensary. During the meeting, they reviewed bilateral relations and ways to develop them in various fields.

During the meeting, they reviewed bilateral relations and ways to develop them in various fields.

PM meets Turkish minister

HE the Prime Minister and Minister of Interior Sheikh Khalid bin Khalifa bin Abdulaziz Al-Thani received the visiting Turkish minister and the accompanying delegation during the meeting, they reviewed co-operation issues and ways to develop them in various fields in addition to discussing issues of common interest.”

Amir congratulates Zambian president

His Highness the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani congratulated Zambian President Hakainde Hichilema on the anniversary of his country’s Independence Day.

Amir gets message from Paraguay president

His Highness the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani received a written message from Paraguay President Mario Abdo Benitez, on bilateral relations and ways to support and develop them. HE the Prime Minister and Minister of Interior Sheikh Khalid bin Khalifa bin Abdulaziz Al-Thani commended the efforts of his country in cooperation with Paraguay in various sectors.”

Al-Mansouri highly valued the joint cooperation between Mada Centre and QCB in carrying out the accreditation of ATMs for various banks to facilitate access for people with disabilities and the elderly.

The launch of the new version of the ‘‘Qatari Currency Guide’’ application was also discussed, which contributes to a qualitative leap in the lives of people with visual impairments and the elderly, for banking transactions.

PM meets Korean minister

His Highness the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani met yesterday with the visiting Korean Minister of Industry and Energy Moon Sung-won, and the accompanying delegation. During the meeting, they reviewed co-operation issues and ways to develop them in various fields, in addition to discussing issues of common interest.”

Qatar Central Bank, has approved 11 ATMs for various banks in the country as suitable devices for people with disabilities. The approved ATMs provide a number of features that allow people to access all services independently and enable them to read currency, enter amounts, and select services such as withdrawals and deposits, and so on. This accreditation takes into account all the criteria identified machines were adhered to and concluded that the ATM meets the accessibility standards are to ensure improved digital access to all digital platforms affiliated to QCB.

The launch of the new version of the ‘‘Qatari Currency Guide’’ application was also discussed, which contributes to a qualitative leap in the lives of people with visual impairments and the elderly, for banking transactions.

Amir gets message from Paraguay president

His Highness the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani received a written message from Paraguay President Mario Abdo Benitez, on bilateral relations and ways to support and develop them. HE the Prime Minister and Minister of Interior Sheikh Khalid bin Khalifa bin Abdulaziz Al-Thani commended the efforts of his country in cooperation with Paraguay in various sectors.”

Al-Mansouri highly valued the joint cooperation between Mada Centre and QCB in carrying out the accreditation of ATMs for various banks to facilitate access for people with disabilities and the elderly.

The launch of the new version of the ‘‘Qatari Currency Guide’’ application was also discussed, which contributes to a qualitative leap in the lives of people with visual impairments and the elderly, for banking transactions.

Qatar Central Bank, has approved 11 ATMs for various banks in the country as suitable devices for people with disabilities. The approved ATMs provide a number of features that allow people to access all services independently and enable them to read currency, enter amounts, and select services such as withdrawals and deposits, and so on. This accreditation takes into account all the criteria identified machines were adhered to and concluded that the ATM meets the accessibility standards are to ensure improved digital access to all digital platforms affiliated to QCB.

The launch of the new version of the ‘‘Qatari Currency Guide’’ application was also discussed, which contributes to a qualitative leap in the lives of people with visual impairments and the elderly, for banking transactions.
People are key to making green cities work: QGBC

The message that sustainability is for everyone was delivered yesterday to the community of Qatar at the opening of Qatar Sustainability Week 2021 in Doha Downtown which began today.

Qatar Sustainability Week, an annual initiative organized by Qatar Green Building Council (QGBC) – a member of Qatar Foundation (QF), is in its sixth year. The event, which is attended by leading companies to encourage people to live more sustainably, is a platform to promote awareness of the impact of climate change, the environmental movement of change by raising awareness of the impact of climate change, and sustainable lives and create a mechanism – Qatar is host to the 2022 FIFA World Cup and the official Qatari bank of the FIFA World Cup and the official Qatari bank of the World Cup Qatar 2022, he said:

“Outstanding Leadership in Green Bonds”.

Sustainable Finance Awards for “Outstanding

Climate Bonds Initiative (CBI) as a “Green Pioneer

QNB Group, currently ranked as the most valuable

Cuban president receives credentials of Qatar’s envoy

FM meets Bosnian PM

The Qatar Red Crescent Society (QRCS), participat-

QNR Group, the largest financial institution in the Middle East and Africa, has announced its support for Qatar Sustainability Week (QSW), taking place from October 15 to 22. The week, which is taking place amid the continued efforts towards supporting the initiatives of sustainability awareness, is an opportunity to raise awareness in the community and move forward in the direction of sustainability.

