Haaland's agent and father hold Barca talks: Reports

FOOTBALL

Barcelona are preparing to launch a fresh bid for Erling Braut Haaland, 20, who is the Champions League's leading scorer this season.

The Norwegian star is going through an out-of-form patch with Borussia Dortmund and his agent Mino Raiola and Haaland's father, former agent of Ronaldinho, are keen to ensure his future fits in with their client's career plans. His father is keen to see him travel to Spain and join the club of his childhood dreams.

However, the Catalan club want a flat fee of around £150m as the fee they would pay for Haaland if they move for him this summer.

Amanda has revealed that the club want to sign their No. 1 target this summer but have been blocked by the English Premier League's financial fair play rules.

Barcelona have already approached Raiola and Haaland's father, former agent of Ronaldinho, are keen to ensure his future fits in with their client's career plans. His father is keen to see him travel to Spain and join the club of his childhood dreams.

Raiola is said to be reported to have been in touch with Barcelona's sporting director Joan Laporta, who is keen to bring in the star striker to fill the void left by Lionel Messi.

Bucks beat Lakers in Drummond’s debut

Any time someone goes down it’s very concerning

NBA

Javoncier Antetokounmpo made a family affair on Wednesday night by scoring 21 points and joining his two brothers on the ice as the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Los Angeles Lakers 121-87 at Staples Center.

The Buckers ended an 0-15-3 skid that had stretched back to the second half of last season, knocking in a rebound of Tobias Bjornfot’s shot that had settled in the net. Calvin Petersen made 40 saves and Anson Carter ended his nine-game stretch of giving up 3.4 goals a game.

The team, which has won only one of its last 22 games, was 6-0-1 at home through Monday, means anyone with a sequence of wins at the time. The club’s losing streak was extended to 18 games when the Los Angeles Angeles lost to the Chicago Bulls in the first game of the season.

Fournette: ‘Perfect sense’ to re-sign with Bucs

Returning back to Los Angeles, Fournette and money isn’t the only consideration for him in his decision. The team did not divulge the terms of the contract for Fournette, but it is known that the team had a year left on that contract with 50,000. The quarterback’s availability could push that total to $4 million. They have no other contract.

It was a difficult process, but he wanted to be where he was believed in and just wanted to come back and enjoy myself. Instead of the coming and going being the new face on the block, I came back to the team that I enjoyed my pressure with. I think it was a tough team in the first place. We didn’t have those things we’re so used to being that guy on the floor. I think I just helped develop me as a better man. I could’ve used that time on the court and get more money. But I think this is the place right now.

He signed a three-year deal that comes with $15 million in base salary and $11 million in guaranteed money, a 2022 contract and a 2023 option. He had a 9-3 winner over the Arizona Coyotes in his first start and won 124-101..

U.S. President Joe Biden says sports teams are responsible for preventing the spread of the coronavirus, which has killed more than 500,000 Americans.

"They should take on the obligation," Biden said of the National Football League. "They cannot just say, 'Oh, we'll follow science and the scientists."

Biden made his comments as part of an interview with ESPN, where he was asked about the National Football League's opening day on Thursday, following a decision by Major League Baseball's opening day earlier in the week.

"We're going to have to have a full capacity," Biden said. "It's the responsibility of the NFL to make sure fans are safe."

"And they need to follow the science," he added. "They need to make sure the stadiums are open and the games are being played."

Biden also discussed the recent reunion of the National Basketball Association and National Hockey League, both of which have seen outbreaks of the coronavirus during the season.

"The NBA and the NHL have done a good job," Biden said. "But they need to continue to follow the science and make sure the games are played safely."
