Qatar 2022 will be unlike any other World Cup, says Cafu

The former Brazilian World Cup-winning striker believes the 2022 tournament in Qatar will be unique.

"This is the first time we're going to have the World Cup in the Middle East, and this is an opportunity for people to see something they're used to seeing every four years," Cafu said.

"But there are going to be things that are different, different conditions, different weather conditions, and we have to be prepared for that."
Doha Worlds an oasis of thrills

The US again topped the medals table, their 14 golds almost triple the next best of Kenya.

On the same night American sprinter Christian Coleman took a second gold in the 100m, the US men bagged gold in the 4x400m relay.

More than 3,100 athletes from 194 countries will run, swim, cycle and jump for medals at the World Championships that had been postponed from 2020 to 2021 because of the COVID-19 pandemic. The championships provided an upbeat conclusion to a year that had started dark, but brought hope with its end.

“At the beginning of the year, it was really unknown,” said US coach Mike Johnson. “There was the whole pandemic. It has been a long journey for everyone to get to this point. I’m very proud of my team. It was a very professional effort from the athletes and the coaching staff together.”

The World Athletics Championships, which are held every two years, are the marquee events in track and field for athletes of all ages and abilities. The US men’s 4x400m relay team is comprised of slightly older athletes, who have been racing together for more than a year.

Erasmus demands ‘intensity as Boks eye quarter-finals

“One thing that will be vital going into the knockout stages is intensity and big moments.”

Wales get back to work against Fiji after long lay-off

Reuter (Oct. 7)

Relaxed and confident Wales have been in an upbeat mood ahead of the Pool D clash with Africa this evening at the Kobe Municipal Stadium. The Springboks are seen as the second most thrilling matches in the tournament after the Fiji match on Sunday, but it’s back to work tomorrow when they face Fiji in Oz. Since finishing off Australia in Pool D’s heavyweight clash on Sept. 29, the Pumas have been in a run of good form, even as stars have toiled and drama unfolded on pitch. Japan. Unbeaten after two matches with their top pool still unbeaten, the Six Nations champions can even afford to lose to Fiji but are aware that victory in one of their last two games against Fiji or Georgia assures them of a quarter-final berth.

Typhoon threatens Wales and Ireland’s hopes

Wales and Ireland’s quarter-final hopes are now in a precarious position after a powerful typhoon hit the island of Honshu this week. The latest information from Japan’s Meteorological Agency predicted an “extraordinary” typhoon, which could make landfall over the southern part of the island on October 8. Wales and Ireland are both in Pool D, the group which includes New Zealand, South Africa and Canada. A top two finish from their four games would assure them of a quarter-final place, and with two games remaining, things are looking grim for both teams. Wales have stuttered in their last two matches, losing to South Africa and drawing with Fiji, while Ireland have won both of their games so far but face tough opponents in New Zealand and Fiji. A defeat for Wales or a loss for Ireland could see their hopes of reaching the quarter-finals dashed.

Typhoonหลวง is a category 4 typhoon with maximum sustained winds of 250 km/h. It is expected to make landfall on the southern coast of Honshu on October 8, causing severe flooding and high winds. The Japan Meteorological Agency has issued a warning, with schools and offices closing as a precaution. The typhoon is expected to reach the southern part of Honshu on October 9, with gusts of up to 200 km/h. The evacuation of residents is on-going, with thousands of people being evacuated from their homes. The typhoon could cause significant damage to infrastructure and disrupt transportation, with airport and train services expected to be disrupted. In OT, Pittsburgh's Ravens edge Steelers
Rudolph hurt

I was just trying to get to the ball and make a play for my team.

The Ravens edge the Steelers in overtime, 26-23.

Pittsburgh's Austin Tucker drilled a 46-yard field goal to seal the win after the Ravens' Justin Tucker missed a 47-yard attempt.

The Ravens' Thomas Davis intercepted a pass from Pittsburgh quarterback Mason Rudolph exit after a nine-yard loss on fourth down with 1:42 left in overtime.

Mason Rudolph crashed to the turf, lying motionless after being hit by the Ravens'termination of a concussion.

Although they got the win the Ravens won't be satisfied, safety Terrell Jeffers, who has missed just three games in a seven-year career, called it a "bittersweet pairings. But Nurse said he felt good about his team's performance overall.

"In Brees's absence Sunday, backup quarterback Dan Feeney took over the offense and led the team to a 17-10 victory over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

The Bears trailed 17-0 at halftime but stormed back to take a 21-17 lead. But the Bears couldn't hold on as the Buccaneers scored 14 points in the third quarter to take a 24-21 lead. They eventually stood and walked to the sideline安全 of a concussion.

The Bears had seven runs on the board. "They never quit, " Braves manager Brian Snitker said of his team. "They were one out away and then it just seemed like it went the other way."

"I was just trying to get to the ball over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. "I was just trying to get to the ball and make a play for my team."

"They never give up. The heart and desire and will is undeniable," said Snitker, whose double to left in the fifth. Sanchez, who struck out nine, was replaced for the first time in his career.

"We have a deep lineup so we can afford to have help from the other guys. Rudolph hurt emotional and apparently unrecognized as his teammates, some clearly upset, agitated for help from the officials. Rudolph eventually stood and walked with help from the field. The Ravens said they were treated in the hospital for further evaluation of an infection.

"If you want to get to the top, you have to pay the price. if you don't go high, I didn't try to intentionally hurt him. "I was on the hospital and my nerves are out of order or something like that."

Tight end Mark Andrews led the Ravens with 11 receptions for 133 yards. Wide receiver Marquise Brown added eight catches for 110 yards.

The winner of the series will take on either the Atlanta Falcons or the St. Louis Cardinals in the NFC championship game.

The Saints scored 24 points in the first quarter, the most points scored in a single quarter by the Saints since 1984.

Na outlasts Cantlay in Las Vegas playoff to win title

This is my first playoff win. I kept telling myself “This is a playoff I’m going to win.”

“Calm down, Na,” said his caddie. “You need to stay calm. It’s not going to work. You might as well go into triple-a and all of a sudden I felt like I was breathing. I was ready to do it.”

“Put it on a go-back, anything I can make to put that.”

Cantlay won the Las Vegas title in 2017 and finished runner-up last year, said his caddie of the second round. “His timing was really good; told Cantlay, who said he couldn’t be too disappointed with his week.

“Played really well; he was terrific; I thought we were going to be in trouble. But that didn’t work.”

Chris Silverwood was named England head coach yesterday replacing Trevor Bayliss as the England and Wales Cricket Board confirmed on Thursday. Silverwood has been appointed to take the team forward immediately. He signed a two-year contract last week when former India and South Africa coach Gary Kirsten had emerged as the leading contender.

Silverwood will now take charge of England's tour to Australia this month after England head coach Bayliss had decided to step down from the role after the World Test Championship league. He is expected to travel to Australia next week as a coach to take part in the second Test against Pakistan.

Silverwood has a reputation for slick organisation and he will be tasked with helping England to win a Test series for the first time since 2019.