The QRCS is extending its support to Qatar Sustainability Week through its involvement in various community initiatives, in a core part of QNB’s sustainable approaches and framework.

The continued action and focus on sustainability initiatives have enabled the group to focus on regional rankings, where it received an “A+” ESG rating from Sustainalytics.

QNB supports QF’s Sustainability Week

The Qatari Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs Sheikh Mohamed bin Abdulrahman Al-Thani met yesterday with the visiting Prime Minister of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Ms. Davorrisa Kovačević Prunić, and discussed Qatar’s role in the region as a strategic partner for the Qatar Green Building Council (QGBC), which opened on Saturday, aims to encourage people to live more sustainably, and is now in its sixth year.

Initiatives have enabled the group’s lead in sustainable finance and framework.

The QRCS supports the QRCS, which opened on Saturday, aims to encourage people to live more sustainably, and is now in its sixth year.

Finance minister meets OIF

The Qatar Red Crescent Society (QRCS) has launched a new series of “QRCS Express” services and opened new QRCS Express shops across Qatar yesterday.

While in recent months there has been controversy over the use of the Qomous eShop to check out the services on offer, QRCS recently spent time visiting these shops were opened at Gulf outlets across Doha. The new QRCS Express shops are designed to provide QRCS customers with similar services in the use of the eShop.

People are key to standard Ooredoo services and able customers to access all the use of the Ooredoo eShop to check out the services on offer, QRCS recently spent time visiting these shops were opened at Gulf outlets across Doha. The new QRCS Express shops are designed to provide QRCS customers with similar services in the use of the eShop.

As of August 2021, and as a strategic partner for the Qatar Green Building Council (QGBC), Qatar Charity (QC) has provided financial support to the organisation for its strengthening role in the field of Humanitarian and Development assistance for people in need, including humanitarian aid, development assistance and emergency response in the fields of education, health, economic development, and community development.

The QRCS supports the QRCS, which opened on Saturday, aims to encourage people to live more sustainably, and is now in its sixth year.

One of the world’s leading providers of mobile and fixed telecommunications, Ooredoo has simultaneously launched three new Ooredoo Express shops across Qatar, with the opening of a new shop at Al Wakra Mall, Al Yousef Mall and Doha Jumilla.

Senior executives from Ooredoo recently spent time visiting these shops were opened at Gulf outlets across Doha. The new QRCS Express shops are designed to provide QRCS customers with similar services in the use of the eShop.

While in recent months there has been controversy over the use of the Qomous eShop to check out the services on offer, QRCS recently spent time visiting these shops were opened at Gulf outlets across Doha. The new QRCS Express shops are designed to provide QRCS customers with similar services in the use of the eShop.

As of August 2021, and as a strategic partner for the Qatar Green Building Council (QGBC), Qatar Charity (QC) has provided financial support to the organisation for its strengthening role in the field of Humanitarian and Development assistance for people in need, including humanitarian aid, development assistance and emergency response in the fields of education, health, economic development, and community development.

The QRCS supports the QRCS, which opened on Saturday, aims to encourage people to live more sustainably, and is now in its sixth year.

One of the world’s leading providers of mobile and fixed telecommunications, Ooredoo has simultaneously launched three new Ooredoo Express shops across Qatar, with the opening of a new shop at Al Wakra Mall, Al Yousef Mall and Doha Jumilla.

Senior executives from Ooredoo recently spent time visiting these shops were opened at Gulf outlets across Doha. The new QRCS Express shops are designed to provide QRCS customers with similar services in the use of the eShop.
The Central Municipal Council (CMC) chairman Mohamed bin Hammoud al-Shafiisuited at the event to honour Sheikha al-Jufairi, Qatar Foundation’s (QF) global health initiatives.

Nimeh Omer, a psychological therapist at Doha International Family Institute (Difi), demonstrated at an international panel discussion that applying policies supporting friendly policies and programmes positively affects the life of women worldwide, and that adopting simple daily habits to monitor and address psychological wounds. Omer stressed the importance of adopting good emotional health practices and said “we should trust our psychological expertise as women in order to manage our emotions and connect with our families in a caring role. The virtual session was organised by Southern Methodist University Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, it in Qatar. "At WISH, we have a strong focus on mental health research, and we wanted to extend this idea to make a positive impact on the wider QF community. As a community, we have a specific set of challenges and experiences, and so we wanted to provide a tailored programme that ought to address the well-being of our colleagues, and therefore our workplace."

