Di Maria, Mbappe guide PSG past nine-man Nice

ATLETICO HAD GOTTEN A COMFORTABLE 1-0 lead against their arch-rivals Barcelona, but their players were determined not to let anything related to an injury to Diego Costa ruin their day.

The forward, who was substituted at half-time, was clearly in pain and was taken off on a stretcher to the dressing room.

Atletico continued to dominate the possession and create chances, but couldn't find the back of the net for the second consecutive game with 10 men.

However, the game took an even more dramatic turn when the referee, after consulting the VAR, awarded a penalty against Atletico for a tackle on a Nice player.

The penalty was converted by Angel Di Maria, who raced on to a first-pass from Ipurua before teeing up Gabriel Jesus to score his ninth goal of the season.

The forward, who has four goals since the start of the year, sealed the win for Nice as they defeated Atletico 2-0.

The victory, which puts Nice in second place, continues their impressive run of form.

The tourists were looking for their fourth straight victory over a team in the bottom half and they got off to a perfect start when Anillita made a foul.

All Blacks, England set up blockbuster semi-final

We wanted to play the game at our pace not theirs, and we did that in the second half.

A pretty try double in the second quarter by England's Owen Farrell helped lift the Three Lions on their way to victory.

The performance was widely praised, with former England head coach Matt计算机 saying Japan were playing a "unique" brand of rugby.

"The players have really taken over," said Farrell of the lead-up to the match.

"It's really a good time as a coach because when you feed them their team ball and confidence is back.

Joe Schmidt and Anthony Watson were both credited for their impact on the game.

"Joe [Schmidt] is a great coach," said Watson. "He knew exactly what to expect from the opposition.

"We knew exactly what to expect from the opposition, so we were well-prepared".

Owen Farrell's penalty kick in the second half of the game sealed England's victory and moved them into the World Cup semi-finals.

But Japan's Ryohei Yamanaka came in at the last minute and scored a tries to keep the game close, but it was not enough.

"We did what's needed. We put Ireland on the board before Beauden Barrett went over for their seventh and final try.

"Wales have developed more than any other country and teams in the tournament.

"They are good at putting more boot to ball, putting more pressure on the opposition, and they are good at turning the tide of the game.

"I know that is what the people here and the opposition want to see from their team.

The offensive explosion roused the home team as the Astros combined to make the end of the ninth inning maddening for the Yankees.

"Anybody can do it one time," Hicks said. "It's a type of stuff that I need. It's a more range of motion. That's why I'm able to do a lot more movement in the body for making this possible."

"I don't think I need to go home," he added.

The news that the main target of Gvozdyk’s boxers in the Tokyo Olympics was gold, or at least silver, will be welcomed by the experts at the event, who can expect to see the best boxers in the world come together to compete.

The International Olympic Committee (IOC) is considering a plan to move the 2020 Games underwriting events to happen on the same day as the boxing matches, due to concerns about the impact of the event.

Although 8 clubs still did not agree to participate in Tokyo 2020, officials seems to have already been advised to keep the event "as much as possible".

"This is a very big event, it seems to be the most important," said Tokyo vice governor, Yosuke Takano. "It’s the biggest event we’ve ever had."
