fter making history by squading Ali’s Dav’s long-standing record, a day goal in a match between Afghanistan and the Arab Emirates it immediately turned his attention to tomorrow’s final against Japan. Ali, who was born more months before Brazil set the record in the 1996 edition of the AFC Asian Cup, said it was a “will of the people” and an “emotional experience”.

“Of course, I was really happy with the goal,” he said. “It was a bit of a surprise, because we were playing at home and had the support of the fans. I am grateful to everyone who supported me in this historic achievement,” he added.

Beyond Ali’s individual scenes and milestones, the AFC Asian Cup semi-final match between Qatar and Iran was remembered for its strong emotional content.

League officials and football fans from both nations were united in expressing sympathy towards the UAE players.

PSG’s al-Khelaifi elected to UEFA executive committee

REPORTS

London

PSG boss Nasser al-Khelaifi has been elected to the UEFA executive committee.

“Today, the UEFA congress elected Nasser al-Khelaifi to the UEFA executive committee,” the French club’s website reported.

The Frenchman has been linked with a move to replace former UEFA president Michel Platini, who was forced to resign in 2016.

Al-Khelaifi has previously held high-profile positions in European football, including as president of Qatar 2022 World Cup host bid committee.

The former FIFA executive committee member also served as a member of the Asian Football Confederation’s executive committee.

The UEFA executive committee is responsible for making decisions on important matters, such as the hosting of competitions and the election of new leaders.

The appointment of Al-Khelaifi to the UEFA executive committee is seen as a significant step in the European football landscape and international diplomacy.
Focus, dedication paying off for Qatar from Aspire Academy to the Asian Cup final Qatar's Aspire Academy has been a driving force in developing Qatar's football talent. The Academy was established in 2006 and has played a significant role in the country's football development.

The Academy's philosophy is based on a holistic approach to sport and education, focusing on the development of young footballers from an early age. The Academy has a strong track record of producing world-class players, with many of its graduates going on to represent Qatar at the highest level.

One of the Academy's most promising graduates is Akira Nishino, who was formerly the head coach of the Qatar national team. Nishino played as a midfielder for the Samurai Blue, the Japanese national team, and is known for his discipline and work ethic.

Nishino's coaching career began at Aspire Academy, where he was promoted to the head coach's position with the senior national team to maintain his close links with a group of players that includes Almoez Ali, Almoez Ali and Abdallah Alghafiri. Nishino has been instrumental in building Qatar's football infrastructure and has been praised for his work.

Nishino's success with the national team has been hailed as a triumph for Qatar's football development, with FIFA's President Sepp Blatter calling him "the most important man in world football".

Nishino's appointment as Qatar's head coach in 2013 was a significant milestone for the country's football development, and his team's progress to the AFC Asian Cup final is a testament to the work being done at Aspire Academy.

The Academy's dedication to developing young footballers has paid off, and Nishino's success is a reminder of the importance of investing in youth football and providing the right environment for young players to flourish.

The future of Qatar football looks bright, and with the support of the Aspire Academy, the country is well on its way to achieving its footballing dreams.

City's title bid rocked by Newcastle United

Mancihiester City's Premier League title bid was dealt a blow at the weekend when they were held to a 2-2 draw by Newcastle United at St James' Park. City missed the chance to go four points clear at the top of the table as they were held to a draw by the Magpies.

The match was City's first league draw of the season as they looked to consolidate their position at the summit of the Premier League. The Citizens have now only two league defeats in over 60 matches since the start of last season, a remarkable run that they will be keen to maintain.

But the Magpies were determined to make life difficult for City and produced a strong performance to earn a share of the points. Newcastle started the game brightly and put City under pressure from the outset.

City struggled to find their rhythm in the early stages and were forced to defend deep to limit the home side's chances. However, City were able to weather the early storm and begin to assert their dominance as the half progressed.

In the second half, City continued to dominate and created several chances to take the lead. However, they were unable to convert their chances and had to settle for a point.

The result means that City now have two league draws in a row after a run of nine consecutive wins. Newcastle, on the other hand, move to within seven points of the top four and will be feeling confident ahead of their next fixture.

But for City, the result will be a setback in their title追求 and they will be looking to bounce back when they face Arsenal in the FA Cup this weekend.

Manchester United preserve Solskjaer's unbeaten start in a dramatic 2-2 draw with Burnley

Manchester United preserved Ole Gunnar Solskjaer's unbeaten start in a dramatic 2-2 draw with Burnley at Old Trafford on Saturday. The result means that United have now won four consecutive matches in all competitions, a run that has seen them surge into the top four of the Premier League.

But it was a nightmare start for Burnley as they were well-placed to win the game before conceding two goals in the opening 10 minutes. Solskjaer's team took full advantage of their early lead to run away with the game.

De Kock shines as South Africa beat Pakistan to clinch series

Opener siams 83 off 58 balls as hosts chase down 241 with seven wickets and ten overs to spare

While man-of-the-match Du Plessis, who scored 130, was in, South Africa were never really threatened. When he fell, the tourists were 119 for three in the 25th over. From there, the side imploded, losing six for 77 in 11 overs. Only left-handed opener Zaman hit a half-century, and he struck sixes off Dale Steyn and Denly before being caught at deep midwicket. After Sonakshi Sharma no-balled Shinwari for overstepping, de Kock went on to hit 11 fours and four sixes before being caught at deep fine leg.

De Kock, who scored 130 for the fourth time in six innings, had 87 runs on the board when he was caught at deep midwicket. He then struck sixes off Denly, this time off a legal delivery, with the required run rate declining. He then added a steady six off leg-spinner Shahid Afridi. All matches in the series were won by the side batting second.

While de Kock was in, South Africa’s bowlers played an aggressive role, restricting Pakistan to 240 for eight despite an aggressive 54 not out by F Zaman. While Zaman was at the crease, Pakistan were on course for a big total. He was fourth out after a 71-ball innings when the total was 117 in the 19th over. He had dismissed, with only 41 runs scored to the name of all the players. Our best performance as South Africa chased down a target of 241 with seven wickets and ten overs to spare and a 3-2 series win.

“Zingy made it 80 for the rest of the batters,” said South African captain Faf du Plessis, who said he was “absolutely delighted with how the team has performed”. Du Plessis had played two Tests and “to be able to carry our bowling and the fielding was really good. And when Zingy played like he did tonight was extremely difficult to bowl to.”