Taking place over the coming weeks, the second workshop will focus on building awareness and understanding of challenges faced by parents or individuals in a caring role. The third workshop will look at how to build emotional and psychological well-being, manage stress and anxiety, support colleagues and build stronger relationships at work.

Dr Sharifa Noaman al-Emadi, executive director at Doha International Family Institute (Difi), said: "At Difi we are aware that women’s empowerment starts from within the family, and that the family, in fact, supports women’s advocacy. "Women are in the process of completing a study on domestic violence, which will produce a proposal for a law that can help prevent the occurrence of such violence in Qatar."

Dr al-Emadi also highlighted the role of the Qatari Ministry of Public Health in a forum organised by World Innovation Summit for Health (WISH), Qatar Foundation’s (QF) global health initiatives.

Nimeh Omer, a psychological therapist at Doha International Family Institute (Difi), demonstrated at an international panel discussion that applying policies supporting friendly policies and programmes positively affects the life of women worldwide, and that adopting simple daily habits to monitor and address psychological wounds. Omer stressed the importance of adopting good emotional health practices and said “we should trust our psychological expertise as women in order to manage our emotions and connect with our families in a caring role. The virtual session was organised by Southern Methodist University Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, it in Qatar. "At WISH, we have a strong focus on mental health research, and we wanted to extend this idea to make a positive impact on the wider QF community. As a community, we have a specific set of challenges and experiences, and so we wanted to provide a tailored programme that ought to address the well-being of our colleagues, and therefore our workplace."

Taking place over the coming weeks, the second workshop will focus on building awareness and understanding of challenges faced by parents or individuals in a caring role. The third workshop will look at how to build emotional and psychological well-being, manage stress and anxiety, support colleagues and build stronger relationships at work.

Dr Sharifa Noaman al-Emadi, executive director at Doha International Family Institute (Difi), said: "At Difi we are aware that women’s empowerment starts from within the family, and that the family, in fact, supports women’s advocacy. "Women are in the process of completing a study on domestic violence, which will produce a proposal for a law that can help prevent the occurrence of such violence in Qatar."

Dr al-Emadi also highlighted the role of the Qatari Ministry of Public Health in a forum organised by World Innovation Summit for Health (WISH), Qatar Foundation’s (QF) global health initiatives.

Nimeh Omer, a psychological therapist at Doha International Family Institute (Difi), demonstrated at an international panel discussion that applying policies supporting friendly policies and programmes positively affects the life of women worldwide, and that adopting simple daily habits to monitor and address psychological wounds. Omer stressed the importance of adopting good emotional health practices and said “we should trust our psychological expertise as women in order to manage our emotions and connect with our families in a caring role. The virtual session was organised by Southern Methodist University Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, it in Qatar. "At WISH, we have a strong focus on mental health research, and we wanted to extend this idea to make a positive impact on the wider QF community. As a community, we have a specific set of challenges and experiences, and so we wanted to provide a tailored programme that ought to address the well-being of our colleagues, and therefore our workplace."

Taking place over the coming weeks, the second workshop will focus on building awareness and understanding of challenges faced by parents or individuals in a caring role. The third workshop will look at how to build emotional and psychological well-being, manage stress and anxiety, support colleagues and build stronger relationships at work.
Total Covid recoveries reach 236,906

Qatar Tourism in partnership with film critic Elgendy has announced the impending closing of submissions for its ‘Iconic Limousine Design’ competition.

Participants still have the chance to submit up to two unique designs to win the new vehicles until October 28.

Part of Qatar Tourism’s Service Excellence programme, the ‘Iconic Limousine Design’ contest invites citizens and residents of Qatar who are 18 years of age or older, to submit designs that reflect Qatar’s culture and heritage, progressive future, or sustainability and eco-friendly concepts. Participants can submit designs at an online contest platform, designed to demonstrate the country’s cultural identity and heritage, helping create a novel tourist experience through vehicles that reflect Qatar through the eyes of its people. This year’s first round of the contest will also involve the participation of international design firms and designers, creating a truly global effort to design a vehicle that serves as a symbol of the country’s cultural identity and heritage.

The event was acclaimed by Qatar Shell Service Company W.L.L., an uncommon six-site survey measuring two to two kilometers on the following location:

Qatar Shell Service Company W.L.L. requests that all vessels keep a speed of 11 knots or less. Fishing vessels are requested to navigate towards the sea and keep away from the area.

Qatar Shell Service Company assumes no responsibility for damage or loss of equipment following this announcement.

For more details contact
Tel: 44917777, Fax: 44917778

PHCC celebrates International Infection Prevention Week

WCM-Q webinar addresses chronic heart failure management

THROUGH a collaborative initiative by clinical and administrative teams at Qatar’s Hamad Medical Corporation (QF), wait times in clinics have been significantly reduced at the medical centre.

