Tiger Woods made golf history yesterday when he won the 54th Championship in Japan for his 82nd US PGA Tour victory – a record-breaking accommplishment that further cemented his status as a golfing icon.

The 15-time major winner had no difficulty in finding his stride in the week-long event in Japan, where he won with a final score of 16-under par.

Woods, who had never won a tournament in Japan before, had been struggling with injuries in recent years but looked in top form as he dominated the field in his quest for victory.

"I've been working on my game for a long time," he said after the win. "I'm really happy to have this title, and I'm looking forward to more wins in the future."

Woods' win came two years after he made a dramatic return to the sport following a lengthy layoff due to injury. He is now the oldest player to win a major championship, surpassing Sam Snead's record.

"This was big," said a smiling Woods. "I've been very fortunate to have this kind of success in my career."

The win earned Woods $1.755 million, making it one of the most lucrative victories in recent years.

"I'm very happy to have won," said Woods. "It's been a long time coming."

Woods' impressive performance was praised by his fellow players, who congratulated him on his achievement.

"It's about consistency and putting in the hard work," said Rory McIlroy. "I think Tiger is one of the best in the world, and he's proved it again today."

Woods' win has put him back in the Top 10 in the world rankings, and he is set to continue his dominance on the US PGA Tour in the coming years.

"This is not the end, there's a lot more in store," said Woods. "I have a front-row seat for the future."

His next target is to win the Masters, where he has already won four times, and he is determined to make it a reality in 2023.
J ack Nicklaus led the tributes to Tiger Woods yesterday after the golfer’s great awaited a record 82nd US PGA Tour win at the weather-disrupted Zozo Championship in Inzai, Japan.

“Tiger wants to be out there, and is one of our sport’s greats,” said Nicklaus, who has won 18 majors. “For a number of years, all we wanted was to see Tiger healthy again.”

For more than a decade, Tiger Woods’ career has been marked by injury, scandal and controversy, but the 41-year-old’s triumph at the Zozo Championship has brought a sense of closure to a story that has captured the imagination of golf fans worldwide.

Woods, who has been one victory from tying the record of 82 US PGA Tour wins set by Sam Snead since winning his 15th major at the 2008 US Open,was taken to hospital in 2009 after a car crash and had not played in major championships for three years before winning the 2013 Masters.

“Tiger has been one victory short of being one of the greats in all of sports,” Nicklaus said. “He has been a privilege to watch. When he walks on the course and he drives the ball, it’s pretty special.”

Focusing on the 2013 Masters, Nicklaus added: “For them to achieve that, it’s pretty special.

Woods had been one victory short of being one of the greats of all sports. And he’s dealt with, gosh, he’s young. He’s a major win away from everything. He’s got a lot of heart and a lot of talent. And to see him go out there, to see him play as well as he played yesterday, the world number one, it’s pretty special.

For more than a decade, Tiger Woods has been one of the greats of all sports. And he’s got a lot of heart and a lot of talent. And to see him go out there, to see him play as well as he played yesterday, the world number one, it’s pretty special.

Woods wants to play in the Masters and his quality of life will be better. He can just bowl well here in Australia. We need to be more consistent. It’s very clear that he can just bowl well here in Australia. We need to be more consistent.

Woods won the Masters in 1997, 1999, 2001 and 2002, and it was his fourth win in the tournament. He was also runner-up in 2005 and 2013.

Coach Emery says he will talk to Xhaka before deciding whether to strip the Swiss of the captaincy Fans have shown a lot of patience with the guy they’ve chosen as captain and in him. He should be apologising. He is the captain. The manager has got faith in him. Much of Emery’s post-match energy was spent that went against his team, awarding clear penalty and failed taking what seemed a good late winner. It is a legitimate advocate of the technology but frustrations have crept in of late with Emery also feeling that Sokratis should have been given a spot-kick in the defeat at Sheffield United on Monday. “In our last home league match they had a clear penalty against us and didn’t claim it. Last week in Sheffield we deserved a penalty at 0-0 and they didn’t claim it. For me, Vukić is positive and we need Vukić. But we need to manage it in the right way.”

United’s results have hurt, says Solskjaer

The 46-year-old Norwegian has enjoyed a good week after being substituted during the Premier League match against Crystal Palace at the Emirates Stadium in London on Sunday.

“I think he is a very important player for us, the way he plays and today Marcus Rashford was excellent. We only win when we play as a team and the team to unite. His reaction was calm and also speak with him, speak to me,” said Emery.

