NZ more focused on Springboks than WC for now

Reuter

New Zealand are focusing on Springboks rather than the World Cup pressure.

With Italy, Namibia and Canada the other teams in their pool, the Springboks might be a bit more nervous this time. However, the All Blacks, who are a third of the way through the tournament, are looking at the match more as a standalone contest than a World Cup semi-final. The Springboks are coming off a defeat to France in the quarter-final, and they will be looking to bounce back against the All Blacks.

Injury scare

Ireland's Kearney doubtful for World Cup opener

Reuters

Ireland's Keith Earls is still fit for their World Cup opener against Tonga on Saturday after sustaining a hamstring injury during training earlier this week. The 30-year-old, who has 92 caps, will be monitored by the medical staff. Earls was a substitution in the 2015 World Cup, but he returned to the starting line-up for the quarter-final against Argentina.

Bottomline

Kolisi lifting World Cup would be ‘huge symbolic’: Solomons

Solomons, who was director of rugby at the British and Irish Lions, believes a Bok victory would be a huge symbolic moment for the southern hemisphere.

The Springboks are one of the most successful rugby teams in history, having won the World Cup a record five times. However, they have not won since 2007, and their performances have been inconsistent. If the Springboks were to win the World Cup, it would be a huge symbolic moment for rugby, especially in Africa where the game has struggled to gain traction.

‘Feelin’ alive’ – Japan embrace World Cup pressure

James Joseph, Japan captain, said his team are feeling alive ahead of their World Cup opener against Tonga.

‘We know exactly what is expected and what we need to do,’ he said. ‘It will be a special event, “said Solomons, who is director of the Springboks. ‘It’s a huge moment for us, and it’s a huge moment for rugby."

World’s best athletes will inspire NextGen

Pupils in Doha College have already achieved sporting success as youngsters emulate their sporting stars who will compete at Khalifa International Stadium later this month

By Sports Reporter

E ver child remembers that first sporting hero. They are the role models that inspire us to chase our dreams and fulfill our passions. For many of us, Michael Johnson remains a tireless mentor, a force that motivates us to aim higher. Johnson’s performance at the world championships and Olympic Games has left a lasting impact on the world of sports.

The Olympic champion has shared his determination and passion with the pupils at Doha College, who are poised to make a splash in their own right. The school, known for its strong athletic tradition, has recently welcomed Johnson to the campus, where he inspired the students with his infectious spirit of competition and dedication.

Johnson, who is considered one of the greatest track and field athletes of all time, shared his story of perseverance and resilience with the pupils. “Never give up on your dreams,” he advised them. “Believe in yourself, work hard, and never let anyone tell you that you can’t achieve greatness.”

The visit was part of the ongoing partnership between Doha College and the Qatar Olympic Committee, which aims to foster a culture of excellence and achievement in sport. The College has a long history of producing world-class athletes, and Johnson’s visit highlights the school’s commitment to supporting its students in their athletic pursuits.

“The Olympic champion was an inspiration to our students,” said a proud school official. “His words and actions will undoubtedly motivate our young athletes to strive for excellence in their own fields.”

Johnson’s visit comes at a time when the world is celebrating the Olympic Games, and the excitement is palpable. The pupils at Doha College were thrilled to have the opportunity to meet such a legend and to hear his words of encouragement.

The school is hosting a series of events and workshops to further inspire its students, with Johnson scheduled to return for a second visit. The school believes that the Olympic champion’s words will resonate with its students and encourage them to pursue their dreams.

Doha College students take part in beach services or international competitions over the week.

The school programmes it just a community-one- on- one engagement initiative launched in favour of the athletes coming from the competition’s Local Or- ganising Committee and having engaged with over 110,000 people through a host of activities. Sheikha Asma al-Thani, Market- ings and Communications Director for the Local Organising Committee is happy with the engagement of the world champions. She has said: “It’s important to engage with schools and younger audiences in Qatar in the lead-up to the IAAF World Athletics Championships. Sport unifies different commu- nities and attracts attention to the event, and the opportunity available to compete and follow the World Championships as Doha College has shown the pheno- menal interest in coming here, so we hope that the IAAF World At- letics Championships Doha 2019 can provide that platform to reach more audiences and achieve new heights of engagement.

Children of all ages will be able to enjoy an action-packed half-day schedule of events each day of the World Championships held in Doha. Beach volleyball set to attract capacity crowd

By Sports Reporter

Beach volleyball has been a popular sport for decades, and the enthusiasm for the sport is evident in the current generation of athletes. The sport gained an Olympic status in 1996, and since then, it has continued to captivate the audience, with a surge in popularity globally, with many international competitions taking place all around the world. Beach volleyball is one of the events included in the Olympic Games, and the nations that have participated have shown remarkable success over the years.

The sport is played on a court similar to a tennis court, with each team consisting of two players. The objective is to keep the ball in the air and score points by landing the ball in the opponent’s court, while preventing the opponent from doing the same. The game is fast-paced and requires a great deal of skill and strategy, making it a popular spectator sport.

The World Beach Games, which take place every four years, attract participants from around the world. The next edition of the World Beach Games is scheduled to take place in Doha, Qatar, in 2019. The event promises to attract a large international audience, with athletes from around the world coming together to compete.

Beach volleyball is one of the sports that will be on display at the World Beach Games. The event is set to take place in similar conditions, “Gon- zalez added. The team is well-prepared for the challenge of a world title, with the players focused on their training and conditioning. “Many experiences will be very useful for the 2021 edition in which we will play again in Doha, in similar conditions,” Gonzalez said.