“By addressing the needs of our patients early on, our therapy teams are able to improve their conditions early, before they develop into severe conditions,” Dr. Elgendy noted that more than 6mn patients have been treated at the QF’s Patient Hospital, Diagnostic and Treatment Centre, including cardiology and critical care clinics, as well as the Prosthetic Unit, giving evidence to the fact that most specialist rehabilitation services they require.

Dr. Hanadi al-Hamad, explained the importance of reducing wait times in improving patient care and outcomes. “Since the opening of the QRI in 2016, we have seen a significant increase in the number of patients year-on-year. Our dedicated therapy teams provide a wide range of specialist rehabilitation services within our state-of-the-art facility. Ensuring patients are seen promptly, without delay, is crucial to ensuring good patient outcomes. By addressing the needs of our patients early on, our therapy teams are able to improve their conditions early, before they develop into severe conditions.”

“A number of key interventions have been crucial in reducing wait times and improving working processes with our patients to decrease wait times in clinic appointments,” Dr. Hanadi al-Hamad, explained the importance of reducing wait times in improving patient care and outcomes. “Since the opening of the QRI in 2016, we have seen a significant increase in the number of patients year-on-year. Our dedicated therapy teams provide a wide range of specialist rehabilitation services within our state-of-the-art facility. Ensuring patients are seen promptly, without delay, is crucial to ensuring good patient outcomes. By addressing the needs of our patients early on, our therapy teams are able to improve their conditions early, before they develop into severe conditions.”

A medical doctor of the QRI and Qomolangma Hospital, Dr. Ahmad al-Mansour, explained the importance of reducing wait times in improving patient care and outcomes. “Since the opening of the QRI in 2016, we have seen a significant increase in the number of patients year-on-year. Our dedicated therapy teams provide a wide range of specialist rehabilitation services within our state-of-the-art facility. Ensuring patients are seen promptly, without delay, is crucial to ensuring good patient outcomes. By addressing the needs of our patients early on, our therapy teams are able to improve their conditions early, before they develop into severe conditions.”

A medical doctor of the QRI and Qomolangma Hospital, Dr. Ahmad al-Mansour, explained the importance of reducing wait times in improving patient care and outcomes. “Since the opening of the QRI in 2016, we have seen a significant increase in the number of patients year-on-year. Our dedicated therapy teams provide a wide range of specialist rehabilitation services within our state-of-the-art facility. Ensuring patients are seen promptly, without delay, is crucial to ensuring good patient outcomes. By addressing the needs of our patients early on, our therapy teams are able to improve their conditions early, before they develop into severe conditions.”

QRI approach leads to significant cut in wait times at clinics

Total Covid recoveries reach 236,906

The Ministry of Public Health (MoPH) has confirmed 63 new confirmed cases of Covid-19 amid the community and 18 among travellers. The MoPH has recorded an increase in the death of a 60-year-old patient who had been admitted to the hospital on the day they received the notification of a positive result. The death is under investigation to determine the underlying conditions of the patient's health and to investigate the cause of death.

The MoPH has confirmed 63 new confirmed cases of Covid-19 amid the community and 18 among travellers. The MoPH has recorded an increase in the death of a 60-year-old patient who had been admitted to the hospital on the day they received the notification of a positive result. The death is under investigation to determine the underlying conditions of the patient's health and to investigate the cause of death.

The MoPH has confirmed 63 new confirmed cases of Covid-19 amid the community and 18 among travellers. The MoPH has recorded an increase in the death of a 60-year-old patient who had been admitted to the hospital on the day they received the notification of a positive result. The death is under investigation to determine the underlying conditions of the patient's health and to investigate the cause of death.

The Ministry of Public Health (MoPH) has confirmed 63 new confirmed cases of Covid-19 amid the community and 18 among travellers. The MoPH has recorded an increase in the death of a 60-year-old patient who had been admitted to the hospital on the day they received the notification of a positive result. The death is under investigation to determine the underlying conditions of the patient's health and to investigate the cause of death.
Katara holds dazzling Korean art show

Katara — the Cultural Village Foundation organised, in co-operation with the South Korean embassy in Qatar, an artistic show titled ‘The Dynamic of Korea’. The show was attended taking precautionary Covid measures. The celebration with the Korean embassy on a number of occasions, including artistic performances and concerts, the Korean Cultural Week and an evening of wonderful voices of Korea presented by the famous Korean voices Hand Queen and others.

The Ministry of Municipality General Cleanliness Department carried out all the cleaning works at Al Thumama Stadium in connection with the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations than serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The global health crisis, Javakhia said, created a positive impact "in the way people health and safety measures. “They (guests) are now more brand conscious", he said, "because they trust certain brands and they feel more conscious than they would be in the past. "They trust certain companies and they feel more secure, safer," he stressed, adding that people are willing to pay higher rates for luxury than in the past since not every hotel could offer each product.

