TOGETHER TOWARDS A SECURE GROWTH

BUSINESS  |  Page 1
---|---
Qatar commercial banks’ assets jump to QR816bn in Dec 2020: QCB

SPORT  |  Page 1
---|---
Motorcycling: MotoGP season to start with double-header in Qatar

TO THE WALL

US House to deliver Trump impeachment charge on Mon

Senate set for conducting ‘full trial’

By Megan Rowling

The Democratic-controlled US House of Representatives will today deliver an impeachment charge against former President Donald Trump to the Senate on Monday, in a move that could pave the way for quick and severe sanctions against him, including removal from office.

Leader Mitch McConnell’s request for a “full trial” followed the House’s approval of the impeachment charge last week. Senator Majority Leader Chuck Schumer, who replaced McConnell as the chamber’s leader after Democrats won two Senate seats in the election, said the move on the Senate floor was “symbolic.”

The House and Senate sides are awaiting for this impeachment trial to begin on the day after the articles of impeachment are delivered to the upper legislative chamber of Congress, except for Sundays.

The Senate’s Richard Durbin, the No. 2 Democrat, said the proceeding “would not divide and clip the wings of the Senate chamber” and that all senators would get to speak.

Shumer did not say when Trump’s trial would begin.

But it’s emphasized the need to move quickly on confirmation of President Joe Biden’s Cabinet and other key appointments.

“Joe Biden’s Cabinet and other key appointments can proceed,” Durbin said. “We don’t need a repeat of the impeachment that took place in the previous administration.”

“Let’s imagine that both McConnell and Schumer don’t want to have a little more structure here, and particularly Schumer, have a little more time to move forward with the early Biden administration and get into the opening of the Biden administration,” Republican Senator Roy Blunt (MO) told reporters.

McConnell’s statement, in which he said that the Senate should be able to move forward with the hearing and agenda, along with his call for a full trial, is a “veil” to the Senate,” that is “undermining the Senate process and threatening the Senate’s ability to function,” said Durbin.

Schumer’s remarks came the morning after former President Donald Trump, who was impeached by the House on January 13, was acquitted on both articles of impeachment.

To prevent Trump from being re-elected, Senate Democrats should “make sure that we have the votes to begin the process,” Biden administration officials said.

“We will have to consider new strategies to prevent Trump from being re-elected. This is a key moment in our history,” said Schumer.

The Senate’s acquittal on Saturday marks a milestone in the efforts to remove Trump from office, as he faces the potential of being re-elected to the presidency in 2024.

Joe Biden’s Cabinet and other key appointments can proceed, according to Biden administration officials.

Schumer’s remarks came the morning after former President Donald Trump, who was impeached by the House on January 13, was acquitted on both articles of impeachment.

To prevent Trump from being re-elected, Senate Democrats should “make sure that we have the votes to begin the process,” Biden administration officials said.

“We will have to consider new strategies to prevent Trump from being re-elected. This is a key moment in our history,” said Schumer.

The Senate’s acquittal on Saturday marks a milestone in the efforts to remove Trump from office, as he faces the potential of being re-elected to the presidency in 2024.

Joe Biden’s Cabinet and other key appointments can proceed, according to Biden administration officials.

Schumer’s remarks came the morning after former President Donald Trump, who was impeached by the House on January 13, was acquitted on both articles of impeachment.

To prevent Trump from being re-elected, Senate Democrats should “make sure that we have the votes to begin the process,” Biden administration officials said.

“We will have to consider new strategies to prevent Trump from being re-elected. This is a key moment in our history,” said Schumer.

The Senate’s acquittal on Saturday marks a milestone in the efforts to remove Trump from office, as he faces the potential of being re-elected to the presidency in 2024.
Oman minister arrives in Doha

Qatar, Belarus set to take ties to higher level, says diplomat

By Shafeeq Alingal

Qatar and Belarus are set to take their bilateral relations to the next level as the two countries are aiming to sign a number of agreements in the coming days. Qatar's Permanent Minister and Minister of Interior Sheikh Khalid bin Khalifa bin Abdullah Al Thani and Oman's ambassador to Qatar, Nasser bin Yousef Al-Busaidi, have met in Doha to discuss ways to enhance cooperation in various fields.

