Thiem outlasts Zverev to storm into final with Djokovic

There is a glimmer of hope for Austria in the final — Thiem has won four of the last five matches against Serbian

Thiem has his work cut out to reach the Australian Open final. The German failed to consolidate as he coolly closed out the set as the Austrian error-streak continued. Thiem is one of the best returners in the game and was get-ting into the points straight away on Sunday. But Thiem said the Neil Vaporfly running shoes of Kenya’s Eliud Kipchoge to run the first marathon in under two hours is a “secret weapon”.

Nike did not immediately respond to Reuters’ request for comment on the decision. “It’s not in our job to regulate the entire sports ecosystem but it comes with our responsibilities,” said World Athletics President Sebastian Coe in a statement.

World Athletics said the shoes, which cost around $200 and have a technology of around 200 miles, have a “built-in sensor that provides vital information”.

Sri Lanka ended the West Indies’ T20 run yesterday with a 10-run win at the World Cup semi-final.

Thiem has won four of the last five matches against Serbian — seven-time champion Novak Djokovic in the Australian Open final yesterday, booking a showdown with world No.4 Dominic Thiem.

Birdie barrage boosts Clark to lead

American fires 10 birds for his 61 for two-shot lead over Horschel ieland Clark fired 10 birdies in a row in the last seven holes of the day for a 61, two shots better than fellow American Billy Horschel in the PGA Tour's Phoenix Open.

And the always amenable crowd at TPC Scottsdale, Clark had an up-and-down 61-70.

“Quintessential Billy Horschel at the end there,” said Clark after his round.

After another birdie at 11 he picked up two more in a row from 12 to 14.

He added another three together at the first, second and third — where he fired out of the trap and back onto the fairway — to finish with the pair — and birdied seven and eight for good measure.

Clark, whose birthday was a month earlier on the 14th, had a birdie at the par-three seventh, where he hit a 253-yard shot to four feet, and made a two-shot advantage with a clean par at 15.

“Still a lot of strides and I hope just zoom in a bit to length and the posture was killer,” Clark said.

A ten-hand father molded Horschel in his career, while his mother instilled the values of hard work from the moment he first put a club in his hands.

Horschel rolled in two birdie putts on the 11th and 13th for a 61-70.

He spoke at the par-five third hole where his drive left him 104 yards from the pin, and made a birdie-3 from just off the green.

British Open champion Horschel played seven birdies, including a 30-foot par-saving 45 footer.

But when it came to putting, Horschel still was on another level.

He fired 10 birdies in 18 holes to claim the title for the third time.

Horschel, who had six birdies and a bogey at 13, started the round with a birdie on 10 and kept churning out birdies.

The 35-year-old is known for his clutch putting ability, and also the ability to clinch major titles.

Real Madrid a reminder of what might have been for Atletico

Real have won the Super Cup, pulled three points clear at the top of La Liga and eased into the Copa del Rey quarters — a welcome distraction for coach Rousseau.

"We have to keep going," Sergio Ramos said, and without the injured Eden Hazard.

By Unraveling The Mysteries Of The Game

Just like their local rivals, Barcelona, Real Madrid have surprised the footballing world with their recent resurgence. Despite their poor start to the season, they have managed to turn things around and are now challenging for the La Liga title again. This has raised questions about whether their recent form is a one-off or a sustainable improvement.

The key to their turnaround has been a combination of tactical adjustments and psychological resilience. Under new coach Pablo Lázaro, Real Madrid have been more disciplined in defence and more creative in attack. Zinedine Zidane has managed the squad well, balancing the team's strength and depth.

"There’s no point in comparing us to other teams," Zidane said in his press conference. "We have our own style of play and we are focused on our objectives."

Real Madrid's recent success has also been aided by some shrewd transfer dealings. The club managed to sign some key players, including midfielder Sergio Busquets and defender list

Luis Suárez, Barcelona's top scorer, has been ruled out for the next three weeks with a thigh injury. This will be a big blow for the Blaugrana, who are already missing several other forwards.
