In addition to that, it was a great event for faculty members and students to gain knowledge and skills in one place for an astronomical.
QU students start Qatar’s first Dental Student Association

The recent initiative by Qatar University’s (QU) College of Dental Medicine and Oral Health (CDMOH) to establish Qatar’s first Dental Student Association (DSAT) is seen as a pioneering step in the development of dental education in the country. The initiative is expected to provide a platform for students to engage in extracurricular activities and social networking, which are crucial for their professional development. The establishment of DSAT also aligns with the Qatar National Vision 2030, emphasizing the importance of education and professional development.

The new association was launched in a ceremony held at the CDMOH, with the presence of QU’s Vice-Provost for Student Affairs, Dr. Mansour Daggal, and the Dean of the College of Dental Medicine and Oral Health, Dr. Abdul Salam. The ceremony was attended by students, faculty members, and representatives from various stakeholders.

Dr. Daggal emphasized the importance of student engagement in the dental community, stating, “This is a significant milestone in the development of dental education in Qatar. The establishment of DSAT will provide a platform for students to learn from each other, collaborate on projects, and contribute to the advancement of the field.”

The new association is expected to organize events, workshops, and guest lectures to enhance students’ knowledge and skills. It will also provide a forum for students to network with professionals in the field and contribute to the development of the dental community in Qatar.

The inaugural meeting of DSAT was attended by students from the different departments of the College of Dental Medicine and Oral Health. The meeting was chaired by Dr. Abdul Salam, and the vice-chairperson was appointed by the students.

The students expressed their excitement about the new association, stating, “We are looking forward to being part of DSAT and contributing to the development of the field. We hope to organize events that will help us network with professionals and enhance our knowledge.”

Risks of new Covid scare spark rate rethink in markets

By Alex Chmiel

The economic recovery from the pandemic produced a sharp rise in rates for the first time in years, as the world’s major central banks were forced to tighten monetary policy to contain inflationary pressures. However, the risks of a new Covid-19 variant have cast doubt on this recovery, with investors now questioning the sustainability of the rate hike.

Chairman Alireza Ebrahimi, Managing Director of the Gulf Times, said: "We are seeing a return to normalcy in the economy, but the risks of a new Covid variant have raised concerns among investors. We have to be cautious and not take the rate hike for granted.

The rate hike is justified, but we have to be mindful of the risks. We have to be prepared to react quickly if the situation changes."

Ebrahimi said that the rate hike is a reflection of the government’s commitment to maintaining a strong economy. "We have to be careful not to overdo it, but we have to be prepared to react quickly if the situation changes," he said.

Ebrahimi also said that the rate hike is a reflection of the government’s commitment to maintaining a strong economy. "We have to be careful not to overdo it, but we have to be prepared to react quickly if the situation changes," he said.

11th Qatar International Food Festival opens

The 11th Qatar International Food Festival (QIFF) opened on Sunday at Al Khor Park. The event runs until November 28.

The festival, which is one of the largest in the region, features food from around the world. Visitors can enjoy a range of international cuisines, participate in cooking workshops, and take part in cultural events.

The festival is organized by the Qatar Tourism Authority and is supported by the Ministry of Municipality and Environment. It is expected to attract thousands of visitors from Qatar and other countries.

The festival is part of the country’s efforts to promote culinary and cultural diversity. It also aims to support local businesses and artisans, and to promote tourism in the country.

Do Ha Corniche Street closure begins

The Corniche, Qatar’s popular waterfront promenade, will be closed for a month starting from Monday, October 10, in order to accommodate the Qatar Airways Airbus A380 for a landing.

The closure is part of a series of events taking place in Doha in the run-up to the Doha 2022 FIFA World Cup. The Corniche is a popular spot for locals and tourists alike, offering stunning views of the city and the Arabian Gulf.

The closure is expected to cause some inconvenience, but authorities have assured that alternative routes will be provided to ensure that traffic in the area remains smooth.

A demonstration of the upcoming events and activities is available on the Qatar Tourism Authority’s website.