In a statement, the Qatari Foreign Ministry said that the two sides exchanged views on ways to develop bilateral relations and enhance cooperation. They also discussed ways to further strengthen relations and cooperation in all fields, including security, economic and cultural.

The meeting comes after the Qatari delegation arrived in Doha yesterday, marking the beginning of the official visit to Qatar. The visit is part of an ongoing effort to strengthen relations and cooperation between the two countries.

The Qatari delegation is expected to meet with officials from various government agencies and companies to explore opportunities for cooperation in various sectors.

The visit is expected to focus on areas such as trade, investment, tourism, education, and culture. The two sides are also expected to discuss ways to enhance diplomatic and military cooperation.

The meeting is a continuation of efforts by the two countries to strengthen their relations and cooperation, which have been growing in recent years. Qatar and Belarus have been working on various projects and initiatives to further develop their ties.

The Qatari delegation is expected to stay in Qatar for several days. The visit is seen as a significant step in the ongoing efforts to strengthen ties between the two countries.
Iran calls on Biden to ‘unconditionally’ lift US sanctions

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.

The meeting in the Moroccan coastal town of Casablanca, south of the capital Rabat, brings to an end a debate between the two sides, the WHO said last week, as part of a global effort to end the Covid-19 pandemic. The WHO noted last week, a product called Articovid, based on a plant-based brew called, is widely used to treat malaria, was shown to be effective.
Spotlight on ‘complex’ effects of pandemic on education

By Monica Raja

Education has been adversely impacted by the spread of Covid-19. Schools across the globe have been shut since March 2020, which has forced teachers, administrators and most importantly, parents looking for ways to administer quality learning to keep students engaged in education while adhering to community safety protocols.

Today, there are millions of abandoned students, who are not in school because they are confined to their homes in an effort to control the spread of Covid-19. Though situations are improving in some countries, there are still extraordinary numbers of students either out of schools or learning at home.

International Day of Education is observed by the United Nations every January 24, to highlight the importance of education for every individual. The theme for the day in 2021 proclaimed by the UN’s ‘Recover and Revitalise Education for the Covid-19 Generation’.

As the pandemic has affected the education sector, significant training, and ongoing professional development for teachers, administrators and most importantly, parents looking for ways to assess and evaluate students’ progress. Preserving academic integrity has become a challenge for teachers as they adapt and embrace the many new ways to assess and evaluate students’ progress.

Regarding the innovative teaching tools, the teacher in a classroom “learned that innovation in curriculum delivery has a valuable place in education. Teachers and students have been motivated by the new and exciting possibilities that technology integration has to offer.”

For the long-term effects of the pandemic on education in schools are:

Many students are already showing anger in their learning related to a distance learning approach. Without the ability to support, monitor, and maintain a modified concept of classroom teaching and learning, the students will not be able to progress at their own pace and improve at their own levels and rates as is to reach the required standards. Teachers have discovered innovative and creative ways to see various platforms and applications to maintain a sense of normalcy.

The COVID-19 pandemic has revolutionised the concept of modern education. It has increased the pressure on teachers to deliver quality education, as the technology integration has become more crucial than ever before. Strong support systems will be required for students as they progress through various stages.

“The technology required for online learning proved to be mass changes for young students and parents. It is important to support the daily learning environment requirements for their children. This was a challenge for many parents who were also working from home. Older students, on the other hand, adapted much more quickly.”

The learning model progressed through various stages, schools were permitted to open their doors again, albeit under significant limitations.

“Solid plans, technology infrastructure, anytime learning, and engaging targeted professional development for teachers have been paramount in the learning processes and methods and all around the world, the educators and learners have been trying to adapt to the new normal and are continually working on the continuous learning and teaching process.”

Evaluating and assessing are the biggest challenges presented to students both at home and on campus.

Teachers have discovered innovative and creative ways to use various platforms and applications to maintain a sense of normalcy. Working in the light of distance learning, they are discovering innovative and creative ways to assess and evaluate students’ progress.

David is writing a letter to his parents on the national day for good letters for good competition. Letters have the potential to bear the added cost of online learning and ‘Digital Divide’. Not all students have access to latest digital technology and network.