Katara has organised several cultural and artistic events in co-operation with the Korean embassy on a number of occasions, including artistic performances and concerts, the Korean Cultural Week and an evening of wonderful voices of Korea presented by the famous Korean voices Hand Queen and others.

Korean ambassador Lee Joon Ho speaking at the opening ceremony.

Korean art show
Katara holds dazzling Korean art show

Qatar’s luxury hospitality industry witnessed a huge local demand from October 18 to 22 in Al Thumama Stadium following the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations that serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The Ministry of Municipality General Cleanliness Department carried out all the cleaning works at Al Thumama Stadium in connection with the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations than serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The global health crisis, Javakhia said, created a positive impact “in the way people health and safety measures. “They (guests) are now more brand conscious”, he said, “because they trust certain brands and they feel more conscious than they would be in the past. “They trust certain companies and they feel more secure, safer,” he stressed, adding that people are willing to pay higher rates for luxury than in the past since not every hotel could offer each product.

Katara has organised several cultural and artistic events in co-operation with the Korean embassy on a number of occasions, including artistic performances and concerts, the Korean Cultural Week and an evening of wonderful voices of Korea presented by the famous Korean voices Hand Queen and others.

Korean ambassador Lee Joon Ho speaking at the opening ceremony.

Korean art show
Katara holds dazzling Korean art show

Qatar’s luxury hospitality industry witnessed a huge local demand from October 18 to 22 in Al Thumama Stadium following the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations that serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The Ministry of Municipality General Cleanliness Department carried out all the cleaning works at Al Thumama Stadium in connection with the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations than serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The global health crisis, Javakhia said, created a positive impact “in the way people health and safety measures. “They (guests) are now more brand conscious”, he said, “because they trust certain brands and they feel more conscious than they would be in the past. “They trust certain companies and they feel more secure, safer,” he stressed, adding that people are willing to pay higher rates for luxury than in the past since not every hotel could offer each product.

Katara has organised several cultural and artistic events in co-operation with the Korean embassy on a number of occasions, including artistic performances and concerts, the Korean Cultural Week and an evening of wonderful voices of Korea presented by the famous Korean voices Hand Queen and others.

Korean ambassador Lee Joon Ho speaking at the opening ceremony.

Korean art show
Katara holds dazzling Korean art show

Qatar’s luxury hospitality industry witnessed a huge local demand from October 18 to 22 in Al Thumama Stadium following the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations that serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The Ministry of Municipality General Cleanliness Department carried out all the cleaning works at Al Thumama Stadium in connection with the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations than serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The global health crisis, Javakhia said, created a positive impact “in the way people health and safety measures. “They (guests) are now more brand conscious”, he said, “because they trust certain brands and they feel more conscious than they would be in the past. “They trust certain companies and they feel more secure, safer,” he stressed, adding that people are willing to pay higher rates for luxury than in the past since not every hotel could offer each product.

Katara has organised several cultural and artistic events in co-operation with the Korean embassy on a number of occasions, including artistic performances and concerts, the Korean Cultural Week and an evening of wonderful voices of Korea presented by the famous Korean voices Hand Queen and others.

Korean ambassador Lee Joon Ho speaking at the opening ceremony.

Korean art show
Katara holds dazzling Korean art show

Qatar’s luxury hospitality industry witnessed a huge local demand from October 18 to 22 in Al Thumama Stadium following the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations that serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The Ministry of Municipality General Cleanliness Department carried out all the cleaning works at Al Thumama Stadium in connection with the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations than serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The global health crisis, Javakhia said, created a positive impact “in the way people health and safety measures. “They (guests) are now more brand conscious”, he said, “because they trust certain brands and they feel more conscious than they would be in the past. “They trust certain companies and they feel more secure, safer,” he stressed, adding that people are willing to pay higher rates for luxury than in the past since not every hotel could offer each product.

Katara has organised several cultural and artistic events in co-operation with the Korean embassy on a number of occasions, including artistic performances and concerts, the Korean Cultural Week and an evening of wonderful voices of Korea presented by the famous Korean voices Hand Queen and others.

Korean ambassador Lee Joon Ho speaking at the opening ceremony.

Korean art show
Katara holds dazzling Korean art show

Qatar’s luxury hospitality industry witnessed a huge local demand from October 18 to 22 in Al Thumama Stadium following the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations that serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The Ministry of Municipality General Cleanliness Department carried out all the cleaning works at Al Thumama Stadium in connection with the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations than serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The global health crisis, Javakhia said, created a positive impact “in the way people health and safety measures. “They (guests) are now more brand conscious”, he said, “because they trust certain brands and they feel more conscious than they would be in the past. “They trust certain companies and they feel more secure, safer,” he stressed, adding that people are willing to pay higher rates for luxury than in the past since not every hotel could offer each product.

