Let PSG talk about Messi, says Koeman

Barcelona coach says he will not seek any more talks about signing Paris St Germain’s Lionel Messi following the announcement that his former player has left the French club.

LaLiga Barcelona can no longer talk about signing Paris St Germain’s Lionel Messi following the announcement that his former player has left the French club.

In a press conference held on Monday night but held online due to the coronavirus pandemic, the Barça coach refused to make any comments about the current situation of the Argentine forward, who left the Ligue 1 club at the end of last month.

“Now we’re focusing on our next game and the next month,” Koeman said.

He was asked if he would consider making any kind of approach to the French club for the services of the Argentine, who has been one of the main names linked in recent months.

Koeman’s response was straightforward.

“Now we have to win every game like we did over the last month,” Koeman said.

“Then we might talk about it at the end of the month,” he added.

PSG still are searching for an identity under new manager Pochettino

By Adam White and Lee Davie

PSG went into the Champions League clash with Lyon knowing they needed to rediscover their rhythm after a slow start to the season and the absence of injured forward Kylian Mbappe.

While Mbappe is a huge loss to the side, Pochettino has struggled to make a mark on the team since taking over in mid-February.

PSG’s inability to find their rhythm in the Champions League has been a concern for the French club, who are still looking for a way to play under the Argentine manager.

LeBron shines as injury-hit Lakers leave it late

The Lakers managed to stay in the playoff hunt by beating the Dallas Mavericks, with LeBron James leading the way. The team is currently fifth in the Western Conference with only six wins against 38 losses. They are now facing some challenges due to injuries to key players.

On Monday, Devin Booker poured in 36 points with 12 assists and eight rebounds as the Phoenix Suns overpowered the Toronto Raptors. The Suns are now 3-1 in their past four games.

Elsewhere Monday, LaMelo Ball had a double-double as the Charlotte Hornets beat the Chicago Bulls. Ball scored 21 points while dishing out 10 assists. The Hornets are now 10-14 on the season.

Golden State Warriors fell to a 105-100 loss to the Portland Trail Blazers. Stephen Curry scored 32 points including six three-pointers.

The injury-hit Lakers face the Spurs on Thursday. LeBron James is expected to miss another game due to an abdominal injury. The Lakers are now 21-31 on the season.

Pilot in Bryant crash was barred from flying into clouds, NTSA chief says

The National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) chief says the pilot in the helicopter crash that killed Kobe Bryant and his daughter was barred from flying into clouds but did so anyway in the minutes leading up to the crash.

The NTSB chief, Robert Sumwalt, said that pilot Ara Zobayan told air traffic controllers that he was not concerned about flying into heavy clouds when it was called into a flight plan filed by Bryant's company, the sportswear brand, in the minutes leading up to the crash.

Sumwalt said the board was reviewing the pilot's actions and the possibility that Bryant did not know about the risk.

The NTSB said the pilot was flying into clouds, which was not typical for Bryant's career.

The crash of the Sikorsky S-76B helicopter occurred near the town of Calabasas, California, on Jan. 26, 2020. The board was meeting on Thursday to vote on the probable cause and probable cause.

Sumwalt said the board will continue to review the case and possibly issue a safety alert.

The players and owners have not agreed on a special designation of flight years, although pilots in 2014, 2016, and 2018 refused to fly with Bryant on Tuesday. England thrash India by 227 runs in Chennai Test

It’s a very good victory but in the scheme of the series, it is just the start.

Root hailed the bowlers, who have taken 10 test wickets, for the way “we were ready for the grind and left them feeling shell-shocked India never looked likely to come back into the game.”

“I am extremely proud of the way we played on the wicket that was very good and the way we executed our plans,” said captain Joe Root, who made his Test debut.

“With the bat as well as the ball, we left them feeling shell-shocked and India never looked likely to come back into the game.”

“We were looking to bat long and we think there was enough application in the wicket that was very good, but we were not able to do that. And I don’t regret it.”

