fter losing their opening match to Qatar, Bahrain now face a must-win tie in their second match against Iraq on the third day of the FIFA Arab Cup.

The match will take place at the Al Bayt Stadium in Al Khor at 16:00 Qatari time on Wednesday, November 30, with both teams looking to bounce back from their opening losses.

In their opening match against Qatar, Bahrain were defeated 2-0, with goals from Almoez Almoez and Yasser Qassem. Iraq, on the other hand, also lost their opening match, falling 0-1 to Oman.

Both teams are now looking to secure their first points in the tournament and ensure they qualify for the next round of the competition.

Bahrain have a tough task ahead of them, as Iraq are considered one of the strongest teams in the group. However, Bahrain have a strong home crowd and will be looking to make the most of it.

Iraq’s Yasser Qassem was sent off in the 2020 CAF Champions League final, which they lost to Egyptian side Al Ahly, but he is expected to be fit for this match.

Bahrain’s head coach, Mohamed Magdy, said: “The match against Iraq is a must-win for us. We need to win this match to stay in the tournament. We have a strong team and we believe we can win.”

Magdy also praised the performance of his team in the opening match, stating: “We played well against Qatar, especially in the first half. We had a good start and we were close to scoring.”

Despite the loss, the team is looking to build on their performance against Qatar and will be looking to make the most of their home crowd.

Bahrain have a strong history in the Arab Cup, having won the tournament twice in 1988 and 1990. They are also one of the most successful teams in the region, having won the Gulf Cup a record nine times.

Iraq, on the other hand, have won the Arab Cup once, in 1992, and have been runners-up on three occasions.

The match will be crucial for both teams, with the top two teams in the group advancing to the knockout stages.