Katara has organised several cultural and artistic events in co-operation with the Korean embassy on a number of occasions, including artistic performances and concerts, the Korean Cultural Week and an evening of wonderful voices of Korea presented by the famous Korean voices Hand Queen and others.

Korean ambassador Lee Joon Ho speaking at the opening ceremony.

Korean art show
Katara holds dazzling Korean art show

Qatar’s luxury hospitality industry witnessed a huge local demand from October 18 to 22 in Al Thumama Stadium following the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations that serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The Ministry of Municipality General Cleanliness Department carried out all the cleaning works at Al Thumama Stadium in connection with the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations than serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The global health crisis, Javakhia said, created a positive impact “in the way people health and safety measures. “They (guests) are now more brand conscious”, he said, “because they trust certain brands and they feel more conscious than they would be in the past. “They trust certain companies and they feel more secure, safer,” he stressed, adding that people are willing to pay higher rates for luxury than in the past since not every hotel could offer each product.

Katara has organised several cultural and artistic events in co-operation with the Korean embassy on a number of occasions, including artistic performances and concerts, the Korean Cultural Week and an evening of wonderful voices of Korea presented by the famous Korean voices Hand Queen and others.

Korean ambassador Lee Joon Ho speaking at the opening ceremony.

Korean art show
Katara holds dazzling Korean art show

Qatar’s luxury hospitality industry witnessed a huge local demand from October 18 to 22 in Al Thumama Stadium following the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations that serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.

The Ministry of Municipality General Cleanliness Department carried out all the cleaning works at Al Thumama Stadium in connection with the Amir Cup finals. This included the cleaning and sweeping of the roads leading to the stadium entry gates, the outdoor and indoor parking lots and the roads to the metro stations than serve the stadium. Besides, a complete team was dedicated to managing the operations of cleaning for the stadiums, parks and the various facilities of the stadium cleaned through the night after the final match.
The displaced, refugees need support ahead of impending harsh winter

As winter is just around the corner, with temperatures dropping gradually, especially in countries suffering from crises, this brings back into our minds the 2014 winter tragedy of the Syrian refugees, who died in the snow on the Lebanese border where six members of a family froze to death. Besides, another 16 displaced Syrians froze to death in the same year while trying to enter Lebanon. This painful memory automatically leads to the importance of early reminders of meeting the basic needs of the displaced and refugees globally, who have to face extremely cold months in winter, due to temperatures dropping below zero, as well as storms and heavy rains that engulf their tents and damage their modest homes and camps.

The winter needs of the refugees, who are often flee home with just the clothes they wear, include adequate shelters, tents, warm clothes, blankets, fuel, food, medicines, and medical supplies. As the predictions of international organizations indicate that the 2021-2022 winter season will be difficult for the displaced and refugees, especially due to the repercussions of the COVID-19 pandemic, support from donors, companies, and philanthropists is more urgently needed to meet the winter needs of the vulnerable. The early support will contribute to avoiding many risks facing them, especially in times of severe cold, heavy rains and snowfall, which are expected within the next three months.

There are over 10 million Syrian and Iraqi internally displaced persons (IDPs) and refugees in Syria, Iraq, Lebanon, Jordan and Egypt. UNHCR estimates that 1.3 million people are in need of critical assistance to help them prepare for and cope during the forthcoming winter,” according to UNHCR Regional Winterization Assistance Plan 2021-2022: Syria and Iraq Situations. “This will be the 11th consecutive winter in displacement for some, and many continue to face increased hardships due to the economic situation and the COVID-19 pandemic.”

UNHCR requires USD 193.4 million to provide life-saving winterization assistance for people in need before the onset of the harsh and challenging winter season. As of August 2021, and thanks to timely and generous contributions from donors, these requirements are 36 per cent funded, leaving a gap of USD 48.2 million,” says the report.

The displaced and refugees live in substandard accommodations and are unable to afford the additional costs of fuel and warm clothes, and they, therefore, have to make very challenging decisions like cutting back on spending on basic necessities like food and medicines.

The worsening situation of the displaced and refugees requires everyone to support them by delivering quick aid to them and meeting their basic needs through winter campaigns, which are launched by humanitarian organizations to protect these people from any imminent dangers. Here, we should keep in mind that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.
Coalition says killed over 260 Yemen rebels

Qatar Insurance Group Donates QR1mn for those hit by Cyclone Shaheen

The Coalition has announced that it has killed over 260 Yemeni rebels in a campaign to support Yemen's internally displaced people over the past two months. The announcement came after the Coalition said it would not renew a previous seven-year military expedition in Yemen's capital, Sana'a. The Coalition's military expedition in Yemen began in 2014 and has been in place ever since.

