Tennis is a long-running joke about how tennis players are all a bunch of wimps. If it falls two or three times, it’s considered a wimpy show. Timea Babos at the Australian Open this year

Babos had no idea how her enormous standards at the World Artistic Championships, as she fell twice on fault and balance beam, yet the 21-year-old was good enough to claim a record-breaking fourth All-around World title.

Sheikh Ali was quoted as saying, “To bring home medals for Qatar and make my country proud and inspire others, there is pressure to perform on home soil.”

The best of the best. My dream is to represent my country against the world’s best riders. That’s what I want.”

— Sheikh Ali bin Khalid al-Thani

Sheikh Ali, who has been a leading sporting figure, has taken on a mission for Sheikh Ali, and is doing all he can to put Qatar on the map in global sports.

The future looks bright for Sheikh Ali, who has serious horse-racing ambitions. He has a plan of where he wants to be, and is working hard in Europe and the UAE to bring home medals for Qatar, particularly as a team. Sheikh Ali was quoted as saying, “The best of the best. My dream is to represent my country against the world’s best riders. That’s what I want.”

Morgan will make his Wales debut against Scotland’s Cardiff Blues

Morgan, Wales’ most-try accruncher, returned to Wales after six years playing in the overseas pro-team. Morgan has scored 41 tries for Saracens while playing in the Premiership, more than a dozen for France and five for Northampton Saints. He has also scored 27 tries for Wales.

"It’s a great reward to see him back in the mix," said Steve Hansen, Wales’ coach. "We wanted to give him a chance to show his worth and he’s done that."
