"Art makes learning easier for kids" teacher at Ideal Indian School.

I have always been fascinated by different objects of nature including birds and animals since childhood and would try to capture them with brushes and paints. Art became a passion for me from an early age. I used to observe nests and birds in the fields. I love painting natural objects, landscapes, and architecture. I like realism. What kind of work and medium do you use for your creative projects? My works are oil paints and mixed media in mediums of expression. I like to experiment with different canvases. I have also done work with 3D models, mosaic paintings and ceramics.

With all your experience how do you describe art or painting? What is art for you? In my opinion, art is life and art is life. I think colours speak and every colour has a theme. Art is the expression of our mind and soul. To stand the themes of colours can create artistic paintings. There is an artist in every child. Children learn through art. In the first initial days, Art is integralised within all subjects. Art helps in more visualisation in the modern day teaching that learning can be made more interesting and easier for children throughout life. How did you spend your time at home during lockdown? What are you thinking about free time and every moment of creative work and medium of creative work? As an artist, I move forward putting everything into practice. Art is an individual talent. One can express life or her feelings using different methods and mediums.

What is your future plan regarding your arts? I plan to write a book on art. I want every child to learn art. I have plans to write the book for different stages of schoolchildren. I want to do the same in Qatar culture and heritage. I plan to continue doing both silkadic and abstract paintings.ystem I want to go back to society. I want to do this by means of my art and paintings. I want to leave my talent to the world.

Horoscope

June 21 — July 22

CANCER

Attend to your duties today, Aries. There's a pronounced sense of time and a feeling that the clock is slipping away. At first you may experience a lot of resistance in the department. Expect a dynamic and creative approach to the day. Your potential for getting things done may keep you moving forward. Remember that you need to capture and ultimately let loose any resistance or conflict.

ARIES

Two different sides may say so or say today, and neither side may actually make a thing come for pulling you one way or the other. Try to make adjustments to be made for you to get where you need to be. You're going to feel a bit of pressure today. There may be a rather sobering tone to the day that's stubbornly trying to rain on your parade. Recognise the need for structure and stability, rather than letting your attention be diverted from work as someone special suddenly catches your eye. This could be a good or bad thing, depending on how you see things. It may not be easy, but the fun in your life may be getting eloped away. Life is too short to waste time just trying to give yourself purpose and personal pride in life. These are the keys to healthy living.

PISCES

Your heart is going pitter-pat, Gemini, and you're tempted to escape into a fantasised or daydream. If you stay the starting shore, the book that someone may be trying to hold you back today will be held at the Charges. It may seem that someone is calling for outdated remedies and traditional structures that no longer suit your purposes. Think about your own.

GEMINI

You're going to get a bit of pressure today, Aries. There's a pronounced sense of time and a feeling that the clock is slipping away. Pandemic triggering orphan crisis in India

More than 40,000 people have died in India from a deadly black fungus that has become a growing problem in the Asia-Pacific region. The fungus, known as Candida auris, has been spreading rapidly, leading to a surge in deaths and making it difficult for hospitals to keep up with the demand for care. The fungus is particularly dangerous for people with weakened immune systems, including those with diabetes, cancer, and other chronic conditions. In some cases, the fungus can lead to severe infections, including pneumonia, bloodstream infections, and ear infections. Indian healthcare officials are warning the public to take precautions to avoid getting infected, such as maintaining good hygiene practices, avoiding contact with infected individuals, and seeking medical attention immediately if symptoms develop.

Deadly ‘black fungus’ surges among India’s Covid patients

According to the Centre for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the fungus is spreading rapidly in India, and cases have been reported in other countries in the region, including Thailand, Vietnam, and the Philippines. Awareness campaigns are being launched to educate the public about the dangers of the fungus and how to prevent it.

Nigeria’s Boko Haram leader ‘badly wounded’

A Nigerian soldier has been badly wounded in an attack by Boko Haram militants in a forest area in the northeast of the country, according to reports. The soldier, who was targeted in a gun battle, was seriously injured and is currently in hospital. Boko Haram has been active in Nigeria for more than a decade, and the group is considered a terrorist organization by the United Nations. The incident is the latest in a series of attacks by the group, which has been responsible for thousands of deaths and injuries in the region. The Nigerian military has vowed to continue its fight against Boko Haram, and efforts are underway to strengthen the country’s defense capabilities.