Khamenei urges reversal of Israel normalisations

The announcement from the Coalition is the latest in a long series of military actions targeting Yemeni rebels, which have killed 550 pro-government soldiers and caused significant civilian casualties.

Gaza fish restaurants thrive from foodie trail

The Gaza Strip has become a popular destination for food lovers, with its unique cuisine attracting many homeowners from the region as well as tourists. The Gaza Strip has a thriving food industry, with many restaurants owned by one local family whose culinary nucleus is the country's most popular street food, falafel.

Kahramaa makes big progress in installing smart meters system

According to the plan, which is based on scientific and technical foundations, 420,000 smart electricity meters will be installed by the end of the second quarter of 2021, and the project is expected to be completed by the end of 2022. The rollout of smart electricity meters is seen as a key project for Kahramaa, the state-owned electricity operator, and will enable the company to streamline its operations and reduce costs.
US envoy urges N Korea to stop missile tests

The US has urged North Korea to stop testing missiles, saying it would respond positively to Washington if Pyongyang abandons a nuclear test ban. The United States believes that North Korea is preparing to launch a new intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) in a move that would be a major provocation. The US also accused North Korea of violating international law by continuing to conduct missile tests. The US said it was working with allies in the region to address the issue.

Bollywood stars, Indian celebrities launch NFTs amid global craze

India's film industry is one of the largest in the world, producing over 1000 films a year in various languages. It is also a hub for NFTs, with many Bollywood stars and celebrities launching their own NFTs. NFTs are digital assets that can be used to prove ownership of a virtual or physical item. They are becoming increasingly popular as a way to buy and sell art, collectibles, and other digital assets. The Indian government has recently announced plans to launch its own NFT platform, which is expected to generate millions of dollars in revenue. The launch of NFTs in India is expected to bring in a lot of new money and create a lot of jobs.

Labour hits out at Sunak’s infrastructure project plans

Britain’s business secretary has hit back at Labour’s criticisms of the government’s infrastructure plans. The chancellor, Rishi Sunak, has announced £830bn of investment in a range of projects, including roads, rail, and housing. The plans were unveiled in the government’s Autumn Statement, which is expected to boost the economy. The chancellor said the plans would create tens of thousands of jobs and boost GDP by £32bn.

Surgin onion prices leave India's consumers in tears

India’s onion prices have soared to record levels, leaving consumers and retailers struggling to make ends meet. The price of onions has quadrupled in the past month, reaching Rs70 per kilogram in some states. This is the highest price ever recorded for onions in India. The government has imposed export restrictions and increased subsidies to try to bring prices down. However, the price of onions is still high, and consumers are protests against the high prices.

Man shot dead by troops in Kashmir

Two people were killed when Indian army soldiers opened fire on a group of protesters in Srinagar, the summer capital of Jammu and Kashmir, Indian government-controlled territory in northwestern India. According to police, the soldiers opened fire on a group of protesters who were demonstrating against the recent killing of an Indian army officer in the region. The protesters were demanding justice for the killed army officer.

At least three people were killed and several others injured in clashes between Indian security forces and protesters in the region. The army said it had opened fire in self-defense after protesters pelted them with stones. The protesters were demanding the release of detained Kashmiri youths and the withdrawal of Indian troops from the region. The conflict between India and Pakistan over Kashmir has been ongoing for decades.
Fictional drama that is too close for comfort

Life has undergone a total change ever since Covid-19 cases were first identified in China’s Wuhan city in late 2019 and subsequently spread across the globe, causing a 4.4m daily and 242m case over the past 22 months and shifting many activities into the home. Now outdoor access is restricted and people have to stay indoors, television and online streaming services have become dominant entertainment avenues to continue the prime slots.

It is in this context that a letter – sent recently by a private school in Qatar – draws attention to what appears to be an alarming trend. Although the letter did not mention the name of the school, it accused the streaming service Netflix of producing a “horrifying programme” that is all the more disturbing because it injects death and violence into children’s lives.

The “incredibly violent” series Squid Game should be on parents’ radar

It is not the first time that concerns have been expressed over the impact of violent media on children and teenagers. In the US recently the Television and Media Council in the US recently cautioned that the “incredibly violent” series Squid Game should be on parents’ radar because children’s finding ways to watch it and are also being exposed to violent themes. But although kids tend to believe that violent TV programmes, and are often the focus of concern when it comes to such violent content, violent media can also affect adults.