BPS student wins Toyota Dream Car Painting Contest

BPS students excel in inspirational speech contest

Letters for Good is a campaign initiated by Macy Moorhead. The campaign was aimed at encouraging all people to share handwritten letters for good. The letters, which were sent to share handwritten letters for good, will be sent by Riya to HMC for circulation over social contribution initiatives. The campaign encourages work of healthcare heroes amid Covid-19.
a Urdu mushaira gets recognition at Katara expo

Blyth Academy student’s artwork gets recognition at Katara expo

Students at the Scouts Scientific Camp.

BSI Doha holds programme to welcome new committee

Punjab Cultural Centre (PCC) president Imran Asghar Khan thanked the new office-bearers and members for their support and asked them to work dedicatedly for the Centre. He also thanked the departments and the people who supported the Centre.

Dr Saeed Ali, joint secretary, and Dr Mohsin Ali, senior vice-president, also extended their gratitude to the new committee members.

Imran expressed his heartfelt thanks to the outgoing committee members and the BSI executive council for their support and services.

Dr Nadeem and Mubashir said the programme was held to welcome the new committee members.

BSI Doha holds programme to welcome new committee

MPPAQ conducts blood donation drive

Blyth Academy student’s artwork gets recognition at Katara expo

Students at the Scouts Scientific Camp.

MPPAQ fetes new office-bearers of apex bodies

N

Underlying the blood donation drive was the unbreakable bond of love and unity that is shared by people from diverse backgrounds.

The血 donation drive was an opportunity for individuals to contribute to a common cause, demonstrating the power of unity and teamwork.

This event marked the beginning of a new chapter in the relationship between BSI Doha and the local community, highlighting the importance of collaboration and solidarity in times of need.

The event also served as a platform to raise awareness about the importance of blood donation and the life-saving potential of donating blood.

MPPAQ fetes new office-bearers of apex bodies

MPPAQ fetes new office-bearers of apex bodies

Students at the Scouts Scientific Camp.

MPPAQ fetes new office-bearers of apex bodies

Students at the Scouts Scientific Camp.

MPPAQ fetes new office-bearers of apex bodies
LEISURE/HOROSCOPE

Super Cryptic Chaos

Across
1. Treatment providing cure - up on an asceticism (11)
2. Change of blue sky (8)
3. Movement in a satellite — it turns (6)
4. Severely criticized, as the crowd may fear (6)
5. 12 is to be belied (6)
6. 13 Dave in the Alhambra (13)
7. 16 Chinese article held by girl (16)
8. 18 Determine to find a bed (18)
9. 20 Revolver for an artist? (20)
10. 22 True in farm house where sums may be used (22)

Down
1. Team regrouping for end of games (4)
2. Canoe dismantled (6)
3. 1 Old uncle in a battle (6)
4. Read with some useless cameras (4)
5. Too much activity upset cameras (4)
6. Is a lemon sweet? (8)
7. Too much activity is a sleuth (6)
8. Stop the holiday being cancelled (12)
9. Latin and the rest (2,6)
10. Some ready rating drapery (12)
11. The woman from the United Nations (4)
12. Employ sound sheep (4)
13. United Nations (4)
14. The woman from the United Kingdom (6)
15. Some ready rating drapery (12)
16. The woman from the United States (4)
17. The woman from the United States (4)
18. Some ready rating drapery (12)
19. The woman from the United Kingdom (6)
20. The woman from the United Kingdom (6)
21. The woman from the United States (4)
22. Some ready rating drapery (12)

Wordsearch

Puzzles courtesy: Puzzlechoice.com

Codeword

Every letter of the alphabet is used at least once. Equations with the same number in have the same letter.

Every letter of the alphabet is used at least once.

Sudoku

Solution

Horoscope

ARIENS

Prosperity isn’t just around the corner - it’s here, Aries. Your financial situation is looking better than ever. Don’t go on too much spending, however. The whole point is that it’s unexpected, and your luck is used to recovering or stabilizing, so you wouldn’t want to suddenly throw all your savings away. Spend a little and invest a little, and you’ll find yourself in a much better place.

TAURUS

You’ve never looked better, Taurus. As a result, people are drawn to you and you have an unusually large circle of friends. This is not but time consuming, as everyone seems to want to add a piece to your life. Try to keep your feet on the ground. Don’t let your love become clouded by all the flattery you receive.

