Qatar finished their European Qualifiers with a 3-2 draw against Azerbaijan, thanks to striker Almoez Ali’s brace. It was an improved performance for the Asians, who were on the end of a 5-0 defeat by Portugal a month ago. However, they are still just three points behind the leaders Portugal and six behind the leaders Spain, who have already qualified for the 2022 World Cup in Qatar.

Ahmed Alaaeldin launched an attack on the hosts, taking this as a must-win game and was paid for his aggression. Azerbaijan, however, could only score once from a penalty, with a shot being deflected by goalkeeper Matvey Safonov.

Juranovic forced saves from Ruslan Mirzoev and Almoez Ali’s second penalty marked his 42nd goal for Qatar, taking him ahead of Ali Daei in the all-time goalscoring chart for the national team. The Netherlands, who are just two points behind Qatar in Group E, have already qualified for the 2022 World Cup, while the Africans can still make it through the play-offs.

On Saturday, November 21, Qatar will host Norway in Group E at the Hamad International Metro Station and LCSC. Fans with tickets to shuttles between Lusail Stadium and LCSC will have access to Fan Zones inside LCSC, with food courts and visit F1 merchandising.