“More research shows that exposure to violent media increases aggressive thoughts,” says Br J Bushman, a professor of communication at Ohio State University who studies the causes, consequences, and solutions to human aggression and media violence.

“It increases angry feelings and aggressive physical arousal, like heart rate and blood pressure,” he says, watching violent programmes to develop more feelings of empathy and compassion for the characters involved.

For others, it makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others, which researchers call desensitisation, and it decreases empathy for others. It makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others.

In the US, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

In China, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

In China, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

The research shows that exposure to violent media increases aggressive thoughts,” says Br J Bushman, a professor of communication at Ohio State University who studies the causes, consequences, and solutions to human aggression and media violence.

“It increases angry feelings and aggressive physical arousal, like heart rate and blood pressure,” he says, watching violent programmes to develop more feelings of empathy and compassion for the characters involved.

For others, it makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others, which researchers call desensitisation, and it decreases empathy for others. It makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others.

In the US, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

In China, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

The research shows that exposure to violent media increases aggressive thoughts,” says Br J Bushman, a professor of communication at Ohio State University who studies the causes, consequences, and solutions to human aggression and media violence.

“It increases angry feelings and aggressive physical arousal, like heart rate and blood pressure,” he says, watching violent programmes to develop more feelings of empathy and compassion for the characters involved.

For others, it makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others, which researchers call desensitisation, and it decreases empathy for others. It makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others.

In the US, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

In China, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

The research shows that exposure to violent media increases aggressive thoughts,” says Br J Bushman, a professor of communication at Ohio State University who studies the causes, consequences, and solutions to human aggression and media violence.

“It increases angry feelings and aggressive physical arousal, like heart rate and blood pressure,” he says, watching violent programmes to develop more feelings of empathy and compassion for the characters involved.

For others, it makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others, which researchers call desensitisation, and it decreases empathy for others. It makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others.

In the US, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

In China, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.

The research shows that exposure to violent media increases aggressive thoughts,” says Br J Bushman, a professor of communication at Ohio State University who studies the causes, consequences, and solutions to human aggression and media violence.

“It increases angry feelings and aggressive physical arousal, like heart rate and blood pressure,” he says, watching violent programmes to develop more feelings of empathy and compassion for the characters involved.

For others, it makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others, which researchers call desensitisation, and it decreases empathy for others. It makes people numb to the pain and sufferings of others.

In the US, there is no need for such a backlash. Although the country’s leaders work only partly to services the broader market, but the leftovers of the American system can survive and flourish. From their perspective, the free world’s prosperity has been the ultimately successful outcome of containing and possibly defusing communist, and the liberal order was the conduit to that prosperity. And although the ultimate objective of any political economy (and the ultimate objective of any economic policies) is to maintain a stable order that works, they have to be interested in promoting the stability of economic order and the economic policies needed to achieve it.
Colombia's-wanted drug kingpin "killed in shootout" in the Uraba region, Colombia

The Colombian military announced that Otoniel, a member of the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia (FARC), had been killed in a shootout in the Uribe region in the Uraba region of Antioquia. The military said that Otoniel was part of the Usuga Clan, led by Lucio Antonio, the former member of the FARC who was the group's military commander, and that he had been sought by the Colombian government for years.

The operation, according to the military, was carried out by the 7th Airborne Brigade, with the support of the 47th Airborne Brigade and the 2nd Commando Group of the 14th Airborne Brigade. The operation was conducted in coordination with the National Police and the Attorney General's Office.

The Colombian military said that during the operation, seven members of the group were killed, including Otoniel. The military also said that they were able to recover anhydrous ammonia, which is used in the manufacture of explosives, and a vehicle used by the group.

The operation was carried out as part of the government's efforts to combat the use of illegal drugs and to bring peace to the region. The Colombian government has been working to end the long-standing conflict with the FARC, which ended in a 2016 peace accord.

The Colombian government said that the operation was carried out in coordination with the United States and that it was part of the effort to bring peace to the region. The government also said that the operation was part of its effort to combat the use of illegal drugs and to bring peace to the region.
Seize the retail opportunities at Lusail Tram stations ahead of the network opening.

Qatar Rail is offering exciting opportunities at Lusail Tram Station network for retailers who want to join a new success journey.

Retail spaces available in below Lusail Tram stations
- Marina
- Marina Promenade
- Yacht Club
- Esplanade
- Energy City South

Book Now
Get up to 12 months of license fee free period.
- Flexible agreement duration 3 years or 5 years
- License fee includes water & electricity cost

Permitted Trades
- Services
- General Retail
- Food & Beverages
- Convenience
- ATM & Vending Machine

retail.qr.com.qa  3329 2877, 6684 9216  retail@qr.com.qa