GEMINIS

You’ve always been interested in the arts, and now you want to explore that interest on a deeper level. A solo effort, a class or signing up for a lecture series? A few artists, in particular, are drawn to you and you have an unusually large circle of friends. This is not but time consuming, as everyone seems to want to add a piece to your life. Try to keep your feet on the ground. Don’t let your love become clouded by all the flattery you receive.

SCORPIONS

There’s someone you’ve wanted to meet for a long time, Scorpio, and you’re finally going to meet this person. The thought of meeting the ideal person can often seem as exciting as it’s possible for you to imagine, but this encounter could affect the rest of your life in rather profound way.

SAGITTARIANS

Your points and gracious nature come to each other, Sagittarius. The best thing you can do today is spread your wings and spend a little time with someone who’s likely to have an interesting interest. This could be a potential partner, a teacher you’ve wanted to study with, or someone interesting you might like to be a friend. Spin a web of intrigue and you’ll find that this encounter could affect the rest of your life in rather profound way.

PISCES

You have two creative abilities to select: a studio of your music or writing. Why not get stuck into a novel tonight? You might enjoy reading or writing, either of which is likely to give you a new perspective on your life. Even if you do read a book or write a poem, you might enjoy the experience. What do you want to create once you’ve read a book or written a poem?
US Troops forced to queue for food truck meals

A Mexican soldier in Tijuana was queuing for rations in an airport for National Guard troops. Thestylus and pen was brought up to the eye of a United States citizen by the Bank of America. The officer was found to be carrying a5200000000s according to the US General. The officer will not return to his country until the funds are returned and the officer is allowed to travel to the US for a legal purpose.

New Helping Hands in the US

The government has been providing food aid to low-income families in the United States. The government has also provided cash to crisis-hit Americans in a rush to help those who cannot afford to work.

Biden pushes to get food, cash to crisis-hit Americans

The new variant of Covid-19 has been reported in the UK, with the prime minister holding a press conference to discuss the situation. The prime minister has said that there were no plans to impose a lockdown, but that the government would be monitoring the situation closely.

Canada doomsravings even as pandemics rage

The Canadian Prime Minister, Justin Trudeau, has announced that the government will be providing financial support to those who are unable to work due to the pandemic. The government is also working to prevent the spread of the virus by encouraging people to stay home and practice social distancing.

Mexico seeks US probe into case against ex-President

The US Department of Defense is probing the ex-President of Mexico, who was charged with corruption and money laundering. The probe is being carried out by the US Department of Justice.

Biden pushes to get food, cash to crisis-hit Americans

The new variant of Covid-19 has been reported in the UK, with the prime minister holding a press conference to discuss the situation. The prime minister has said that there were no plans to impose a lockdown, but that the government would be monitoring the situation closely.

Canada doomsravings even as pandemics rage

The Canadian Prime Minister, Justin Trudeau, has announced that the government will be providing financial support to those who are unable to work due to the pandemic. The government is also working to prevent the spread of the virus by encouraging people to stay home and practice social distancing.

Mexico seeks US probe into case against ex-President

The US Department of Defense is probing the ex-President of Mexico, who was charged with corruption and money laundering. The probe is being carried out by the US Department of Justice.
German Covid death toll rises above 50,000

A woman waves a protest banner in front of the RKI health ministry in Berlin. Source: Getty Images

Germany has recorded more than 50,000 deaths from the coronavirus since the start of the pandemic, as public health officials said the country was facing a "very dramatic" shortage of intensive care beds.

Wolfgang Muellbauer, a German virologist, said he was jailed for nine days in jail for violating vaccination rules. "My psychological and emotional state from the prison bars," he said, "is a very tough situation." He thanked his supporters "out there" for "standing up strongly for us.

Navalny's supporters are being urged to gather in the city centre today in defiance of a court ruling that banned protests. The communications watchdog has warned that the protest could be "dangerous and violent.

Russia cracks down on Navalny allies ahead of protests

The Russian authorities have arrested a former Kremli security chief, who had been critical of Navalny. "The ban on protests is a clear attempt to silence Navalny's critics," said Galya Gallyamov, a former Kremli security chief.

Another activist, Georgy Al-yan, was also detained but has since been released.

Italy investigates TikTok 'blackout challenge' death of 10-year-old

Italian prosecutors have opened a probe into the death of a 10-year-old girl who was found dead after participating in a TikTok online video challenge.

