In-form Lungs feeling the love as Southampton continue to improve

Rebeteria

Southampton striker Danny Ings has been starring for Southampton in his first season in the Premier League for some time, with the 23-year-old forward having scored 13 goals and added four assists in 23 games.

The Birmingham-born forward has been a revelation for the Saints this season, and his form has earned him a call-up to the England squad for the upcoming World Cup qualifiers.

Bundesliga

Southampton striker Danny Ings is proving his worth for Southampton so far this season. Ings has scored nine goals in 14 Premier League appearances for the Saints, helping them to an impressive start to the season.

Ings was signed for Southampton from Liverpool in January 2019 and has quickly established himself as a key player for the club. The 25-year-old has already surpassed his previous best goal tally for a single season with nine goals in just 14 matches.

Ings has been a prolific goalscorer for Southampton, with his nine strikes in the Premier League equaling his previous best tally of eight goals in all competitions in the 2017-18 season.

The former Liverpool forward has also demonstrated an eye for goal, with six of his nine Premier League goals coming from outside the box.

Ings' performances have not gone unnoticed, with the Englishman being named in the PFA Team of the Year for the 2019-20 season. The award is voted for by the professional footballers in the UK and recognizes the best performers in the league.

Southampton manager Ralph Hasenhuttl has praised Ings' work rate and discipline, saying he has a good understanding of the game and is capable of playing in various positions across the front line.

Ings' form has also earned him a call-up to the England squad for the upcoming World Cup qualifiers. The 25-year-old was included in the 33-man squad for the matches against Belgium and Iceland, and has been given a chance to showcase his skills on the international stage.

Southampton currently sit in fifth place in the Premier League with 25 points from 18 games, and Ings' goals have played a key role in their success.

Southampton fans have been delighted with Ings' performances and his contribution to the team's title push. The forward has become a fan favourite at St Mary's and his form has helped to lift the spirits of the Southampton faithful.

Ings is expected to continue his impressive form for Southampton in the coming months, and his continued success will be crucial for the Saints' hopes of challenging for a top-four finish.

Ings is a player who has adapted well to the physical demands of the Premier League and has shown his ability to score goals from various positions.

His performances have earned him plaudits from both fans and pundits alike, with many tipping him for a bright future in English football.

Giants fire Shurmur after two seasons

New York

Pete Shurmur was fired Monday, hours after two seasons as head coach of the New York Giants. General manager Dave Gettleman indicated a move could be coming as early as last week in the aftermath of the team’s 5-11 season. Shurmur formed a field of reporters he would provide additional details on Tuesday.

Shurmur was 9-23 in two seasons and was 4-12 in 2019 as the Giants rebounded in a few areas but struggled mightily in other areas under the leadership of the offensive coordinator. In August, Shurmur fired offensive coordinator Pat Shurmur.

As the season concluded, Shurmur has been relieved of his duties as president of the football operations for the Giants, a new role that was established in the offseason under the league’s new collective bargaining agreement.

The Giants will now have to hire a new head coach, general manager and president of football operations.