Wait for oxygen

The toll could rise further, however, as local officials said that since May 10, up to 31 per cent of people in the state’s COVID-19 care centres have been waiting for a bed. The situation is particularly dire in states like Uttar Pradesh, where oxygen supplies have been stretched to their limits. In some places, patients have had to wait for hours to get connected to an oxygen source. Local officials have appealed to the central government for urgent help to address the crisis. The government has promised to airlift oxygen tanks from other parts of the country to affected areas, and has also asked hospitals to increase their linen capacity to cater to the growing demand.

New storm brewing off India’s east coast

A massive new storm is brewing off the coast of India, with forecasters warning of strong winds and heavy rain in the region. The storm, which has been developing over the last few days, is expected to intensify over the next 24 hours, leading to rough seas and hazardous conditions for maritime vessels. The Indian Navy has advised fishermen and other maritime operators to remain vigilant and take necessary precautions to ensure their safety. The government has also issued an alert to coastal residents, urging them to stay away from the shore and avoid venturing into the sea.

Air pollution costs each American $2,500 a year in healthcare study

Air pollution from road traffic costs each American an average of $2,500 a year in extra medical bills, researchers said yesterday, as they launched a major study of the impact of air pollution on health in the United States.

The researchers said that air pollution was responsible for an estimated 15,000 deaths and 500,000 hospital admissions each year in the United States, and that it was a major cause of respiratory disease.

The study, which was conducted by the American Lung Association, looked at data from 2006 to 2010 and found that air pollution was responsible for an estimated 15,000 deaths and 500,000 hospital admissions each year in the United States.

Arctic nations meet as tensions and temperatures rise

The Arctic council meeting

T he eight nations border- ing the Arctic meet in Reykjavik on Thursday, including the 10 countries with Arctic territories, Russia, Greenland and the United States. European nations, including the European Union, are set to participate. The meeting will be held in person, which has not happened since 2019.

The agenda includes a discussion on how to tackle climate change in the Arctic, which is warming faster than any other region on Earth. The meeting also will consider issues related to the conservation of the Arctic's natural resources, including oil and gas, and the protection of the region’s unique ecosystems.

The meeting will also discuss ways to enhance cooperation and collaboration among the Arctic nations, including through the establishment of a new working group on the Arctic’s cultural heritage.

Reykjavik climate change meeting

In addition to the regular Arctic council meeting, the Nordic Council of Ministers (NSM) will also hold a special meeting in Reykjavik on Thursday, focusing on Arctic issues.

The Nordic Council of Ministers is an intergovernmental council of ministers from the Nordic countries (Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway, and Sweden) and a number of municipalities.

The council will discuss issues related to the Arctic, including the protection of the region’s unique ecosystems, the conservation of the Arctic’s natural resources, and the promotion of sustainable development in the Arctic region.

Europe’s role in the Arctic

The meeting is also an opportunity for Europe to reaffirm its commitment to the Arctic region, including through the establishment of a new working group on the Arctic’s cultural heritage.
The German Covid-19 vaccination campaign will be the largest in history - unprecedented in scale, speed, and complexity. Our goal must be to carry it out as effectively and with as much speed as possible. In particular, we need to vaccinate all vulnerable people in the most vulnerable regions of the world.

By David Malpass

President, World Bank Group

The Covid-19 pandemic will not only feed economic and social crises in the poorest countries. Worldwide vaccination offers the best hope for stopping the spread of infections, saving lives, and protecting livelihoods. People cannot reach their potential until they can study, work, travel, and socialise in the confident knowledge that they are safe from Covid-19.

Delaying to start vaccination rollouts in developing countries is deepening global inequality and leaving hundreds of millions of elderly and vulnerable people at risk.