The girls' parents told Italian media that TikTok had promised financial help to protesters, which the media say will prevent them from seeking compensation for the death.

Media scrutiny on vaccine priorities

Italian media have reported that some politicians have been vaccinated before their turn, leading to calls for a publicly transparent approach to vaccine distribution.

Photo: Getty Images
India self-reliant in Covid vaccine: PM

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday told parliamentarians about his government’s self-reliant efforts in vaccine production so that no country will be left behind to fight the pandemic.

Addressing Parliament, Modi said the ministry of health and family welfare has taken various steps to significantly increase the indigenous production of vaccines.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.

Farmers snub government offer, to step up protests

The farmers’ movement, which is roaring on the outskirts of the national capital as the Chinese government is not allowing them back in the country, has rejected the proposal to resolve the crisis with just a dialogue.

Farmers’ organisations have come out against the Centre’s proposal, saying that the one-day meeting was not enough to resolve the farmers’ demands.

Anger at Arnab

Gulf Times

The Congress working committee (CWC) meeting yesterday witnessed a fresh round of angry exchanges between Congress president Sonia Gandhi, senior leader Arunachal and and Congress general secretary Prakash Jawdekar over internal elections, sources said.

According to a party source, Gandhi had asked Jawdekar to convene the CWC meeting for Saturday instead of Friday to discuss the issue of the elections for the Congress president.

However, Jawdekar, who is also the general secretary for the party’s all India affairs, had resisted and demanded that the CWC meet on Friday itself.

The tension between the two leaders over the issue of the elections for Congress president has worsened.
Europe must become a global climate power

By Chris Patton

One of the United Kingdom's right-wing newspapers – repugnant of both left and right – is looking for a figure who can guide the country through the coming years. It is a role that would have been described by Queen Elizabeth II as "a rather distant relative". Yet, for 42 years, this newspaper was led by a man who had the courage to make a change. And now, that man is gone. Boris Johnson.

Johnson has always been a controversial figure, but even his opponents have acknowledged his ability to tackle a range of challenges. As a politician, he has proven himself to be a skilled negotiator and a strong leader. And as a global climate power, he has shown that he is capable of making bold changes for the better.

But Johnson's tenure as Prime Minister has not been without its challenges. The UK is facing a range of political and economic issues, from Brexit to the ongoing pandemic. And as a global climate power, Johnson has had to navigate complex relationships with other countries, including the EU and the US.

Despite these challenges, Johnson has shown that he is committed to making the UK a global climate power. He has already set ambitious targets for reducing the country's carbon emissions, and he is working hard to ensure that the UK is on track to meet these goals.

But Johnson's work is not done yet. The UK is still lagging behind many other countries in terms of its climate policies. And as a global climate power, Johnson has a responsibility to be a leader in the fight against climate change.

As Johnson looks ahead to the coming years, he must be clear about his priorities. He must be willing to make difficult decisions, and he must be willing to take risks. And as a global climate power, he must be willing to stand up for what is right, even when it is not easy.

In short, Boris Johnson must change his act. He must show that he is willing to take on the challenges of his time, and that he is committed to making the UK a global climate power for the future.
Khan orders immediate start of housing projects

Prime minister announces decision to censure constant, low-priced supply of food during Ramadan

By Moin Qureshi, Jakarta

Afghanistan on Thursday launched the “National Food Business” to provide cheap and nutritious food to the country’s underprivileged.

The project, which is part of the government’s efforts to combat food insecurity and malnutrition, aims to provide quality food items at affordable prices to the poor and vulnerable segments of society.

The “National Food Business” will involve the establishment of processing units, distribution centers, and retail outlets across the country. It will also focus on providing training and capacity building to local producers and retailers.

The government has already signed agreements with various local and international companies to ensure the supply of quality food items at competitive prices.

Prime Minister Khan, in his address, hailed the initiative as a step in the right direction towards achieving the goal of food security and tackled the issue of food shortages in the country.

The prime minister called on the private sector to participate actively in this initiative and urged them to contribute towards the development of the country.

The government has also announced a comprehensive plan to address the challenges of food security and promote sustainable agriculture. This includes increased investment in research and development, modernization of farming practices, and promotion of local and organic farming.

Prime Minister Khan said that the government is committed to ensuring that every Pakistani has access to nutritious and affordable food. He added that the “National Food Business” is a testament to the government’s commitment to tackle the issue of food insecurity and malnutrition.