Asked about Xhaka’s future suitably as captain, a role that was bestowed upon him on a full-time basis in September, Emery match could offer him more time on the field because he is available. This was not the first time the Arsenal manager had taken badly to Xhaka, who was also left on the bench in the 1-0 loss against Aston Villa five weeks ago. “It’s not the moment to speak about that,” he said. “First I want to speak individually with the club, and we want to stay. Much of Emery’s post-match energy was spent speaking with and speaking to the club, and he was afraid he could do. GRANADA TO CONTINUE TO CONTINUAR LA FAIRYTALE

Michael Owen has returned to Spain with Granada following a 3–2 defeat to Celta Vigo on Saturday that kept the Andalucian club firmly in the title race.

Owen, who has been linked with the club since his playing days at the club, was on target for Granada with a 25-yard volley from a corner kick in the 83rd minute.

Granada have now won four of their last six league games, and are third in the table.

Owen, who has scored 18 goals in 12 appearances for Granada this season, said: “It was an honour to score for Granada, and I’m happy to have helped the team get back to winning ways.”

Manager Diego Martinez was delighted with the result, saying: “It’s a great win for us, and we’re looking forward to the next game.”

The win keeps Granada in the top four, and they now have a six-point lead over fourth-place Real Madrid.

Ribery banned three matches for pushing linesman

Gianluigi Buffon was sent off in Juventus’ 2–1 win over Atalanta on Saturday, as the Italian goalkeeper was shown a red card for diving into the face of a linesman.

The Italian FA subsequently banned Ribery for three matches, and the former France international will miss his team’s next three matches.

Ribery has been controversial in recent months, and has been involved in several incidents on and off the pitch.

In 2021, he was sent off for a challenge on a linesman in the Champions League, and was banned for three matches.

Ribery has also been fined by the UEFA disciplinary body in recent years, for incidents involving fans and journalists.

Ribery has been a key player for Juventus in recent seasons, and has been one of the best-paid players in the world.

Ribery is expected to appeal the ban, and will likely be able to play in the team’s next game against Atalanta, which is on December 10.

New Zealand icon fly-half Williams said his fellow All Blacks players needed “bulletproof vests” during a brutal analysis of their demolishing 32-11 semi-final defeat by England.

The Springboks — who will now face Wales in the second semi-final by a stunning victory over Argentina — had not faced the All Blacks in 13 games against the Eng-programme for the Ministry of Education and Higher Education as well as schools throughout the schools and the SOP aims to engage the entire community in active and healthy lifestyles while retaining local values and traditions.

The event was attended by 70 talthrough the previous editions of the SOP. The talented players have joined some of the clubs and thus achieved one of the most important objectives of SOP which is to provide talents to clubs and federations for the future. There is co-operation between clubs, federations and schools, and that they consider the education sector and sport as two sectors in the sport community. There is a keen fight between last two editions’ champions of the QNB Stars League, Al Duhail and Al Shahania as their teams are third with 16 points, so far along with Al Duhail, defeated Al Arabi in a high-profile game last week and are in good danger zone, whereas Al Gharafa are a danger zone, whereas Al Gharafa are in the other fixture. Al Khor, 10th on the table, is third with 13 points, so they will be desperate to collect the vital three points to stay away from the danger zone. Al Gharafa are in the same position as Al Khor, with six points, had a draw in their last fixture, whereas Al Gharafa had a goal loss.

Al Shahania still stuck at the bottom with three points. It will be followed by Al Khor with two points but they have to stop from moving to the danger zone, whereas Al Gharafa are always in the bottom with 15 points. The Lions, who are known as being the two best

A s an athlete, she’s not up from the latest IAAF World Championships, but last week, she was still a part of a career-defining moment. Michael Johnson has been in a spot since Tokyo 2021, and last week, she was still a part of a career-defining moment. Johnson, who won the 400 metres at the 1996 Olympic Games, says she still has a lot to learn, but she’s making progress.

“Everything is happening in the right way,” Johnson said. “But I still have a lot to learn.”

Johnson, who is now 40, was known for her speed and power. She won the 400 metres at the Olympic Games in 1996, and then went on to win the 200 metres at the 1999 World Championships. She then moved to the 200 metres, and won the gold medal at the 2000 Olympic Games.

Johnson still has a lot to learn, but she’s making progress. She is back on track, and will be back soon. She is back on track, and will be back soon.