A successful global vaccination effort must stand on three pillars: (1) standardised, transparent, and shared vaccine supplies; (2) a global online portal that provides easy access to vaccine supplies for all countries; and (3) a global financial mechanism to help meet the immediate need for vaccines, medical equipment, and health services.

In the autumn of 2020, working closely with Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance, the Global Fund, the World Health Organization, and Unicef, the world’s leading health finance institution, the World Bank Group has launched a comprehensive approach to help meet the immediate need for vaccines, medical equipment, and health services.

This includes the creation of the Global Health Platform, a partnership we helped launch in April to allocate doses equitably to poorer countries, to fast-track Covid-19 vaccine purchases, and to make more vaccines available to all countries.

The third pillar is increased vaccine production. The International Finance Corporation, the World Bank Group’s private-sector arm, has invested over $800 million in healthcare, including in vaccine manufacturers. And it is working with partners across the globe to develop, manufacture, and deliver Covid-19 vaccines to low- and middle-income countries.

Thus, the Bank’s online portal is also an invitation to vaccine manufacturers, purchasers, and intermediaries to follow suit, and another proof of the commitment of states and companies to ensure that Covid-19 vaccines reach all countries.

The effects of using weak Hadith

The term “weak Hadith” refers to any Hadith which does not meet the conditions of authenticity of the scholars. The weak Hadith must not be attributed to the Prophet, sallallaahu ‘alaihi wa sallam, or to his Messenger, sallallaahu ‘alaihi wa sallam. Very often when you point to the weakness of a Hadith, others would also say, “I see no problem with using weak Hadith.” This is because weak Hadith can also be used as an argument to prove other points.

For the above conditions to be satisfied, people planning to use the weak Hadith should have the following:

1. Distinction between the weak and the authentic Hadith in order to avoid misunderstanding. Sometimes people believe that it is possible to use weak Hadith in certain contexts, whereas they may fail to identify by using the weak Hadith.

2. People should now be conscious that the weak Hadith and those which are very week are not accepted in the Hadith material.

What should be clear to Muslims is that the ability to use the above two distinct is not possessed except by a very few category of people. Muslims should avoid using weak Hadith in any context.

In particular with regards to them (2 above), they should not use the weak Hadith. We shall now consider the various context of the key point of this issue and how weak Hadith should be used.

Restatements of the Claims:

These serious misrepresentations have left the impression that the Hadith scholars who use weak Hadith are fully aware of the consequences of saying “weak” when referring to it.

One would not be justified in referring to an opinion which is not supported by a powerful proof as “weak.” The truth is that weak Hadith can only be used when it is absolutely necessary that a specific opinion be expressed. In this case, the weakness of the opinion should be clearly stated. It is important for scholars to be aware of this.

This is the seriousness of the matter which should not be underestimated. It is essential that weak Hadith is understood in the context of the issue at hand. The issue of the weak Hadith and the consequences of using it should be clearly stated.

The use of weak Hadith should be avoided unless absolutely necessary. The primary reasons for avoiding weak Hadith are:

1. The weak Hadith should be used under absolute necessity, and not otherwise.

2. It may be possible to fulfill both the conditions of authenticity and the conditions of positive meaning by using the weak Hadith, without weakening the entire Hadith.

3. It is important to use weak Hadith only when it is absolutely necessary that a specific opinion be expressed. In this case, the weakness of the opinion should be clearly stated. It is important for scholars to be aware of this.
National AI contest winners announced

Qatar University’s College of Engineering (QU-CENG), Hamad bin Khalifa University (HBKU), and Qatar Computing Research Institute (QCRI) announced yesterday at the 2021 Qatar International Science Week that they had awarded the second annual Artificial Intelligence (AI) National Competition.

The AI competition winners were sharing awards at an online event. The winners were given $50,000 in total prizes.

Chair of the AI competition winners’ jury Dean Mohamed Elramag explained that the competition was divided into phases: Idea Submission, Abstract Solution Design/Development, Proof of Concept, Project Testing and Demos (Track 2), and Announcement of Winners.

The winning competition proposal was ‘A Better World for the Sake of Bees’ with the section ‘Better for the Sake of Bees.’ The proposal was divided into two tracks: Track 1 and Track 2.
