PSG were already crowned as massacre champions in France with their ninth straight title before they arrived in Spain for the quarter-final clash. However, the French side have been in fine form in Europe this season and have reached the Champions League quarter-finals for the first time in their history. They are the only team to have scored at least 30 goals in the competition this season, with a 3-1 victory over RB Leipzig in the last-16. The Parisians are currently top of the group standings with 14 points from six games, having won their first three matches. They will face Manchester United in the last-16 on March 11, with the first leg at Old Trafford.

R osario midfielder Alejandro Mitrta and Alexandru Mitrita scored in the second half to seal a perfect afternoon for Dortmund, as they kept fourth-placed Lille’s goalless draw at Toulouse and closed the gap to a point at the top of the table.

The match was a tight affair with few clear-cut chances in the first half, but Dortmund took control after the break. A brilliant double from Marco Reus helped the team — who have won six of their last seven league games — to claim all three points. The German side now lead the table by two points, having won five of their six matches this season. They face RB Leipzig in the next round.

Mbaappe has struggled with injuries in recent weeks and then had to retire from international duty due to a concussion. However, he has continued to impress for PSG, scoring a hat-trick in the 3-1 victory over Monaco.

The French side are on course to win their seventh straight title, and Mbappe has been one of the driving forces behind their success. His goals and assists have been crucial in helping the team secure the title.

But despite Real Madrid's dominance in the league, Zidane is not expecting them to have it all their own way in the second leg, which is due to be played in late May or early June.

"It's going to be difficult to win the title," said Zidane. "But if we can win, it will be a great achievement for the club and for the players."
