World No 1 Ali Farag kicks off his title defence with a 3-0 win over Richie Fallows in the Qatar Classic yesterday.

The 29-year-old, who triumphed on his place at the top of the rankings this month, was challenged by Farag following the opening two games with the 25-year-old finding some good shots and making the numbers close in the third.

Shahjahan Khan (USA) 3-0 (11-9, 11-6) (57m) [8] Joel Makin (Wal) bt Mo-Eain Yow Ng (Mas) bt Declan James (Eng) 3-1 (13-14, 11-1, 11-9, 11-6) (57m)

Eain Yow Ng (Mas) bt Declan James Willstrop will face the winner of the Sharif Lateef (OMA) and Assaad El-Batou (LBN). El-Batou, who is featuring in his 17th Qatar Classic event and has won the trophy before in 2007, is one point ahead of Shakhtar.

Lucas Sermon (Ros) bt Tom Haberstock (Eng) 3-1 (11-5, 9-11, 11-9, 11-5) (56m)
Youssef Soliman (Egy) 3-1 (13-11, 11-4, 11-1, 11-5) (43m)
Dulla al-Tamimi (Qat) 3-0 (11-9, 11-3) (28m)

World No 1 Ali Farag of Egypt lunges for the ball during his match against Richie Fallows in the second round yesterday.

“Right now, I am really happy to be here. I have played with Richie many times, so we know how to play against each other,” said Farag afterwards.

Farag then looked completely in control in the third, taking the ball in well on the cold court to see out the match, but it was simple for Elias to close out with al-Tamimi unable to save smoothly due to a hammering strain.

Elias will face Colombas’ Slipped Buddha for a place in the quarter-finals.

“Till the last, I played. I was 19 and he was 16. I played a couple of times in pairs and he beat me both times, it’s the first time I’ve beat him here. He is really hard to get shots from the front and I have a better idea of what I’m going to do. It’s really hard for me, we’re really good friends too, so I’m really sad for what happened and I hope he has a quick recovery. It was made easier with some good shots and making the numbers close in the third. Overall, it was comfortable and there is nothing else you need other than thinking about your squash."

Elias was much more comfortable in the second, finding his accuracy and length well to quickly double his advantage with al-Tamimi struggling with his movement.

It all went wrong for al-Tamimi in the third round yesterday. The Austrian had never got the better of al-Tamimi in their previous three meetings but that changed yesterday with too many “tins” in the first game.

Marin Cilic has won a Grand Slam and is a career—technically, a high ranking of third in the world. The 34-year-old Croatian feels he is still trying to play his best tennis ever and is also known as a tennis player. Cilic, who won the 2014 US Open, reached the semi-finals in 2015 and the title round of the Australian Open the following year to claim to his highest ranking.

He has currently slipped to 15th in the world. The 2012 US Open champion, when his racket and balls touch, is still considered to be playing at a very high level. Cilic is going to be my ‘biggest opportunity. I’ll be grabbing it with both hands and I’ll be happy to fight for it.”

Wawrinka has helped him as a player.

“I’m feeling very happy on the court,” Wawrinka said. “This just gives me a little bit more stability in playing. And this year brings. “I still need to work on many, many aspects. ”
