Russia banned from Olympics, World Cup over doping scandal

‘Russia was afforded every opportunity... but it chose instead to continue in its stance of deception and denial’

The World Anti-Doping Agency yesterday banned Russia for four years from major global sporting events including the 2020 Tokyo Olympics and the 2022 Qatar World Cup over its state-manipulated doping data. WADA's executive committee, meeting in Lausanne, banned Russia from the "outcast" four-year suspension after accusing Moscow of hiding data from a doping testing laboratory that was handed over to investigators earlier this year.

"Clean athletes are seeing their rights abused," WADA president Craig Reedie said.

"Russia was afforded every opportunity to get its house in order but it continued with the same doping community for the good of the world in terms of sport and it chose instead to continue in its stance of deception and denial."

Under the sanctions, Russian athletes would still be allowed to compete at the Olympics next year and the 2019 World Athletics Championships, but only as neutrals and only if they can demonstrate that they were not part of what WADA believes was a state-sponsored system of doping. Russia would also be allowed to compete in qualifiers for the 2022 football World Cup.

"Russia is isolated from the world of sport for four years and it's a result of the manipulation of the data from a laboratory," WADA director general Olivier Niggli added that "should they progress to the finals in Qatar, they will not be representing the Russian Federation!"

Russia’s participation in the 2020 Tokyo Olympics, which starts in a month, will be allowed by WADA on a case-by-case basis. A team of Russian athletes and coaches, who are not part of the state-sponsored system of doping, will also be allowed to compete in qualifiers for the 2022 football World Cup.

The toughest ever sanctions against Russia were imposed by the World Anti-Doping Agency yesterday, as the organisation said it was "cleaning up the Russian money and influence in failing to adequately deal with this sullen affair".

The move came after the US Anti-Doping Agency, which is part of the organisation, accused the International Olympic Committee of having set up the Court of Arbitration for Sport, thereby leading the athletes commission, of being "politicised" by sports leaders of thuggish bodies who have been given "the opportunity to do the right thing".

A n historic win for Bahrain, says coach Helio Sousa, after the Gulf Cup final started modestly in its first 10 minutes, marking the start of a new and momentous tournament in the Arabian Gulf that saw the Bahrain team storm into the quarter-finals.

Bahrain players throw coach Helio Sousa (also above) into the air to celebrate winning the 24th Gulf Cup title in Doha on Sunday.

The Gulf Cup is a prestigious football tournament that marks the beginning of the Gulf’s football calendar.

Sousa said his team had worked tirelessly to achieve this historic win, which was not only a significant moment for Bahrain, but also a source of immense pride for the Gulf region.

He added: “We worked in all aspects of integrated systems. For us, we were two, the championship and the Gulf Cup 24 to 10 in Qatar. The Gulf Cup that we find in the final started modestly in its first meetings, it was not elected with high quality in subsequent competitions. We succeeded today, with strong drive, as we worked in all aspects.

I believe in the capability of our players, and we plan them full confidence to present their best. I came from Portugal to take on such challenges, I worked to compete for the championships. This victory was elected, but it was also elected by the good work of many teams in the competition and achieved many important titles. I think everyone is a believer in this team and the players who made history.”

Many described Sousa’s tinkering with the team, and the conditions did not help in the implementation of the plans. Some players who made history.

He concluded: “I congratulate the Bahraini people on this historical win. I am happy to see our players achieve such great performances in this tournament. And Sousa knew it.

It was a moment of achievement, celebration and appreciation, and happiness. After the players left the field, the 30-year-old said, “It is a great feeling to be part of such a football that deserved to be celebrated. This is due to the coordination and control of the training work that we started – to make sure that our team was ready to compete for titles, a week we worked about this month. And the conditions did not help in the implementation of the plans.

We are a team that works with great determination, and every day we work hard to achieve our goals. And this was what really happened. We played and fought to score the equaliser, but we were not rewarded.

He added “We had to change the course of the match after Bahrain’s first goal, but the instantaneous striking of the match killed the game. The Bahraini team tried to break any calculations in an attempt to stop the game. They were then self-disciplined, and we were seeking to create opportunities to score the goal.

Regarding the absence of Haseeb, and Mohammed Alhammadi, they both did not succeed in recovering from the injury, as well as he told me he was in pain and was not ready for this match. The two players gave great performances in this tournament. In the end, we saw we have opportunities ahead. We need to reach the 2022 Qatar World Cup.”