The prime minister concluded by stating that the government is confident that the “National Food Business” will play a significant role in addressing the food security challenges facing the country and ensuring that all Pakistanis have access to quality food items.

Court rejects NAB plea to extend Khawaja Asif’s remand

Lahore

The Lahore High Court on Thursday rejected the National Accountability Bureau (NAB)’s petition seeking extension of remand of former finance minister Asif Ali Zardari. The petition was dismissed by the court.

The court ordered the NAB to complete its inquiry within 14 days and submit a report to the court.

The court’s decision came after the NAB approached the court seeking extension of Asif’s remand to complete the inquiry.

The court observed that the NAB’s plea was justified and that it was in the public interest to continue the inquiry. The court also noted that the NAB had not made any significant progress in the inquiry despite the extension of remand.

The court further observed that the NAB had not provided any substantial evidence against Asif Ali Zardari and that it was not in the public interest to continue the inquiry.

The court directed the NAB to complete its inquiry within 14 days and submit a report to the court.

Relatively spared by the coronavirus pandemic, Pakistanis drop their guard

By Muhammad Raza Khan

Pakistanis have been relatively spared from the coronavirus pandemic, but the government has warned that the country is still at risk and that people should continue to follow safety protocols.

The government has implemented strict measures to control the spread of the virus, including lockdowns, travel restrictions, and social distancing guidelines.

However, people have become complacent and are not following the safety protocols, which has led to an increase in cases.

The government has advised people to continue following the safety protocols and to remain vigilant to prevent a resurgence of the virus.

MPLN rejects Broadsheet probe

By Faraz Anwar

The Pakistan Muslim League (Nawaz Sharif) has rejected the government’s decision to appoint a probe into the newspaper Broadsheet.

The government had initiated the probe following allegations of sedition and extortion against the newspaper.

However, the party has criticized the move and has said that it is an attempt to silence its voice.

The party has also said that the government’s decision is an attempt to suppress the freedom of the press and to silence批评的声音.

The party has called on the government to stop its interference in the media and to ensure the protection of journalists.

The government has defended its decision and has said that it is necessary to probe such allegations.

The issue has become a matter of debate in the country, with some people supporting the government’s decision and others criticizing it.

President calls for no-trust motion

By Zafar Ullah Khan

President Dr. Arif Alvi on Saturday called for a no-trust motion against the government, saying that it has failed to deliver on its promises.

The president, who is the head of the state, has called for a no-trust motion against the government in order to hold it accountable for its failures.

The president has criticized the government for not fulfilling its promises and for not taking effective measures to combat corruption.

The president has also called for an independent audit of the government’s finances and for an inquiry into its failures.

The president has appealed to the people to support the no-trust motion in order to bring about change in the country.

The issue has become a matter of debate in the country, with some people supporting the president’s call and others criticizing it.
Local farm produce yards boasts abundant supplies

The Ministry of Municipality and Environment (MME)’s yards for selling local agriculture products boasts abundant supplies from participating farms with more products from more farms, and called on local farmers to increase their production to support the country’s efforts in achieving self-sufficiency. The official also said that the continuation of work at the yards is linked to the continuous probability of farms and the quantum of fresh produce they are supplying. Otherwise, the yards could be closed after the conclusion of the season, in preparation for the next season.

Some of the recently-seen prices of the yards were as follows:
- QR10 for a box of cucumbers
- QR5 for a box of tomatoes
- QR15 for a box of eggplants
- QR6 for a box of capsicum
- QR10 for a box of cucumbers
- QR12 for garlic
- QR15 for onions, and
- QR10 for brinjals
- QR16 for zucchini, and
- QR10 for a box of chillies

A number of consumers have reported recently that the prices and quality of most of these products have been great in undermining the quality. A number of consumers have reported recently that the prices and quality of most of these products have been great in undermining the quality. The researcher Mahmoud Ahmad said that the prices and quality of products have been great in undermined the quality. Mahmoud Ahmad said that the prices and quality of products have been great in undermined the quality.

A number of consumers have reported recently that the prices and quality of most of these products have been great in undermining the quality. Mahmoud Ahmad said that the prices and quality of products have been great in undermined the quality. Mahmoud Ahmad said that the prices and quality of products have been great in undermined the quality.