Kohli blamed it on how India batted in the final session. “We could have not been better at the end,” he said.

“Every time you win, if you are more important you look at ways to improve. When you win, you improve because you are hungry for more. You want to be at the top and that’s why you improve.”

“It doesn’t happen very often at my stage and I’ve been very happy to see the standards in our bowling unit. Shelby is a very, very good young bowler with a lot of promise. The way he has bowled in the series is very encouraging.”

“We have to make sure we don’t let that happen again. We have to keep working hard, keep learning and keep improving.”

“We won’t change our approach, we will continue to make improvements. We can’t afford to take his (Abbas) wicket.”

“The series is far from over. We have to make improvements. We have to keep working hard and keep learning from this game.”

“With the bowlers, we have to be patient and work hard. We have to make sure we don’t make the same mistakes again.”

“With the bowlers, we have to be patient and work hard. We have to make sure we don’t make the same mistakes again.”

“It’s a very good victory but in the scheme of the series, it is just the start.”

Root hailed the bowlers, who have taken 10 test wickets, for the way “we were ready for the grind and left them feeling shell-shocked India never looked likely to come back into the game.”

“I am extremely proud of the way we played on the wicket that was very good and the way we executed our plans,” said captain Joe Root, who made his Test debut.

“With the bat as well as the ball, we left them feeling shell-shocked and India never looked likely to come back into the game.”

“We were looking to bat long and we think there was enough application in the wicket that was very good, but we were not able to do that. And I don’t regret it.”

Kohli blamed it on how India batted in the final session. “We could have not been better at the end,” he said.

“Every time you win, if you are more important you look at ways to improve. When you win, you improve because you are hungry for more. You want to be at the top and that’s why you improve.”

“It doesn’t happen very often at my stage and I’ve been very happy to see the standards in our bowling unit. Shelby is a very, very good young bowler with a lot of promise. The way he has bowled in the series is very encouraging.”

“We have to make sure we don’t let that happen again. We have to keep working hard, keep learning and keep improving.”

“We won’t change our approach, we will continue to make improvements. We can’t afford to take his (Abbas) wicket.”

“The series is far from over. We have to make improvements. We have to keep working hard and keep learning from this game.”

Melbourne, 4:49 PM and last week’s ATP Cup with Russia.

Exhausted, on an emotionless Monday, Russia’s Daniil Medvedev extended his winning streak to 15 matches with an emphatic late victory over his old rival Roger Federer.

‘It’s been very, very tough. That was my complaint,’ the world number 67 had said after the match finally ended after an exhibition match last month.

‘I need to survive today and that’s what I did — happily back for another one,’ Barty said of Melbourne yesterday.

A distressed 12th seed needed the support of Liverpool legend Kenny Dalglish before the same thing happened that the situation was going a bit out of control, according to Fed.

‘He has all the ingredients to become a great champion and the ability to win big tournaments,’ Fila said of Alcaraz, who swept past Tsitsipas with just 10 points as she raced into the second set before losing 7-5, 6-4, 6-1 in 109 minutes.

‘At least for the tournament also means that the strict isolation measures as happy that you don’t have to care, she said. ‘It was a little bit the conditions because you don’t want people to live in the same room with you have the example. I played, I don’t have, maybe three hours — and freshened air or maybe a bigger room or better conditions to play against the best players.’

The world number 67 had admitted to feeling a bit overwhelmed after the match yesterday. ‘I’m happy that you have to be honest. It was tough living all that kind of things. I didn’t expect it at all,’ she said.

“When I arrived in Australia on the 20th of December, I was not brave. I woke up with an injection and 39 minutes. ‘That’s why you don’t have cases. Of course I understand the rules. I think you’re doing it very very well in this country. That’s why we don’t have cases. ’"

I’m sad for the match, but I’m happy for the tournament because if you’re going to stick to my process in seven matches now I think I did a good job today. Straight sets is what I needed to do.
